Coffer-Miller Players To Offer "The Liar"

POOR RICHARDS PHILOSOPHY

Smart cracks and crevices around the campus and Pharmacy this week will not be reported to their full extent. Exams are so close that Poor Richard hardly knows whether this is Christmas or the period of Lent. Be this as it may the following were gathered:

"Dear me," said Beryl, as she walked into the Pharmacy the other morning. "Do take those hideous signs off that mirror. I can't see if my hair is on backward or forward. I'm looking for a man to love" sang Dart Smith last Wednesday after talking to Sulphur Springs on long distance.

"All aboard for Mt. Vernon" called conductor Galt, and fifteen yokels stampeded, badly injuring the aforementioned conductor.

"This Ain't No Bull" yelled Eddie Connor as she dashed into the Dormitory door, preceeding by a scant yard or so a trespassing animal of the cow variety.

Hamburger stand went up today. Five hundred dogs left town to stay

Although Dart Smith's speed has slackened somewhat in the last few weeks, her only rival is her mouth and that is still disqualified because it is loose at both ends and has no reverse speed.

Prof. Stone's Social Science class has been turned into a post office by two of his turtle doves who seem to be having trouble with their affairs of the heart. Prof. has obligingly approved of this method of mending the two broken hearts but I really don't think they have been broken, just squeezed too hard. Ask Buttercup.

Mark Lowrey's popularity is on the decline since his election to the exalted throne of Lord of May. This statement as to Mark's election will cause quite a fervor among a number of the aspirants but I thought it would be better to tell them than for any more of them to go home and buy new suits for the event.

T Bon Saendridge again narrowly escapes the ax. He jerked his neck from under the weighty blade of the mump ax just this past week. T. Bone was in suspense for three weeks after leaving Huntsville, where he was exposed to the dreaded scourge. Be careful T. Bone, third time is the charm you know.

Careful Yancy, the headless horse man is watching you night and day. This is the last warning.

Poor Richard was almost run over by a Ford the other day but he got revenge by yelling, "Who threw that can?"

Well, I hope it's fishing weather around exam time. Prof. Cowling may go fishing and forget to come back in time for my math final.

If I don't run out of the midnight oil, I'll be sitting up all night from now on. You fellows come over there may be some refreshments left. I'm not real sure.

SENIORS HAVE PARTY MONDAY

Monday night a week ago the T. S. Seniors had the third of their scheduled parties at Miss Nancie Galyon's. It was an enjoyable affair and the persons who were there had a wonderful time. Games were played and other entertainment was introduced by our host. Refreshments were served and the couples began to leave. It was about 10:30 when the few that were left ventured in to the dark.

BROWNWOOD MEET GREAT SUCCESS

Professor J. M. Bledsoe and Mr. Ben Patrick report a very interesting and enjoyable trip to the annual council meeting of the Scholarship Societies of the South, which met in Brownwood on February 22, with the Lincoln Chapter of Howard Payne College. Professor Bledsoe attended as the faculty representative, and Mr. Patrick as the representative of the R. B. Binnion Chapter of the East Texas State Teachers College.

The Lincoln Chapter entertained the visitors in a very enjoyable manner. After the business meeting in the forenoon, lunch was served in the Girls' Dormitory. In the evening a most delightful banquet was given the visitors, after which passes were provided to all the delegates by President Godbold of Howard Payne College to attend the minstrel in the college auditorium.

Business sessions were held in the morning and afternoon by the council. The original, Texas Scholarship Society, was replaced by Scholarship Societies of the South. This was made necessary because societies from other Southern states were admitted.

Ouachita College of Arkadelphia, Arkansas, was given membership at the Brownwood meeting. A year ago, at the Fort Worth meeting, Hendrix College of onway, Arkansas, and Centenary College of Shreveport, Louisiana, were admitted to membership.

Dean A. H. Nolle of the Southwest Texas State Teachers College was elected Secretary-Treasurer to succeed President H. Y. Benedict of the University of Texas. President Benedict was elected President Emeritus of the Scholarship Council, an honorary position created at the Brownwood meeting. Professor W. T. Davis of Southwestern University at Georgetown was elected president, and Miss Shook of the North Texas State Teachers College at Denton was elected vice president.

Invitations for the meeting of the Council in 1929 were extended by Commerce, Canyon, Denton, and Belton. The very effective invitation given by the representatives of the chapter of Baylor Female College won the decision to meet in Belton on February 22, 1929. It had been hoped that the next meeting of the Council would be in Commerce; however, we shall look forward to securing the meeting at some future time.

PLAN TOURNAMENT FOR LIBRARY FUND

The Psychology Club is sponsoring a Commerce Community Bridge Tournament to be held Thursday afternoon, at three, at Mrs. Bagwell's on Bonham street. Mesdames Bert George, Leon Rutland, Lucy Lackey, J. G. Muller and Joe Murphy have the tickets. The following rules will be in force:

Tallies shall be drawn after arriving at Mrs. Bagwell's.

Four hands shall be played at each table, and all couples shall change partners as they change tables, even the head table.

An exposed card shall remain on the table until that suite is played and then it shall be played.

Talking across the table shall be penalized 75 points above the line.

Progression is made on total score after 125 is given for most points below the line. If the points below the line are the same the highest total gets the 125.

Playing begins promptly at 3:00.

It is hoped that all the ladies who play will call and ask about the tickets, for it is impossible for the committee to call each one. A nice plate is being planned, and you are sure to enjoy playing with people whom you don't see as often as you do in the individual clubs. The Psychology club is planning a public library, and this is your chance to help. Do your bit Thursday, at 3:00.

1928 BASEBALL TEAM LOOKING GOOD

The baseball team for the coming season is looking good and from all indications it will be a winning season for the Lions. The baseball men have been working out regular for two weeks under Coach Bill Acker. Acker has put out a winning team for the several years that he has coached the Lions in any form of athletics and this year should not be an exception. There are several letter men back on the squad and some good material from the high schools throughout the country. The Lions will have practically the same catching material of last year; they will be of greater strength in the hurling department and in this department most of the hope for a winning season will be centered on this team. There will be some new faces seen on the infield and outfield and when the umpire cries "play ball" there will be one of the best teams in the history of the school on the field. The Lions had a good basketball team and finished second in the race, and from the material that we have in baseball we should finish at the top of the column, if some hard luck does not hit the squad before the season gets started good.

There will be several practice games played in the next week or two and every student should come out and yell for the Lions, for if they get a good start they will bring home the flag of victory at the end of the season. This year will be one of the best years for the championship, for the Lions have more letter men back than any other school in the T. I. A. A. and I am here to tell you that the Lions will be in there fighting for every score, and after every game they will have increased their average a few points. Come on out and yell for the Lions in baseball the same as you did in basketball and we will have another winning team that everyone will be proud of.

E. T. YEAR BOOK GETS MENTION

E. T. craves honor—then more honor. The Locust has recently been awarded honorable mention in a nation wide contest conducted by the Art Craft Guild, Inc. Chicago, Illinois.

It is well to mention here that over five hundred other college annuals were entered into this contest and the Locust was one of the two books in Texas to receive honorable mention.

The winners were declared after prolonged discussion on the part of the judges. The winning books had to conform to the following principles: First, they had to be a true representation of college life in that particular college. All school activities had to be entered into the book, and each and every class in the institution represented and given a certain amount of publicity.

Editor Lowrey deserves honorable mention himself, for bringing more honor and publicity as well as nation wide fame to E. T.

NEW ORGANIZATION ON E. T. CAMPUS

A new association has recently been organized on the campus of E. T., known as the University of Chicago Alumnae Association. This is a very exclusive organization, even more exclusive than are the other alumnae organizations about the campus; and considering the short time it has been in existence, it is progressing rapidly.

Officers are:
President—Mary Rives Bowman.
Secty. and Treasurer—W. E. Stone.
The club is planning a banquet in the near future and we expect to hear from them often as to their progress and activities. Those we are supposed to know about.

BROYLES-LOWREY DEBATE TRINITY

Wallace Broyles and Mark Lowrey, East Texas debaters, will take the negative side of the question, Resolved: "That the United States should cease to protect by arm force capital invested in foreign lands except after formal declaration of war" against the Trinity University debaters Friday night, March 18, in Waxahachie.

Broyles lettered year before last and won a debate against the San Marcos Teachers team with his colleague Joe Ryan. He is a powerful orator and is capable of backing his oratory with substantial facts. Lowrey is present Editor-in-Chief of the Locust and is also a letter debater. He won a debate last year with Canyon having Walton Young for a colleague. Lowrey is perfectly at ease on the platform and has the power of putting his points over in splendid shape. He is also gifted with the powers of speech and makes his argument equal his speaking ability.

The above mentioned question has been adopted by the Pi Kappa Delta Fraternity for inter-collegiate debate.

POETRY CONTEST INFORMATION

Several poems have been received to be entered into the prize poetry contest, which will be staged the first week of the spring term. Some of these poems have been marked for the East Texan, and some of them specify that they are especially for the contest.

Please, in the future, designate on your poem whether you want it published in a regular issue of the paper, or whether you want it held up for the prize contest. All poems without information concerning the contest will be run in a regular issue of the East Texan.

T. S. SENIORS GO SKATING

Last Monday morning the T. S. Seniors and two Juniors ventured to the skating rink to skate or fall, whichever they could do best. It seemed as if most of us could fall better than we could skate. W. C. Knight fell more than anyone else, with Thomas P. Griffiths a close second. Although these boys fell a great many times it is believed that Miss Doris Tharsber would have won had there been a prize offered. Every person of the party fell at least once. There was much fun to be had and everyone seemed to have his or her part.

The Seniors were there in full force while the two Juniors W. C. Knight and Miss Jane England gave the crowd plenty of thrills and laughs.

FRESHMAN CLASS HELD MEETING

Monday morning, March 5, at 9:45 the Freshman class met in M-5 for the purpose of getting all the class to back the Coffer-Miller Players, coming on March 8th and 9th. Each Fish was asked to take his Student Activity Ticket and twenty-five cents to Mr. Smith and get his tickets before the plays, to avoid confusion at the door.

During this meeting the question of new officers came up, as the officers now serving will be Sophomores next term. The following were elected to serve the rest of our freshman year:

President—George Le Taylor.
Vice President—Lloyd Musick.
Secretary—Evelyn Witt.
Treasurer—Stacy Newman.
Reporter—Florrie Smith.

FAMOUS COFFER-MILLER PLAYERS SCORED HIT BEFORE STUDENTS LAST NIGHT

1928 Baseball Pilot

The Lions have the promise of one of the best baseball nines in the history of the school this season. Coach Bill Acker will have charge of the squad this season and from all indications he will put out a winning team.

Acker has not coached baseball since 1926 and in this year he put out a winning team. The Lions won nine games and lost seven under his coaching and this year there will be more games in the win column. There was almost a new team to begin with in 1926 and he finished with an average of 555 per cent; with some old letter men back on the squad this year it seems certain for a winning team.

"History repeats" is an old saying and the basket-ball team started the year off with flying colors, it seems certain that the Lions have started off on the right foot a last and will make some of the other teams in the T. I. A. A. take notice of the roaring Lions from East Texas. From here on out I figure it will be little you, and big UE. (US—means the roaring Lions of E. T. S. T. C.)

LATIN CLUB MET WEDNESDAY

The Latin Club met in regular session on Wednesday, February twenty-ninth in M-9.

"Tarda Vestalis" was presented by the Training School Latin Class under the direction of Mrs. Vivian Boyd.

Nova Mae Scaff made an interesting report on the Vestal Virgins and gave an outline of the play.

The characters were:
Statia, the Vestal.....Bernice White
Syra, her slave.....Miriam Smith
Statia's licitor.....Imogene La Grone Ceria, a man of Asia.....Carl Deonier, Jr.
Cora, his slave.....Katherine Smith
Imogene LaGrone gave a clever little reading entitled "Felis."

The parts were well rendered and the costuming showed careful preparation.

Mr. Freeman presented a set of slides showing the daily life of the Romans in the time of Caesar.

ACTION PICTURES PEP LEADERS

If you have been complaining of not getting enough action around E. T. just meander around by the Howse Studio show case and take a glimpse of E. T.'s three cheer leaders in some real rip-snorting action snaps. Dale Drake, Monk Galyon, and Shorty Buford compose the trio.

You will see one picture that contains plenty of action if you happen to drop around the studio, if you see young Drake in the single snap, Galyon seems to be bothered by something frightful in one picture, but he has a right too, for he was about to lose the great race. Go see the picture and you can interpret the meaning of the above written line. Buford is perfectly at home in all of the pictures.

If we are lucky enough to keep these three lads around E. T. another year, we are sure to have a winning team in every line of sport.

The presentation here last night in the New Auditorium of Goldsmith's "She Stoops to Conquer" put on by the Coffer-Miller Players was a scream from the start to the finish. The actors seemed to get right into action and had the audience won at the very start. Martha Miller played the role of "Mrs. Hardcastle," while the part of "Tony" was carried out by Jess Coffer. Other members of the cast were Jack Starr as Squire Hardcastle; Euelah Van Alystyne as Miss Neville; Harriet Hives as Katy Hardcastle; John Buckstaff, as Songo; Arthur Mayberry as Hastings and Miner Coburn as the bashful Marlow.

Tonight they will offer "The Liar" a play of wide reputation, and probably better than the production staged here last night. The same actors will be in the cast tonight. If you did not see the play last night, be sure and come out tonight and see a group of nationally known players present a real play.

ON 12TH ANNUAL TOUR

The career and experience of the Coffer-Miller Players making their 12th annual tour of the United States have gained a distinct following and from year to year the circuit is extended and broadened until it now contains more than 150 towns. The Coffer Miller Players were at first like all important institutions a theatrical group of limited clientele and meagre repertoire but today the demand for their plays is so great that they are not to be had merely for the asking.

The Coffer Miller Plays do not include melodramas or tragic presentations in their programs. They believe the world should laugh and laugh heartily. The play is selected to leave a lasting impression—the sort of thing you laugh over the following day or week as well as the night of the show.

In seven years this policy has been proved. Never before have the players met with so ready and spontaneous success and never have so many people looked forward to their arrival.

CLUBS ANNOUNCE SCHOLARSHIP

The Texas Federation of Music Clubs announces a scholarship for advanced piano students, granted by Carlos Buhler of the Tobias Matthey Pianoforte School, London, England.

This includes twelve private lessons during the six weeks Summer School of Music at Baylor University, Waco, Texas, from June 1st to July 14th.

Contestants

(a) Contestant must be a resident of Texas.

(b) Contestant must not be under 18 years or over 30 years of age.

(c) Contestant must send application with an entrance fee of one dollar to the state contest chairman, Mrs. Lena Milam, 593 Penn. Avenue, Beaumont, before April 1, 1928.

Requirements.

One movement of a standard concerto or sonata or a Bach Prelude and Eugue; and one selection representing the Modern School.

Contest

The contest shall be heard in Dallas, April 14, 1928. In case of a large number of contestants, an elimination contest shall be held on the same day, previous to the final contests. In the final contest the judges, who will be selected from the performers will be screened from the best pianists of the State.

The One Increasing Purpose of Jazz

To all Collegiates—"Chillens" in Particular.

Paul Whitman shakes a heavy foot at noon—at dawn—
—at evening—anytime.

I got a jazz orchestra in me
Somewhere.

They all stand up in the dust,
In the powder, in the dust,
In the jazz.

Low neck gowns. V shaped.
Voluptuous breasts smiling out of V-shaped gowns.
Some of them with bleared eyes.

I got jazz orchestra.
Inside me. Somewhere. And forever.

Spirals of dust. Customary coughs. Hiccoughs. Jazz in the stamping feet of thin white moths.
Slender ambition. Slim chance. Leon ambition for the jazz hounds.

Clapping hands. Mellow loud saxophones.
Shrill clarinets. The orchestra stands up:
Clapping hands.

Stomping. Singing the blues. Blues being sung in voices made for the blues.

"I got the blues. I'm lonely."

They sing. And clap their hands. "I got the blues."

I tell you I got a jazz orchestra inside me
Somewhere.

Get 'em in the clinches. They're hot in the clinches. Get 'em in the clinches.

Blondes, Brunettes. The ones with the red hair. Wan ones.
Sick ones. Play it red.

"Hey there. Play it red."

We're all hot. Watch the clinches. V-shapes.
Clapping hands. Shrill clarinets. I got the blues.

FLOWERS.

"Say it with flowers." That's one of the most popular lines that was ever uttered by the human tongue; obviously it is the greatest slogan speaking from a business standpoint that any florist ever adopted.

Now you want to know what bearing the above stated paragraph has on the one to follow.

The East Texan staff has just received a large bouquet of flowers, and this bouquet happens to contain Red-Red Roses.
The staff is particularly fond of red roses, but any kind of flowers will do. The red roses we speak of were donated by a certain faculty member, and came in the form of a compliment which was worded about like the following:

"I think the East Texan staff is the best we have ever had at E. T." He further added, "The paper contains the kind of copy to make it rank along with the best college papers in Texas."

Such bouquets as the one you have read above is indeed appreciated by the members of the staff, and such statements as this serve to encourage and put new interest in each member.

We have endeavored to publish a good paper each week, and have earnestly tried to please the student body and faculty at all times. The East Texan staff is working like newly oiled machinery at the present time, and we intend to keep the action up.

THE HOME STRETCH

Final examinations start March 13th, and continue through March 16th. If you have toiled hard and diligently during the last nine weeks—success will be the fruits of your labor. If you have played the role of the reluctant vagrant, —failure will be delighted to meet you face to face. So here's hoping of you have honestly and unceasingly pursued the precipitous path that leads to the habitation of invaluable knowledge.

Kissing a girl just because she expects you to is like scratching a place that doesn't itch.

Here lies the body of Samuel A.
Green.
Proposed to Louise and called her Irene.

Many a girl with a negative personality may be developed in a dark room.

The man—Can't you forgive the past?
The girl—If you give me a nice enough present.

RECEPTION HELD AT PRESIDENT'S HOME

To introduce the faculty, townspeople, and students to their recently completed home on the campus,
President and Mrs. S. H. Whitley held a double reception on Monday evening for faculty members and Commerce friends and on Tuesday evening for the students at the College. Nearly four hundred guests were entertained the first evening,
and over seven hundred the second.
In the receiving line with Mr. and Mrs. Whitley Monday evening, stood those who, in one way or another, were connected with the granting,
designing, and building of the home:
Our senator, Joe M. Moore of Greenville, with Mrs. Moore; our representatives, V. E. Conway of Commerce and S. E. Barnett of Lone Oak, with their wives; Mr. George Lindsay of Greenville, the architect, and Mrs.
Lindsay; Mr. J. G. Groves of the College faculty, who acted as advisor, and Mrs. Groves; and Miss Elizabeth Storrie, who sketched the first plans.

Students, chosen chiefly from the Senior class assisted in showing the guests over the house. On Monday evening Evelyn Estes, Mary Lynn Sheely, and Stanley Cameron received the guests as the arrived. In other rooms they were met by Ilma Drake and James Mitchell, Juanita Massey and Jack Bohannon, Nell Brooks and Bill Dozier, Sara Louise
Taylor and Robbie Norris, Mylie Lee
Acker, Emily Claire Ferguson, Kathleen Galyon, and Mary and Mabel Fowler.

In the dining and breakfast rooms Mary Lou Whitley and Georgia Lee Frances, assisted by Blanche DeJernett, Maurine Wheeler, Madeline Dillingham, and Dorothy Muller, served the visitors with orange punch.

Tuesday evening at the reception for the students, the receiving line included the deans, Mr. A. C. Ferguson, Miss Julia Hubbell, Mrs. C.
M. Lutz, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. George W. Kibler; and the director of the dormitory, Mrs. Walter Acker.

Mrs. A. H. Sargent received the guests at the door, assisted by Mrs.
R. A. Rix.

Students and ex-students assisting in showing the guests over the house the second evening were Robbie Norris, Herman Musick, Vivian
Browning, Addielynne Fain, Marguerete Miller, Lucille Hopkin, Luther Orrick, Thaniel Irwin, Buford Williams, Mrs. Louis Wortham,
Gertrude Perkins, Sybil Harrolson,
Emily Clare Ferguson and Georgia
Lee Frances.

Misses Renna Mae Brady and Leo Pratt poured punch, which was served to the guests by Mary Lou Whitley, Kathleen Galyon, Janie England, and Mary and Mabel Fowler.

The newly built home for the president of the East Texas State Teachers College is a Colonial style structure of red brick, designed upon simple lines to harmonize with the Education Building, near which it stands. From a semi-formal entrance hall opens the lucious living room, done in cream, rose and gold.
Through another arch one passes to the dining room, which, though designed in the same colors as the living room, offers a pleasant variety of detail in walls, draperies, and lights. Beyond this lie the kitchen, done in white, relieved by bright flowers on the walls, and the breakfast room, gay with a miniature crystal chandelier and real robins in the paper. The first floor holds also a small library and a bed room and bath.

On the second floor a wide hall running through the house gives access to all rooms: three bed rooms and a sitting room for the family use, and two guest rooms, one in rose and one in yellow, to accommodate the many visitors to the College who are always entertained in the president's home.

Many ingenious contrivances have been built into the house. A disappearing stairway from the upper hall leads to the capacious attic above. A laundry chute is camouflaged beneath an inviting built-in seat in the upper hall. Telephone nooks are built into the walls upstairs and down. The study has

This Ain't No Bull

Hello—Say cyhild, what did I tell yyyou about that basketball team of mine. Finished with an average of 666 and in second place. Not back for any team that started the season off like the Lions did. And to think that the Eagles were leading by several points at the half and the Lions come back and beat them like they did. At the half I went back and said to myself, "Many a good games been lost on account of the machinery not functioning right, so I took a big chew of Tensley, and from there on out the Lions never was caught."

Hurrah for us.
Everybody got the baseball fever
now and I believe as sure as I live that the Lions will whip the life out of every team in the T. I. A. A. just like they did those Eagles in basket ball. Them birds is sure gotta fly higher if they catch some of the ball that is hit around that ball park.
They go so high down at the field that they have a 1929 tag on them when the hit the ground. My, my,
but they sure fly high.

I have often wondered what kind of flag the Denton bunch was talking about when they said the flag of victory would wave in the Adm.
building after basketball season. I am afraid it is just like I told them it would be; you know I told them it would be the American flag and not the flag of the T. I. A. A. But I guess wise folks change their mind.

I have changed my mind about this losing business, and from here on out we are going to have a winning team at E. T. This 1928 baseball team is the thing that is going to set things afire with their winning streak, and at the end of the season there will appear a little column in the East Texan headed, "I know my Stuff" by Ikey, and it will contain the detail of every game and how the Lions won it. I say won it, for win will be the motto this season, and the players will not know there is such a word as lose.
I guess radio station FLOP, had better sign off and get ready for these finals, so long I'll be seeing you.
IKEY.

COMMERCE MEN BUY GREENVILLE STORE

It is learned that Messrs. Boyd Bagwell and John Briganice of this city have contracted to buy the Cassies Drug Store in Greenville. This is rated as one of the good business concerns in Greenville. While the people of Commerce will be pleased to learn that these gentlemen are to embark in a nice business, they regret to give them up as citizens of Commerce. They have been identified with the drug store business of Commerce for many years and both of them stand high as business men and have lots of friends. How is Commerce ever to catch up with Greenville at this rate?

recessed bookcases in an otherwise smoothe wall. The kitchen boasts a great variety of cabinets and cupboards planned by Mr. Groves.

Throughout the house woodwork,
lighting fixtures, draperies and wall paper vary slightly from room to room, and yet preserve a smoothe

INTERNATIONALLY KNOWN DIPLOMAT COMING TO E. T.

Baron Alphonse Heyking, a Russian diplomat will visit this institution March 13, and address the members of the Thucydidian club. The baron is now a lecturer on Diplomatic and Consular Service and International Law at the University of Geneva. He has occupied such high positions as Russian Consul General in London and British India. He was minister of Russian Foreign Affairs 1901-1905 and State Councillor in Russia in 1908. He has recently represented Latvia and Estonia at the League of Nations in Geneva.

He comes to Commerce under the Auspices of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace to visit the Thucydidian (History Club) which is now studying international problems, but it is hoped that we may arrange to have the student body to hear him at some hour while he is here. It is a distinct honor to the college and Commerce to have a man of such prominence to pay us a visit.

SWING PURCHASED FOR CITY PARK

The Park Committee has placed an order for a play-ground swing for the Park. It is constructed of heavy iron pipe and holds six chain swings, strong enough to hold grown people as well as children. It will be placed in time for use by the time the spring weather calls the children to the green grass and shade trees.

It is the hope of the Park Committee to raise money enough in the near future to buy a slide, and perhaps, other play-ground equipment.

Now, that the paving of Park street is assured, the Park should enjoy a popularity this summer that it has never known before. It will be still better when the road into the Park is graveled, which will no doubt be done in time.

The 23rd Psalm

1. My wife is my boss; I shall not deny it.
2. She maketh me to lie down behind the bed when the swell company comes, and leadeth me behind her up Main street.
3. She restoreth my pocket book after she has spent all of its contents on short skirts and theatre tickets, and she leadeth me up the Main aisle at church for her new hats' sake.
4. Yea! though I walk more than half the night, through dark rooms with a crying baby, I will get no rest for she is behind me; here broomstick and her hat pin they do everything but comfort me.
5. She prepareth a cold snack for me, then maketh a beeline for an aid society supper. She annoieth my head occasionally with the rolling pin. My arms runneth over with bundles before she is half done shopping.
6. Surely her dress makers and millinery bills shall follow me all the days of my life, and I will dwell in the house of my wife forever.

Chapel Chats

Tuesday's chapel program was presented by Miss Florence Jones, pipe organist at the Greenville Opera House. She rendered "Orchids" and "Blue Heaven," the latter being dedicated to President Whitley. Messrs.
Dale Drake and Roy Johnson sang
"Drifting in Dreamland," with pipe organ accompaniment.

Thursday Mr. Clyde Mayes, Miss
Betty Sue Jenkins, and Mrs. Grace-Spurlock-Owens presented a one-act play, "Gotten, My Dear," written by Miss Estelle Taylor, a former E. T. student. At the same time, Mr.
Rogers, Student-Secretary of the Baptist church, sang, "The Four-Leaf Clover."

Saturday, Mr. Charles Turner, pianist and orchestra conductor in Greenville, entertained us. He gave
"Among My Souvenirs," "Mine, All Mine," some popular numbers, and an original ballad, "Someone Else Has The Key to Your Heart." In response to the vociferous request that he sing a number, Mr. Turner excused himself on the score of sore throat.

By the way, what's coming on March 8 and 9?

"I'm going to kiss you every time you stop talking."
"You impudent thing! I'll never speak to you again."

TEXAS-EXES CELEBRATED MARCH SECOND

On Friday, March second, at seven-thirty o'clock, the Pergola was the scene of the Texas-Exeas celebration of the memorable date.
Tables were arranged in a T-formation, with the color scheme of orange and white carried out in both the decorations and the menu. The attractive place-cards contained the monogram of a T within a U.

Thirty Texas-Exes were presnet; Miss Mary Nelson, President of the Commerce Chapter, was Master of ceremonies. Miss Dora Flack led the cheers and songs.

The University Union Building
Plan was discussed and folders containing illustrations of the proposed buildings were distributed to the guests.

The following elections were held:
President—Dr. A. S. Blankenship.
Vice President—Miss Dora Flack.
Secretary-Treasurer — Miss Bess
Malone.

Alcalde Reporter—Mr. Thomas H.
McNeal.

On Being a Guest

One of the very first things to be observed by a person desirous of becoming a guest is not to wait for an invitation. Where would one get waiting for an invitation? Not a single place, right. The first thing to be considered is, is it a nice place? Will you have plenty of room to expand as any guest should after becoming a guest? That is very important. Be sure you are right about the place and the people you have chosen to honor with your presence and wire them. Wire the one of opposite sex from yourself and it will prove most desirable for when he or she, as the case may be, arrives at the station to escort you home, a long, soul satisfying conversation can ensue, depending on both parties concerned of course.

When you arrive at the house, remember you have forgotten one of your bags and left it at the station and must return for it immediately.
This, leaving the bag, must be attended to beforehand. A simple way to accomplish this is to hand the porter fifty cents, make it larger if your bag happens to be worth more than that, they are not, as a general rule.

After this second trip to the station you have had time to become better acquainted with your host or hostess. Find out what they have planned for your entertainment and diversion during your stay with them and impress these on your mind thoroughly. Do not make the mistake of not having something planned of your own for the same time that they have a dinner or theatre party planned or have invited a number of friends in for the evening. This would leave an impression of your unprecedented popularity and cause an influx of invitations from the friend you will make by behaving as a model for guests.

The guest towels are not made for your use, take them home with you when you leave, use the bed-spreads when in need of something on which to dry your hands and face. Leave the hot water running at all times, if turned off you may not be able to get it again, hot water is like a distant radio station, hard to get. Do not be on time for dinner, leave the impression you are having a hard time in choosing what to wear—your wardrobe is so extensive.

Stay two or three days longer then you had intended, showing your hosts how hard it is for you to depart and bring to a close such a marvelous visit. This will work wonders with your popularity. Leave something behind and when you write for it to be sent, they will in all probability refuse to send it, insisting on your coming back in person for it, maybe.

Alas.

"Her cheeks," he said, "are roses red
Upon a fragrant field.
Her ruby lips are magic ships
That precious treasure yield."

But when to kiss the little miss
The blockhead took a notion,
Her cheeks and lips were painted ships

Upon a painted ocean.

Moral

He kissed her anyway.

He (somewhat embarrassed, after the car had stopped on a lonely road)—"I can't start my engine; the thing is dead."

She—"Must be like some people I know."

What I May Do For You

If you are suffering ill-health, what I may be able to do for you depends on the cause of your trouble. If like the great majority of other cases, your condition is due to spinal pressure on nerves, I can do a great deal.

Every organ needs a certain amount of vital energy to function.
That energy reaches it through the nerves. Health cannot exist when there is spinal pressure on nerves.
Adjustments remove such pres-

KALIR KLUB GAVE DINNER DANCE

On Tuesday evening, February 14, the Original Kalir Klub entertained with its annual Valentine dinner dance. Most of the guests gathered at the home of Miss Lorene Lilly, where they were to wait until the hour arrived for dinner. At eight, the party left for the "Pergola." Upon arriving, they found a very beautifully decorated room in which were many small well appointed tables. On each table were tiny red baskets of salted nuts, which served to mark the places of all the Kalir members and their escorts.

When everyone had found his place, amidst laughter and talking, dinner was served in a faultless manner, by girls dressed appropriately in red caps and aprons.

Menu:

Fruit cocktail
Olives creme chicken in pastry cups
Gelatin salad
Heart-shaped mashed potatoes and beets
Buttered roll
Tea
Valentine brick ice cream
Angel food cake.

Presently someone suggested that Stanley Cameron make a speech, so he rose and said that it was his privilege to introduce a well-known speaker, Mr. James Mitchell. The latter in turn, said that he had been watching a certain gentleman all evening, one who was evidently having the best time of his life, Mr. Al Hitchcock. Everyone asked for a speech but Al could not be interested in orations and the like. Tom Searcy next rose and said that there were two notable singers in our midst who would sing for us, Mr. Roy Johnson and Mr. Dale Drake, but they, in quite a novel way, refused to entertain.

After dinner, everyone returned to the Lilly home, where dancing was enjoyed for the rest of the evening.

The Klub members were: Addylene Fain, president; dressed in black lace over rose, black satin pumps; Lorene Lilly wore a frock of chiffon velvet with a yoke of flesh georgette studded with rhinestones, black satin evening slippers; Sara Louise Taylor, secretary, was dressed in a pink georgette and sequin dress, trimmed in crystal beads. She wore silver slippers with rhinestone buckles; Dorothy Muller, treasurer wore a dress of orchid chiffon, and evening slippers of gold kid; Irma Drake, parliamentarian to the Klub, was dressed in a green georgette frock, the skirt of which was sprinkled with rhinestones; Herma Taylor, an officer of the Klub, wore a long apricot satin dress with a corsage of carnations and sweet peas; Allene Wheeler in a green taffeta with flesh chiffon trimming, wore black satin pumps with tiny buckles; Maurine Wheeler, wore a pink taffeta trimmed in silver lace, and a chiffon scarf in a harmonizing shade; Blanche DeJernett, in a bouffant taffeta frock of green, graced by an uneven hem line, wore silver slippers; Madeline Dillingham in a peach taffeta trimmed in blue velvet ribbon, wore black satin pumps also; Evelyn Estes was dressed in a cream colored sequin trimmed dress, girdled with metal cloth. She wore a corsage of natural flowers; Frances Chatham's frock was white with crystal bead trimming, she wore silver slippers; Mylie Lee Acker wore a white evening dress which was richly trimmed in tiers of crystal beads; Barbara Swartzell, in a green bouffant taffeta, wore black satin pumps with rhinestone buckles; Sarah Marshall's dress was a flesh colored taffeta with a lovely flower design in the foreground. She wore white satin slippers. Helen Southerland wore a rose colored georgette, whose trimming was gold lace, enhanced by gold slippers. Caroline Mitchells evening frock was of salmon georgette studded in rhinestone; and silver slippers; Frances Watson's dress was of pink georgette, trimmed in rhinestones. Her slippers were silver. Martha Nunn wore a flesh georgette trimmed in rhinestones, she had on blonde evening slippers.

Mrs. Odis Bradford, our sponsor, and her husband, Mr. Bradford, were present. Also Miss Gretchen Mitchell and Mr. Jesse Thomas were guests at the dance.

ON SUPPORTING THE COLLEGE ACTIVITIES

I believe that every student attending a college should support in all of its undertakings, whether they be great or small. First, when a student enrolls for a course in a college, he takes upon himself a responsibility, and he owes it to himself and the college to support all of the college activities.

When the athletic teams play games with other teams of good or equal ability, the teams stand a much better chance of winning if they are supported by a real live pep squad, for the players feel encouraged when they know that their fellow students are supporting them and will stand by them in defeat or victory. It also helps the team and its supporters for the former students to attend the games and uphold the players, whether they be on the foot ball gridiron, baseball diamond or basketball court.

Another thing which the student body of any college should do is to support the college band and choral clubs, for they need outside interest to keep them at their best; and they should always be in practice, for the music will be an inspiration to the college students, in any activity in which the band takes part.

The student body as a whole should support any organization which is made up of college students, because that organization in order to thrive very much, must have the support of the members. It should also have the good will and support of the faculty and college officials.

The dramatic clubs of the college should have the full support of the students; and when a program is rendered by this group of students all the members should attend, if possible; and do everything in their power to make the undertaking a success.

When the college paper is published, the students should contribute any help which they may have to the ones who are working on the paper, because it is usually appreciated by them. Each student is individually under an obligation to the college and its activities.—Exchange.

A.B.C. HAS GREATEST MEETING OF YEAR

The farm lads or better known as the agriculture boosters of E. T. had their quarterly picnic Tuesday evening of last week. From all accounts it was a picnic among picnics. To say the least of it, the farmer lads had a good time. In fact they have a regular hog-killing time every time they meet. Jewell Kenneher with the other members of the program committee should either have the credit for preparing good programs or else having it done, for as regular as every other Tuesday night comes the Boosters enjoy a good program.

But back to the picnic, you should have seen what the Boosters had to eat and the games they played. Mrs.

with four or five helpers prepared supper, and during the time the other members were having the time of their life. The eats consisted of three different kinds of sandwiches, eggs, pickles, cakes, apples and tea. What else could one want? Everyone ate to their satisfaction except Turner Hinson and Jewell Kenneher and they ate so much that they could not rest. And can you imagine Kenneher drinking more tea than Turner Hinson? Well, he beat Hinson by a small margin. Jewell drank so much tea that he didn't sleep any that night and has not drunk anything since—three days past. I have not heard from Hinson I don't know whether he has recovered or not.

The Club greatly appreciates Mr. and Mrs. Rix's aid in making the picnic a success, and just remember the Club will still be on the map next term.

REPORTER.

Ain't it funny how the little guy you pass every day,
Who hides behind his school books in a timid sort of way,
Who slides along the sidewalk, and who speaks to but a few,
Who walks alone and never says a single word to you—
Ain't it queer how such a cuss who blushes when he's seen Blows on the dance floor at the hop with a million-dollar queen?

The height of chivalry is the action of the young man who took a girl out for a ride and—then walked home with her.

"Boy, I got a kick out of kissing Eee last night!"

"More than usual?"

"Hell, yes, the old-man caught us."

PLAY PRESENTED SATURDAY NIGHT

The students of the Baptist Seminary at Fort Worth entertained E. T. students Saturday night with a three-act play entitled "Ordered South." Although the play was eminently religious in theme, dealing with the calling of a young missionary to South Africa, there was a tender love story woven into the drama. The actors were young men and women who have volunteered their services in foreign fields; hence they rendered the play with sincerity and warmth. Although the play was presented with a view to impressing its truth rather than the dramatic ability of its actors, those witnessing it found no fault with the latter. The two baritone solos rendered between acts were well done and well received.
