Students Voting On Senate Today

ET voters will go to the polls today to elect 45 student senators and 25 class officers from a field of 274 candidates, in a race that has set records for number of candidates.

The ET Election Commission has set two polling places, the Student Center, and a polling place never before used, Whitley Hall, the high-rise dorm on the south end of the campus.

John Henneberger, Election Commission chairman, said both polls would be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Pat Moore, Dallas senior, will be head judge at the Student Center poll, and Henneberger will take charge of the Whitley operation.

Henneberger said his commission would probably release all election results some time Wednesday night. Commission members are Richard Fielder, Constantine Armas, Belinda Monroe, Barbara Holt, Mickey Wilder, Moore and Henneberger.

With campaigning winding up today, former Young Republicans president George Sheffler says the races are stacking up "liberal" vs. "conservative." "I think the Greek, Independent thing is dead," Sheffler explained.

United Students President Dennis Rowden felt that since so many persons signed up, "we'll have a senate that will work."

If Rowden's predictions come true, the election will end a one-month drought in which the Student Senate has not been functioning due to lack of a quorum.

Another senate veteran, George Angle, who's presided over that body for over a year, said the campaign was definitely "liberal" and "conservative" issue oriented.

CORRECTION . . .

The East Texan reported on Sept. 25 that Ted (Cass) Taliiferro was removed from the Student Senate roll. The senate secretary later reported this was incorrect; Taliiferro remains on the roll.

AT WESTERN DANCE

Ray Price To Entertain

By John Speigel

Ray Price, national country and western recording artist, will climax Western Week activities Oct. 5-9, during a dance to be held at 8 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 8, in the American Ballroom of the Student Center.

Price

Price, who lives in Dallas, received a gold record for his recording of "Danny Boy." Other recordings include "Night Life," "Burning Memories," and "Another Bridge to Burn." Price has been Columbia Records largest selling country and western artist for more than a decade and a half.

Also entertaining at the dance will be folksinger John D. Laudermilk, who wrote "Ebony Eyes" for the Everly Brothers.

The crowning of the Western Week king and queen will highlight the dance. The king and queen will be determined by the most votes and by their western week dress. Voting will be done by counting each penny contributed to a candidate as a vote.

"The people running for senate have some issues in mind," he said, "Liberals have legislation they want to push through and conservatives want to be elected to keep liberals from getting this legislation passed."

After the polls close, ET students will have elected eight freshman, eight sophomore, 10 junior, nine senior and 10 graduate candidates.

Forty-five freshmen, 45 sophomores, 33 juniors, 28 seniors and 20 graduates are candidates.

There are 113 candidates for class officers to fill five offices in each classification.

The 1970 election was unique as these were no filing fees for the first time in several years. Sheffler attributed the large candidate turnout to this fact. "There are a lot of jokers running," he said.

Binnion Residents To Give Opinions

Binnion Hall residents will have an opportunity to voice their opinions concerning lounge regulations Wednesday by responding to a survey conducted by the Binnion Student Government.

The survey will consist of eight regulations, printed first as they are now in effect and then in a revised form. Residents are asked to respond "yes" or "no" to each form of each regulation.

Lounges currently are open to guests from 1 p.m. to 11 p.m. weekdays and Sundays and from 1 p.m. to midnight Fridays and Saturdays. The Binnion survey revision of this extends these hours from 10:30 a.m. to fifteen minutes before closing on all days.

The second item on the survey concerns reasons visitors may enter lounge areas. The current regulation reads: "Visitors must have specified reasons for entering lobbies"

See BINNION, page 8

All money raised by the contestants must be turned in no later than 4 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 8, at the Student Government Office in the Student Center.

Other Western Week activities include

Child Care Center Receives New Life

It is off-again with the ETSU Child Care Center provided by the office of Student activities, and now it is on again.

Due to a number of parents who made arrangements in late September for their children to be cared for during the following months, Dr. Bob Butler, dean of student activities has announced that the service will be continued.

"Apparently a lot of people thought that this service was only for those people living in the South Dorms, which is not true. The Child Care Center is being provided for all children between the ages of three and five whose parents are in any way associated with the university," said Dr. Butler.

Homecoming Floats Will Roll

By Jim Stewart

Homecoming 1970, it appears, will go on in the traditional ET fashion, including floats.

Most of the 18 Greek social organizations have decided to build floats or decorate cars for the parade, it was reported at a meeting called for presidents of all campus organizations last week. Although all representatives were from fraternities and sororities, other campus organizations are expected to enter parade exhibits. Several groups, however, plan to merge and build together.

Jack Lassiter, assistant dean of men, said the reason for the meeting was to "lay the cards on the table" so representatives could voice their opinions on whether organizations should build the expensive floats which have ranged up to $600 or more in past parades.

Rising expense in building floats was the main reason that only a few organizations built floats for last year's parade, according to presidents of sororities and fraternities.

At the meeting it was decided that:

- (1) Decorated cars will be eligible for competition.
- (2) Floats will be judged in one division and cars in another. To be eligible for competition, floats must not exceed the retail value of $200 and cannot have more than one trailer. The vehicle pulling the float may also be decorated.

(3) Decorated automobiles must not exceed the retail value of $100 to be eligible for competition.

(4) Any number of organizations may merge and split cost and labor used in building floats.

Floats eligible for competition will be judged and prizes awarded to winners. The prizes "most likely be trophies," according to Rob Whitner, director of Alumni Affairs. "Any university recognized organization will be eligible," Whitner said.

Any organizations whom wishes to enter a float or a decorated car may register with the Alumni Office before 5 p.m. Friday, Oct. 16. The alumni office is located on the second floor of the new Administration Building.

Recluse Spider Bite May Prove Deadly

By Deborah Jaynes

It is small and brown with a violin-shaped marking on its back. Its venom is poisonous, in some cases deadly, and it is becoming common to this area. This is the recluse spider.

Dr. Fred Klaus, biology faculty, said the brown recluse spider has become well established in Commerce in "the last three years."

A person bitten may not know he has been bitten because the spider is rarely seen. The sign of the bite is a pimple-like projection. There is a mild stinging with little pain. After two to eight hours, pain starts and varies from mild to severe.

Several days after the bite the skin surrounding the bite starts to turn dark and within seven days, the affected areas of the skin starts to separate and an open ulcer appears. The venom that was injected starts spreading.

Dr. Klaus said the treatment of the bite usually is the application of corticosteroids. He advised a person who thinks he may have been bitten to go to a physician.

If the ulcer is not treated in time it may spread and the healing time may be longer. The ulcer may be so large that skin grafting is required, but such a graft has been known to take poorly or not at all.

Dr. Klaus said he knows of only one

Issues and Action

The plight of the Student Senate will be resolved in today's elections; that is, the plight of quorum.

Next Wednesday night 45 new senators will hopefully assemble and will be faced with another situation—they will need something to do.

Aside from the organizational procedures and fragments of old business, we hope the "new blood" will come to the first meeting with briefcases filled with new legislation. Hopefully, the bills will reflect the issues that senatorial candidates based their campaigns on.

Perhaps the No. 1 topic of the semester will be residence hall regulations, concerning not only lounge rules, but visitation and curfews.

Will the new senate back up the old senate in its request for the abolishment of curfews?

A second vital area is student-teacher relationships. ET President Dr. D. Whitney Halladay has predicted the failure of the teacher with "yellowing notes." The old "sacred cows" of tenure and teacher evaluations are buzzing around student circles. Will the senate make any waves in these directions?

Dennis Rowden, United Student President, said early this fall the student government may have to start a teacher evaluation program. The editor of The East Texan urges that this be one of the first projects the new student senate undertake.

Although the senate has done little in the field of student activities in the past, we hope the 1970 group will dream up some program whereby the Student Center will be utilized more. Participation in community affairs is something sorely lacking in ET student government.

Finally, the senate needs to decide whether it will use its talents to fullest advantage with the delegated authority which it has. In the past, the senate has failed to do this.

This year's senate has two alternatives. It can present progressive legislation for the betterment of ETSU or it can diminish to the level of incompetence to which it did last spring.

CAMPUS SCOPE

Graduate Enrollment Up

Fall Graduate School enrollment reached an all-time high at ET this semester with 1,938 students, a 20 per cent increase over the previous high for a fall semester of 1,609 in 1969.

This semester the Graduate School has 1,536 master's students and 402 post master's and doctoral students, Graduate School records show.

ET offers the master of arts, master of business administration, master of education, master of music, master of science, master of science in library science, doctor of education and doctor of philosophy.

Texas Baptist Student Convention

Today is the deadline to register for the Texas Baptist Student Convention, according to the Rev. Robert Northcut, BSU director.

The convention will be at Cliff Temple Baptist Church in Oak Cliff on Oct. 16-18. The registration fee is $2.

Transportation and a place to stay will be provided for all who wish to attend, the Rev. Mr. Northcut said. Anyone with questions about the convention may contact the BSU director at 886-6934.

'Boom' To Be Shown Friday

"Boom," which stars Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton, will be shown at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Oct. 9, in the American Ballroom of the Student Center.

The movie is based on a play by Tennessee Williams titled "The Milk Train Doesn't Stop Here Anymore." Admission for the film will be 35 cents.

International Reception Set

An International Reception, open to all students, will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 8, in the Rio Grande Room of the Student Center.

"The informal reception is designed to bring about better relations among ET students," John Mabry, chairman of the Community Relations Committee and sponsor of the reception, said.

'Giant' To Open at Palace

By Wayne Massie

The George Steven's film "Giant," starring Elizabeth Taylor, Rock Hudson, and James Dean, will start tonight and plays through Saturday at the Palace Theater in Commerce. A new release of the 1956 "spectacular," "Giant" is the rag-to-riches story of a Texas oil and ranch family based on the novel by Edna Ferber. Dennis Hopper ("Easy Rider") is shown in one of his earliest roles.

State Fair Musical

With the coming of the State Fair to Dallas this weekend, a variety of entertainment is scheduled to begin Friday, Oct. 9, with the opening of "1776," the 1970 State Fair of Texas show.

"1776" is a "red-white-and-blue" musical about the events which took place in Philadelphia in July 1776 as America's leaders forged the Declaration of Independence.

The State Fair presentation is by the national touring company of "1776" starring Patrick Bedford as John Adams, Rex Everhart as Ben Franklin, and George Hearn as John Dickinson.

"1776," the first musical performed in its entirety in the White House for President Nixon, has won both the Tony Award and the New York Drama Critics Circle Award as best musical of the season.

Free entertainment at the fair will begin Monday, Oct. 12, in the Cotton Bowl featuring Burt Bacharach conducting a concert of his music.

Al Hirt and his ensemble will appear in the Cotton Bowl on Tuesday, Oct. 13, in a free concert.

Anshel Brusilow, the new resident conductor of the Dallas Symphony, will make his formal conducting debut with the symphony Thursday, Oct. 8, at McFarlin Auditorium in Dallas.

Featured violinist Itzhak Perlman will perform the Tchaikovsky violin concerto at the concert, and other works will be by Brahms, Johann Sebastian Bach, and Richard Strauss.

Dallas Openings

Three plays are opening this week in Dallas. Thornton Wilder's "Skin of Our Teeth" will open Thursday to start Theater 3's new season. The Pulitzer Prize-winning play is about the Antrobus family and the maid Sabina, who triumphs, disappointments, and narrow escapes parallel the history of mankind.

Jac Alder will be directing Hugh Fagin as Mr. Antrobus, Mary Lee York as Mrs. Antrobus, and Carole Anne Allen as their maid. Dallas City Councilman Wes Wise will also be featured as the newscaster during the taped TV sequences. The play will run through Nov. 7.

Neil Simon's "The Odd Couple" opened Tuesday at the Country Dinner Playhouse. Paul Glaser plays Felix, the super neatnik who has left his wife and, for economy reasons, moves in with Oscar, played by Marty Davis, a complete slob and divorced from his wife.

The two men, neither quite sure of why his marriage didn't work out, soon find themselves having problems with each other, just as they had with their wives.

Bill McHale is directing the Dallas presentation of the play, which had a run of almost 1,000 performances on Broadway and was made into a feature length film. The production will run through Nov. 1.

Theater Unlimited will open its fourth season at Northtown Mall with "Toys in the Attic" by Lillian Hellman. The play stars Peggy Pate as Carrie, Pat Dixon as Anna and Jay Ferguson as their brother Julian. "Toys in the Attic" is directed by Evan Ball and will run through the month of October.

Singer Lou Rawls opens his Dallas engagement at the Fairmont Hotel's Venetian Room tonight, with the Sunday matinee featuring his regular performance at a reduced price of $3.50 and no membership requirements for admittance.

Letters to The Editor

To The Editor:

Perhaps the practice of covering the entire campus with posters, placards, banners, etc. is necessary, although I wonder if a more esthetic manner of campaigning were possible. But what I am particularly concerned about, however, is the practice of affixing the posters to the trees with nails.

We have precious few trees left on campus as it is and I would hate to see them sacrificed in the interest of campus politics.

Let's give trees a chance too.

Ray Goss

To The Editor:

It appears that Mr. Ron Hunt has now made himself the political expert on Middle East affairs. To equate Zionism with Nazism seems absurd to this reader. Antisemitism was wide spread in the south during World War II and it seems very ironical that Mr. Hunt would quote from Arnold Toynbee whose writings preach a Antisemitism.

Mr. Hunt also asserts that Israeli's sleep at home in comfortable beds and while the Palestinians are homeless. Obviously Mr. Hunt has not done much research into life on the I Kibbutzim. He may be startled at some of his findings.

The main objective of Zionism is to rebuild the state of Israel. From a desolate piece of land, the Israelis have produced what appears to some to be a miracle.

Israeli's need no troops; she asks for weapons. The Six-Day War proved that, Mr. Hunt.

Fred Ginsberg

To The Editor:

In the Sept. 30 issue of The East Texan, this statement appeared in the editorial "... The East Texan heartily urges that class officers be abolished immediately."

According to the editorial, class officers have not done their duty in the past. I feel this is a result of the apathy of the students as a whole. The students really could not care less who is elected to the office, so they vote for candidates for all reasons except leadership and capability.

If the students would look at the candidates and their reasons for running for that particular office, then maybe some hard-working, dedicated people would be elected.

'American Bad Taste' Displayed in Art Here

By George Boyd

The "Show of American Bad Taste," an exhibition of examples of tastelessness in the American home is being presented in the "Little Gallery" of the Art Building. The show began Oct. 6 and will run throughout this week and possibly next week, according to Gary Panter, sophomore representative of the exhibit.

The show, an effort of the majority of the art students, reflects the poor taste found in their own homes and the homes of their friends, according to Panter. The gallery has been furnished as what Panter said he believes is representative of the American home.

The furnishings include an overstuffed sofa, a plastic rocking chair, a television showing static, John F. Kennedy and Martin Luther King memorial plates and fans, a green plastic Christmas tree with war toys beneath it and Frank Sinatra Christmas records playing in the background, an assortment of variety store merchandise. The floor is covered with quart beer bottles.

Panter explained that the exhibit is being presented tongue-in-cheek with the purpose of making people view themselves in a different light. "People, for lack of time, settle for mediocre furnishings rather than hunt for things that would have more meaning to them," he added, "we hope that by viewing the show a person will go back to his own environment and get rid of the tasteless subjects and replace them with meaningful ones."

Stressing that the art students are not merely criticizing other people, but themselves as well, he said, "In the future we will undoubtedly have bad taste also, but hopefully we'll have less."

School of Business Moves Everything Into New Building

The School of Business Administration made the move to a new building Sunday, Oct. 4. According to Dr. Emmett McAnally, head, business education, all the office equipment and much of the classroom facilities were moved Sunday.

The building, located west of the library, will house the five departments in the second and third floors. Suites of officers for each department and its faculty members are located at the ends of each hallway.

The Marketing and Management Department is located at the south end of the second floor with the Economics-Finance Department at the opposite end.

Dr. Graham Johnson, dean, School of Business Administration, and Lester M. Stone, assistant dean, have offices along the east side of the second floor hallway.

At the south end of the third floor is the Department of Business Education and Secretarial Administration. The General Business Department is at the north end.

Most of the classrooms, which are located on either side of the hallways, were finished and ready for classes Monday.

Parents Day Has Attendance of 700

Saturday's Parent's Day has been deemed "a success" by the Office of Student Activities.

"We think the informal organization worked very well and we had over 700 parents to register, and some 200 to attend our general assembly, which was held early Saturday," Dr. Butler, dean of student activities, said.

The parent awarded the prize for traveling the farthest to visit ETSU on Parent's Day was Mrs. Joseph O'Brien of Sayreville, N.Y. She was visiting her daughter Linda. The prize given Mrs. O'Brien, a his and hers pen set, was donated by the Alumni Association.

Dr. Butler added, "We wish to express our appreciation to Slaters for the buffet and also to the APOs who helped with the meal, Angel Flight members, and Gold Jackets who served during registration."

Shakespeare Play Movies To Show at Student Center

Three Shakespearean tragedies, "Romeo and Juliet," "Hamlet," and "Othello," will be shown on film this year at the Student Center, according to Dr. Lawrence McNamee, English faculty.

The first film to be shown at the Student Center will be "Romeo and Juliet" with Laurence Harvey on Oct. 14, followed by "Othello" with Laurence Olivier on Nov. 10. The last film, "Hamlet," supposedly Shakespeare's greatest play, is to be shown next semester on Feb. 23.

All three films are tentatively scheduled to be shown in the Student Center Ballroom. Any changes and the exact time will be posted in the Student Center and the Hall of Languages.

Sponsored by the ETSU Department of English in conjunction with the Student Center, all three are free to ET students, faculty and other interested parties.

Short Course Set On Retail Stores

The ET Department of Marketing and Management will sponsor a short course this month dealing with operation of small retail stores.

The course, "More Effective Operation of Your Small Retail Store," will be held from 7-9 p.m. Oct. 13, 20, 27 in Room 221 of the new Administration Building.

The study course is open to persons now operating small businesses and those planning to enter the field.

Chambers of Commerce in the ET area and the two Commerce banks are co-sponsors of the course.

Persons interested in attending can obtain more information from the ET Division of Continuing Education of area chambers of commerce.

Ex-Banker Joins Faculty

Dr. Arthur A. Smith, Dallas economist and retired bank executive, has been named the first Distinguished Visiting Professor in the School of Business Administration.

The announcement of Dr. Smith's appointment was made jointly by Dr. D. Whitney Halladay, ETSU president, and Dr. Graham M. Johnson, dean of the business school. Dr. Smith began his teaching and consulting duties on Oct. 1.

Smith

Dr. Smith recently ended 20 years of service with the First National Bank in Dallas this year when he retired as senior vice president and economist. He was formerly professor and head of the economics department at Southern Methodist University, and prior to going to SMU in 1938 he taught at DePauw University.

The Vanderbilt University Ph.D. writes a weekly column analyzing economic problems for the Dallas Times Herald. Dr. Smith is president of the Board of Trustees of the Dallas Public Library System; a board member of the Greater Dallas Planning Council; president of the Dallas Society for Crippled Children, and a trustee of Southwestern College in Winfield, Kan., among others.

Speeches Published

Speeches by two members of the English faculty are being published in the fall edition of "The Texas Joint English Committee for School and College."

The speeches, given last year at a District VIII, Texas Joint English Committee workshop, are "Bridge-Humanity" by Dr. Paul W. Barrus and "My Love Is Stronger Than Dirt or: Sergeant Pepper, Meet Philip Sidney" by Mrs. Mary Buckley, now on a year's leave of absence from the university.

Sparks Attends Meet

Mrs. Valera Sparks, business education faculty, attended the Texas Business Education Association Fall Conference in Houston, Oct. 2-3. Mrs. Sparks attended the Executive Council meeting as a TBEA District VIII Representative.

The state conference was to replace the several fall workshops normally held for business educators.

James Speaks to Museum Group

James

Dr. Gideon T. James, earth sciences faculty, spoke at the Houston Museum of Natural History Oct. 4.

The program was sponsored by the museum and the Houston Chronicle. His topic was "The Evolution of Tertiary Mammals in Relation to New Global Tectonics (Continental Drift Through Plate Tectonics)."

Link Attends Lawrence Festival

Dr. Charles Link, English faculty, is attending the D. H. Lawrence

Festival in Taos, N.M., this weekend. The festival, representing the 40th anniversary of Lawrence's death, will feature literary workshops and displays of the British author's paintings.

Dr. Link is the only ETSU faculty member attending the festival, which will also feature as one of its main events a speech by Dr. Keith Sagar, professor, Manchester University in England. Dr. Sagar spoke at ETSU enroute to the festival earlier this month.

Mrs. Morgan Selected

Mrs. Mary Morgan is the new Alpha Delta Pi, social sorority, housemother.

She said that before coming to ET she had been a head resident of married housing at Henderson State College in Arkadelphia, Ark.

Zander To Present Paper

Dr. Arlen Ray Zander, physics faculty, will present a paper at the Oct. 15-17 meeting in Houston of the Nuclear Physics Division of the American Physical Society.

Dr. Zander was the first American offered the National Research Council of Canada Post-Doctoral Fellowship at McGill University in Montreal.

McQuary To Attend TSPGA

Dr. John P. McQuary, head Student Personnel and Guidance, will attend the Texas Personnel and Guidance Association State Convention Oct. 8, 9, and 10 in Austin.

Henderson and Mayo Halls, resident dormitories, could be used as "multiracial" or "language-houses," this fall, according to Dr. Donald Pope, director of housing.

Pope pointed out that Henderson Hall, vacant except for Continuing Education facilities, has room to accommodate 200 students. He believes that these accommodations could be used for housing majors in foreign languages.

As for "multiracial" housing, Pope suggested that an international dorm for persons of different nationalities could be made of either Henderson or Mayo Hall.

Another possibility mentioned by Pope was making these dorms available to the different sport and debate teams visiting ETSU.

When asked why Mayo and Henderson were not converted to married housing, Pope announced that the university would receive one payment instead of the usual two or four payments per unit.

He noted that there are 15 units for married students available in university housing.

COUNTRY BOB HAYS

Sportswriter's Records Selling

By Jim Bowman

Bob Hays has spent much of his adult life writing about local heroes, but now he's one.

A Denison graduate student in journalism and a former sports writer, Hays is becoming known as a country and western singer. His first single recording on the Sevens International label is getting play in the Dallas-Fort Worth market.

The 24-year-old Hays has been singing and composing since high school days. He wrote both sides of his first record, "Heartbreak Mountain" and "How Can I Tell Her," and he recorded four more of his own songs in a recent session in Dallas.

After graduating from ETSU in 1968, Hays became sports editor of the Paris, Tex., News. He later wrote sports for the Victoria Advocate.

While in high school he sang on the Texoma Roundup Show in Denison on amateur night, winning the competition five consecutive weeks. He became a regular on the show which drew such country and western stars as Porter Wagoner and George Jones.

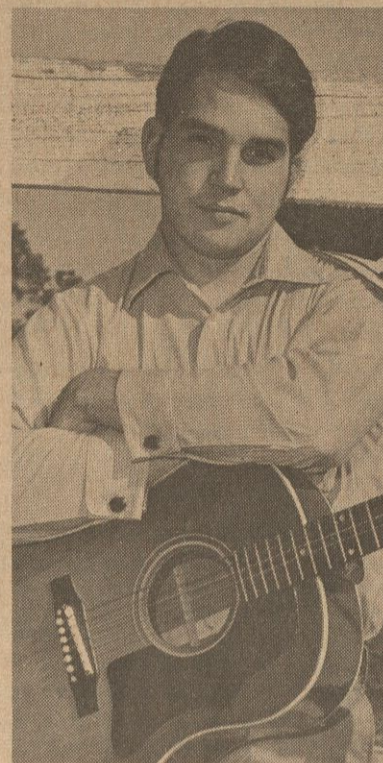

One night after a show, Hays asked an established recording artist and composer if he had any songs he could sing. "Why don't you just write something yourself," the singer asked him. Hays that night wrote "Heartbreak Mountain" backstage while waiting to perform.

Age 26 Said Limit for Draft

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Selective Service System has told local draft boards that age 26 marks the border of a sanctuary they may not invade, even in hot pursuit.

At 26, explained Draft Director Curtis W. Tarr, a man is too old for combat duty and drafting him might only jeopardize his fellow soldiers.

The regulations were in an executive order signed by President Nixon upon the recommendation, spokesmen said, of Tarr.

Hays

"I took the song to the producers of the show," Hays recalled, and they didn't even want to hear it. They wouldn't even listen to it. So I said to heck with my musical career."

Later Hays formed a rock and roll group. "We called ourselves the Nantaskets," he said, "but no one could pronounce the name and everyone called us the Fantastics. One night we did an all-night charity show on television and we were called at least five different names before it was over."

The singer doesn't have that problem with his own name. People wonder if Bob Hayes of the Dallas Cowboys has begun a singing career.

"I don't mind who they think I am as long as they buy the record," Hays said.

The Nantaskets broke up before people could decide how to pronounce the group's name. "When I was a high school senior, the Beatles were very popular," Hays explained, "and the members of the group got into an argument about whether we were going to play Beatle music or straight rock and roll."

At ETSU Hays joined three Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity brother in a group called the Blackouts. They were playing clubs in the Dallas area when another dispute caused a breakup. "I was their lead singer and the band wanted to play hard rock while I favored country and western," Hays said.

"I remember we represented ET at the State Fair of Texas one year. We had to follow Hank Thompson and I couldn't get on key after trying five times. The audience dwindled from a thousand to about a hundred. After that I decided to end my musical career again."

After graduating from ET, Hays found that newspaper reporting left him little time to sing and write his songs.

On his way back to ETSU, he stopped in Dallas to see a friend and former classmate, Mike Stanglin, a vice president of Studio Seven Recording Co.

Stanglin told Bob that "Heartbreak Mountain" and "How Can I Tell Her," both recorded about three years earlier but never released, were still good songs.

"We decided in about five minutes to go ahead and press it on the Sevens International label," Hays said.

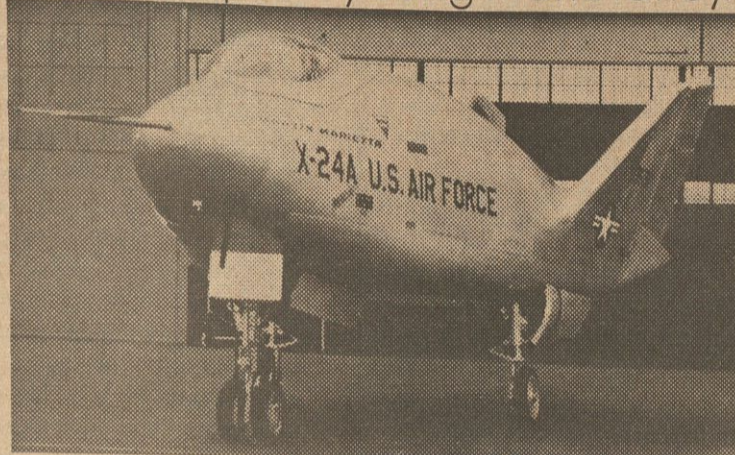

New Lots Available For Student Parking

Three new, unpaved areas have been opened to students, ET Security announced last week.

To park in the newly designated areas students must obtain permits from the Security Office. However, there is no restriction on the color of parking permits legal for these areas.

One new dirt lot is located north of the Field House. The second lot is directly south of the Industrial Education Building and is bordered by Neal, Stonewall, and Cooper Streets. The third parking area, behind the KA House, is bordered by Cooper, Stonewall, and Bryan streets.

All-LSC Center Readies for Pro Ranks

By A. G. Morgan

When Dub Lewis played high school football at Marshall in 1965, he was a slim 170-pound center on a 4-AAAA team that won nine games and lost one his senior year.

Lewis

Five years have passed since the All-District, All-Cypress Valley performer's weight was 170. He now stands 6-4 and tips the scale at 250 pounds. "The only reason I played in high school was because I was so quick," Lewis said.

ET's All-LSC Center was recently named to the second unit of the LSC team of the decade and is proud to receive such an honor. "Others probably deserved it more," Lewis said.

Lewis is a member of an ET team that has not lived up to expectations for the year, at least to this point. "We are a better team physically than any other team in the LSC. We've had a mental letdown in our two losses and it will be a long road back, but we must win and we know it," he said.

Lewis feels the team must get better organized in order to win and that its lack of organization showed against Sam Houston on Sept. 26. "We will have to give all we have, with no more letdowns. Nobody will let down on our team," Lewis said.

Asked how it is for offensive linemen, as far as publicity goes, Lewis grinned and said: "offensive linemen are the least-known people in a game. If a running back gains 200 yards in a game, everybody says 'great runner' but, if he only gains 40 or 50 his next game, they say, 'that offensive line is horrible.'" Offensive linemen do their job most of the time. If they didn't the quarterback could not throw the pass or make a handoff.

The main job of the center is to center the ball to the quarterback so he may do his job. But that's only the start. The center must read blitzes from linebackers and watch the defensive line.

Then, if the quarterback changes the play at the line of scrimmage, the center must be aware of the change, check the defense to see if it has changed its alignment, and then make his changes. And all of this happens within a 36-28-Hut-Hut . . .

"The center must be quick in reaction and on his feet. If the linebackers don't blitz, then I have to pull back and help the two guards," Lewis said.

Lewis definitely wants to play pro ball and is rated a solid prospect. He has no preference as to which team. He still prefers to play center if he makes the pros, but he said he would play any position.

Pro scouts talked to Lewis during the 1969 season and this past spring. Lewis feels if he cannot make it in the top professional ranks he would rather not play for a semipro team such as the Texarkana Titans. "I would rather pursue my masters degree first and begin to teach," he said.

Since the SHS loss, things have been pretty rough in practice drills. "We practice more and more now. The offense tries to give the defense more of what it will see in a game situation," Lewis said.

This weeks game? "They have to play us here. In the past four years, it's been the same. We have beaten them here and they beat us at Kingsville."

ET Soccer Team To Play

ET's soccer team will still be seeking its first win tonight when it faces Southern Methodist University in a 6:30 match on the Intramural Field behind Smith Hall.

ET dropped its third game, 6-1, to North Texas State here last Wednesday night.

Bob Linder scored ET's first goal after taking an assist from Doug Cornwalski.

NTSU scored first early in the game with a kick by Jackie Cummings. Cummings scored four of the visitor's six goals.

The game score was 2-1 at half-time, with ET down by only a goal.

ET Coach George Nixon gave several new players a chance to play the second half. The players are beginning to work closer as a team, but more practice is still needed, Nixon said.

Howard Payne Drubs ET; Title Hopes Diminished

HPC 28, ETSU 21

By Jack Smith

Lone Star Conference play has really just started, but championship hopes already seem slim for the ETSU Lions.

The Howard Payne Yellowjackets relied on a bruising ground game and some big defensive plays as they whipped ET, 28-21, before a Parents' Day crowd at Memorial Stadium Saturday night.

The loss dropped ET to 0-2 in LSC play and 1-3 for the season. The Lions have seven games to go and will find out if there are any title hopes left as they host unbeaten Texas A&I Saturday.

Some final-quarter heroics produced two touchdowns for the Lions against Howard Payne, tying the game, 21-21. The Yellowjackets came back with a crunching 80-yard drive that consumed 14 plays, fullback Ronnie Hammer going over from a yard out for the winning score.

ET got the ball with 1:41 remaining and quarterback Jim Dietz brought the Lions downfield with solid passing, aided by a pass interference call. The Lions bogged down and, with a fourth-and-ten situation at the HPC 24, Dietz flicked a screen pass to tailback Ricky Earle. Earle scampered for nine yards, one short of a first, and with six seconds left the Yellowjackets had the ball and the game.

Howard Payne brought the league's best rushing attack into the game and this was immediately evident. The Jackets churned out 69 yards in 12 plays on their first possession, with hard-running tailback Danny Ehle getting 50 of the yards and going over from the three.

ET retaliated two minutes later as Dietz pitched a 7-yard scoring toss to wingback George Daskalakes, the top LSC receiver with 32 catches in four games. The score was set up by a 38-yard pass to split end John Parker.

The second quarter was one for the defenses. A fumble recovery by linebacker Curtis Wesley and tough defensive play by the Lions twice gave them the ball with good field position, but the offense sputtered and the result was field goal misses of 34 and 33 yards by Mark Regian.

With 42 seconds left in the half, Dietz went back to throw and was hit by end Ken Sanders. The ball popped into the hands of end Ray Sulak, who sprinted 62 yards for a touchdown. Damon Smith added the extra point and the Jackets had a 14-7 lead at the half.

ET's cause looked more hopeless than ever when Howard Payne went 46 yards in the third quarter, scoring from the seven as smooth freshman quarterback Ronnie Colliflower faked a pass and ran the ball in.

The Lions began their comeback when freshman Wendall Joshua returned the kickoff 47 yards.

After a 25-yard pass interference call, fullback Bill Allison bulled over from the four. Regian added the extra point and the Lions were down 21-14.

ET linebacker Doug Walker cut a HPC rally short with a pass interception that gave the Lions the ball on their 44. Daskalakes scored in this drive, taking a 3-yard toss from Dietz. Regian's extra point tied it 21-21, with 7:21 left.

Colliflower, with strong running support from Ehle and tailback T. J. Ozburn, led the Yellowjackets methodically downfield for the winning drive. Hammer went over from the one with two minutes left.

ET came back only to lose possession with six seconds left and have its championship hopes seriously blighted.

Dietz had his best game since the opener with McNeese, hitting 17 of 34 passes for 257 yards and two TDs. Both scoring strikes went to Daskalakes, who caught nine passes for 123 yards.

Howard Payne managed only 75 yards in the air but outdid the Lions 217 to 118 on the ground. Ehle netted 127 yards on 20 carries, Colliflower 66 on 15, and Hammer 46 on 10 carries.

Allison had 59 yards on 15 carries to lead Lion rushers. Earle had 28 yards on 5 carries and Dietz netted 24 on 6.

Hawkins Remains Firm On Screen Pass Play

By A. G. Morgan

There was a stare of disbelief on Ernest Hawkins' face in the dressing room after Saturday night's loss to Howard Payne, 28-21.

"I'm sick," said Hawkins, ET football coach, after the Lions had just dropped their third straight game and the second in LSC play.

Hawkins

With 19 seconds left ET faced a fourth down, trailing 28-21. It was decision time for Coach Hawkins.

"We had been running our patterns at them, but they would pull back to protect the long pass, so I called the screen."

Hawkins was almost correct in his judgment. Jim Dietz, ET quarterback, dropped back and passed to tailback Ricky Earle. Earle had blocking and headed for the first down marker. He missed by six inches.

"I would call the play again. It was a good call, we just didn't go far enough," said Hawkins.

Against Abilene Christian and Sam Houston State, the Lions failed to come up with much of an offensive threat. The defense gave up 41 points to ACC and 23 to SHS.

Against HPC, the Lions were getting back on the right track. The defense yielded 21 points, but broke down only once.

After the opening kickoff, HPC took the ball and marched for a touchdown behind the powerful running of Danny Ehle, HP's 6-1, 210 pound tailback.

"We were a little too eager in our secondary," said Hawkins. "We had two or three chances for interceptions, but we just couldn't come up with them," he added. ET tackling could have been better. "We've got to start stopping people on first contact," said ET defensive end Dwight White.

There were several big plays in the game, but the one that broke ET's back came with 29 seconds left in the first half and the game tied 7-7.

Dietz dropped back to pass and was hit from behind. The ball squirted out of his hand and sailed into the waiting arms of defensive end Ray Sulak, who went untouched 62 yards for the TD to put the Jackets in the lead, 14-7.

Another turning point came in the fourth quarter with HP facing a third down and 14. HPC quarterback Ronnie Colliflower kept the ball and rambled through the line and secondary for the first down.

"If we could have held then, the game would have been different," said Bradley Mills, ET's defensive coach.

Coach Hawkins gave praise to the HPC team, as it well deserved. "They just took the ball and drove it down our throats.

ET Cross Country Team Loses Two Weekend Meets

ET's cross country team suffered defeats last weekend by North Texas State University and Howard Payne College.

ET lost a four-mile race with North Texas State, 15-50, Friday in Denton and fell 15-44, in a three-mile race with Howard Payne College here Saturday at Sand Hills Country Club.

The low score wins in cross country races.

ET's team is coached by Bruce Drummonds, assistant track coach. Members of the team are Garland Walker, Bob Miller, Mike Lyle, John Owens, Greg Cronhlo, and Wayne Rucker.

Girls barrel racing — Mary Park and Cynthia Cherry.

Goat sacking — Alpha Phi. Wild mare race — Alpha Gamma Rho and Phi Kappa Theta.

Discipline Panel Makes No Charges

The University Discipline Committee declined to take action against four ET athletes last week due to insufficient evidence.

However, action may be taken after further investigation and possible indictment by a grand jury in Greenville this week, Sam McCord, ET security director said.

The four had been charged with assault with intent to rape last month. Charged were J. P. Estes, 18, DeKalb freshman; Kenneth Brown, 19, Dallas freshman; Keith Osburn, 19, Dallas freshman; and Wendell Johnson, 19, Dallas freshman.

The four were accused of the intended rape of an 18-year old coed from Dallas in West Halls about 11 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 17. They were taken into custody by ET Security officers the following morning and arraigned before Justice of the Peace C. J. Walden. They made bond at $1,500 each.

He said the recluse spider is not a vicious spider and is "very bashful" unless something is done to bother the spider's hiding place.

Dr. Klaus added, "Don't go out of the way to look for them because you will find them."

Lion Football Team Gives To Gill Fund

The ETSU football team has contributed to a fund for the family of a North Texas State football player who died following surgery.

Richard Gill, a 2-year starter at linebacker, died Sept. 27 from an apparent blood clot after complications from knee surgery he underwent Aug. 31.

The ET football team, under the suggestion of Assistant Coach Boley Crawford, donated to the fund for Mrs. Gill, her 15-month old son, and her unborn child.

A total of $1,100 was collected the first day the fund was started.

The fifth and sixth items have no revisions and will be merely answered "yes" or "no." They read: "There will be no food or drinks allowed in the lounge or lobby area" and "Certain areas of lounges will be off-limits to male guests."

The seventh item deals with sign-out procedure. The current system utilizes cards "to afford privacy" and the revision suggests reverting to "the old system of signing out."

Item 8 reads: "Overnight guests will be allowed only on weekends and must be registered with the office staff." The revisions is: "Overnight guests will be permitted Monday through Sunday and must be registered in the office—no fee will be charged."

Dr. Don Pope, ET housing director, said he will announce lounge rule changes after he receives the results to Pope late Wednesday or Thursday.

Pope said residents of Smith Hall have not, as an organization, expressed any opinion concerning lounge regulations to his office. He said he will consider the opinions expressed by the residents of Hubbell and Berry Halls as well as the Binnion survey before he makes any announcement of changes. He said, "I want to change these things one time."
