First Summer Session Has Record Enrollment of 5,957

By Guy Ames

A record 5,957 students have enrolled for the first summer session at ET, surpassing by almost 1,000 the old record of 5,038 set last summer.

Dr. Richard C. Meyer, vice president for Academic Affairs, estimated Wednesday that the enrollment number for the first session "might go well over 6,000" after registration for several mid-semester workshops June 21.

The addition of the "workshoppers" would swell ET's growth over last summer to around 20 per cent.

Dr. Meyer attributed the increase to three major factors:

The economic situation, with the lack of summer jobs encouraging more students to stay in school,

Greater tendency among graduate students to work without interruptions or breaks on their advanced degrees,

The school's success in meeting the needs of the community and area professionals, such as the inclusion of professionally oriented workshops throughout the summer.

This is the first summer session that has been divided into "sub-terms" to give prospective students greater flexibility in choosing the best times at which they can attend school, according to Kenneth Wallace, director of admissions.

This was also the first time that the registration intention cards had been put to use and Wallace estimated that the use of these cards saved about $750 in paper costs alone.

The registration intention cards were filled out during the spring semester by approximately 6,200 students planning to attend one or another of the summer sessions, according to Wallace. Before the use of the registration intention cards, the Office of Admissions would have prepared a card packet and other registration materials for every student who had attended the spring semester. Roy Lazenby, assistant director of admissions, conjectured that waste was cut by more than half.

Wallace claimed that ET's initial try at a pre-registration process was "well received by faculty and students, alike." He said that more than 3,000 students have already enrolled for the second summer term.

Wallace said that class schedules and bills for the second session would probably be passed out June 28-July 3 in the Student Center. An earlier plan to mail out the schedules and bills has been discarded.

Wallace hopes to further streamline the fall registration by eliminating the "Phase 1" and "Phase 2" process and replacing it with a system that would cut the present four and one-half days to two and one-half days.

The proposed system would complete the entire registration process for students of a specified letter designation before going on to students of another letter designation. Wallace hopes through the use of this new system and registration intention cards to be able to complete the registration process for each individual in no more than 20 minutes.

During the two and one-half days of fall registration, rotating shifts will allow the process to continue from 7:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m. without breaks, according to Wallace.

Lazenby noted, "The easier we make it for the students, the better it is for us. That's our whole goal—to make it easier for the student."

Library Hours Announced

The regular summer hours for the library will be from 7 a.m.-10 p.m., Monday through Thursday; 7 a.m.-5 p.m. on Fridays; 8 a.m.-12 noon on Saturdays; and 2 p.m.-10 p.m. on Sundays.

Dr. Morris Named Dean of Admissions

Dr. Jerry D. Morris, the university's placement director, will be dean of the Division of Admissions and Records at ET beginning Sept. 1.

Dr. Morris will fill the vacancy created when Dr. Richard Meyer, former dean, was appointed vice president for Academic Affairs.

Prior to coming to ET in August, 1970, Morris was assistant superintendent of Mountain Home Schools in Mountain Home, Ark., and had served as a school teacher and administrator in Arkansas since 1959. He holds three degrees from the University of Arkansas including his doctorate in education.

Regents OK New Housing Plan

The ET Board of Regents approved new housing policies and a comprehensive master plan for the ET campus Friday, May 14.

One change in campus housing will permit female students, other than freshmen, to have self-regulated residence hall hours. Female students over 21 years of age will have the option of living in a residence hall designed for self-regulated hours. Sophomore, junior, and senior coeds under 21 years of age will be eligible to apply for the same privilege if they secure parental permission.

Whitley Hall will be converted to female occupancy to facilitate the new program of self-regulated hours.

The second change in housing will create six apartment-type residence halls, three for men and three for women. These apartments will be in the West Halls complex and will house 144 men and 144 women students who prefer an apartment living situation with cooking privileges.

A third change in housing will establish a graduate resident residence hall with private rooms. Mayo Hall will be used for this program, to accommodate 35 adult graduate students.

The regents also gave approval to a campus plan that will include recommendations for land use, parking, landscaping, future building sites and design, land acquisition and utility systems. The engineering and planning firm of Caudill, Rowlett, Scott, headquartered in Houston, will develop the plan.

Phase one of the program, which will include research and analysis to develop a basis for the campus plan, will be completed by next November. The second phase, to be completed in May 1972, will be concerned with developing the campus plan.

As an additional service, the firm will provide a series of "Environmental Design Guidelines." They will include a detailed analysis of architectural and landscape design features of the campus with recommendations for design criteria to be included in future construction.

In other major business the board gave its approval to a proposal for a new graduate degree program in vocational education; and accepted the low bid of $80,300 to construct a T-Lounge and Dressing Room facility which is now under construction.

Dr. D. Whitney Halladay, ET president, was authorized to seek approval for the new degree program from the Federation of North Texas Area Universities and the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System.

Leading to either the M.Ed. or M.S. degree in vocational education, the new plan would provide a broad program of vocational-technical teacher preparation and leadership training. It would replace a current master's degree program in secondary education which permits an emphasis in vocational education, and if approved by the Coordinating Board and Federation, would be the only master's degree program in vocational education in the state. Several institutions offer master's degrees in a segment or a specific area of vocational education.

Matthews Construction Co. of Alba submitted the low bid to construct the T-Lounge and Dressing Room at the southwest corner of Memorial Stadium. Construction of the new facility is expected to take 140 calendar days.

The board also approved the summer school teaching salary budget and made adjustments in the 1970-71 operating budget.

E. G. Pharr, newly appointed regent from Lubbock, attended his first board meeting.

765 Get Degrees; Two Exes Honored

Dr. D. Whitney Halladay, ET president, told 765 degree candidates that society's problem solving approach "must be thoughtful rather than impulsive, rational rather than arrogant, honest rather than devious, and wise rather than simply intelligent" in commencement exercises May 15 at Memorial Stadium.

The university conferred 11 Ph.D., seven Ed.D., and 82 master's degrees.

L. P. Sturgeon, executive secretary of the Texas State Teachers Association, and Dr. W. Eugene Hollon, Ohio regents professor and research professor of history at the University of Toledo, accepted distinguished alumni citations.

Those receiving Ph.D. degrees were Raymond Chesterfield Harvey Jr., Bobby Joe Poe, Helen Waugh Leatherwood, James B. Jackson, Bryan E. Gary, Bob C. Burns, Duane Hood, Reba Hudson, Robert B. Sewell Jr., Marshall Lee Lanier, and Jose Olesini.

Those receiving Ed.D. degrees were Robert L. Arnold Jr., Robert Earl Fielder, Dennis C. Fields, Kent Adrian Lashley, Royce Lee Castleman, Lyle Evan Darrow, and Billie Jo Jumper Cardwell.

Honors graduates were Billy Dale Glenn, Myrna Carol James, Karen Gambrell, Nancy Watson, Donald Flanary, Mark Lewis, and Prudie Orr.

Proficiency Tests Set

Registration for Speech Proficiency Tests will be conducted from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. June 14 and June 18 in the foyer of the Speech Building, according to David Rigney, speech faculty.

The tests will be administered from noon to 4:50 p.m. on June 23 and June 25 in the Speech Building.

The Speech Proficiency Test is a requirement for entrance into the Teacher Education Program.

Miss Reed Chosen 'Woman of Year'

Rhonda Reed, junior English and speech major from Dallas, was chosen "Woman of the Year" by the Association of Women Students in May.

The AWS also named five coeds as the "Outstanding Senior Women" of 1970-71: Amy Clarkson, Marietta; Barbara Crowley, Joshua; Cathetta Denoy, Dallas; Nancy Watson, Marshall; Sheri Wolfson, San Antonio.

Miss Reed was also recently named one of the eight University Beauties featured in the ET yearbook, the "Locust." She has held offices in Gamma Phi Beta, social sorority, and served as 1971 president of AWS. She has also been named a 1971 All-School Favorite and was a finalist in the Miss ET Pageant.

Just Saying Welcome

Trying to say welcome to summer school, at ET or any other college or university is not one of the easiest or more popular things to do these days.

However, we will stick our necks out on the chopping block first and say it. Welcome! We won't, however, say what we are welcoming you to.

As far as The East Texan is concerned, we will "try" to inform you of all ET happenings throughout the next seven issues.

If you seem down in the dumps after the first two or three weeks of summer school, wait until the fifth or sixth week. It doesn't get any better. However, we have a few suggestions for you if you get near the breaking point.

First, you could sit in class, and think about your friends, and/or enemies, who are not attending school this summer. After they awake, oh probably around noon every day, they probably proceed to the nearest beach, golf course, department store or bar to relax for the remainder of the afternoon.

That night a meeting with a friend of the opposite sex may be on the agenda for a few drinks, movie, dinner, etc. Quit dreaming, ET summer student! In Commerce, "what you see is what you get."

Now, after you have soaked a couple of handkerchiefs with tears, you could find some spring semester 1971 issues of The East Texan and have a few laughs reading about our glorious Student Senate, which is beginning to show improvement since the recent elections.

After this, and you haven't slipped beneath those dumps you were in, you could think about why you are attending summer school. We hope it's because you want an education. And you want it a little quicker than your friends who are having all the fun. It would be rough if you are attending summer school for that reason, and then flunk out.

By now, we hope you realize that we have been kidding a little. There are many things to do during summer school at ET. It's not our fault if some of the things you want to do are not happening here.

In the following seven issues of The East Texan, every Friday, we hope to be able to think of some. One thing you could do, if you pardon the expression, is study! Welcome to summer school!!!—A.G.M.

'Family Night' To Have Free Barbecue, Bingo

Free barbecue and bingo will highlight "Family Night" beginning at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday, June 16, at the Student Center.

The following night, Thursday,

HEW Gives $23,394 to ET

Ten academic departments at ET have been granted a total of $23,394 by the Department of Health Education and Welfare under Title VI of the Higher Education Act.

The grant money will be used to provide equipment for the university's undergraduate programs in the 10 disciplines.

Funds will be divided among:

Audio-visual, $8,394; elementary education, $2,000; general business, $4,000; library science, $1,000; industry and technology, $1,000; music, $1,500; physics, $1,500; psychology, $1,000; Spanish, $1,000; and special education, $2,000.

June 17, the movie "Any Wednesday" will be shown at 7:30 in the American Ballroom of the Student Center. Admission will be 35 cents.

The barbecue supper on the east lawn of the Student Center from 5:30 p.m. to 7 p.m. will be free to all meal ticket holders. Adults without meal tickets may eat for 50 cents each and children under 10 will be served for 25 cents. The university cafeterias will be closed.

Local businesses have contributed 30 prizes for the bingo winners, including a transistor radio, a set of glasses, movie passes, and certificates that may be exchanged for food.

Bingo will begin at 7 p.m. on the east lawn of the Student Center with no charge for participants. All games in the game room will be free, beginning at 6 p.m.

At 9 p.m. a free 30-minute film on the Dallas Cowboys will be shown in the American Ballroom.

"Family Night" is sponsored by the Summer Program Council of the Student Center.

Two Get ET Research Grants

Dr. Margaret McClear, foreign languages faculty, and Dr. Harry E. Wade, history faculty, have been granted two faculty research projects totaling $4,957.

The research projects were approved by ET President Dr. D. Whitney Halladay and the university's research committee.

Dr. McClear was granted $2,394 for a project titled "The Fisher-King Myth and Epic of the Cid." Her study will be an approach to the criticism and understanding of the Cid, a medieval Spanish poem, and of myths in general.

Dr. Wade will make a biographical study of John Francis Bray, a figure in the 19th century American labor movement. His project was funded for $2,563.

Dr. McClear's research will be conducted at ET and St. Louis University and Washington University in St. Louis, Mo. Dr. Wade will conduct his research in Detroit, Mich., and Madison, Wis.

The two grants bring the total money granted for faculty research this year at ET to $128,554. Twenty-seven projects have been funded.

McDaniel on OU Staff

Dr. Willard McDaniel, earth sciences faculty, will serve his fourth consecutive summer as visiting professor in the University of Oklahoma's Summer Field Institute in Earth Science at Canon City, Colo., July 13-Aug. 7.

Dr. McDaniel also plans to attend a one-week seminar offered by the National Air Pollution Control Administration. The course, May 24-28 at Research Triangle Park, N.C., is designed for professionals responsible for the collection and analysis of air pollution data.

Dr. Davis Honored

Dr. Russell Davis, director of the ET Center for Junior College Education, was honored May 2 on the ET campus for his contributions to the field of community college education in Texas.

The ET Community College Forum, a student organization interested in junior college education, held a reception for Dr. Davis in the Home Economics Building.

On hand for the forum were members of the Texas State Teachers Association, ETSU faculty and administration, faculty members from area colleges and other friends and relatives of Dr. Davis.

Organized last fall on the ET campus, the forum is composed mainly of graduate students, but it is also open to undergraduates. Dr. Davis is the faculty sponsor for the group.

Moon To Represent ET

Dr. John W. Moon, history faculty, will represent ET at the Mid-Southern Conference on International Higher Education sponsored by Fisk and Vanderbilt Universities in cooperation with the Committee on the International Exchange of Persons.

The conference, which will be held June 21-24 in Nashville, Tenn., is one of six regional conferences planned to cover contemporary questions of university development and change in this country and abroad.

CLUB NOTES

Economics Society Installed

A chapter of Omicron Delta Epsilon, international honor society in economics, was installed May 8 on the ETSU campus and 25 charter members were initiated.

Ervin K. Zigler of the University of Houston, international president of the organization, conducted the installation ceremony.

Six ET faculty members in the College of Business Administration were initiated as charter members, along with seven graduate students and 12 undergraduates.

Elected student officers of the new organization were Don Grisham, president; Doug Barnett, vice president; Marilyn Ohi, secretary-treasurer; and Terry Barker, professional chairman.

Sigma Tau Delta

Dianna Guest of Atlanta was recently elected president of Sigma Tau Delta, professional English fraternity.

Other new officers include Peggy Tomberlin, vice president; Karen Hantz, secretary; Barbara Coston, historian; and Steve Cowan, marshal. Thirteen new members were recently initiated into the organization: Ruth Wheatley, Melanie McConnell, Nedra Johnson, Ross C. Constande, Jackie Hunt, Cowan, Jennifer Shoots, Coston, Nakita Powell, Marsha Jones, Jackie Pingle, Pamela Taplin, and Glenda Brewerton.

Alpha Delta Sigma

Alpha Delta Sigma, professional advertising fraternity, will meet at 3 p.m. in Room 104, Journalism Building, according to Lyndal Burnett, president.

Plans for summer projects will be made and a social will be planned at this session.

Ecology Club

The Ecology Club will meet at 3 p.m. every Monday during both summer sessions in the Sabine Room of the Student Center, according to Jim Miller, president.

A projects committee and a public relations committee were formed at a meeting held Monday, June 7.

The possibility of disseminating free birth control information on campus was discussed at the meeting.

Ag Department Gets Grant

Two research projects in the Department of Agriculture will be financed by an $8,700 grant received in May from the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo.

The research began June 1. One study, to be conducted over a two-year period, will gather data on the cost of raising dairy calves in the Northeast Texas area. The other project will compare coastal and common bermuda grasses grown under the same conditions.

The dairy project was funded for $4,500, the bermuda grass study for $4,200.

Objectives of the dairy calf research include studying the types of calf pens and housing best suited in this area to raise small calves and determining the cost of raising dairy calves to four to six months of age. The research will also attempt to determine the body weight and age surplus of bull calves that contributes the greatest net profit to the dairyman. Another goal of the study is a comparison of the different milk replacers or substitutes available on the market for calves to see if there are any advantages in one brand.

The bermuda grass study will be conducted by David Nabors, a Cooper graduate student, who will use the research for his master's thesis.

Established coastal and common bermuda grass plots will be fertilized according to soil test to produce three levels of production. Plots will be clipped periodically during the growing season, and production per acre will be determined. The grass will be analyzed for protein content, and plots will be watered to supplement natural rainfall up to the average for the area on a monthly basis.

Comparison between the two grasses will be made at zero levels of fertilization, at levels recommended to produce three tons of grass, six tons of grass and nine tons of grass per acre.

Dr. A. C. Hughes, head, Department of Agriculture, said the dairy research is needed because "data for the Northeast Texas area are very limited even though a large concentration of dairy animals is found in this area."

He explained the need for the bermuda research, saying, "In the past 20 years, thousands of acres in Northeast Texas have been planted in coastal bermuda. Perhaps, we have a grass in common bermuda that will respond and produce as well if treated as well. The question and comparison merits effort and research."

Project leader for the bermuda research will be Alton O. Neal of the agriculture faculty, while Dr. Otis H. Horton, also of the ET agriculture faculty, will be project leader for the dairy research.

Thirty calves per year will be available for the dairy study. Holstein and Jersey male and female calves will be used.

The Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo and presented ET with a $7,000 check last June to support dairy herd research.

Nursery Service To Start

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Incarnate Word College thinks it has a solution to the problem of mothers with small children who would like to go to college this summer: bring them along.

Incarnate Word announced the on-campus nursery school will be open daily in the morning hours this summer for children of college-bound parents.

A spokesman said the nursery school is part of the home economics department, serving as a demonstration school in early childhood development. A modestly priced babysitting service for one student is a three-credit course for another.

The program has been nicknamed "Operation Papoose" by some campus wags.

Miss Texas Will Instruct ET Summer Workshop

A Fashion and Charm school with the reigning Miss Texas instructing participants will highlight a summer of 11 different workshops to be held by the Music Department.

Beginning June 6 with a Band Camp for senior high school students, each week features a new camp. And most of the camps will be exclusively for high school students.

Two weeks of majorette camps will be held June 13-18 and June 20-25. June 27 to July 3 will bring a choir camp featuring Elaine Brown, a founder and director of Singing City, and Cloys Webb, supervisor of choral music in the McAllen Public Schools.

A workshop for drill teams will be held in conjunction with the charm school. Students in both of these workshops, to be held July 11-16, will be treated to modeling and charm sessions, with Bellinda Myrick, the reigning Miss Texas, instructing.

The charm school is new to the summer roster of music department workshops. It will also feature Goodloe Lewis, instructing dance, and Dr. Curtis L. Pope, head of the ET Speech Department, as its speech expert. Also participating in the workshop will be the Neiman Marcus Mam-selles, a group of fashion models.

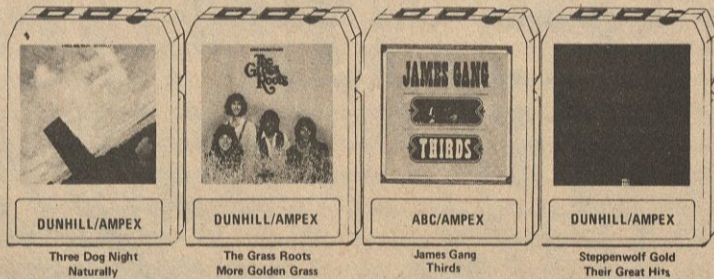

Cheerleader camps, now in their 16th year at ET, will be held for three weeks, July 18-23, July 25-30 and Aug. 1-6. On Aug. 9-11, a piano workshop is scheduled.

At each of the camps, students will be housed and instructed in air-conditioned facilities under adult supervision and will eat at the university cafeteria. Each student pays his tuition at the camp as well as for his room and board.

Language Sessions To Be In Student Center Cafeteria

French, Spanish and German conversation sessions will be held at the Student Center cafeteria from noon to 1 p.m. Tuesdays, throughout the summer.

All those interested who wish to practice their languages are invited to join the conversation sessions, according to Avery McClurg, foreign languages faculty.

The conversation sessions are a year-round activity but special emphasis is given to them during the summer for those students who want to keep fluent in their language course and be ready for next fall, according to McClurg.

Each language group has a reserved area at the far west end of the cafeteria and is attended by graduate student representatives from the languages department.

The students get together over coffee or lunch and talk about anything that interests them as long as they attempt to use the foreign language, he added.

Students Commit Almost Half of City's Violations

Forty seven per cent of all minor violations in Commerce are committed by ET students, according to G. M. Johnston, city judge.

Johnston said that out of the 426 minor violations committed since he took office in November, running stop signs and speeding were the most frequent by ET students. Alcoholic beverage ordinances are more often violated by Commerce citizens than by ET students, he said.

A law recently passed by the 61st Texas Legislature makes it possible for alleged traffic violators in Commerce to have a trial by jury, if requested by the accused, Johnston said.

Gudger Heads Pan Am Team

ET basketball coach Jim Gudger left campus June 8 to be head coach of the United States basketball team in the Pan American Games this summer.

Gudger

we've had in international competition. And, it's due to the pros signing undergraduates."

With professional basketball shooting holes in the U.S. Olympic program, Gudger said, "We'll be going to the Pan American games in South America with the most inexperienced team

The reasoning was simple. Once a player reached college, he was expected to have four or five years of amateur status before the pros grabbed him. The Olympic Committee set up a program of training undergraduate stars and even high school prospects.

At least seven players in the Olympic Development Camp at the Air Force Academy in Colorado last summer signed up for professional ball. Naturally, Gudger and Olympic Coach and former Oklahoma State Coach Henry Iba were counting on them for the next two years. Among them were 6-9 Gyril Baptiste of Creighton and 7-0 Elmore Smith of Kentucky State.

Gudger left June 8 to meet with Iba, Penn State coach John Bach and Olympic Chairman Bill Summers in Denver, Colo.

On June 10, the group of coaches were to meet 57 college basketball players at the Air Force Academy for the second U.S. Olympic Development camp. There, the 22 guards, 20 forwards and 15 centers from across the nation will be split into five squads. They will work in practice sessions until June 22 when they begin a round robin tournament. With two games a night, the tournament will end June 26. Two games will be played in Pueblo on June 24 and two will be played in Denver June 26 with the remainder of the games being played at the Air Force Academy campus.

From that group, 12 players will be picked for the Pan American Games which begin July 30 and end Aug. 12. Another 12 players will be selected to play in an exhibition series in Puerto Rico this summer.

"I am fairly well pleased with the manpower which will be in camp. We have some outstanding ball players. They just aren't the ones we had counted on," Gudger said.

Among the athletes going to Colorado are 6-4 guard Paul Westphal of Southern California; 6-2 guard James Silas of Stephen F. Austin (Tex.); 6-2 guard Tom Kivisto of Kansas; 6-3 guard Bryan Taylor of Princeton and 6-4 guard Phil Chenier of California.

Some of the top centers are 6-10 Jim Chones of Marquette; 6-10 James Lister of Sam Houston State (Tex.); 6-10 Dwight Jones of Houston; 7-0 Norman Russell of Oklahoma City; 7-0 David Brent of Jacksonville; 6-11 Luke Witte of Ohio State and 6-11 Steve Erickson of Oregon State.

Top names among the forwards are 6-8 Joby Wright of Indiana; 6-8 Jim Forbus of UT-El Paso; 6-7 Chuch Terry of Long Beach State; 6-7 Jim O'Brien of Maryland and 6-8 Bob Ford of Purdue. Erickson, Terry, Wright and Westphal made the trip with Gudger last year to Russia in international play.

For Gudger, the trip to South America will be his seventh international assignment. Last year he took a U.S. All-Star team on a tour of Russia, Finland and Poland. The year before, he took a team on a tour of Europe. He also has coached the winning National Association Intercollegiate Athletics teams in the 1967 Pan American trials and the 1968 Olympic trials.

After he picks his squad for the Pan American games, he will train them at Oral Roberts University in Tulsa, Okla., beginning July 5. The team will go to Vancouver, British Columbia for an international tournament July 15-17. The other teams will be announced later. They report to Miami, Fla., after playing several more exhibition games and depart for South America July 25. Miami will be the staging area for all U.S. athletic teams in the Pan American Games.

ET Favorites Elected

Twelve ET students have been elected by the student body as school favorites and will be featured in the 1971 Locust, student yearbook.

The election was sponsored by the United Students Association. To be eligible as a candidate for school favorite the student had to be in good standing with the university.

Rhonda Reed, Dallas junior, and Paul Yeager, Wichita Falls sophomore, were chosen All School Favorites.

Graduate Favorites are Gary Williamson, Pearce, and Trish King, Commerce.

Senior Favorites are Greg Atkins, Carrollton, and Linda Ross, Commerce.

Lynn Strode, Fort Worth, and B. C. Coleman, Josephine, were chosen Junior Favorites.

Chosen as Freshman Favorites were Debbie Damron, Dallas, and Robert Cozart, Commerce.

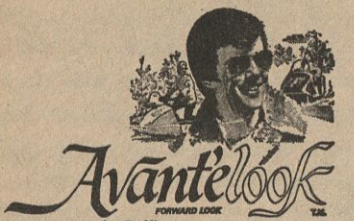

Heart Transplant Methods

Under Study, Says Cooley

MCALLEN, Tex. (AP)—Dr. Denton Cooley, heart surgeon, says research is under way on improved methods of transplanting hearts and that there will be more such operations in the future.

Dr. Cooley, surgeon in chief at the Texas Heart Institute, spoke to a medical conference Saturday.

There have been 33 heart transplants in Houston by Dr. Cooley and Dr. Michael DeBaKey, but none in more than a year.

Dietz Wins Sikes Award: Mason Tops in Basketball

Jim Dietz, ET quarterback, was awarded the J. V. Sikes Award at the annual All-Sports Banquet held May 5 in the American Ballroom of the Student Center.

The award is given on the basis of leadership, attitude, scholarship, loyalty, achievement and desire.

The physical education - history major, regarded by Coach Ernest Hawkins as "one of the finest quarterbacks in ET history," set records of 229 pass attempts, 116 completions, 1717 yards passing and 1737 total yards in 1969. He broke his own record last season for total yards as he passed and ran for more than 2,000 yards.

Dub Lewis, ET All-Lone Star Conference center, was named Most Valuable Offensive Lineman by Hawkins. The 6-4, 250 pound center was named All-LSC three years at ET and was named honorable mention America in 1970.

The physical education - biology major signed as a free agent with the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football Conference after the 1970 season.

Corsicana senior Bill Allison was named Most Valuable Offensive Back for the 1970 season. After two All-LSC seasons at fullback, Allison was switched to tailback his senior year and was named All-LSC again.

Allison signed as a free agent with the Kansas City Chiefs of the American Football Conference after the 1970 season.

Dwight White, the fourth-round draft choice of the Pittsburgh Steelers of the ACC, was named Most Valuable Defensive Lineman for 1970.

The Dallas Madison High School graduate was rated among the top pro prospects in Texas after the 1969 season. He was named All-LSC in 1970 and for two years was named to the Outstanding Athletes of America.

Munson was a member of the LSC champion doubles team his freshman and sophomore seasons at ET.

Tom Hubble, from San Jacinto Junior College and Bucyruc, Ohio, took the medalist honors for golf. Hubble completed the year with 74.3 strokes per round.

John Mayo won the High Point Man Award in track and field. Mayo's specialties were the shot put and the discus.

Guest speaker for the banquet was Bob Davis, head basketball coach at Georgetown College and vice chairman of the U.S. Olympic Basketball Committee.

Tate Awarded Life Membership

Mrs. Erma Tate, an elementary supervisor for the Bonham Independent School District, has been awarded the first lifetime membership in ET's chapter of the Texas Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development.

Dr. Webb Jones, secondary and higher education faculty, made the presentation April 30 at a vocational guidance conference on the university's campus.

Mrs. Tate was honored for her service to education in the Northeast Texas area.

FBI Reports Increase In Serious Crimes in '70

WASHINGTON (AP) — Serious crimes increased 11 per cent during 1970, a preliminary report by the FBI shows.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said total crimes in 22 major cities—including the nation's capital—decreased during the year. Only one of those 22—Seattle—reported a drop in every category of serious crime, however.

The 11 per cent rise compared with 12 per cent between 1968 and 1969 and 17 per cent between 1967 and 1968.

The FBI report said violent crimes, which include robbery, murder and aggravated assault, and forcible rape increased 12 per cent during the year. Property crimes, including larceny of $50 or more, burglary and auto thefts, rose 10 per cent.

Robbery showed the greatest increase among violent crimes with a 17 per cent boost while larceny rose the greatest in property crimes with a 14 per cent increase.

Instant Replay in Exes Golf

By A. G. Morgan

The second annual ET Alumni Golf Classic, held June 4-6 at the Sand Hills Country Club in Commerce, turned out to be almost an instant replay of the first year's competition as former ET golfer Ty Nelson came out on top in the championship flight again with a six-under-par score of 210.

The three-day, 54-hole event attracted 78 alumni, faculty and friends for golf, free beer and barbecue.

Behind Nelson in the championship flight was Bob White of Paris with a 213 score. Charlie Harper of Greenville was third at 214. White came in second to Nelson in last year's competition also.

Another former ET golfer, Glenn

Irwin of Sulphur Springs, took first-flight honors with a 224 three-day total. Billy Gammill of Tyler, another former ET linksman, finished second to Irwin with a 228 score.

Second-flight honors went to Dr. John Koldus, vice president for Student Affairs at ET, with a 236 total, while Sherman Hickey of Sherman was second at 238.

John Wagner of Greenville won third-flight honors with a 241 score, and Doyle Burtram of Sherman scored 248 to take second place.

Fourth-flight honors went to Danny Duncan of Commerce with a 259 total, Dray Castloo of Dallas was second at 260, and Allan Sugg, assistant to the ET president, was third with a 262 score.

Each first-place winner received a set of pro line irons, while each second-place winner received a set of woods. Each third-place finisher was awarded a new golf bag.

Returnees from last year's tourney included ET President D. Whitney Halladay, Eddie Robertson, men's housing director, and ET Golf Coach Boley Crawford. The tournament had an increase of approximately 20 participants from last year's classic.

Frank Krhut Named LSC Coach of Year

Frank Krhut of Sul Ross University has been named Lone Star Conference track and field "Coach of The Year" by the LSC sports information directors.

Krhut's Lobos won their first LSC track and field championship in 22 years of competition. He recruited from the Sul Ross football team to win the title. Among the highlights of the season was a 40.8 in the 440 relay by four gridders.

Al Mason was named by head coach Jim Gudger as the Most Valuable Player in basketball. Mason is a Dallas product who tied for the award with Calvin Walker in 1970.

For the second straight year, Eddie Munson of Richardson won the Most Valuable Tennis Player Award.

James Receives Fellowship

Donald R. James, graduate assistant in the Department of Physics, has been named by the Florida State University Department of Physics as the recipient of the Robert Sanderson Mulliken Graduate Research Fellowship for 1971.

James will receive a stipend of $5,000 per year for a three year period, plus paid tuition and fees. The annual tax free period will begin September 1971 when James will begin advanced studies and research in nuclear physics.

James is a graduate of Commerce High School and received his bachelor of science degree from ET in December 1970.

Selection for the Mulliken Fellowship is based on scholastic achievement and letters of recommendation. The fellowship was established in honors of the 1966 Nobel Laureate, Dr. R. S. Mulliken, professor of physics and chemistry at the University of Chicago and Florida State University.

Pros, Grads Study College Personnel

Professional educators and graduate students at ET are studying the legal implications of college personnel work in a workshop which will run through June 18.

Dr. Robert Butler, dean of student activities, is leading the three weeks of concentrated study. Visiting lecturers and resource persons also will speak to workshop participants on specific areas of interest.

Dr. Don Creamer, dean of students at Dallas' El Centro College, will speak at Friday afternoon's June 11 general session on "Legal Implications of Student Activities and Organizations." Dr. Steve McClellan, acting vice president of student affairs at the University of Texas at Austin, will speak Tuesday, June 15, on "The Counseling Center: Confidentially and Related Legal Questions," and Dr. H. Don Pope, director of housing at ET, will speak on "Legal Aspects of Housing" Thursday, June 17.

All general sessions will begin at 1:40 p.m. in the American Ballroom of the Student Center. The general sessions are open to all ET students and guests.

A panel discussion Tuesday, June 8, was to cover the subject of legal relationships among the state, institutions, and the student personnel employee. Jim McCoy of the Texas attorney general's office; Dr. John Koldus, vice president for student affairs at ET, and Dr. Paul Smith, ET dean of men, served as panelists.

Dr. Butler, who opened the workshop June 3 with a talk on "Legal Aspects of Student Personnel Work in Higher Education: An Overview," said that about 80 persons are attending the general sessions, while 37 are attending the small group seminars.

The dean explained that informal "rap sessions" are also held at night with interested individuals meeting with members of ET's Division of Student Affairs to discuss current topics related to the workshop.

Camp To End With Concert

The ET Summer Band Camp for senior high school students began June 6 and will continue through Saturday, June 12, with Clarence Sawhill, director from the University of California at Los Angeles, directing the honor band and serving as clinician.

Directing the Gold Band is Ralph G. Hale, director of bands at Christian Brothers High School, Memphis, Tenn.

A free concert is to be presented at 7 p.m. in the Student Center Ballroom on the final night of the camp. The five ET music faculty members serving as camp advisers gave a concert Monday in the concert hall of the Music Building. They were Dr. James E. Richards, head of the Department of Music; Dr. Neill Humfeld, director of bands; William Reese, William R. Hull, and Conrad Bauschka.

Registration Intent Cards Due for Summer, Fall

Registration intention cards may be filled out between 8:30-11:30 a.m. and 1-4:30 p.m. June 15-18 and 8 a.m.-noon on Saturday, June 19, in the Bookstore Foyer in the Student Center.

Only those students who have not already pre-registered for the second summer session or who will not attend the second summer session but plan to return in the fall need to fill out a card, according to Kenneth Wallace, director of admissions.

Folk Festival Saturday

A folk music festival will be held at the Commerce City Park at 12:30 p.m. Saturday, June 12. Entertainers will include folk singers from the Commerce area and most will be ET students, according to Dan Moore, festival coordinator.

Gold Jackets Assist

Speech-Hearing Clinic

As a service project for the organization, the Gold Jackets, women's service group, has presented the Speech and Hearing Clinic with a contribution of $50, according to Dr. Paul H. Roosevelt, speech faculty.

Dr. Roosevelt said that the money would be used to buy materials for the clinic.

The clinic, operated by personnel of the Speech Department, provides service to students and to area residents and gives experience to students planning to work in the speech and hearing therapy field.

T-Lounge Construction In Progress

By Kenneth Williams

Construction on the ET varsity football dressing room and T-Association Lounge began April 29, according to Bob Wheelless, superintendent of construction at ET.

Wheelless said that the contractor moved in and began work soon after the regents approved his bids for the construction.

The T-Lounge, expected to be ready for use in September, is an estimated $80,000 structure, financed by T-Association and ET. The T-Association members are those persons who have lettered in sports at ET.

Alan Sugg, assistant to the president, said close to $30,000 has already been contributed by former ET students and friends and from unappropriated state funds. He said that the rest of the money for construction will come from institution funds. Anyone who wants to contribute may do so by contacting the President's Office.

Fred Allison, father of former ET fullback Bill Allison, donated $10,000, while former ET student Ernie Wright of Wright and Rich Architectural Firm, donated his services to the construction of the new building.

The structure, to be located adjacent to the southwest corner of Memorial Stadium, will contain a team dressing room, training room, coaches' and game officials' rooms, laundry facilities, equipment storage and alumni activity lounge.

It will also have central air-conditioning and heating, with ventilating fans, chalk boards, and film viewing equipment. An ET Hall of Fame is also proposed for the building.

The new facility will replace the temporary dressing rooms located under the stands at the stadium. The present structure was termed "temporary" in 1951 when Memorial Stadium was built and intended to be used for a short time only.
