Final Stadium Drive To Begin; Funds To Be Raised By May 8

The Campus Eye-View

By NELDA HYATT
Associate Editor, East Texan

THIS WEEK, THE editor decided it was high time I was exposed to this editing business, so she let me put out the weekly "rag" as it is affectionately and otherwise termed by those who profess to read it.

Someone should have told me earlier about this job of editing. I doubt seriously if I would have been quite so quick to write my moniker on the ballot and put a lot of signs up last spring.

On the subject of ballots, it isn't any too soon to begin thinking along those lines for the coming elections, which will be held in April.

This year, as always, students should take care in selecting the person most qualified for the offices. There should be none of this "Well, I won't vote for him because he is or isn't a member of a certain organization," business. That isn't the intelligent way of doing things. That doesn't get the person in office who should be there.

Most important of all is that every student on the campus should vote. There is absolutely no excuse for this neutral attitude of not caring who runs or who wins. Find out who is the best man for the job, support him fully, and see that he is put in office.

New Drive Begins
A NEW DRIVE for the memorial stadium in honor of East Texas State's war dead has begun. Officials feel that this new drive will help considerably to pull the drive out of the slump in which it has fallen.

Ordinarily, a person would think that a drive for such a noble cause would have its quota filled in a reasonable length of time, but people are a little reluctant to give. They are prone to forget very easily. War is becoming a very distant thing to them. They have seen and heard too much of it already; so the fact that the memorial stadium is in memory of ET boys who were killed fails to register very much. Perhaps that is the way it should be, but there is a danger in forgetting too quickly.

Course In Diplomacy
THERE SHOULD BE a course offered in colleges on diplomacy! Many students, would, no doubt, profit greatly by such a course. Although there is some merit in being brutally frank and honest at all times, there is such a thing as carrying these traits too far.

You often hear people boast, "If I don't like a person, I always let him know about it!" Now what is the advantage in such an act? That isn't the way to get along with people, as a whole. While many are different, no one appreciates being told that someone has an intense dislike for him. You never know when you might have a definite use for some person whom you have just declared a pet hate for.

Perhaps you don't like a person, a subject, a teacher. For your own sake, hide the feeling. Don't cover the feeling with hypocrisy, but just don't flaunt your attitude around. It doesn't pay.

Many Students Take Flight Courses

More and more boys are taking to the air, according to A. H. Bahman, owner of the local airport.

Twenty-nine college students are enrolled for private flying courses at the present time. Of this number, eight have soloed this term.

These students are: W. L. Bell, R. C. Carrington, R. L. Head, C. B. Mahaffey, C. R. Morris, H. R. Standefer, J. M. Scroggins, and W. I. Weldon.

Adverse weather conditions have hampered flying considerably the past few weeks, but the remaining 21 students should solo in the very near future, Bahman said.

Ex-Students Executive Committee Will Meet In Dallas, Plan New Campaign

A meeting of the executive committee for the Memorial Stadium drive has been called for Monday, Mar. 10 in the Adolphus hotel in Dallas, according to Noble Arthur, Ex-student association president.

Arthur has called the session to discuss plans for the spring and final drive to raise the remainder of the 150 thousand dollars needed to get the construction of the proposed stadium building program for East Texas State under way.

Members of the committee are: Carl Estes, Longview; Hon. L. L. James, Tyler; Hon. Joel H. Berry, Houston; Judge J. A. Old, Winstonsboro; Perry W. Fite and J. P. Travis, Dallas; Robert Henson, Greenville, and John Windell and Noble Arthur, Commerce.

"We hope to wind up this final drive for the stadium funds by Homecoming day this spring," Arthur said.

Only about one third of the needed funds has been raised so far, but one of the purposes of this meeting will be to reach the ex-students who have not been contacted," he added.

Plans for the stadium construction are already in the hands of George R. Dahl, Dallas architect, Arthur said, and it is hoped that construction will begin not later than Jan. 1, 1945.

Dahl also is the architect for Binion hall, new dormitory for girls, now under construction.

Memorial stadium will seat 10,000 fans and will be constructed at the foot of Lee street, just off Bois d' Arc street.

Library Buys Books, W. A. Partch Donates "Southern Exposure"

A number of new books have been received in the East Texas State library according to the head librarian, Miss Opal Williams. The books, mostly non-fiction, are by some of the most popular authors of the present time.

On the library shelf are: "With No Regrets," by Hutchesing; "A World to Win," by Sinclair; "Days and Nights," by Simonov; "American Daughter," by Thompson; "The City of Trembling Leaves," by Clark; "Britannia Mews," by Sharp; "The Big Road," by Rosten; "Winter Meeting," by Stone; "Died in the Wool," by Marsh; "A Walk in the Sun," by Brown; "Beach Red," by Bowman; "This Man Truman," by McNaughton; "Tempered Blade," by Barrett; "Hawk's Flight," by Hull; "Skinny Angel," by Jones, and "Farmer Take a Wife," by Gould.

Books purchased by the college were:

"Experiment in Rebellion," by Dowdy; "The Wild Flag," by White; "The Chrysanthemum and the Sword," by Benedict; "The Shore Dimly Seen," by Arnall; "When the Heavens Frowned," by Cline; "Cowtown Columnist," by House; "The Ferguson of Texas," by Nalle; "Santa Fe," by Marshall; "The Roosevelt I Knew," by Perkins; "Our Share of Night," by Middleton; "The U. S. World War II," by Harris, and "Secret Country" by Carrera.

Among the many books donated to the library by Mr. A. W. Partch was "Southern Exposure," by Kennedy. Mr. Partch has donated many valuable books at East Texas, Miss Williams said.

Social Dancing Steps Teaches Many Steps; 56 Girls Are Enrolled

Fifty-six girls who will not be wall flowers, are enrolled in Gertrude Warmack's social dancing class this semester.

Students in this course have already learned variations of the one step, two step, tango, and waltz. In the future, they will learn to rhumba, jitterbug and other popular dance steps of the day.

Because there are no boys enrolled in the class, girls take time about leading.

"It would be much better if there were boys taking dancing," the petite physical education instructor said, "because there is a slight disadvantage in girls having to learn to lead."

Miss Warmack could not explain the absence of boys in the course. "Every semester, boys approach me and ask to enroll in the course, yet when registration comes around, no boys sign up," she said.

Texas Is At Crossroads, Says Hyder

The state of Texas is at the crossroads switching from an agricultural economy to an industrial economy, according to Tom Bullock Hyder, commissioner representing employers on the Texas Unemployment Compensation Commission.

But the former state senator, conducting a social insurance seminar here Thursday sponsored by the compensation commission, believes the problems can be solved.

"New industries will employ women and teen-agers and servicemen who are discontent to return to the farm.

Government statisticians and economists predicted widespread unemployment when the war ended," he contended, "but now in Texas we have more employed than on V-J day."

Future employment security, he said, depends upon our adaptability to a great many things:

"reconversion, great transfers of labor as war production factories close down, the government's curtailment of spending, the return of 750,000 Texas servicemen, reduction of overtime, new people entering the labor market, and finally the 'hard core' people who just aren't going to work."

Hyder was accompanied by Joe K. Wells, general counsel of the Texas Unemployment Compensation Commission, who explained the compensation program, and R. L. Coffman, chief of placement of the employment service, who told of his office's duties.

To collect employment compensation, a worker must have earned at least $90, must be available for work, must be out of work through no fault of his own, Wells said.

"Over 50 million dollars have been paid out in compensation since the beginning of the program in 1936," he said.

Some special aims of the placement service, according to Coffman, are to be of service to veterans, to conduct a housing service as an aid in selecting employment, and to insure continuity of employment through aptitude and dexterity tests and through study of occupational trends.

During the war, between 90 and 95 per cent of all meat sold in the U. S. was federally graded as "choice, good, commercial, or utility."

A Story Of A Girl And Her Horses-- Waits Is Only Woman Veterinary Major

By NELDA HYATT
Associate Editor, East Texan

Lena Lou Waits has the distinction of being the only woman veterinary major enrolled at East Texas State.

This slim, auburn haired freshman is literally a jack-of-all-trades who loves to work with animals, plow, ride herd, play the piano, sing, give poetry readings, and train horses.

Lena Lou's past record shows that she is quite adept at all these activities. She has six horses that she has raised and trained. She plowed a plot of ground as large as the entire campus with a Ford tractor last summer, and sang with the orchestra at the Sulphur Springs high school where she graduated last year.

"Horses are my first love, though," said the pretty, blue-eyed slip of a girl. "I've been riding them every since I was able to sit on one, and I have been thrown more times than a baseball at a major league game," she admitted.

COMMERCE, TEXAS, FRIDAY, MAR. 7, 1947

NUMBER 19

At a Cost of $40,000 Swimming Pool Will Offer Heat Respite

An ultra-modern $40,000 swimming pool, built by the city of Commerce, will furnish aqua-lovers a respite from the burning Texas heat this summer.

The Commerce Natatorium now under construction, will be completed by June 1. Although city owned, it is expected that college meets will be held in the new type pool.

Eighty feet at the wide end and 45 feet at the narrow end, the pool will be 120 feet long. With 350 swimmers in the pool, the fan shaped pool, will allow each swimmer 25 cubic feet to swim in.

Equipped with the first chrome finished accessories available since the war, the natatorium will be a solid pore pool with no joints. Diving towers will be regulation height. Other equipment including the ladders, two diving towers, two diving boards, the slide and two life guard chairs, will all be chrome finished.

Provisions will be made for underwater lighting. The pool will contain 22 one-thousand watt marine water lights which will be waterproof and shock proof. The lights will be installed by the next swimming season.

Because of a special filtration system, the water in the pool will be as pure as that coming out of a water main. Filled only once a season, the system has a filtration capacity of 253,000 gallons. The water is pulled out, filtered and purified every five hours and 20 minutes. It comes back through 22 openings at even pressure.

Open bathhouses, designed along the line of those at Warm Springs, Ga., will feature offset roofs for sanitation purposes. They will prevent a musty smell in the dressing rooms.

Colorful walks with water drains to keep them dry will surround the new pool. The sidewalk will be tinted by a special process that puts coloring in to the cement. A fence will enclose the entire natatorium.

The water in the pool will remain at 80 degrees at all times. The well-lighted pool will meet every requirement of the Texas State Department of Health. Customary rates will be charged students and townspeople.

ASTC Frowns On Strikes For Higher Wages At Meeting

ASTC Frowns On Strikes For Higher Wages At Meeting

Strikes as a method of gaining higher salaries for teachers received the official disapproval of the American Association of Teachers Colleges at its Atlantic City convention attended by East Texas State representative, Dean Frank Young, Feb. 27, 28 and Mar. 1.

Young reported that the unanimous sentiments of the 168 representatives present were opposed to such measures.

But better salaries and more security are definitely needed if young people who have the brightest minds and best personalities are to be attracted into the profession, the group asserted.

A study of problems encountered daily by teacher-education institutions throughout the nation was made at the convention.

On his way to Atlantic City, Young stopped in Washington, D. C., where he was entertained by former Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn, an ex-student of East Texas State.

Music Department To Present Recital

East Texas State's music department will present a recital tonight at 7:30 p. m. to students, faculty members, and local citizens.

Program includes: MacFadden's "Country Dance" by Carrie East Texas State's music department; "Flight of the Bumblebee" by Carl Marsh, clarinetist; Purcell's "Passing By" by Marjorie Carpenter, mezzo-soprano; Thome's "Simple Aveu" by Donald Kerr, cellist; Mozart's "Sonata in D Major No. 9" by Regina Patterson, pianist; D'Arlequin-Drigo's "Serenade" by Randall Wheatley, cornetist; Lohr's "Where My Caravan Has Rested" by Maxine Wilkinson, soprano; Beethoven's "Six Variations on Nel cor pio non mi sento" by Mary Sue Coursey, pianist; Kreisler's "The Old Refrain" by Randall Wheatley, violinist; Mendelssohn's "Spinning Song" by June Harrison, pianist; Tschalkowsky's "Dance of the Flutes" from "The Nutcracker Suite" by a clarinet trio composed of Marshall Massey, Albert Sperry, and Carl Marsh.

Both centers feature courses in English of social, economic and cultural conditions of the respective countries, integrated with field trips to numerous places and institutions of cultural and historic significance within and outside of the capital cities," Dr. Joseph S. Werlin, director, explained.

The courses offer standard college credit in sociology, history or Spanish, to students of all departments and divisions, on both undergraduate and graduate levels. Students may also attend on a non-credit basis, and the courses are open to non-students as well.

Approximate cost for the Mexico Center is $175 which includes all expenses from Houston and return, save tuition and meals in Mexico City. The Guatemala Center costs $300 for all expenses from Houston to Houston except tuition.

These centers are recognized by the Veteran's Administration, and veterans are exempt from tuition and receive their usual subsistence allowance. Enrollment is arranged through a letter of eligibility from the local Veteran's administration of the student.

Young To Help Evaluate Technical High Schools

Dean Frank Young is in Dallas this week as a member of a visiting committee evaluating the technical high schools at Dallas. Young will help do the statistical work on the final summary report. The committee is composed of about 50 educators from surrounding schools.

Religious Council to Keep Drive Going Through Clubs, Individuals to Reach Goal

Emphasis week on the World Student Service Fund drive ended Wednesday, but students may still make their contributions through this next week, religious council officials has announced.

A total of $137.15 has been received to date, which is still short of the $200 goal set for East Texas State by the religious council. The drive, sponsored by the religious council and conducted through the nearly fifty campus organizations as well as individuals, has received considerable attention here this year.

"Every student should contribute as much as possible. A good goal would be to give as much as one day's schooling would ordinarily cost," Stanley Price, religious council president said.

"If a student would contribute as much as one stick of chewing gum every day for a year's time would cost him, he would contribute $3.65," Price continued.

East Texas State faculty contributed $30 to the fund, while the Student Christian Fellowship gave $25, Les Choisites $30, Presbyterian Young People $20, Artemas $45.

Friars club voted to contribute individually to the drive. Other clubs have not yet reported, but will have donations, it was understood.

Organization reports should be turned in to Miss Gennety Ballard at the dean's office not later than Wednesday, Price said.

Individuals wishing to contribute may contact Dr. J. W. McCrary, Martha Miller, Rayline Hart, and Price, of the religious council.

Independents are continuing their drive this week. Dorothy Clinton is chairman of the drive, and all non-clubbers are asked to give their donations through her.

Students Are Invited To Summer Centers at Mexico and Guatemala

College students throughout America have been invited to attend the two Summer Centers of Mexico and Guatemala, sponsored by the University of Houston, President E. E. Oberholzer of the University of Houston has announced.

"Both centers feature courses in English of social, economic and cultural conditions of the respective countries, integrated with field trips to numerous places and institutions of cultural and historic significance within and outside of the capital cities," Dr. Joseph S. Werlin, director, explained.

The courses offer standard college credit in sociology, history or Spanish, to students of all departments and divisions, on both undergraduate and graduate levels. Students may also attend on a non-credit basis, and the courses are open to non-students as well.

Tentative plans were discussed for a domino tournament with prizes going to the winners. There was also talk of holding a volley ball tournament for girls.

English Majors Must Take Twelve Hours of Foreign Languages

Requirements to Become Effective Next September

East Texas State English majors may no longer receive a bachelor of science degree, but will be required to take twelve college semester hours in foreign languages to receive a bachelor of arts, President A. C. Ferguson has disclosed.

The new requirement will affect all new enrollees beginning next September.

A minimum of thirty semester hours in English instead of the previous twenty-four will also be necessary for majors to receive their degrees, Ferguson said. Methods and Bible courses cannot be counted.

The additional requirements came as a result of a new policy established by Dr. Troy C. Crenshaw, head of the English department.

"Dr. Crenshaw has long believed that persons planning to teach English should have an understanding of other languages," Ferguson stated.

The president indicated, however, that there was no likelihood of elevating requirements in other departments.

"Only in the arts-including music and the industrial arts like home economics and industrial education—should more than 30 of the 124 hours required for a degree be devoted to the major subject."

He pointed that the college now allowed a maximum of 42 hours in these subjects.

March Varsity Cover To Picture Presidents

March issue of The New Varsity, East Texas State's feature magazine, will be devoted to the thirtieth anniversary of East Texas State Teachers college as a state institution, Editor Jackie Goolsby has announced.

East Texas State, founded in 1889 by Dr. William L. Mayo, will observe its thirtieth anniversary as a Texas institution Apr. 4.

Varsity's cover will be a special pictorial layout of East Texas State's four presidents—Dr. William L. Mayo, Dr. Randolph B. Binion, Dr. Sam H. Whitley, Dr. Arthur C. Ferguson—plus the story of East Texas State's transformation from a private to a public institution, Miss Goolsby said.

"This is the kind of rich, documented story that both students and faculty will want to clip and have," she said. "It will be valuable as a reference in days to come."

Varsity also will reprint the article pertaining to East Texas State written by Morris Frank for the Houston Post. Morris and Photographer Bud Bigelow visited the campus in January.

Sunday Christians

Did you go to church Sunday? If you did, did you carry through the week the same kindly, brotherly spirit that you professed on Sunday morning. If you didn't, did you develop on your own accord a more tolerant attitude toward your fellowman?

For what does regular church attendance accomplish if the principles which it teaches are forgotten from one week to the next?

So many of us are just Sunday Christians. It's the easiest way.

How much more difficult it is to enrich our daily thoughts with the precepts of universal love, peace, and tolerance; How much easier to continue enveloping ourselves with our own petty problems!

The greatest of all emotions that one can experience is, brotherhood. Romantic love is, at best, possessive and selfish; filial love is innate, self-protective... friendships are sometimes narrow and prejudiced.

But love of one's fellowman is wide and generous, deep and fulfilling.

Strange, is it not, that the person who gives most of this love, receives more from it than any other. Stranger still that a people so engrossed in receiving and in taking should not have perceived the high interest rates from this precious investment.

Perhaps you aren't as popular as you would like to be; perhaps you are unsuccessful in your relations with people as well as in your school work.

Could it be because you give too much time and thought to self?

Forget about "me" for awhile, and think about "he" and "she," and even better—"you."

Vets Drop Out

Reports from educational institutions all over the nation show that students are dropping out of school before the completion of their training in alarming numbers. There have been many reasons for this move again. Some of them are natural and cannot be helped, but others can be remedied with effort and cooperation.

One of the reasons given is that students have entered into training without being aware of what was to be expected of them. They discovered that they were either not capable of doing the work required of them or that they didn't like it well enough to do it. Rather than standing by and watching these persons leave school, it seems that there could be some type of testing service set up to let the beginning student know just about what his personal limitations are and let him choose a profession or vocation that would fit into these limits. The various branches of the armed forces during the war had a series of examinations and tests that did an amazingly good job of seeing that no square pegs were forced into round holes considering the enormity of their task.

Probably one of the greatest reasons for many of the men going to school on the GI Bill is the lack of income. Many veterans started to school in the hope that $90 dollars a month would support them and a family if they followed a tight and close budget. In light of rising prices, they have found it impossible to continue. There have been and continue to be many moves to correct this. The institutions themselves have erected housing which can be had at a minimum charge, commissaries that sell at cost to the students, and motions and petitions have been made to Congress to raise the subsistence allotment in comparison with the raise in the cost of living. Continued pressure upon the lawmakers of the nation to correct this will aid the veteran to stay in school.

These measures will not stop the men from dropping out of school entirely, but it will give those persons a chance to continue that honestly wish to go. Every person, group, or organization that can help in this movement to aid these people to stay in school will be doing his nation, yes, even the world, a great service. Educated men are going to be needed in the world of the future. When there is training and education there is happiness, and where happiness exists wars lose out.

Something In A Name

We people of the United States and even of the world today pride ourselves upon living in a modern, efficient and fast-moving time. We have arranged all of our thoughts in order just like a file cabinet and labeled them from A through Z.

This, like many other good things, is fine unless it is carried to an extreme. The one fault that may arise from this too complete categorizing of all subjects, objects, and thoughts is that we may revert to the old dogma of name-calling.

In the period just before and during the recent war every person in the nation became familiar with the many terms which dealt with foreign types of government and with a few that dealt with our own style. Such words as Red, Communist, Fascist, Nazi, leftist, conservative, reactionary, radical, isolationist and Socialist rolled glibly off tongues of everyone who took any interest in the world about them.

Now with the world trying to orientate itself to make sure that never again will the peoples of the world have to go to war to settle their troubles, these terms are being bandied about by many persons who either consciously or unconsciously are using them in an incorrect and detrimental manner. Such terms as "red-fascist," and "radical-reactionary" are phrases which have been worked to death. Let us stop and analyze these two terms.

The term "red" is usually connected with the government of Russia. Russia has become a word synonymous with communism in spite of the fact that the Russian government's actual name is the United Soviet SOCIALIST Republic. Therefore, the term "red" must mean something about communistic or socialistic forms of govern-

Entertainment World OF Time and Names

Sunday Movie, "Heart" Falls Short; Stars Allyson, Colbert, and Pidgeon

When a production including June Allyson, Claudette Colbert, Walter Pidgeon, Lionel Barrymore, and Robert Sterling is released, great things are to be expected. "The Secret Heart" unfortunately does not completely fulfill this expectation. The story, a rehash of a few other so-so pictures, casts Miss Colbert as the widowed step-mother of Robert Sterling and a psycho-neurotic, June Allyson, mother of Robert Sterling and a psycho-neurotic, Walter Pidgeon, a life-long friend and daughter. Just as things begin to move smoothly, havoc breaks loose in the family. An attempt at suicide by Miss Allyson, who is laboring under the belief that her mother was unfaithful to her father, climaxes this picture.

There are scenes played by Lionel Barrymore, cast in the familiar Dr. Kildarish roll as a psychiatrist, and there are scenes when the talent of Pidgeon and Colbert overcome the plot to become worth-while. The musical direction of the production very skillfully blends in excerpts from Chopin and Liszt for some very delightful listening. You may like it.

The Return of Monte Cristo
Louis Hayward, always a capable actor, again stars in a film adaptation of the Count of Monte Cristo which shows Tuesday and Wednesday. Co-starred with beautiful Barbara Britton, and supported by a fine cast, Hayward struggles to gain a fortune. After about ninety minutes of time he succeeds and as a bonus gets the gal. All in all, this is a picture that should please anyone who likes plenty of action and a good amount of intrigue.

Two Years Before The Mast
Alan Ladd and Brian Donlevy join forces to bring to the screen the story of the life of Richard Henry Dana in "Two Years Before The Mast." In the days when seaman had to be tough and mutinies were a dime a dozen, both of these men prove their worthiness to have lived in such a day. Recommended for an exciting evening.

Filling in the rest of the week "DANNY BOY" starring Ralph Louis and Robert Hale promises to do a better job that the many sagas of the wild and woolly west in the past weeks has done.

Consumer Problems Discussed At Meet

Consumer problems were discussed by five members of Eta Epsilon in their meeting Feb. 27 in S-312.

Doris Faures spoke about "Bread and Meat."
"Ideas for Clothing Makers" were discussed by Geraldine Ashford.

Wana Williams gave an interesting talk on "Your House Buying or Renting."
"Kitchen Storage in Terms of Body Economy" by Mary Jean Dyer, and "If You Are Shopping for Home Equipment by Minnie Ottlinger were the first talks in the meeting.

Ordering club pins were discussed, after which the meeting adjourned.

Students, Teachers Get Wage Increase

Every person on the college pay roll received a 15 per cent wage increase Mar. 12 when the Texas Legislature passed a bill appropriating money for the added salary.

Originally, the bill was intended to raise only the salary of state college teachers, but after an appeal to the board of regents by President Ferguson, the wages of students and other people employed by East Texas State were increased.

ment. Now take the word "fascist." The fascist movements started in Italy in 1919. It embodied an almost wholly nationalistic thought. Therefore, the term "red-fascist" is a contradictory one. Each half of the word means an entirely different thing. It would be rather like calling the equator the "North-South Pole." Rather a neutral term isn't it?

A radical is usually thought to be one who has sweeping ideas that are ahead of his time. He is, in his milder form considered a dreamer. In his more active form, however, he is a recognized danger. A reactionary on the other hand, is a person, who favors the actions of times gone by rather than those of the future. So here again we have a neutral term. An obvious way of deceiving the public, isn't it? But it has worked and will CONTINUE TO WORK IF YOU LET IT!

Let us do all we can to stop this constant name-calling. It achieves nothing but fear and apprehension on the side of all parties concerned. Let us stop and think of an accurate name if we must use one. One A. Hitler once started a great war by name-calling. It can happen again.

Slumping sleepily in their seats on the main auditorium stage, 14 North Texas students soared to an altitude of 5,000 feet in a mythical airplane while under hypnotic powers of Dr. Franz J. Explaining that no one can be hypnotized unless he cooperates with his mind, Dr. Polgar attempted to hypnotize en masse, approximately fifty student volunteers.

JUST Browsing

Last week in my review of John Hersey's "Hiroshima" I called it one of the best jobs of reporting done in the recent war. This week I am going to repeat myself. Although there is no likeness between "Hiroshima" and Ernie Pyle's "Last Chapter," they are both, in their own ways two of the best pictorials to come out of this period.

Ernie's serviceman was not a heroic, do-or-die military man. He was the plain, unglamorous, mud-slogging G. I. He had his ups and downs, violent periods of homesickness, periods of rebellion from the style of living he had to stand for, and time when his rich sense of humor was the only thing that relieved the terrific monotony of the waiting.

"Last Chapter" takes Ernie into the Pacific to tell the story of the cooperation between the Army, Navy, and Marine Corps in the taking of the islands that finally led to the victory over the Japanese empire. It seems tragic that Ernie could not have lived to see the end of his job.

He was just a little man who was so heartsick and weary of seeing death and war that he hurt. He had not wanted to go to the Pacific, but he felt that it was his duty to do it. This was the last trip before he could quit and return to "Baby," his wife, and the quiet sun and easiness of Albuquerque.

Ernie had a job to do and he did it. "Last Chapter" is all of the human feeling and understanding that his former book contained. It is not the story of a war. It is not the story of an army. It is the story of a group of individual men who, through circumstances beyond their control were thrown onto a great stage and forced to perform.

The marker on his grave is mute evidence of the feeling the men had for Ernie. It reads very simply, "At this spot the 77th Infantry Division lost a Buddy, Ernie Pyle, 18 April 1945." This is the end of the "Last Chapter."

Talk Of The Town!

Fulks And Roommate Try New Angle; Mosley Almost Settles Down To Grann

PAUL FULKS and his roommate became so concerned about their collie dog that one of them called a girl to enlist her aid. What'll they think of next?

First it was etchings, then it was catalogues (that was TOMMY ANDERSON'S favorite), and now it's ailing dogs!

Just when it looks as if sweet faced ROSE JEAN MOSLEY has settled down to lovable JOHNNY GRANN, we see her out with AL VALLE, BUNNY PATTERSON and various others.

Girls, about the only way you can get a date with HAROLD CARSON, is to ask him. (We know, we ask him!)

It's a relief to know that HAROLD TAYLOR didn't get married. Now if he would only come back to ET! For information on the subject, contact brother, JOE. You'll find him sitting in the Grill usually smoking a cigar.

TURP is a true bird lover. We just wonder if it was an accident that one of his birds escaped to second floor of East Dorm where it had to be caught.

GUY MARLOW, didn't you know that it wasn't ethical to break dates without a good reason? BETTY HARRIS is of the same opinion.

One inseparable couple you shouldn't miss is DORIS JEAN SWORDS and her DOUG. Besides, they are engaged!

Once upon a time little GEORGIE SUMMERLIN got amongst 'em, but lately he has succumbed to little JANIE MILLER'S quaint charm.

Coming in every night at eleven is MARTHA WHITE and her

Oglesby Shows Avid Interest In Reid; Rives And McDowell Have Same Feeling

From all outward appearances, BOBBY (don't let that innocent, boyish look fool you, he's really a wolf in kid's clothing) OGLESBY is interested in auburn haired PAULINE REID. You've got to hand it to the boy; he's got taste for class!

Seen in each other's company because they share a mutual agreement (she thinks she's cute and he thinks he's cute) are SAM (South of the Border) RIVES and TOBY (she ought to get a medal for taking these cracks so good naturedly) McDOWELL.

Calling J. C. CAPERTON, calling CAPERTON. Certain little gal from East dorm is on your trail. Do nothing till you hear from us!

SKEETS McDOWELL has suddenly developed a mad passion for airplanes. The fact that her boy BILL likes to fly has nothing to do with it.

BETTY MILL'S smiling face has been missed from the circle for the past week or so due to a slight case of illness, or something. Hurry back, kid, we kinda miss ya!

From all indications, MIN OTTINGER'S heart still belongs to her West Texas boy, DICK PIERCE.

More on this flying... If there's an airport in your home

Herb Smith To Play Ape In New Show; McKinney And Eagleton Break Mirror

It may sound like an exaggeration, but "Joe" told us that WINNIFRED EAGLETON and diplomatic JIM ED MCKINNEY were doing such powerful courting in the Mayo living room recently that the mirror fell off the wall and smashed into smithereens.

Best crack of the week — In a recent repartee between PEGGY ARNOLD and smooth tongued HERB SMITH, the following remark was made by the latter. "Oh, yes, I am going to be in the picture, "Tarzan and the Ape-man." PEGGY opened her eyes wide, and replied, "Really, and whose going to play Tarzan?"

Rumor's have it that JO PAR-RIS, blonde Loucist beauty and JAMES (JELLY) GRIFFITT have had a reconciliation. He has been seen with Madame editor and JANE HAYWOOD lately, however.

Speaking of burning the midnight oil, the trio, BEVERLY FOX, ELAINE LITTLE and SU LAIN HUGHES burn it (the oil, that is) until 2:30 every night. It has not been definitely settled whether they play bridge or just like to gossip. (Wonder if they would like to write for this column?)

ever loving JOHN BRUNSON. (Yes, he stops at the door.)

Little JOHNNY MCKINNEY is our favorite boy in the loud plaid jacket.

JIM FRED ANDERSON has at last broken down and dated a girl. Who is the lucky girl? Why, BETTY FREEMAN, of course.

HELEN DURHAM and BAILY BEECH seem to be making smooth music together now. We thought "POLLY" was the man of your life, HELEN. Leave us not be so fickle!

Just what was BILL SORRELLS so happy about Monday night and what was JANET SUMMERLIN so mad about? Dear reader, that is the question to be answered at a later date, our sleuths haven't reported all details of the case.

One girl seemed to be claiming the attention of handsome DOYCE DEES at the dance the other night, much to the sorrow of scores of others who waited hopefully for him to call.

Can it be that JEANNE VITTOV has at last settled down to one boy? Of course, it hasn't been too long since we saw her with such esquires as CODY, FURNEY, and HERB SMITH, her last summer's love. But WAYNE PIERCE seems to occupy most of her time.

GLYNDA BEENE and her roommate have been making all the parties lately. Better slow down, gals, that sort of thing shows after awhile.

JO BRIDENALL is strictly off JAMES ICENHOWER'S list, or so it would seem. It has something to do with her breaking a date at the last minute.

town, and you're available, let GENE HUFFMAN know.

We respectfully submit to the list of The Voice, The Look, The Nose, The Shape, etc, etc, the latest picture of The Swing, snapped during a recent Sunday's snowfall at the Commerce golf links by FRANCES CASSEL. Additional copies of this amazing and revealing picture may be obtained for a small fee (if you know the right persons, in this case, me!) Say, what are charges for blackmail these days? Oh yes, more about this CASSEL person. She's cute, blonde, and has a husband. (Lucky girl!) They are really good scouts, though, and will share half a seat with you at the Grill any day.

BERTA CORNELIUS was escorted by tall, dark, and how that guy can look you over PAUL JOHNSON to Greenville's own Grove Club Saturday night. Seems that half the 'Tamas were there, too.

Even the dogs howled when the seven Paragon pledges sang at the weiner roast last week!

BILLY JO SANDLIN would like to know the whereabouts of his girl's picture. It seems that said picture was stolen, recovered and hidden again so well that even the hider can no longer find it.

MARTHA KOGER and LINTON BOWMAN were having the hardest time, trying to find shelter from the rain the other night at the Friar outing.

LEO ELLIOT literally haunts the East Dorm living room since the arrival of E. G. STEVENS, blonde, curvaceous, Marpessa pledge from Mt. Pleasant. That boy always could pick 'em. We might add, that he is even doing better with the gal since his buddy, BOB WEEDEN has been in the hospital. Oh yes, this FOR-EST LAKE does a reasonable facsimile of BOB'S jitterbugging.

Dashing JIM FRED RUSSEL is still on the loose in case the local belles are interested.

Someone should drag cute MELISSA HAGUE out of her shell.

BILLIE WELCH was disappointed recently when handsome JAMES ICENHOWER tried to visit her in the hospital. By the way has anyone heard that the gentlemen being discussed never asks a girl for a date after being refused once. We admire your independent spirit, boy.

Somebody's Looking

It's so easy, when you are minus a companion or just out with "the girls," to think it doesn't matter how you look. Who cares if you appear a bit dreary and hit-or-miss? Who cares if you broadcast irritation, gloom, or a plain vacant stare? Nobody, maybe. But why not always seem nice to know? For there's always somebody looking—and you never can tell!

If you are smart, you look like this:

Hair: Shaped to make the head look small. Combed from a sleek crown to a brief halo; wrapped high or pulled to a neat chignon.

Face: With a glow to it. Not dulled to an unnatural finish, not shiny and glistening, but with powder wiped off to make faint highlights.

Lips: Expressive, full of character in shape and color. This means your own natural pattern perfected and tinted to do the most for you.

Eyes: Clear and bright, set off by clean-drawn, definite eyebrows and lashes deftly, but not heavily emphasized with mascara.

Neck: Whether wrapped up in daytime or bared at night, it is kept smooth by daily creaming and is as long as good carriage can make it.

Bosom: High and rounded. And the supporting muscles are kept strong by simple means—the automatic exercise of good posture.

Waistline: Very slender, and topped by a slim, firm rib section. So important that it is worth taking a beauty course to achieve this aim.

Legs: Lithe and slim, even under clothes that are slightly hippy and stomachy. And long legs and strong feet move in grace.

HISTORY MAKER . . . Fern Amburg

Fern Amburg Has Honors From PE Organization

Versatile, attractive Fern Amburg combines brains, good looks and physical fitness and the net result is excellent.

Mrs. Amburg, wife of Osborne (Blondie) Amburg, Lion football star, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Blackwell of Ben Wheeler, has won more honors in the Women's Recreation association than any other student in the history of East Texas State.

The physical education student began chalking up honors early in her college career.

"I was one of the drum major eyes with the college band in 1940-41," she said, smiling, "but I won't vouch for my skill along that line."

During those two years Mrs. Amburg won a star emblem, a letter which she received in 1940 and a jacket in 1941.

After the war began, she left East Texas State to work in several Civil Service posts.

"I felt I should do something while 'Blondie' was doing his bit in the infantry, so I worked at positions in San Antonio, Waco, Tyler, and Dallas," she said.

In the spring of 1946 Mrs. Amburg returned with her husband, and they resumed their college careers.

The sports-minded young woman was voted Posture Queen in the spring of 1946, winning over several candidates.

She resumed her interest in WRA of which she is a past president. Her points in the association total 2000.

Now a graduate student, Mrs. Amburg is captain of the blue team in WRA for this year.

Extremely modest, she makes light of her unusual accomplishments.

"I attended WRA because I have always been a sports' enthusiast," she laughed gayly, "Perhaps it takes less effort to play tennis, volleyball and other sports than it does to be a literary genius."

However, she also stands at the top of the heap scholastically, having made the honor roll last semester with straight "A's."

She is secretary-treasurer of the "E" association of which she has been a member for some time.

The attractive brunette is now working on her master of science degree.

"I expect to receive my degree at the end of the summer semester," she said.

She is majoring in education; minoring in physical education and English.

"I'm going to teach physical education for the same reason that I chose to major in it. I'm happiest when I'm physically active. I intend to teach others the importance of good health habits."

Mr. and Mrs. Amburg live in West dormitory, of which Osborne is director. He, like his young wife, plans to use his physical education training at a coaching position at the end of the summer.

Wholesome, lovable Fern proves that sometimes, contrary to reasoning, brains, good health and beauty do mix.

Cougars Represent LSC in NCAA Carter Finishes Third in Scoring

By JOE MILNER

East Texas Sports Editor
Coach Darrell Tully's East Texas State Lions duplicated in 1947 their 1946 performance in Lone Star conference basketball. A year ago the Lions finished in a tie for third position with the North Texas State Eagles, each with six wins and four losses. In 1947 the East Texans tied for third place with the Sam Houston Bearkats, each with seven wins and five defeats.

All in all, however, it was tougher sledding in 1947. The Lions were forced to move faster to do even as well.

The East Texans scored 792 points against 705 for opposition in 22 games this season, as compared with 494 points against 473 for the opposition in 10 contests.

Jake Carter of Larue led all Lion scorers in LSC play with 236 points, 49 markers behind Murray Mitchell of Sam Houston and three behind Guy Lewis of the University of Houston Cougars, circuit winners.

In winning 14 of 20 games this season the East Texans have scored 1225 points. This is an average of 61 and one-fourth points a game.

Carter scored 350 points in season play. He accumulated 115 field goals and 120 charity tosses. He tossed more gratis shots through the hoop than did any other player in the LSC this season.

Lions Beaten 60-51 By Houston Quintet

Coach Darrell Tully's East Texas State Lions ended the LSC basketball season Friday night with a 60-51 setback by the University of Houston.

The Cougars were determined to win this one in order to clinch their second LSC crown in as many seasons. This also kept their record with the Lions unblemished.

Somewhat off-setting a second Cougar drubbing, Lion Center Jake Carter paced the field on the offense with 25 points, extending his season's total to 350.

Forward Guy Lewis led the Cougar attack with 22 points. Lions Brown accumulated 12 for the Paschemen.

With the lead changing six times in the first 15 minutes, the quintets battled to a 30-30 deadlock at the half-way mark.

The final half began as a nip and tuck battle. Early in the final period the Cougars were leading 51-38. After Bill Ingram of the Lions and Bill Steakley and Charlie Reyner of the Cougars went out of the game on fouls, the Tullymen narrowed the Cougar lead to 54-50 with less than four minutes of play remaining.

A progressive stalling game performed by the Houstonians in the final three minutes provided the Cougars to emerge with a 60-51 win over the Lions.

Cox Concentrates On Disc Throw

"Chubby, cotton-haired Hubert Marshal Cox of Dallas, discus artist at East Texas State, believes that track men, like industrial workers, must specialize to be successful.

This is why Cox has forsaken the shot to concentrate on the discus for the Lone Star conference track and field meet and other competition on East Texas State's 1947 schedule.

Cox, who stands six feet and weighs 195, is aiming at the 138-foot mark, a toss which earned him a second place in the disc event last spring at the Dallas all-city high school meet.

The 19-year-old freshman is training on the theory that the winning will approximate his best marks in 1946 at Crozier Tech High school. Cox lettered one year for Coach Rosy Atkinson.

"College throws usually are not much longer, so the record stands," he said. "This is because the college disc is slightly more than one pound heavier than the high school disc. The LSC disc weighs a little better than four and one-half pounds."

Cox pushed the shot 45 feet and 10 and one-half inches to place fourth in the all-city meet.

Although he lettered three years in high school football, Cox isn't planning to compete for a position on Coach Bob Berry's Lion eleven because of a torn knee.

"It's strange for a young man to talk this way," he said, "but my knee pains me when the weather is bad. I'm sort of like an old man with the rheumatism."

If his muscles loosen properly this spring, however, Cox said he may change his mind.

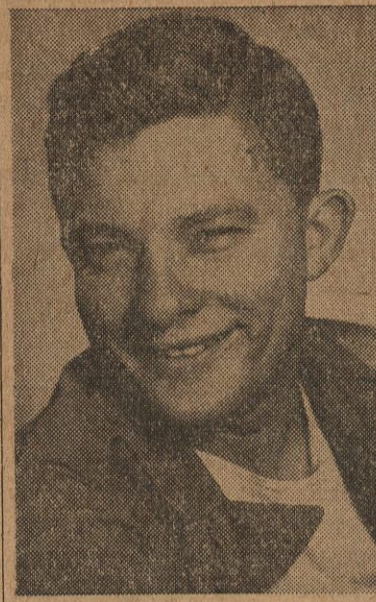

A son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Cox, 1709 North Winnetka street, he is majoring in government.

Texas grapefruit production for this season is now estimated at 25,000,000 boxes—one million boxes more than the 1945-46 production.

TRACK SPECIALIST . . . Chubby, cotton-haired Hubert Cox, of Dallas, discus artist at East Texas State, believes track men, like industrial workers, must specialize to be successful. He is concentrating on the disc throw for the Border olympics March 7-8 at Laredo.

Each year in Texas, about 250 people lost their lives in fires on farms or in rural communities. One-third of these people are children under 10 years of age.

MANAGER . . . Short, cooperative, Bob Fuller begins his second year as manager of East Texas State's athletics.

Sports Manager Fuller Keeps Busy Looking After ET Equipment

Robert Claude (Bob) Fuller, sophomore from Longview, is making a career of cleaning up after football, basketball and track teams.

Bob has received five letters for managing football and track teams at Longview high school.

He earned the right to wear a "T" last year at East Texas State for managing the basketball team. He was also named a letterman for managing the football team last fall.

The 23-year-old team manager says he jikes sports but was always too small when he was in high school to go out for them; so he just settled for the next best thing and took the job of team manager.

"Of all the teams I have worked with, the boys here at East Texas have shown more honest enthusiasm and co-operation than any of the others," he said.

Fuller says he gets plenty of help from Mr. Jeffcoat, who keeps the equipment room.

"The coaches are the best I have ever been associated with," he said.

Bob, an ardent sports fan, says, "That game with Denton last week was sure hard on managers, who have to sit on the bench and just hope for the best. That two-point win was just too close for comfort."

Fuller wanted to come to East Texas State in 1943, but decided to wait until after the war. During the war he worked at the Longshore Ordnance plant as a foreman in the supply department at Marshall, Tex. He entered East Texas State in September, 1945.

A chemistry major, Bob plans to go into the field of organic chemistry and hopes to go to South America to work for an oil company there.

He was born in Commerce, Texas and said it had always been understood that he would come back here to go to East Texas. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Fuller who live at 115 West Methvin Street, Longview.

Sociologist Says American Aid Now Is Imperative For European Education, Health

American aid is imperative for the education and health of 100,000 young people of college age in Europe, according to E. L. Kautz, professor of sociology at Mary Hardin-Baylor college.

Mr. Kautz, born in Hungary but a resident of the United States since he was 12, spoke in behalf of the World Student fund at East Texas State Teachers college.

"Many colleges were destroyed in the battle of Europe," Mr. Kautz said. "Students have neither texts nor notebook paper. Libraries are destroyed. Instructors lecture from memory."

Tuberculosis prevails among all college students in Europe he said, and 200 students in Poland alone will die as a result of the disease if medical aid is not forthcoming.

He added that about 500 dollars are required to restore a tubercular patient to health.

ET Thinly-Clads Are Running In Laredo Border Olympics Today

Mile-Relay Team is Aiming at 1942 3.27 Record Set by East Texas Quartet

Coach Bob Berry's East Texas State mile relay team, today, is aiming at the 3.27 record his quartet established in the Border Olympics at Laredo in 1942.

Anchor Man Joe Calvit of Denton will be followed by Alfonso Valls and Carlos Salinas, both of Laredo, and James Green, Commerce.

Salinas and Green ran with the East Texas State team which holds the Olympics record.

East Texas will have entries in the mile relay, half mile relay, 880 yard run, dashes, shot put, discus, javelin, pole vault, high jump, broad jump, and low and high hurdles. Probably all schools in the LSC, with the exception of Trinity university, will have entries in the Laredo meet.

The North Texas Eagles, defending LSC champions, will enter 20 cindermen in the Border Olympics.

The Eagle mile-relay team, built around Jack Gilbert, 880-yard winner in last year's Border Olympics, and Bill Adams, winner of the 440-mile dash last year, is set to give the Lion quartet close competition.

Coach Jack Patterson's University of Houston cindermen are concentrating on the discus, hurdles, broad jump and dash events.

Sophomore Jack Schroeder, who won the LSC event last year, is even greater this season.

Boasting the largest squad since pre-war days, Coach Molly Crawford's Sam Houston track team is specializing in the pole vault, high jump and the mile and half-mile runs. The Bearkats will enter track lettermen in each of these events.

Coach Bob Shelton's Stephen F. Austin Lumberjacks are entering most of the events. At present the Jacks are not offering dangerous competition.

Schools other than the LSC members will participate in the Laredo meet. The Southwest conference will have several representatives.

Work On New Dorm Slows Because of Material Shortage

Construction on Binnion Hall has slowed up considerably, because of lack of material and weather conditions, according to W. E. Weaver, construction superintendent.

"If we could get the materials, the dormitory would be finished in 60 days," Weaver stated.

Of the 65 men employed on the job, only about 32 are working, because of the material shortage.

March 9 has been designated as National 4-H Club Week.
