The senior class of 1995 shows their spirit during one of the many pep rallies during the year. After this pep rally the Senior class came away with the prized "spirit stick" to show off in their hall for the coming week.

*This year's edition of the Coushatta is dedicated to Mrs. Donna Caylor. As a special teacher, she not only serves as yearbook advisor, but also as a staff writer, editor, photographer, role model, and above all else, a mentor. Without her unending love and support, this book would not be possible.*

US...

"PEOPLE see kids who literally have purple pride written all over their faces. They see a school who even if our Warriors are losing, they still come out to support us. The fans are always cheering, screaming, and yelling with purple pride."

--Biff Thornton, Frosh.

Kids at Bonham High School are trying to do their best to learn so that they will have a good future ahead of them. BHS does a good job of preparing them ACADEMICALLY," said Tiffany Goodman, Sr.

"People notice that our SPORTS teams have really been working hard to improve their abilities," said Emily Parker, Soph.

"When people look at BUSINESSES they literally see pictures of War Dancers and other clubs that show that Bonham businesses support their high school."

--Mariana Terry, Soph.

"People really notice CLUBS, everyone really tends to work hard at everything that they do, rather than think of the events as a bore. As long as Bonhi works, it will always be a winner," said Passium Bragg, Sr.

Look at
WHO We Are...

Bonham High School Students are all individuals. Each one shows who they are by their looks, the activities they participate in, and the friendships they hold.

"When outsiders look at people in our school, they see individuals who care for one another and their school," said Dawn Boatwright, Jr.

Nineteen ninety-five hosted the construction of a new prison just outside Bonham, bringing more students and crowded areas. The crowding caused a third lunch period, debates on parking, and packed hallways.

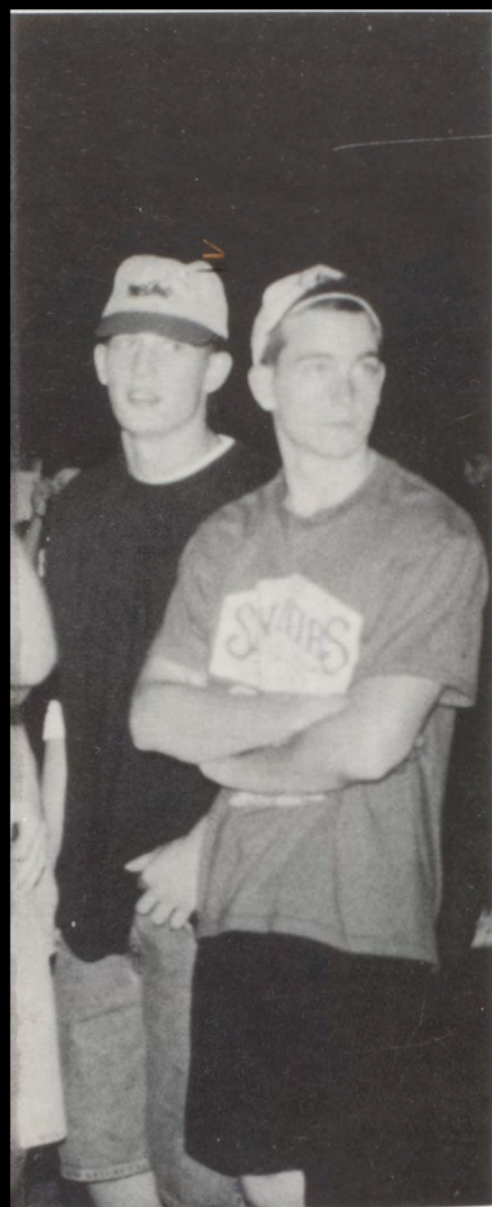

The new people, however, also brought new businesses. High schoolers throughout Fannin County had long traveled to Sherman for weekend entertainment. However, with the addition of three new facilities, the Clarence White Memorial Life Center, Bonham Bowling Lanes, and a new movie theatre, helped to keep teenagers in the area on Friday nights.

Nostalgia revives 50's, 70's, 80's and Hee Haw themes to spark spirit

Nostalgia was the theme carried through football season pep rallies. Everything from the 50's to the 80's to Hee Haw.

Adding to the spirit of Friday's and pep rallies, was the spontaneous and unpredictable behavior of new teacher Chuck Wanner. From Dressing in his tuxedo and carrying his sledge hammer, to riding his bike around the halls, he caught teachers and students off-guard.

I think the funniest part of pep rallies was when Mr. Wanner was running around blowing his whistle and acting stupid," Peggy Brunfield said.

During the 80's pep rally one person was picked to follow the leader in a dance move.

"Levar Johnson and Carlon Wilson were the funniest. They led Stephen Payne and Biff Thornton," Passium Bragg, Sr. said, "Each of them had to do whatever the leaders did. Stephen Payne danced best and won."

For the 50's theme, the cheerleaders dressed in poodle skirts for the entire pep rally and the Tomahawks dressed like John Travolta in Grease.

"Biff Thornton was the funniest trying to dance. He was trying to twist, he was wigglin' his body in all different wierd ways. Jill Vandygriff was looking at him like he was crazy," said Leslie Gray, Fresh.

The last pep rally has traditionally become senior pep rally and the senior parents honor band, twirler, flag corps, cheerleader and football seniors.

"It was the most emotional pep rally. For a lot of those guys it was the last home game they ever played. When the parents came out dresses as their own kids and mocked them, it was caring, yet emotional," said David Mackey, Sr.

Lunchroom

Crowding becomes inconvenient for the increased student population

With the arrival of 180 freshman and an enrollment of 520, the halls and cafeteria became extremely crowded this year. The decision was made to divide the students into three different lunches. To do this, fourth period was required to be split in half. "A" lunch students go to lunch before fourth period, "B" lunch students go to half of their fourth period class, then to lunch, and back to fourth period, and students in "C" lunch go to lunch after their fourth period class.

"In view of the fact that our cafeteria cannot accommodate all our students in only two lunch periods, I believe the split lunch period was the only feasible option," Mrs. Reece said.

With three lunches, students have time to sit and relax.

"I had "B" lunch at the first of the year and it was kinda cool. You went to class and it was quick, then you went to lunch, and then you came back to class for a little while. It made fourth period seem really quick. Now my class has "A" lunch. It makes the class a regular class. "B" lunch spiced my schedule up a bit and it was fun!" said David Wood, Junior.

'Untouchable' Seniors lead competition in class race for Spirit Stick

Homecoming Week kicked off on Monday, Oct. 17 when the annual Warrior Games were held in the old Jr. High Gymnasium due to bad weather conditions.

After two hours of fierce competition the seniors and sophomores were running neck and neck for first place until the sophomores were disqualified for bananas being thrown on the gym floor.

"It was not our fault. We brought the bananas to eat afterwards but some children thought it would be funny to throw them," said sophomore Emily Parker.

Everyone met at the stadium on Tuesday night to begin the Scavenger Hunt. The students enjoyed searching for the items. They also enjoyed The Great Farmer Hunt, the search for the grand prize. After all the items were found and the votes were tallied, the seniors came in first, the sophomores following closely behind in second, the freshmen third and the juniors fourth.

"We were looking for one of the items when a senior knocked Chris Pendergrass down and we lost the point and the seniors got ahead of us," said sophomore Jason Walker.

The flashlight parade began on Wednesday night at the Bonham square where the students made their annual journey to the campus to begin the bonfire activities.

"I thought that the flashlight parade was fun but it kind of needed something. I wish we had done floats this year," said senior Connie Dishong.

On Thursday night the students met for one last competition, hall decorations. There were many original ideas for their themes. The freshmen class had a theme of "Hoe the Farmers", the sophomores theme was "Burn the Farmers", and the juniors theme idea was "No Fear". However the seniors "Movie Theatre" theme came in first place.

"I really liked decorating the halls because it was really fun to look at all the other ideas," said freshmen Melissa Collins.

Changes in homecoming queen election and elimination of floats causes discussion

There were a couple of major changes in this year's activities.

As a traditional part of the activities, the homecoming queen and court were still chosen by the student body, but in a different process.

"Being a senior this year, I see homecoming in a new light. It still has the fun activities, but each year, they lose a little more excitement," Natalie Bethel, Sr. said. "This year, the homecoming pep rally and game were almost impossible to bear. Not because I am a senior, it's because of the new process of electing the nominees. This being my senior year and being a part of the band, it makes me furious that being the largest organization in the school, we cannot have a representative."

In the past nominees for queen were representatives from each club and organization. This year the 16 nominees were chosen from each of the four classes. One duchess was elected from the freshmen, sophomore, and junior classes by popular vote from their own class. The student body then voted for three senior princesses and one senior queen.

The student council decided that the new procedure would be a better way of electing the queen and her court.

"The nominating of the Homecoming candidates was voted on to be changed by the entire student council. The officers decided this change because we thought that it would be a more accurate nomination and to keep students from entering a certain club, just for the opportunity to become a nominee," said Stephen Payne Jr.

Another change in the homecoming tradition was the elimination of each class building floats for the parade. Some students were not in favor of the change.

"I think that by not having the floats this year we have taken away a tradition. Decorating the floats brought the whole class together and made us all have more spirit," said Brad Underwood Jr.

Spirit Builds as students, faculty prepare for Commerce rivalry

Hats, ties, camouflage, western wear, and other crazy things were familiar items worn the week of the Commerce game—the Warrior's top rivals.

"The dress-up days allowed everyone to relax, and it broke the monotone of the everyday schedule. I don't think the week created what anyone would call 'spirit', but the majority of people had fun," said senior, Pharrah Phillips.

Tuesday launched Spirit Week off the ground with Hat and Tie Day. Students were to show their spirit by taking and Tie Up the Tigers."

"Matt Stephens had the biggest hat on Hat Day. It was an old, straw hat that his grandmother let him wear. It looked so funny on him," said Jr., Becky Caylor.

Wednesday was Crazy Day and the halls were full of crazy outfits. In fact, one of the craziest was Josh Payne.

"I got a lot of laughs. People couldn't figure out who I was, which was an old lady. I had on a skirt, bonnet, V.T.'s shirt, black socks, combat boots, and a fake nose," said, Jr., Josh Payne.

Thursday students were to "Hunt the Tigers" in their camouflage.

"It was easy to find the clothes because my uncle was in the Air Force, so he had some extra fatigues," said Soph., Shane Callahand.

Friday was Cowboy Day and everyone were to "Round up the Tigers." At the pep rally, the drill team, cheerleaders, flag corp officers, and twirler performed to western music and had an old fashioned Hee Haw pep rally.

"I really think the Hee Haw pep rally was neat, because they played a lot of country music. They also did line dances," said Soph., Amber Parr.

Willie Reeder and another counselor at the camp take time out from their visit at the Guadalupe River State Park to pose for the camera during the TLC Retreat in Kerrville, Texas.

Counselors at the TLC Retreat take a break from counseling to relax and enjoy themselves on the river.

Camper turns counselor after years of experience at Lions Club Crippled Childrens Camp

Food fights, camping, swimming, and freedom sounds like the ideal summer vacation. Willie Reeder got to do all this and get paid at the same time.

This past summer, Willie was a counselor at the Texas Lions Club Camp for handicapped and diabetic children in Kerrville, Texas. Handicapped children come from all over Texas to spend two weeks at camp.

After the children arrive at camp, they cannot call home and no family member can call them. The camp encourages both the parents and campers to write. The parents are allowed to send care packages full of goodies.

This is usually a first time experience for both the campers and parents. Willie has been a camper since the age of seven. When he turned 16, he was able to qualify as counselor. In order to be a counselor he had to be able to take care of himself and someone else.

"I had to go through a week long training session. I studied Red Cross training (which includes CPR and Heimlich Technique) risk management (not allowing the young, first-time campers to shower alone in wheel chairs and staying close so if they fall out you can assist them) and of course, sign language," Willie said.

As a counselor, Willie had many responsibilities. According to Willie, they had to help kids that needed it and watch to make sure they didn't hurt themselves or someone else.

Much to Willie's delight, he was paid for doing what he loved—helping people and making friends at the same time. Willie made a lot of special friends with which he still keeps in touch.

"Sometimes we'd take our wheelchairs down to the water and just roll out as far as we could until we had to swim," Willie said. "Other times we'd have food fights. It was a mess, but the counselors let us have fun and be kids. Everyone laughed and had a great time. The watermelon fight was unforgettable."

Camp was a place to be totally himself. To Willie and the other campers, camp was the real world. No one is treated specially at camp because they are handicapped; it's the norm.

"The most memorable thing about camp was all of the fun we had working at camp; we could act crazy as we wanted to," Willie said.

Willie had a summer job full of fun, but it was also full of hard work. This is one summer job he will never forget.

Talents flaired as nerves shook for the third annual Talent Show

Dressed for a black tie affair, Ryan Thornton and Tiffany Perry, serve as Master and Mistress of Ceremony. The two seniors introduced each act.

Among the many talented people to take the gym floor is Melissa Collins. She brought a little "flair" to the show.

Every participant in the this year's talent show had true talent, and most entered the stage with "butterflies" in their stomach.

"The people who performed in the talent show really are talented and they should feel good just because they got there and tried," said Lana Clayton, Sr.

The Show began when Masters of Ceremony Ryan Thornton and Tiffany Perry took the gym floor to get things underway.

First place winner, Casie Baker, wowed the judges with her dance to "Around Here". The "New Kids on the Block" danced their way to second place with their rendition of "Hangin' Tough".

"I really liked seeing the New Kids On the Block perform. It was funny to see how uncoordinated people can be!" said Passium Bragg, Sr.

Tied for third place were singers, Heather Welch and Amber Howery.

"Hearing the singers at the Talent Show was a special treat for the crowd. I especially enjoyed hearing Amber Howery, her voice was beautiful," said Katie Arfman, Soph.

The annual event, held by the senior class and sponsored by Mrs. Pat Reece, was enjoyed by all and held on the day before the Thanksgiving Holidays in order to make money for senior class activities.

"I think the talent show improved a lot this year. There were more people who had the guts to perform in front of everyone, and they all had great talent," said Yamis Ransom, Sr.

Weekends find students at Sonic, Subway or headed out of town

Friday from 3:05 p.m. to Monday 8 a.m. students must fill their time and look for something to do in Bonham or head out of town.

First stop on the Bonham night life is usually Sonic and then around and around the drag.

"Every weekend, my friends and I go up town and mess around and eat. After that we go find a party," said Phillip Bennett, Jr.

Sometimes Subway is the hot spot to eat or at Pizza Hut.

"On the weekends I like to do anything that will get me away from the house for a while, whether it's going to Sherman or visiting relatives," said Russell Ashby, Fr.

If nothing stirs an interest, couples and carloads head for Sherman.

"When things get rough up town, the girls and I take off to Sherman or Denison and go to clubs to move and groove. And definitely chase guys," said Nicole Stephens, Jr.

Heading down highway 121 for Plano, Richardson, and Dallas is also an escape for the weekend.

"Heath Bowman and I were going to Dallas one night for a get together a friend was having and on the way home his breaks locked up and we hit a stop sign. It was a very exciting night," said Jeremy Malone, Sr.

Then there are those who just want to stay home.

"I like having fun with my best friends, Courtney and Jennifer," said Lisa Carter, Soph.

Kwik Check is a common meeting place on weekend nights. Willie Reeder fills his truck with gas for a typical Saturday night cruising the drag.

Cruising the Sonic is a regular weekend event. Connie Deshong, Alisha Andrew and Amanda Fanning pull in to get a Coke and wait for others to arrive.

On Thursday, October 27, the annual Fannin County Fair was officially opened. The fair consisted of games, rides, and many fun activities.

Three students participated in the Queen's contest which was held on Saturday night. Freshmen Melissa Collins was crowned Fannin County Fair Queen for 1994 and sophomore Heather Welch received first runner-up. Also participating was senior Joanna Thompson.

"My favorite thing about competing in the county fair pageants is that they are in my home town and not out of the state or in other cities," said Melissa Collins, Soph.

In the talent portion of the competition Melissa performed a gymnastic dance routine to "Another Night." Heather performed a vocal to "I Will Always Love You," and Joanna sang, "I Feel Lucky."

"I really like Whitney Houston's music and we have the same high voice. I wanted to give it a try," said Heather Welch, Soph.

Livestock entries were also a major portion of the fair. Many students participated in this event. Jessica Hughes, John Godbey, Clint Robinson, John Morris, Robert Ozebeck, and Billy Burkard entered in the Broilers division. Jessica Hughes also entered Production chickens division. Jennifer Johnson, Billy Burkard, Eric Hutchins, and Mike Burkard entered their calves for competition.

Entries in the rabbit division were by Josh Morris, Rodney Harris, and Justin Norris. Clint Williams and Rodney Harris showed their horses on Saturday. Billy and Mike Burkard entered their hogs for judging on Friday.

"There is a lot of work to prepare your hogs for competition. First you have to feed them and get them used to you. Then you have to walk them around to make them get the muscle that they need to win. Also you have to brush them to get it's hair looking shiny," said Billy Burkard, Soph.

Modeling leads to part on "Walker, Texas Ranger" for Reggie Dunlap

On Tuesday, November 29, Reggie Dunlap, Sr., traveled to Dallas, Texas to film a scene from "Walker, Texas Ranger," a prime time television show that airs on Saturdays on channels four and twelve. Chuck Norris is the star of this popular show.

"It was cool talking to Chuck Norris. One of the main highlights was when I helped him stretch for one of his fight scenes," said Reggie Dunlap.

Reggie was an "extra" and played the part of Hughes, a local police officer. Although he had no speaking parts, Reggie was shown taking notes from a witness on a crime scene and holding back a mob to keep them from seeing a dead body.

"I didn't have a huge part. I was just a cop in the background, but my partner, T. J., was one of the main actors. I am not an actor, but it is something I could get used to," Reggie said.

His modeling agent found Reggie the job on "Walker, Texas Ranger." Reggie has done work for the agency and has recently graduated from the modeling school, Dallas Model Group.

"Modeling is totally opposite of acting. When I do modeling, I may have to wait an hour before I start the shoot. On the television set, I waited for more than three hours before my part came up," said Reggie.

Reggie changed the tides last year when he became the first male cheerleader Bonham High School had had in close to a decade. He has been a Varsity Cheerleader for the past two years. Reggie added a new personality to the squad and allows them to do some of the more difficult stunts, that they could not otherwise do.

As of right now, he is unsure of when his episode will air on television and of what the pay will be, but he has estimated between $100 and $200. Reggie plans to continue modeling acting when he has the opportunity.

Life's fun at new local Family Life Center

Basketball, volleyball, ping-pong, pool, skating, and much more all came to Bonham this year. The 50,000 square foot Clarence White Memorial Life Center opened this July under the direction of the First United Methodist Church.

"The facility has a lot to offer to the community. Lots of people have really enjoyed it so far. More programs are being started every day," said Jared Warren, soph.

The half-million dollar facility holds a full court gym, dining room, commercial kitchen, weight room, racquetball court, recreation room, and meeting rooms, all under one roof. With skating, basketball, and volleyball available in the gym; and racquetball and wallyball in the racquetball court, you can make a day of a trip to the Life Center.

"On the weekends I usually go to the Family Life Center and play basketball, games in the game room, or just sit around and enjoy myself," said Shaneco Finney, Jr.

Not only is the Center used by individuals, but many groups use the facility as their meeting place. Boy Scout Troop 260, led by Mike Baker, calls the facility home. Also, there are Wednesday evening meals, weight lifting, body toning, and aerobic classes, as well as a variety of children's activities available weekly.

"I really enjoy the center I spent most of my summer up at the center playing, and now that I'm up there every Tuesday for scouts, I use even more," said Jason Walker, soph.

The Center was originally planned to be a teen dance club just off the city square, but when the lease fell through on the building, other plans had to be made. The church then turned to both public and private donors to help build the center.

Wheels on buses, cars, trucks roll students to school each day

Remember when your parents and grandpaarents used to tell you... "When I was young, I walked five miles, baarefoot, in the snow, sleet, and rain, up hills both ways to school." When they say this, it is not far from the truth.. Transportation to and from school used to be hard on some people.

Mr. Shockley said, "I lived in Ada and I usually walked or rode three miles to school on a bicycle. When I got to high school I had a Cushman Highlander (motor-scooter). Only about two people had cars."

Since then the transportation has improved. Today, we have buses to take kids whose parents cannot bring them to and from school, and for the most part most of the students can drive.

"I ride the bus to school because my parents don't want to bother with bringing me, but it is not very fun because there is no one my age for me to talk to," soph. Ryan Hughes.

Transportation differs everywhere. In some schools in Colombia the students live at the school during the week and live at home on weekends. This cuts down on transportation as well as tardiness to school.

Rodeo

no easy sport or cheap investment for high school cowboys and cowgirls

Almost every Friday and Saturday night while others are enjoying riding around, going to movies, others are loading their trailers and heading for a rodeo.

"Almost every weekend Stoney and I go roping in some town in Texas or Oklahoma all tear around," Tim McMillen, Jr. said. "I belong to the CRA (Central Rodeo Association) and TXHS (Texas High School Rodeo Association) circuits."

On November 4, 1994, Stoney Skidmore and Tim McMillen attended the PYRA (Professional Youth Rodeo Association) awards banquet in Stephenville, Texas to pick up their winnings. Tim won the championship header buckle in team roping. Stoney won the second place heeler buckle. They also recieved jackets and athletic bags.

The only girl on the circuit from BHS is Courtney Clark, Fresh., who won the NBHA district championship for 2D in barrel racing last August. She also placed sixth in state competition.

"I practice year around everyday if the weather permits for about 1 1/2 or 2 hours at the arena at my house," Courtney Clark said, "and I rodeo 2 to 3 weekends each month."

This sport does not come inexpensively for these cowboys and cowgirls. Entry fees for each rodeo event are $50.

I have 1,200 - 15,000 dollars invested in my equipment," Courtney said. Tim said he had about $12,000 invested in his horse, trailer, saddle and, ropes.

"There are others who rodeo on a regular basis during the school year and in the summer. Team ropers are Michael Garcia, and John Caldwell. Jesse Clark, Justin Lawson, and Clint Dodson are bull riders.

The bullriders often practice at Coach Larry McFarlin's house at the buckout sessions on Sunday nights.

Working studying, going to school prepares students for real world

For many students, jobs are an important part of their lives. Some rely on their jobs as a source of income, while others work just to earn a little extra spending money.

The Marketing Distributive Education program (M.D.E.) helps students who want to work half a day and go to school. M.D.E. also teaches them job skills and Mr. Tim Davis, the M.D.E. director, helps students find the jobs that they need.

"I work at the General Cable about fifteen hours a week. I am in the M.D.E. program. I get out of school at 1:00 and work until 4:30, this gives me the rest of the day to study and work on my homework. The General Cable called Mr. Davis and asked him to send people for an interview and that is how I got my job," said Sr. Brandi Daniels.

The students work at many different places of employment and working hours vary between each person. "I am also in the M.D.E. program. I work at Wal-Mart about twenty five to thirty hours a week. I attend school until 12:15 and then I usually work from 5:00 to 10:00," said Sr. Joe Russell.

There are many students who have jobs, however which are not in the M.D.E. program. Some of these students find it difficult to balance time for their jobs and for their schoolwork.

"I work at Sonic about thirty six hours a week. I am not in M.D.E. therefore I go to school full time and then I go to work. After work, I still have to find time to study and do my homework," said Sr. Jeremy Bruce.

As in year's past, BHS is a school which is host to exchange students from many places. Folmtje Treyde, Germany, Graciela Brizuena, Brazil, and Camilo Prieto, Columbia are exchange students this year.

Students from around the world mix Texas culture and accents

Each year schools around the United States get the chance to introduce their students to students from different countries. Bonham High School is no exception. This year Bonham was fortunate enough to have students from Germany, Columbia, Brazil.

Folmtje Treyde is an exchange student from Hamburg, Germany. She loves the countryside, the people, and everything about Texas, but of course she does miss her friends in Hamburg. Folmtje is living with the Franklin family of Bonham, who have housed exchange students before. "The reason that we house foreign exchange students is because it is interesting and find out a lot about other people's cultures," said Leslie Franklin. After her graduation in Bonham, Folmtje has three more years of school left. Then she has hopes of attending college in Frieburg and becoming a very rich lawyer.

Bringing a bit of Columbia to Texas is Camilo Andres Prieto Vargas. Camilo is from Santa Fe de Bogota D. C., Colombia and is living with John and Valerie Mulholland. "I became an exchange student because English is an universal language, so anywhere you go you can communicate with other people. I need to learn English for my career," said Camilo. His future plans consist of attending college for eight years and pursuing a career in finances and international relations and a career as an attorney.

Graciela Brizuena came to Texas from Campo Grande-M. S., Brazil and lives with Larry and Carol Wilson. Throughout the year, Graciela has discovered that the people, including her host family, are very nice, but American food is very different to the type she is accustomed to. "I came to the United States because here I'll live without my parents in a world completely different than mine," Graciela said. "The responsibility and new experiences are good for me."

Couples find love, friendship which form lasting bonds and memories

Seeing couples in the halls, holding hands and talking, is one of the facts of life in high school.

"Dawn and I are really close friends and have a good relationship. We both do things that each other wants to do. We compromise with each other," said Matt Atkins, Sr.

Becoming friends and then becoming a couple has kept many relationships thriving.

"Josh and I became best friends at church camp the summer after my eighth grade year and we gradually got closer. I asked him to Mistletoe my freshman year and we've been together ever since," said Melissa Morgan, Jr.

Being in class with someone you have never talked to before can even lead to romance.

"Kenny and I never really knew each other and then last year we had a class together. We got to know each other well as friends and then we gradually started going out," said Lana Clayton, Sr.

Once couples get together, they must then must work at staying together.

"I feel that love and caring is what keeps Joey and I together. It's the basis of all relationships, and when it all comes down to it love is there to hold things up. It's like the glue in a relationship," said Brynane Bowman, Soph.

Being in love seems perfect, until something comes between them.

"I would hope to stay friends, but I think it would depend on how we broke up. I think after nine times of breaking up and getting back together, more than likely we would end up back together again," said Chesley Smith, Jr.

Election brings new governor and mixed feelings among civics students

On November 1 voters, young and old, voiced their opinion of change. A change of state government as well as federal. Our nation for the first time in 40 years has elected a Republican Congress. Texans voiced their opinion by re-electing Republican, Kay Bailey Hutchinson to Senate and electing, Republican, George W. Bush over Democratic Governor Ann Richards.

To find out what many of the students in Coach Don Anderson's fourth period Civics and Economics class thought of the election they were asked questions such as: What is your opinion of the campaign between Ann Richards and

George W. Bush? Why do you think the Democratic Party as a whole was not successful in the election? What is your opinion of how the new Republican House will function with our Democratic president? What is your opinion of the job President Clinton has done during his first two years on office? The student's responses varied.

"The Democratic Party wasn't successful because it took them too long to take action on controversial issues. The people are looking for a change and they chose Republicans," Sr. Reggie Dunlap.

"It will probably cause some problems and I'm sure there will be some conflicts in Congress, but after a couple of years it won't matter because we will have a Republican president again," Sr. Connie Dishong.

"I believe Bill Clinton is doing the best he can with his limited resources. Obviously he's not wanted to be President again, by making decisions that conflict with the public's opinion. He's skating on thin ice," Sr. Jami Sherer.

"I feel it was typical of the candidates to take cheap shots at one another, but I am glad George W. Bush won because I believe he offers change to the state," Sr. Matt Felment.

"Steady, and above all don't look down!" Those were the words that the explorers heard as they tackled the Oklahoma mountains. Zack Lovelace takes his turn rappelling.

Safety is one of the most important aspects of repelling. Mrs. Danna Phillips, sponsor, is assisted by her son, Chuck Phillips, with her harness.

Repelling requires not only physical preparation, but also mental preparation. Adam Crittenden, Biff Thorton, Jennifer Skogen, Matt Stephens, and Chuck Phillips think twice before heading for their latest adventure.

Exhaustion overcomes Walter Taylor after the steep hike up the mountain before the "big plunge." Mrs. Danna Phillips scolds Walter for his laziness.

Explorers experience adventure and travel as they canoe, repel, ski with new club

If you are looking for adventure, the Explorer Post 52 certainly had found it. The members and leaders of this post are constantly searching for adventure to take them right to the edge of excitement.

The members of the group participated in a trip to Colorado on a nine day hike that ended with a white water rafting ride in Trinanad, Colorado. Seniors Jeremy Malone, Chuck Phillips, Matt Stephens, Cathy Nelms, and juniors Amanda Stephens, Jennifer Skogen, and Emily Reeves took part in the activities. The leaders that took the group to Colorado are Danna Phillips, Myrna Malone, Pam and James Stephens.

"The trip to Colorado was a lot of fun, especially the white water rafting," said Amanda Stephens.

After surviving the rafting trip the explorer post 52 decided they needed some more fun by going repelling. The group traveled to Robber's Cave, a state park in Oklahoma, on November 12 and 13.

"At first it was scary, because it was my first time. Once I got used to it, repelling became fun. I really look forward to it next time," Walter Taylor.

With many activities planned for the year the explorer post also took a skiing trip in January to Red River, New Mexico. According to Mrs. Danna Phillips, sponsor, to meet all of the financial needs, they sold everything from popcorn to Christmas trees.

The explorer post 52 is new to Bonhi this year and set the pace to be an active and adventurous club. With new activities and daring stunts being invented every day, the explorer post has a full time job of trying each and every one of them.

Bumble Rumble Contest
Sat. Nov. 12
Denison High School*

"Tiny" rumbles his way to win big for North Texas BEST

It was robotics time again for the students of the North Texas BEST Robotics team. For the second consecutive year, sponsor Mike Vaught and several dedicated students put forth great effort to create the best robot possible to represent Bonham.

The North Texas BEST (Boosting Engineering, Science, and Technology) program was devised to teach students about science and technology in a fun way. The team was given a sample kit of needed materials to build their robot. With imagination and a lot of hard work, the Bonham NT BEST team completed their robot "Tiny" for the "Bumble Rumble" competition at Denison High School. First however, the team participated in a preliminary contest which was held at the Midway Mall on Saturday Nov. 5. The team did very well in this preliminary competition.

"The preliminary competition was very beneficial because it gave us a sense of what the real contest would be like," said junior Phil Forshee.

A week later on November 12 the NT BEST team met at Denison High School to officially compete in the "Bumble Rumble" competition. After several rounds of competing against other area schools, the team came in seventh place going into the final rounds.

"I was a little disappointed in our ranking but we did well and I had a lot of fun," said freshmen Dewayne Vaughn."

The team proved that they were truly one of North Texas' BEST.

"We placed 7th out of 21 teams. Our improvement over the year was very satisfying since our machine did not do well last year. We have improved each time, and will improve even more next year. I am proud of the students who worked on their own time to produce a machine both themselves and the school can be proud of," said sponsor Mike Vaught.

Ever wonder WHY . . . we had research papers?

"I think English teachers assign research papers to teach their students order and to give them the confidence that a literary point can be proven. Overall I think it makes college seem less intimidating and allows a student to apply the responsibility acquired while writing a research paper to other areas of education."

Cody Couzens, Sr.

January 30, 1995

6:30 a. m.	Stayed asleep.
7:00	I woke up and jumped out of bed because I usually get up at 6:00.
7:30	I ate breakfast.
8:00-9:05	(First period) Watched channel one about the Holocaust and Mrs Knight went over the "Wife of Bath" of the record we were listening to.
9:10-10:00	(Second period) Went over a test Review for a test tomorrow and did nothing besides talk about what we did during the weekend.
10:05-10:55	(Third period) Shaneco and I were partners on a group project for Environmental Science and barely finished.
11:00-12:15 p.m.	(Fourth period) Went to A lunch and tried to finish some homework that I did not finish during the weekend. Then I went to the bathroom and went to Band. In Band, I had to practice in my clarinate choir.
12:20-1:10	(Fifth period) Had to write down some notes and then finish questions but instead of doing my question I am writing this project for yearbook.
1:15-2:05	(Sixth period) Mr. Shockley went over a Board Review where we study for a test by going up to the board and working out some questions.
2:10-3:00	(Seventh period) Had athletics and practiced to 4:15 and then had to go to softball practice.
3:30	Basketball practice.
4:00-6:00	Softball practice.
6:00-8:00	Went to the life center and played some basketball and then came home and did some homework, like study for Economics test and Mr. Shockley's test which are haard for me.
8:00-10:00	From 8:00 till 9:00 sometime between there I eat because I usually get home late. The rest of the time I call my boyfriend, Jeff Dunlap, and talk for about 30 minutes and I get ready for tomorrow.
10:00-12:00 a.m.	I go to sleep.

"Friends, Romans, Countrymen. . ."

"I am going to fail this test-not pass it. Who has the Cliffs Notes?"

Each year, teachers assign between two and eight books for students to read and discuss as a class project.

Mrs. Knight, the English IV and English IV Honors instructor requires her students to read Macbeth, Rebecca, Black Like Me, Wuthering Heights, Alas, Babylon, and Hamlet.

"Of all the books we have read so far, Alas, Babylon was my favorite. We had to do a lab project and pretend what would happen if there was a nuclear war attack," Jeremy Bruce said.

Mrs. Knight also has her Honors students read The Picture of Dorian Gray and Jane Eyre.

"In English IV Honors, we had to read The Picture of Dorian Gray and I could never keep up with my book," Natalie Bethel said.

Mr. Gatlin requires his English III and English III Honors classes to read The Scarlet Letter, A Raisin In The Sun, The Glass Menagerie, The Great Gatsby, and A Separate Peace.

"I liked reading The Scarlet Letter and acting out certain parts," Mark McBroom said.

Mrs. Hunnicutt, instructor of English II and English II Honors, has her students read The Adventures of Tom Sawyer, and To Kill A Mockingbird.

All freshman English I classes are taught by Mr. Kountz who requires them to read Romeo and Juliet.

"In Mrs. Reece's SEARCH I and II classes we are required to read Frankenstein, The Grapes of Wrath, The Turn of the Screw, Romeo and Juliet, One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest, A Separate Peace, The Pearl, The Old Man and the Sea, The Adventures of Tom Sawyer (SEARCH I), and To Kill A Mockingbird (SEARCH II)," Jared Warren said.

In SEARCH III and IV we are required to read A Streetcar Named Desire, Hamlet, The Great Gatsby, Of Mice and Men, In Cold Blood, Macbeth, Wuthering Heights, and The Sun Also Rises," Kristi Webb said.

Ever wonder WHY... we have clubs?

"I think we have clubs so we can have fun and increase our knowledge and interests in an area of our choice. Sometimes we can take a break from our everyday lives and do something fun with people who share our interests."

Check with Mrs. Clark about required classes for next year

"You mean I need 24 credits by May 26? Is it too late to drop to the General Plan?"

When entering Bonham High School students must decide between three plans to follow in order to graduate. These plans include the General, Advanced, and Honors programs. The General and Advanced plans may be entered by anyone wishing to do so, but in order to enter the Honors program, a student has to be able to make and maintain higher grades than those students on the other two plans.

Under the General program, students are required to complete a minimum of 22 courses in order to receive a diploma. To fulfill these requirements, a student has to have four English courses, three courses of Mathematics, two courses of Science, and two and a half courses of Social Studies which include World History or Geography, U. S. History and Government. Students also have to complete one semester of Economics, one and a half years of P. E., one semester of Health, and eight elective courses.

Students entering the Advanced plan must also complete four courses of English, three advanced Math courses which can be chosen from Algebra I, II, Geometry, or other advanced class, one and a half years of P.E., two and a half years of Social Studies, one semester of Economics, and one semester of Health. In addition to these, students must also complete three Science courses, two foreign language courses from the same language, one course of Computer Science, chosen from Computer Math, Advanced Typing/Word Processing, or Business Computer Applications, one course of Fine Arts, chosen from band, Choir, Art, Theater, or Public Speaking, and four courses of Electives for a combined total of 24 units.

Students who wish to enter the Honors program must fulfill all the requirements necessary for students on the Advanced plan with the exception that at least five classes must be honors classes. These five courses can be chosen from English I, II, III, and IV, World and US History, Economics, Government, Biology, and Physical Science.

Ever wonder WHY . . . we have to do projects?

"I think the reason we have to do projects is because they help us learn and get a better understanding of what we are studying."

Look at
WHAT we did...

Along with the growth of the school, comes the growth of the school's organizations. Two new ones were created this year, D. F.Y. IT. (Drug Free Youth in Texas) and the Rodeo club.

D. F.Y. IT. was started to get kids off drugs and encourage the ones who were not on them to stay off. The Rotary Club donated funds to hold monthly drawings for prizes like T.V.'s, V.C.R.'s and even a car (to be awarded next homecoming).

"I hope that the club works out so that upcoming freshmen will be able to join a club that says they are against drugs and alcohol," said Ariel Favors, Jr.

The rodeo club, reactivated by Coach Larry McFarlin, includes amateur rodeo competitors. The club has grown dramatically since its beginning.

"Get Funky" is performed by the drill team at the pep rally. They tried to do routines that appealed to the students with newer songs and save the flashier dances for the field.

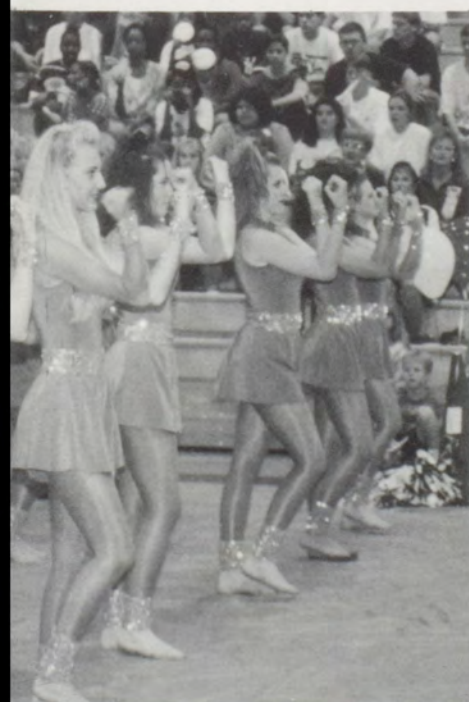

D. F.Y. IT. (Drug Free Youth in Texas) is the newest club this year. In February, the Kiwanis club sponsored an assembly and gave away prizes to D. F.Y. IT. members. A skit about the "Tooth Fairy" features Jessica Stroud, Zach Todd, and Mark Barnes. Ms. Youree assigned and auditioned people for the parts in the Medicine Show skits, songs and monologues. The Medicine Show is open to any student who wishes to perform.

"Drama has been a great experience. I have grown greatly since the first year I was involved. I won't forget it."
Jessica Stroud, Sr.

"I really enjoy One-Act Play because it allows me to challenge myself and I get to see what other drama departments are doing."
Tom Long, Sr.

"Beauty and the Beast" is sung by Paige Hale and Russell Ashby. The drama department features singing talents as well as acting.

"Here I sit...All alone... Again... Tom Long with his brown bag lunch portrays a scene as Charlie Brown eats his lunch in the schoolyard.

Its time for another "Ryan's Corner" during the Medicine Show. Ryan Posey came out ever so often and gave an abstract piece of philosophy to the audience.

The One-Act Play this year was "The Lesson" by Eugene Inocesco. Tom Long played the professor, Anna Youree, the pupil, and Paige Hale the maid. The crew was Mariana Terry, Candace Crigler, Jeff Cross, and Camilo Prieto.

WHAT about...

Singing

"I was honored to be asked to perform in the show. I enjoyed singing 'Dedicated to the one I Love.'" Heather Welch, Jr.

Stage Band

"I was a little nervous about my solo. Kenny G is a very talented musician and it is hard to play some of his music." Jonathan Springer, Sr.

Drill Team

"I really enjoy being in drill team. It brings all of us closer than we would be if we weren't in drill team." Lisa Peveto, Jr.

Disappointment

"I couldn't believe I tore my hamstring at dress rehearsal. I worked so hard and made up most of the routines. It hurt me to sit in the audience." Lana Clayton

The War Dancers dance to a 50's number during the Spring Show "Dancing Through the Decades" given on Monday morning for the junior high students.

"The 50's mix was one of my favorite routines, because we did a part where we got to act like we were strumming guitars." Stephanie Brent, Sr.

Feature twirler Natalie Bethel performs a dance twirl routine to "Turn the Beat Around."

"I had the most fun performing at the Spring Show than I have anywhere else. I was very comfortable with my routine and the audience was very supportive-that helped a lot." Natalie Bethel, Sr.

Members of the choir performed "Singing in the Rain" as their part. The War Dancers try to involve each performing group in school.

"It was fun to be a part of the show. It gave me more experience and will eventually help me perform better in front of people." Amber Howery

Talent

('tal-ent) noun 1. a special often creative or artistic aptitude.

"Dancing Through the Decades" features War Dancers talent.

It is always a surprise what will happen when the senior guys perform their annual routine. "I enjoyed being a Warriorette. I never really knew there was so much involved in being in drill team. I thought it went pretty good." "Gimme More" Michael Moore

Bryan Pendergrass and Walter Taylor make their exit after their high kick routine. The "girls" were a little calmer Monday morning than Saturday night at the performance.

"I actually thought it was fun. It's the one time where you can show off as a girl and entertain people at the same time and you don't even have to be good at it." Walter Taylor

This is the third year for the War Dancers to put on the Spring Show. As their final number, the drill team performed what they call the Future routine. On Saturday night they used special lighting and smoke for special effects.

"I thought that our last routine was the best one out of the show. The lights and smoke added so much to the dance and made it really look like something from the future. This was the funnest dance to me because I like the music and the special effects." Amanda Fanning, Jr.

WHAT about...

UCA camp

"We had never been to camp at San Marcos. We got Overall Cheer Camp Champions. Kyla, Reggie and I made the All American squad."

Alyssa Harris, Sr.

Dance camp

"We did drill commands every night and got it down to 15 people. On the last day we went to one and I became the Drill Down Queen."

Kyla Case, Sr.

UCA JV camp

"We won most improved and got a trophy and team ribbons for evaluations. 5 had been to camp before, but 3 of us never had."

Cortney Hembree, Soph.

Freshmen ETSU camp

"We won the dance competition and won the overall cheer for the freshmen division."

Erin Gopffarth

In between quarters at a Warrior home basketball game, April Hall gets tossed. The varsity girls cheered at two games each week.

"I was kind of nervous about that stunt because we didn't get to practice it before the game. I was relieved that it went well," April Hall, Jr.

The freshmen squad got to perform "Hey, Hey, Hey, We're the Fighting Warriors" at the homecoming pep rally.

"I personally had a fun time learning the cheer and getting to perform in front of the whole school. We were used to only the crowds at the freshmen games," Casi Couzens, Fr.

Junior varsity cheerleaders Misty Lorange and Brandi Roebertson practice at the I.W. Evans playground during the cheerleader clinic in the fall. "We were paired with the varsity and we helped with cheers and a dance after school until 5 p.m.. Helping the little kids was fun," Misty Lorange, Soph.

Spirit

('spir-et) noun 1. a special attitude or frame of mind; enthusiastic loyalty to school.

Cheerleaders exhibit spirit for teams and school.

"I was kind of nervous because we made it up right before we went out there and had never practiced the stunt. We were excited we pulled it off. I have done stunts since 7th grade so I got to be on top because I was used to the balancing and being held," Aja Tarpley, Soph.

For the Talent Show in November, the freshmen cheerleaders perform to "The Magic Friend."

"Melissa had a tape with the song and we liked it so I made up the dance to go with it. We also performed this routine during football season at a couple of games," Casie Baker, Fr.

Casi Couzens, Aaron McKinley and Jill Vandygriff teach the dance "Its All Good" to one group of girls during the cheerleader clinic. The clinic cost $10 per student and is lasted five days.

"The little girls were really fun to work with. We had different stations that they rotated to in groups where we did a dance, cheer, techniques and jumps," Jill Vandygriff, Jr.

Energy ('en-er-je) noun

1. vigorous exertion of power or effort.
2. able to be active.

Tomahawks demonstrate energy on the sidelines.

Kerry Hazelip and Heath Richardson lead the sophomore class in the cheer "Purple and White". Sometimes they even got the signs upside down or the letters backwards when they were in a hurry.

"Our job was to get the mats out, set up all the chairs and anything else Mr. Gatlin or Mrs. Hunnicutt needed us to do." Kerry Hazelip, Soph.

Whistling with the seniors as they chant, Tomahawk Heath Richardson helps them keep their spirit up between the cheerleaders doing yells.

"Being a Tomahawk was a chance for me to learn about what effect an individual can have on a crowd." Heath Richardson, Soph.

Part of the Tomahawks job is helping cheerleaders get the classes going at pep rallies and assisting with yells as they teach the audience.

"Having fun with the cheerleaders was great. I liked getting to be in front of different classes each week during the pep rally," Eli Pannell, Fr.

For the 50's pep rally, the Tomahawks slick back their hair, roll up their jeans and don white T-shirts and leather jackets. The Tomahawks and cheerleaders also performed their routine in the drill team's Spring Show.

"The dance wasn't hard to learn, but I really strained by stomach muscles when we had to jump over our partners heads." Chad Goode, Soph.

"The best part of being Warham is being looked up to by the little kids when I walk by them. It has been a big honor because I know the tradition behind it and the varsity players voted for me," Chris Pendergrass, Soph,

"Fight Song" signals the entrance for Warham, cheerleaders, Tomahawks and the varsity team into the pep rallies each week.

"I had fun this year and I got to hang out with my cheerleading buddy. I also got to dance and look at the girls skirts!!" Carlon Wilson, Soph.

WHAT about...

Having fun

"I had a lot of fun at the pep rallies and on Friday nights riding the bus with the cheerleaders. Really, just getting to participate was fun."

Zac Lovelace, Fr.

Being a Tomahawk

I liked pep rallies and getting to cheer with the sophomore Tomahawks and not having to pick up the bus."

Biff Thornton, Fr.

Pep Rallies

"My favorite pep rally, was when we got to dress in jeans, boots and hats for the Hee Haw Western pep rally and help in the skit."

Kyle Baker, Fr.

Dancing

The 50's dance for the pep rally and for the Spring Show was fun. The hardest part was lifting the girls on our shoulders."

Jeremy Barnes, Fr

WHAT about...

Success

"We have some awesome players. There is also a strong bond among many of the members which helps us to perform better."
Deann Russey, Sr.

#1 at Gilmer

"It made us excited and ready for UIL marching contest. We made a II there, but we had to march in the parking lot because of mud."
Annie Hall, Sr.

All-Region

"It was fun to be at all-region. I felt I had really accomplished something by being one of the few freshmen there."
Mira Kenyon,

Solo & Ensemble

"I think solo & ensemble will be remembered by the band for along time because we came home with 50 first division medals."
Jason Reynolds, Soph.

Part of the woodwind section marches to the drill of "Simple Gifts" at a home football game. Many of the games this season were so rainy, the band did not even get to march during halftime.

"Band is easier this year because we are seniors and get to tell everyone else what to do. On the field I got to be a squad leader." Melissa Caylor.

The Friday night before UIL marching contest, the band performs the drill "New World Symphony" as part of their contest show.

"The weather hurt us a lot at marching contest. Having to march on a parking lot was one of the main factors that we didn't get a #1." Ryan Hughes

At homecoming, the band plays on the track due to muddy field conditions. They played "The Lion Sleeps Tonight" for the twirler/flag corps feature.

"We started practice Aug. 1. Summer band was fun because there was no real pressure. Everyone was 'chilled out'." Rebecca Parker

Music

('myu-zik) noun 1. instrumental or mechanical sounds having rhythm, melody or harmony.

Band members make music under Ashcraft's direction.

The percussion section starts a rolloff for "Fight Song" to signal the beginning of each pep rally. Jenny Mayrell plays snare, Cody Towery, tim toms, Michael Stapp and Mark McBroom play bass drums. "I enjoy playing in the percussion section, but at times I get tired of carrying the bass drum." Mark McBroom, Jr.

"It was a lot of fun to liven up the pep rallies by playing in the band." Josh Robinson Stage band performs as part of the spring show. They also played at the Talent Show in November.

"We get to play modern as well as old songs that helps us learn more. Also, doing concerts for the town gives everyone a chance to hear something instead of the same concert type music." Jeff Cross, Sr.

Skill ('skil) noun

1. dexterity or coordination esp. in the execution of learned physical tasks.

Auxiliary members perfect flag and baton skills.

On the field, Natalie Bethel performs during a drill by the band. Natalie has been the feature twirler for the past three years.

"When I look up into the audience all I see are dots of color (mostly purple and white). Performing on the field sets me quite a distance from the audience and helps me concentrate." Natalie Bethel, Sr.

Natalie twirls during a pep rally. She often dazzled the audience with her three baton routines, knife twirling routine and by doing gymnastics as she did high tosses.

The flag corps performs the routine "Scare Tactics" for the Halloween pep rally. Co-captains Rebekah Warren and Amy Ashby made up the routine especially for the day.

"This routine was a little different from our other ones. The skull and crossbone flags we made added to it and made it more dramatic." Amy Ashby, Jr.

Feature twirler Natalie Bethel, Drum major Deann Russey and the flag corps lead the way for the band as they march in the Fannin County Fair Parade.

"Though playing snare during halftime and changing to flags for the feature was hard work, it was fun. Parades were fun also, because I traded one time with flags and one time with snare." Staci Keene, Jr.

WHAT about...

SFA camp

"We all went to camp in June. Amy and I were co-captains and we won first place with our routine from home."

Rebekah Warren, Jr.

New flags

"We had to use heavy practice flags at first because we had seven members until our new ones came in. We also made Flintstones out of old practice ones."

Kristi Webb, Jr.

New uniforms

"I thought they were very cute, even though the skirts were very short, they were easy to dance in."

Paige Hale, Jr.

Novelty flags

"I made the cross bones flags and I think they added a lot to our routine. They also went with the music well."

Dawn Smith, Sr.

"Don't break my heart, my Achy Breaky Heart..." is the dance twirl routine Natalie performs during the Hee Haw pep rally and at the talent show.

"I really enjoyed pep rallies. The yelling and enthusiasm gave me the motivation needed to boost my adrenalin and give a top performance." Natalie Bethel, Sr.

At Homecoming, the flags perform the "Lion Sleeps Tonight" with their hot pink streamers and flags.

"Working with the streamers was a new experience for me. Sometimes they would get tied up in knots or wrap around you." Shaneco Finney, Jr.

WHAT about. .

Camp

"The most rewarding thing about drill team this year was going to one of the most difficult camps and getting the highest awards." Jami Sherer, Sr.

Awards

"We worked so long to get ready for camp and the practices were very hot and tiring. When we got the "Sweepstakes" Award, it was all worth it because our hard work had paid off." Teresa Smith, Fr.

Pep Rallies

"The pep rallies were probably my favorite part of drill team because there was so much spirit. It makes all the practices worth it." Leslie Franklin, Jr.

Routines

"This year Jami and I tried to do more routines that the kids would like. This meant harder and longer practices for the team but I was very proud of them. I thought they were very talented and flexible" Lana Clayton, Sr.

During the halftime of the Clarkesville game, the War Dancers performed to "Hooray for Hollywood." The drill team competed at the SMU Dance Camp with this high kick routine and won the Sweepstakes Award, the highest award given.

"I enjoyed football season this year more than last year because there was not as much stress. We worked just as hard, but it seemed like it was more fun this year," said Amanda Fanning, Jr. PHOTO BY: JOSH BLASINGANE

Kathy Klaeger performs to "The Void," a pom-pom routine during the Quinlin game pep rally. The drill team used more up beat dances this year. "When we learned 'The Void' at camp, the whole team thought the dance was hard, but when I taught it during two-a-day, everyone learned it better and it became a fun routine," said Kathy Klaeger, Jr. PHOTO BY: JOSH BLASINGANE.

Emily Parker, Julie McMillen, Amanda Hamilton, and Chesley Smith march to "New World Symphony" during the Fannin County Fair Parade. The War Dancers also marched in the Homecoming and Christmas Parade. "We practiced hard before the parade by walking around the football field. Other than that, it was a lot of fun," said Emily Parker, Soph. PHOTO BY: DONNA CAYLOR.

Dance ('dan(t)s) noun

1. a series of rhythmic and patterned bodily movements performed to music.

Drill team executes dance moves and high kicks.

Amanda Fanning dips Kathy Klaeger during the 50's routine in the Spring Show. The 50's music included "Jailhouse Rock", "La Bamba", "Be Bop A Lula", and "Chantilly Lace". "I think the Spring Show is my favorite time of the year. It gives us a chance to work together in groups and demonstrate our abilities," said Amanda Fanning, Jr. PHOTO BY: DONNA CAYLOR.

During the Royse City game pep rally, Kathy Taylor dances to "Get Funky." The drill team purchased new uniforms that were more up-to-date for the pep rallies. "I like football season best because it gives me and my friends a chance to get together during pep rallies and football games and have fun. We also have a lot of fun in the stands during the games," said Kathy Taylor, Jr. PHOTO BY: SHANDA BARNES.

Leading the first and second graders from the drill team clinic are Julie McMillen, Chey Kirkpatrick, and Melissa Morgan. The kids that attended the clinic received a T-shirt, performed at one basketball game, and performed at the Spring Show. "I liked doing the drill team clinic because I enjoy working with the little kids. They were fun to teach and cute to watch. That is one of the biggest fundraisers for the drill team," said Julie McMillen, Soph. PHOTO COURTESY: BONHAM DAILY FAVORITE.

Look at
HOW We Played . . .

Many of Bonham High's teams played better than expected this year. The girl's athletic program has seen drastic improvements from previous years.

"Playing as a team with a positive attitude has enabled us to be successful," said volleyball Coach Janice Thomas.

The varsity girl's volleyball team entered wthe playoffs this year for the first time in history. With a record of 10-5, six seniors and a new coach, the lady Warriors fought their way to bi-district play.

Under the command of a new coach, Dan Buchanan, the girls varsity basketball team gained the title of runner-up in district and proceeded to the playoffs for the first time in more than 20 years.

Warriors show HOW to overcome obstacles and survive a rainy season

"I feel the turning point of the season was Commerce. Even though we lost, we played the way we knew we could." Chuck Phillips, Sr.

There is a whole lot of hitting going on here. Farmersville's runningback had to pay the price for crossing the line of scrimmage. Bonham's Fighting Purple machine played hard on the night of homecoming, but suffered a crucial loss with a score of 13 to 24. "We played hard on defense and we gave the Farmers a hard time. Next year we will give a harder time and I won't feel sorry for them," said Chris Stevenson. PHOTO COURTESY: BONHAM DAILY FAVORITE

William Chesser tucks the ball away and dashes to avoid any Commerce Tigers. The Warriors played a close game against Commerce with the final score of Bonham 22 and Commerce 28. "This year our football team was a little slim on size. We couldn't just push everyone around and run up the middle and over others so we had to put the runners on the corners," said William Chesser. PHOTO COURTESY: BONHAM DAILY FAVORITE.

In a desperate situation, quarterback, Casey Hall launches a pass to be completed down the field for six points. The Warriors beat North Dallas with a final score of 27 to 6. "This season didn't turn out like I hoped it would and I was really disappointed, but it was a good learning experience," said Casey Hall. PHOTO COURTESY: BONHAM DAILY FAVORITE.

William Chesser, with the ball, offensive lineman, Brandon Bauman, watches the play go by. The Warriors ran for several yards that game, despite the large size of the Panthers. "This was the game we had the chance to go to the play-offs. We played hard, but the Panthers seemed to have played harder. Even though we lost, I know we all had fun," said Walter Taylor, Sr. PHOTO COURTESY: BONHAM DAILY FAVORITE.

"The most discouraging game was Farmersville, it was homecoming and we had to win to go to the play-offs." William Farris, Soph.

"The lack of support from the newspaper wasn't fair to those who dedicated their time and pride to BHS." Brandon Bauman, Sr.

Andy Reece hang on, fellow Warriors, Casey Hall and Cody Baker are on their way. The heavy rainfall and severe mud made a difference in Bonham's performance. The Quinlin-Ford game ended a final score of Bonham 0, Quinlan 28. "Playing in the mud at Quinlin made it very difficult to block, run, and tackle," said Andy Reece, Sr. PHOTO COURTESY: BONHAM DAILY FAVORITE.

Junior Varsity learns HOW it feels to be district champions

"I will always remember the North Lamar game when Chris went out with a concussion and Matt got his shoulder dislocated, and I got to go in." Nick Castle, Jr.

Junior Varsity players

Damien Reed, #12, Clifton Daniel, #68, Gary Godbey, #75, leave the field after a comeback win over Farmersville. It was one of many rain games the team endured on Thursday night. "This was probably the best game all season. We really got excited since this was our last game. We thought we wouldn't get to play because of the rain," said Clifton Daniels, Soph. PHOTO COURTESY: BONHAM DAILY FAVORITE.

As the Commerce cornerback closes in on Chad Richardson, #88, he unsuccessfully reaches for the pass. "The game between Bonham and Commerce was a battle for us. We had had a lot of talent, but they had the speed. The game was left up to the defense, which did a pretty good job," said Chad Richardson, Fr. PHOTO COURTESY: BONHAM DAILY FAVORITE.

At a home game against Kemp, Carlon Wilson, #4, runs the ball down the field. This was a non-district loss for the junior varsity team. "The play I remember during the Kemp game was when I ran the ball for the first in the game and I got hit hard, but the next play I gained a few yards," said Carlon Wilson, Soph. PHOTO COURTESY: BONHAM DAILY FAVORITE.

"My best game was either Clarksville or Forney. In Clarksville I made my first and only touchdown and some good tackles ." Heath Richardson, Soph.

"I will always remember the last game when we got to play in mud so deep that your foot sunk at least 3 inches in the grass. It was a lot of fun." Biff Thorton, Fr.

Damien Reed, #12, carries the ball against Commerce as Jason Walker, #, blocks. This was the only loss for the junior varsity team during district as they came out as district champs. "Though this was our first time to play Commerce since seventh grade, where we got beat, we seemed to improve, because we were without a lot of the team and still stayed close," Jason Walker, Soph. # Lady Warriors demonstrate HOW to make the playoffs

"Our first game against Wills Point was the turning point, I believe, because we got killed. So we had a talk with Coach Thomas and told her she needed to be a little harder on us and she did." Ruth Wright, Sr.

Amanda Pilliod thrusts the ball over the net against two Bearcat defenders during the play-off game. Unfortunately, the Lady Warriors lost to Whitesboro. "It was an exciting experience to go to the play-offs. I felt like the momentum was intense and that made a good feeling to a spike like that to help pump up the team," said Amanda Pilliod, Jr. PHOTO COURTESY: BONHAM DAILY FAVORITE

During the Royce City game, Passium Bragg serves the ball for the Lady Bulldogs to try to return it. "The Royce City games were both good games. Especially the one that determined if we went to the play-offs. Our team played well and we were proud of ourselves," said Passium Bragg, Sr.

...think we all improved individually and as a team. I also think going to the play-offs changed us in that it gave us the confidence that we needed. It also let us know that the school was behind us which really made a difference." Jill Vandygriff, Jr.

The game at Royce City is a game I will remember for the rest of my life because that was the game that determined if we went to the play-offs and I made the last four points." Tiffany Goodman, Sr.

To keep the Bearcats from scoring, Tiffany Perry blocks a spike during the play-off game. "The play-off game was very exciting since it was the first time any BHS volleyball team to go to the play-offs. I think we did very good considering all the pressure that was present. I think it was a good experience," said Tiffany Perry, Sr. PHOTO COURTESY: BONHAM DAILY FAVORITE.

Head Coach, Janice Thomas, presents the volleyball team with purple carnations and congratulates them for being the first Bonham team to the Bi-District Play-offs. "I thought it was neat that Coach V.T. Smith cared enough to recognize us at the pep rallies, since we don't get very much recognition," said Nicole White, Sr. PHOTO COUTESY: DONNA CAYLOR

The freshman team pull together and try to win against Royce City. Despite their efforts, they lost two games to the Tigers. "I will always remember the side of each other that we saw and didn't know existed," said Rachel Colley, Fr. PHOTO BY: AMANDA SPENCER.

"One time in practice I got hit so hard that my gum fell out of my mouth. Everyone thought it was a contact and stopped in their tracks." Amber Thompson, Soph.

"The funniest thing in volleyball was when Lacrishia was looking for the ball and it hit her right on the head before she saw it." Mariana Terry, Fr.

Heather Pinkston bunts the ball back to the Wills Point team. The freshman lost both games. "I think the best game of the season was the last game and Coach Thomas was proud of our effort," said Heather Pinkston, Fr. PHOTO BY: AMANDA SPENCER.

During the Commerce game, Christina Hicks serves the ball over the net to start the match. Bonham junior varsity team beat Royce City that night. "I feel that we had a lot of talent and always played to our fullest potential," said Christina Hicks, Soph. PHOTO BY: DONNA CAYLOR.

Varsity boys see HOW evenly matched district effects season records

"The most memorable game was Commerce because being a person that comes off the bench and tying for lead scorer means a lot." Michael Clements, Sr.

During a non-district game, Warriors, Kenneth Jackson, #33, and Steven Smith, #30, block a Van Alstyne shot.

"I feel the district change has effected us a great deal, because some of the teams we have never seen play and the athletes were a lot better than our old district," said Kenneth Jackson, Sr. PHOTO COURESY: BONHAM DAILY FAVORITE

Brandon Godbey, #25, goes up against a Honey Grove defender to try to score.

"Honey Grove was a tough opponent and they had some good players. They went on and made the playoffs for their district." Brandon Godbey, Sr.

Trying to gain possession, Brandon Godbey, #25, battles for the ball as teammate Matt Sisk, #14, looks on.

" We did not play well during the Wills Point game. They were good and went on to win our district." Brandon Godbey, Sr.

"I will always remember the Royce City game, because we went into four overtimes. It was the longest game I ever played, but it was fun"
James Moss, Sr.

"My best game was Royce City where we went into 2 overtimes, I had 15 points."
Andy Dugan, Sr.

Steven Smith, #30, makes an offensive rebound against a Honey Grove Warrior. "I think the game against Lipan was the most memorable, because we gave them a run and most teams couldn't even stay on the court with them," said Steven Smith, Sr. PHOTO COURTESY: BONHAM DAILY FAVORITE.

During a home game against Princeton, Matt Sisk, #14, makes a blinding pass. "The district is now much more difficult. The level of competition is so much higher. We played Princeton this year, who was in our old district and made it to the playoffs, and only lost by four points," said Matt Sisk, Sr. PHOTO COURTESY: BONHAM DAILY FAVORITE.

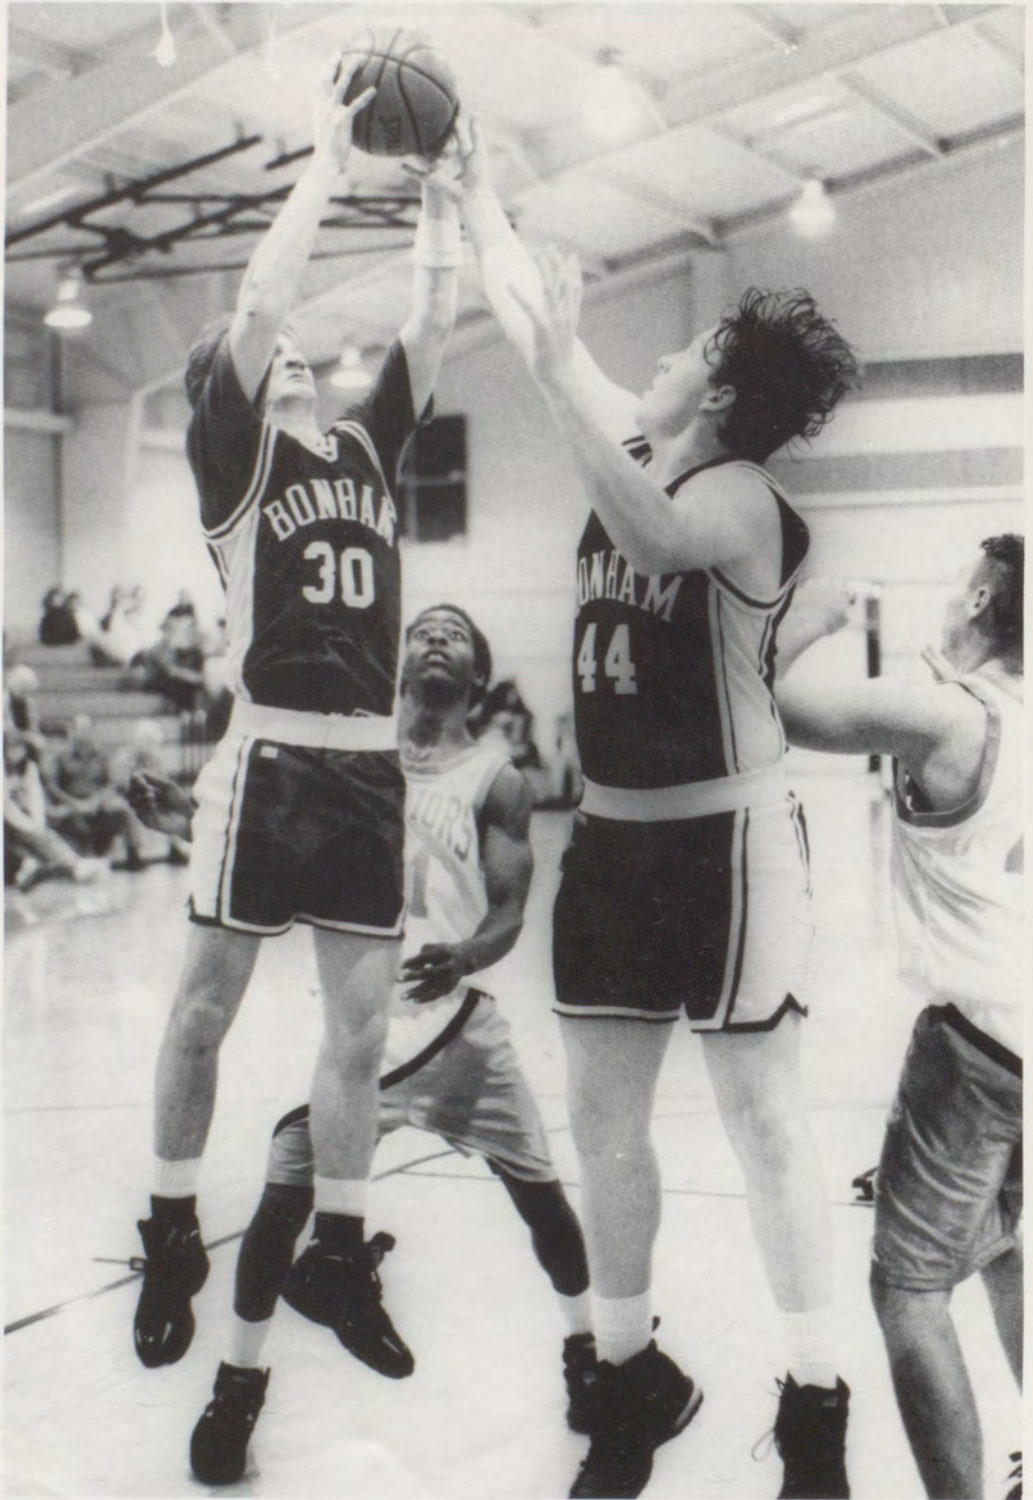

"This year's seson was great with Coach Richardson as the new coach. We did and great and had a fun year." Phil Forshee, Jr.

Look at HOW varsity girls make first playoffs since 1975

"I think our new coach has helped us become successful. He knows what he is doing and makes it fun at the same time." Amy Ashby, Jr.

During the Wills Point game, Amanda Pilliod attempts to block the shot.

"We were all excited to start district after winning eight straight games and this pumped us up so we were ready to go," said Amanda Pilliod, Jr. PHOTO COURTESY: BONHAM DAILY FAVORITE.

At a home game against Wills Point, Tiffany Perry, #10, fakes out a Panther before shooting the ball.

"We had to play really hard to beat Wills Point in this game because they were real quick. I think it was one of the toughest games we played all year," said Tiffany Perry, Sr. PHOTO COURTESY: BONHAM DAILY FAVORITE

"The end of the season was the most memorable for me because that was when I was moved up to varsity." Kristina Hicks, Soph.

"It was great for the girls to reach the playoffs. We came a long way from 1-8 to 15-13. I'm proud of them." Dan Buchanon, coach.

Tonya Nephews, #13, jumps between two Commerce Tigers to rebound the ball. "We had a suprisingly successful season this year and we really deserved it. A couple of games were stressful, but we were able to pull them through," said Tonya Nephew, Jr. PHOTO COURTESY: BONHAM DAILY FAVORITE

While playing the undefeated Farmersville Farmers, Jennifer Johnson drives past two Farmers to the basket. Farmersville gave the Lady Warriors their first district loss. "It was a tough game and we were disappointed to lose. However, we came back and proved we could do it," Jennifer Johnson. PHOTO COURTESY: BONHAM DAILY FAVORITE.

The business community of Bonham is largely responsible for the support of many organizations and clubs.

Through the purchase of advertising businesses keep the publications such as Totem Poll and the Coushatta going. They also support the Booster Clubs for organizations such as War Dancers, the Band, and athletics.

Much talk of the addition of the new prison facilities has boosted hope for the sagging economy of the community. Sadly, this has not come in time for long time businesses Leatherwood's and Gilbert's Furniture.

There have been new restaurants and businesses brought in the past year such as Subway, Taco Mayo, and Chicken Express. To be completed this summer is a new 6 screen movie theatre located on Highway 121 and a new trailer plant, Clayton Homes.

COLOPHON Take A LOOK at the Staff

The Bonham High School Coushatta Volume 58 was printed by Josten's Publishing Company, Box 1903, Topeka, Kansas 66601.

The book size was 7 3/4 by 10 1/2 inches with 132 pages. Three hundred and thirty copies were ordered at $26 dollars each.

The cover was designed by Donna Caylor and Jared Warren at Josten's Summer Journalism Workshop held at Texas Women's University, Denton Texas.

Mike King Photography, of Commerce Texas, took photographs of seniors, juniors, and underclassmen as well as sports and organizations groups.

The 1994 Coushatta is a member of the University Interscholastic League Press Conference and Quill and Scroll.

Special thanks to . . .

Tread Sheffield for his support and kindness in all we do. Thanks for understanding.

The Bonham Daily Favorite for the use of many sports and activity candid.

The 1995 Totem Poll staff for all of the "plagiarised" stories, straight off their front page and the extra hours spent in quote gathering.

The 1995 Coushatta staff for all of their long hours, and stressed out days and nights. Each member worked many late nights and hoped that the memories you have seen while "Looking at Us" will always have a special place in your life.

Pat and Lou Ann Warren for letting us camp at your house and the weekly feeding frenzy on Sunday nights.

The BHS Faculty for putting up with our deadline rushes.

And finally Mrs. Caylor without whom, this book would never have made it to Topeka. She has shown neverending love, patience, faith, and kindness to every member of the staff.

Lake Bonham site of volleyball, football, hamburgers for Juniors and Seniors

"The hamburger supper was great but pretty much the same as last year, my team lost in the first round of the volleyball games."
Walter Taylor, Sr.

Stephen Payne, Cody

Towery, Graciella Brizuela, and Leslie Franklin look on as Regie Dunlap sends the volleyball to the opposing team. Lake Bonham's fields were host to this year's annual Junior/Senior Hamburger Supper. "The hamburger supper was fun. It was a little rushed and in a hurry, but it was very nice for everyone to be together before prom," said Sandy Gibson, Sr. PHOTO BY: KRISTI WEBB

Senior sponsor Danna

Phillips calls the shots as she officiates the tournament. Coach Phillips was this year's Senior Chairperson. "I enjoyed the supper. It gave me a chance to get to know people better before graduation," said Cody Nelson, Sr. PHOTO BY: KRISTI WEBB

Brett Castle returns a shot from the opposing team. Brett's team placed first after all rounds at the tournament. "I enjoyed the supper because it gave me a great chance to spend some time talking to my friends before graduation," said Rebekah Warren, Jr. PHOTO BY: APRIL HALL

"The hamburger supper was a blast . I loved playing volleyball, especially since almost all the juniors and seniors were there" Amy Ashby, Jr.

"The best thing about the hamburger supper was the rough football game going on with the guys, it was wild." Kristi Webb, Jr.

Taking time out to eat,

Juniors and Seniors grab a quick snack before hitting the court again. The Junior Senior Hamburger Supper has become a spring tradition at Bonham High School. "I went swimming in the lake at the hamburger supper to prove to Matt Haggard that I wasn't a chicken," said Chesley Smith, Jr.

'Hooray for Hollywood,' begins prom activities as night ends with Casino breakfast

"The prom and breakfast was a lot of fun. The casino was a great idea and the Hollywood decorations were wonderful." Daniel Cockrill, Sr.

After valet parking and being announced upon their arrival at I.W. Evans, Jubal Lawson and his date, Amanda Skogen, stop just long enough to sign autographs. "This prom was even better than last year's. There were more people and more things to do. The best part was when we got out of the car and they announced us, then Mrs. Rich and Mrs. Clark ran up and asked us for our autographs," said Jeff Cross, Sr. PHOTO BY: DANNA PHILLIPS

Juniors Brad Underwood and Matt Haggard roll their way to riches at the Roulette table. Play money won by the gamblers could be exchanged for door prizes at the breakfast from 12:30-4:00 am. "I found the Casino games to be my favorite thing. I enjoyed the Vegas-style gambling, but especially liked it when I won $3,000 at the Roulette table," said David Mackey, Sr. PHOTO BY: DANNA PHILLIPS

Blackjack dealer Dana Sisk, prepares for the next round. Amanda Fanning, Alex Kendel and David Mackey are watched by Michael Vaughn. "Blackjack was my favorite game, the only game I played all night. I won a lot of money, but then lost it all," said April Hall, Jr. PHOTO BY: DANNA PHILLIPS

"The most exciting thing at the breakfast was watching Matt Haggard go crazy after winning 24,000 dollars in chips"
Leslie Gray, Fr.

"I thought that the prom was great. It was the best prom-breakfast combination that Bonham has ever had."
Josh Payne, Jr.

Cathy Nelms and Jeremy

Jones dance after all the seniors and their dates are introduced on the gold platform. "I thought the handprints made by all the juniors and seniors for front entrance walkway were really neat. It was like that famous Chinese Theater. I felt like a movie star," said Cathy Nelms, Sr.

Senior Matt Stephens and

Kathy Klaeger enjoy a dance in the romantic surroundings of Hollywood. This year's theme, "Hooray for Hollywood" put the seniors in the star studded California city. "When people danced, the floor was so packed you could hardly move." said Rebekah Gorman, Fresh. PHOTO BY: DANNA PHILLIPS

Brett Castle, Annie Hall, Joanna Thompson, and Michael Osborne enjoy a bite to eat. To accompany the theme, they had Brown Derby decorations around the kitchen. "I thought that the decorations were great! Especially the Rodeo Drive the best!" said Lana Clayton, Sr. PHOTO BY: DANNA PHILLIPS

Jeanette Moore deals the cards to Michael Coonrod, and Chuck Phillips as Cody Nelson watches. "The breakfast was a blast! I really enjoyed the gambling, even though I lost all my chips at the Black Jack table," said Rebecca Parker, Fr. PHOTO BY: DANNA PHILLIPS

'Calamity Jane' features Clayton and Godbey in annual Senior Play

"I remember the night when Mr. Gatlin came to see the play and the whole cast actually worked together and tried to do thier best."
 Jessica Stroud, Sr.

The town drunks, Hank (Ryan Thornton) and Pete (James Moss) tell guest at the Golden Garter about their close encounter with indians.

Lt. Danny Gilmartin (Cody Couzens) sings "Love You Dearly" as he and Katie Brown (Kyla Case) profess their love for each other during a party at the fort. "The senior play is something that I am very proud of. There were times when we thought it would never come together, but in the end we had a senior production that was a lot of fun and a feeling of real accomplishment."
 Kyla Case, Sr.

Francis Fryer (Andy Reece) talks to Susan (Pharrah Phillips) after he was mistaken for a woman. Susan listened patiently and attempted to coax him into staying. "Even though we got a little cranky towards the end, I discovered that there was truth behind the idea that the senior play truly brought our class together."
 Pharrah Phillips, Sr.

"The practices for the play were long and hard. I feel that it all payed off in the end."
Connie McFarling, Sr.

"The Senior Play was a lot of hard work and if I had the chance, I am not sure if I would do it again."
Kenny Jackson, Sr.

Wild Bill Hickock (Brandon Godbey) tries his best to console Calamity Jane (Lana Clayton) when she discovered Danny Gilmarten loved Katie Brown instead of her. "I had never acted before, so having the lead in the play was very nerveracking. It is definitely something I'll never forget."
Lana Clayton, Sr.

Calamity Jane introduces Henry Miller (Alex Kendell), the proprietor of The Golden Garter, to the audience.

Locals, Prospector (Brandon Bauman) and Buck (Walter Taylor), are keeping business alive at the Golden Garter by buying drinks from the Dance Hall Girl (Dawn Smith) and gambling.

Chorus Line (Michelle Bankston, Connie McFarling, Natalie Bethel, Stephanie Brent, Jami Sherer, Nicole White, Cathy Nelms, and Bethany Ball) assist Adelaid Adams (Alyssa Harris) in telling whom she is planning to marry.

Boys volley to district runner-ups as JV girls win district title

"I will always remember filling my shirt and sweat pants with tennis balls at practices and was given the name Lumpy." Chesley Smith, Jr.

Matt Felmet demonstrates good form and concentration returning a low forehand during a Doubles match. "It was disappointing not placing 1st or 2nd in district. We had fun playing baseball in between matches," said Matt Felmet, Sr.

Boys edge out Commerce and earn 12th District Title

"This was my first year to run in track and to go to Regionals. I was happy, but I expected it because of all the training I put in."

James Moss, Sr.

Junior Jeremy Jones shows perfect form as he pole vaults his way to second place at the District meet held at Warrior Stadium. "I was very happy about making Regionals, but became pretty nervous when I broke my pole two days before the Regional meet. However, I managed to jump with another pole and still tied my personal best." Jeremy Jones, Jr.

"It was great for the team when all three pole vaulters placed because we needed the points to win District."

Chris Pendergrass, Soph.

"I was not expecting to run track this year, but when the coaches put me on the 3200m, I didn't argue and look forward to next year."

Stuart Moss, Fr.

With that driving look of pure adrenalin Garrett Amlin is caught in mid-air as he passes the final of the 100m Hurdles. "My best track meet was probably Commerce. I ran the 100m hurdles and got my best time ever, 43:11."

Case discuss the facts about how to catch up in the tournament. The girls ended up in 11th place overall. "Our biggest accomplishment this year was having players advance beyond the district level. This was the 16th year to go to regionals," said Coach Steve Hembree. PHOTO BY: MIKE REECE

New changes, old traditions, the Warriors have another tough year

"The most important job about being third baseman is to stop the ball, because I get a lot of balls hit to me and if I mess up, I'm not doing my job."

Matt Haggard, Jr.

Decked out in new uniforms

purchased earlier this year, the 1994-1995 Varsity baseball players lean in to hear some advice given from Coach Dale Trompler.

Pitcher, Cody Baker, listens

intently to some last minute pointers given to him by Coach Trompler. "I feel that the strongest point of the team is our batting. We batted a lot better this year than last." Cody Baker, Jr.

Picking up a grounder

Andy Reece tries to pick off the Wills Point base runner. "This year was different from last year because the practices were more organized and we got more done." Andy Reece, Sr.

"The turning point of the season was when District started. It seemed that then we started playing differently, the way we knew we could."

Chad Fuller, Jr.

"Our toughest opponent was Prairieland because though I hit the ball everytime, they had a good defence and made some good plays."

Casey Hall, Jr.

In an attempt to tag out a Commerce player trying to steal homebase, catcher, Josh Payne, watches the outfield and waits for the ball to be returned. "Our most memorable game was the S & S game because we all played hard and together. Everybody stayed focused and we won 10-2," said Josh Payne, Jr.

First softball team places third in District behind Howe and Van Alstyne

"Howe was the most important game because we had to win both times to make it to the playoffs but we lost one and won one." Juana Ventura, Sr.

Third baseman, Christie Vestal, goes for the ball to get a Howe runner out. This was Bonham's first softball team and they came in third place for district. "I feel this season went very well, considering it was the first softball team. Third place is very good. Although I wish we could have come in first, there is still plenty of time for most of the returning players. We had a good year and I am proud of everyone." said Christie Vestal, Soph.

Tiffany Perry struggles to catch the ball as a Blue Ridge player slides into third base. As a result of a double-header, Bonham won one, 17-11, and lost one, 10-16. "I think Blue Ridge was our most important game because it placed us in the position of making the play-offs," said Tiffany Perry, Sr.

"I feel the strong point of our team would have to be our determination to win." Kristina Hicks, Soph.

"The strong points of our team is that we always helped each other out and that we didn't let each other down." Folmtje Treyde, Jr.

Christie Vestal rounds first base after hitting a double during a home game against Anna. Bonham won the two games they played against Anna, 16-4 and 10-5. "My favorite part about playing softball is batting. I love the challenge of facing different pitchers," said Christie Vestal, Soph. PHOTO COURTESY: BONHAM DAILY FAVORITE

Lizann Baker throws the ball toward second base in an attempt to get an out. The Lady Warriors season record was 9-3. "The season went well. The majority of us played together all through the summer leagues, so that was an advantage. Everyone on the team contributed a lot and we had a successful season," said Lizann Baker, Jr. PHOTO COURTESY: BONHAM DAILY FAVORITE
