With an official announcement from Dean A. C. Ferguson, the enrollment for the last six weeks of the summer term has reached the seventeen hundred mark. In comparison with the enrollment for last term this shows a loss of some six hundred students, which may be due to a number of reasons. One cause set forth is the fact that regulations passed recently by the Legislature are not as strict as were expected. Students had expected to be required to do a certain amount of work, but when the ruling failed to pass, many of them did not return to school. Another reason set forth is the persistency with which Old Sol makes his daily journey. Many students found the sun just too hot to suit them, consequently they did not choose to submit themselves to such conditions. Some of the visiting teachers who taught here during the past term are not teaching at present, however here are still a number of visiting instructors on the campus. The enrollment for the two terms of the summer session makes this one of the most successful summers that the college has ever had, and shows the effort of Texas teachers to keep abreast of the times in their teaching techniques.

WHAT NEXT

Students of national affairs are watching the condition of our country more closely today than they have at any time during the last few decades. There are pertinent questions arising in their minds—questions which only the events of the future can answer. There is a difference of opinion as to whether the financial crisis is past, whether we are in the midst of it, or whether we are experiencing the calm which comes before the storm. Many of our leading thinkers are speculating as to the immediate outcome of the NRA, the PWA, and the various relief movements; others are trying to predict the ultimate effects. One of the alarming questions which we are facing today is the one dealing with a system of taxation which will restore the treasury balance which has been thrown out of equilibrium by the high appropriations made to relieve the distress of the unemployed. Another question which is perhaps even more important deals with the morale of our people and how it is being affected by present methods, precedents for future generations and that emergency measures may have a tendency to remain throughout the coming years.

It is of utmost importance that we rally to the cause today by expressing our faith and belief in the leaders of our nation. We must give the President and the Administration our whole-hearted support and cooperation, even if we cannot see the aims and purposes of everything which is being done. As members of the teaching profession it is our duty to spread a feeling of trust and loyalty among the citizenship of our communities. Strikes, mobs, and all other acts of violence must be curtailed in order that civilization shall continue its upward trend.—College Star.

A CHANGE FOR THE BETTER

The era of "flaming youth" is definitely gone. A radical and welcome change has taken place, during the last three or four years, in the men and women of college age in America. Where as recently the collegian, who knew where he was going and what he wanted was the exception, today nearly all have a driving purpose and a recognized aim. Only yesterday the man who could make the most brilliant "wisecracks," who spent money most readily and lavishly, who was, in short, the typical "Joe College," was the ideal of college men. Today achievement is the ideal, and he who excels in scholarship and in leadership is the character for emulation.

It is not unreasonable to lay this to what has received so much adverse publicity and assorted blame—the depression. The depression has been crumpled down the throat of everyone able to read a newspaper or understand a present-day conversation. Everyone, irrespective of age, has had it borne in upon him that life isn't altogether the grand bowl of cherries. All of which is an excellent thing, perhaps not for the peace of mind of the individual, but for the welfare of the nation as a whole. This depression, through its grueling process, has collected and concentrated the scattered brains of yesterday's youths, and, though incapable of peopling the world with Utopian young men and women, it has created a generation which can think as straight as any other and can see as clearly.—The Daily Northwestern.

THE GOOD OLD SUMMER TIME

In spite of the intense heat prevailing during this last six weeks there are a large number of new students on the campus. The enrollment dropped off at the end of the first term as it always does, but teachers who were not able for various reasons to be here sooner, are now present to fulfill their requirements.

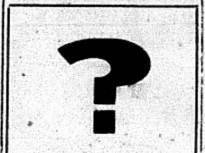

When both instructors and students are becoming fatigued and weary, going to school in the late summer may be felt to be a drudgery, but there is no reason why these latecomers should feel a hopelessness in their task. Right now many of them are thinking they will start their school year as fired as they are at present.

The Commencement will be a bright spot for many, and meeting old acquaintances will remove much of the tedium, but when the books are being checked out again all thoughts of weariness will have vanished. Change of activities brings as much relief as anything else.

It is the wish of the college that each and every summer student make the best of the present opportunity.—C. P.

Government As A College Subject In East Texas State Teachers College

PROSPECTIVE TEACHER BETTERMENT.

The primary function of the teachers colleges is to train teachers in five instruction in the primary, intermediate, and high school grades of the State. But upon what ground does the State expend public funds for the support of a system of education? It is as a flash, answer is made that training for citizenship is a social and political desideratum. Yet the very subjects best adapted to citizenship training are nonchalantly disregarded in formulating school courses and educational programs.

Worst of all, this patent defect of educational systems in general is being perpetuated. The aim of scholarship is still evident. In 1902, thirty years ago, the American Political Science Association, through its Committee of Five, asked: "Is not a curious fact that though our schools are largely self-studied, supported, and operated by the government, yet the study of American government in the schools and colleges is the last subject to receive adequate attention?"

The same authority adds in its report: "The result of the neglect of this important branch of study in our educational institutions can easily be seen in the general unfitness of men who have entered a political career, so that the national statesman is often regarded as a term of reproach, and the public service is weak, except in a few conspicuous instances."

J. H. Ray
 Graduate Paris Jr. College where he was editor of the "Bat" and "Gallop." Three years teaching experience at Blossom, one year assistant teacher of science in Paris Jr. College. B. S. degree and plans to work on M. S. in State U. this fall.

Hubert Allen Taylor
 Sub-college graduate. Three years principal at Hilder, Panna county, B. S. degree in Ind. Ed. minor in History and Biology; member of History, A. B. C. and Panna Co. clubs.

Joe Weldon Steel
 Graduate Willsboro high school, high school football three years, played football with Burlington in '26 and '27. Business manager of "Colleg Bull," entered E. T. in '32, except freshman football, and assistant Business Manager of the Locust 25-24. B. S. in history.

Mary E. Wilson
 Home graduate Paris high school, Paris Jr. College, taught three years in Ambia school system near Paris. B. A. in English, minor in French.

C. Minter McGlathery
 Sub-college graduate, choral club, five years teaching experience, now employed at crews in Huggins county, basketball, B. S. in Ind. Ed.

Elizabeth Allums
 Sub-college graduate, eight years employed as Texas teacher, now employed at Cuthand, coach of basketball, B. S. in Ho. Ed.

To remedy the defect mentioned the Committee of Five suggested: "We think the best place to begin the work of regeneration and reform is in American secondary schools and colleges. Here we find the judges, legislators, diplomats, politicians, and office-seekers of the future in the making. Here are the future citizens too, in their most impressionable years, in the years when the teacher has their attentive attention."

A plan for trained teachers in government was trained by the Committee. The report continued: "The greatest need today is more teachers especially trained in political science. The practice of attaching to the duties of a high school teacher on the force, whose time is not fully taken up with a multitude of other things, is universal and condemned."

These words of the Committee of Five constituted inspiring prophecy in that they apply to the present condition in our educational system. It is a fact well recognized by the government instructors in the various colleges that very few students in the high schools are prepared to do satisfactory work in college courses in government. The general lack of trained teachers of civics in the secondary schools is implied in an indictment against the educational system of Texas. In effect, the law requiring the constitutions of the United States and government in civics courses in high schools is not being taught charges that the schools in general have been remiss in performing a duty which they were presumed to discharge upon their own initiative and volition. It is lamentable that the schools and colleges of Texas should have so neglected the prime, so important of their creation to have thrust upon them the legal obligation of offering instruction in constitutional government.

The college in its conscious effort to train teachers should provide without means of its containing positive ends and definite objectives. The trained teacher needs to know first of all, with a high degree of thoroughness, the subject which he teaches. To teach well any one subject the instructor should know much of its constituent branches. He should be able to teach high school civics should have pursued at least four years of college work in government, together with not less than two years of each of the related subjects of history, economics, and sociology. As achievement of teacher betterment or should be proficient in his knowledge of English, geography, mathematics, Latin, the fine arts, and the physical and biological sciences. The one thing now most vital and indispensable for the achievement of teacher betterment in citizenship training is the introduction of such subjects in the college courses of study as will qualify teachers to teach civics as it has never been taught and as it should be taught. Further tempo with the teaching of civics in high schools and government in colleges cannot be either vindicated or extenuated.

Summer Tennis Tournament Will Open Thursday

With plans for the first annual E. T. S. T. C. Summer Tennis Tournament completed, students and faculty members are anxiously awaiting the first day of competition—Thursday, August 2nd.

Any student, student or member of the faculty is eligible to participate in this tournament and some fifty to sixty people are expected to enter before the match play begins. Everyone who intends to enter must have signed his intentions with a member of the Tournament Committee and have paid his entrance fee of 25 cents for singles and 25 cents per man in doubles by 12 o'clock Wednesday, August 1st. Members of the Committee and their phone numbers are: Dr. Butler, 854; Jake Anderson, 523; and Dr. Houghchell, 111.

Drawings for competition will be made by the Committee and announced in Wednesday's Commerce Journal as well as posted at the tennis courts. The daily schedule of players, where, and when, will be posted at the courts as well as carried in the Journal each day during the tournament.

This is the first, such tournament of the kind to be held at the college and much interest has been aroused by it. Every student who desires is invited to enter the tournament for the fun, entertainment and experience it will provide.

People of this vicinity as well as the students of the college will have an opportunity to see some spectacular tennis as the tournament approaches the finals. Interest in this sport are such stars as Robert Prim, four year letterman and captain of the 1932 tennis team. Prim is a co-holder of the Lone Star Doubles championship, won in 1932. H. D. Estes is another four year letterman, who was captain of the 1932 team that won the Lone Star Title. Dr. C. Butler, coach of the East Texas tennis team, will also be a strong contender. Butler has won numerous championships throughout the country. Other lettermen who are to take part and will make a tournament interesting for spectators and players alike are Jake Anderson, James Harrison, Ellis Lockhart, Quilten Muzzare, Victor Bowers. Many who did not letter in East Texas tennis are expected to make the going rather hard for the favorites.

"Great" Travis, captain of the 1932 football team and a member of the tennis squad of that year, is expected to put up a good fight. Other squad men who are rapidly reaching the peak of condition are John Fleetwood, Weldon Durham, Ernest Kline, Kerry Prim, Wallace Ehrhidge, A. Benjamin, the Day brothers, Alton Fowler.

Among those who have never seen service at this college, but who have a fine opportunity of breaking into the limelight are Alvin Rex, James A. Kelly, Choy Kibridge, Burton Wright, Lloyd Kerbow, Kierall Martin. It is expected that quite a few members of the tennis classes will take part in the tournament.

Members of the Tournament Committee urge that everyone who desires to participate submit their names as soon as possible.

SUMMER PORR TALKS

Sheffield seems to be a pretty good subject so I will just start off with him again this week.

You remember I told you that Sheffield had decided to quit on account of the poor officials. Well, he signed up for practice teaching course and went to meet his class Monday night. While teaching the boys, he heard a basketball bouncing and he deserted them.

And with his aid Cass defeated West Texas on the 22nd. My shepherd made 10 points, which puts him leading the individual scoring list by ten points. That is an average of 10 points for the entire summer, and not bad for this brand of basketball and a married man.

Of course Cass county has another great athlete, and that being Sherman McCard, captain of last season's football team at this college. He's a good boy, but the woods are full of them.

Uncle James Williams stated to the Press he was running true to form once more. He has been out of this league for some time but due to his poor hitting was released to the faculty. In last week's game he went to bat five times and got six hits. Believe it or not.

And this is how it happened. The fifth time at bat he swung hard, hit the ball, it bounced back and he hit it again for a triple and that accounts for the sixth hit. Remember I said that Uncle Jimmie said this.

"Freshman" Kerbow isn't doing so bad at the bat either. Once not long ago he went to bat four times and got four hits. The first time a home run, the next a triple, the next a double, and the last time a single. Not so bad, but you can see that he is weakening.

At a meeting of fans in the Gub gymnasium the following men were picked as the All American H. team.

Center: McCard.
Pitchers: Shugartzer, Leewright.
Guards: Ray (striker) Matherly, Stinson Thomas.
What coach wouldn't like to have these five men.

Ray Moore was unanimously elected manager by the members of the team, and Peter Barnett was elected Mascot.

I am sorry that I do not have the baseball standing in the Texan this week, but Bill Deffe left town and he is the only person that can interpret the score books.

Interest in running high in regard to the summer tennis tournament that is to be conducted by JAKE ANDERSON. Anderson is certain that there will be some fifty or sixty entries for both the doubles and singles.

If you can handle a racket he sure and enter this tournament, whether you win or not, you will be helping it to be a "big affair" for this school.

And the "Great Pepper" T. Martin pulled a holdout on the Sulphur Springs Ramblers—He didn't want more money as most people do but he wanted more publicity.

UPSHUR COUNTY GIRLS WIN FIRST HALF OF SEASON

At the end of the first term we find Upshur County to be the winner of the baseball conference, but Monday night we find the various counties playing the first two games of the basketball conference.

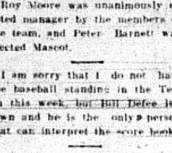

The first game was played between Collin County and Rains. Each team made a splendid showing in the battle which Collin won 12 to 10. The second game was played between Wood and Upshur with Wood winning 21 to 17.

All girls who are interested in basketball, but who have not yet signed up with a county, are requested to do so at once and then appear for playing at the girl's gym according to the following schedule:

Monday, July 23:
Collin-Rains, 6:30.
Wood-Upshur, 7:30.
Hunt-Parris, 8:30.
Wednesday, July 25:
Wood-Kaufman, 6:30.
Rains-Parris, 7:30.
