ET Rodeo To Terminate Western Week Festivities

By Philip Davenport

The annual rodeo which concludes Western Week activities at ET is scheduled to begin at 8 o'clock tonight and Saturday night in the University Rodeo Arena.

Western Week included a barbecue dinner, the "Golden Garter Game House," and Western Week games. Proceeds from the festivities will be used for Children's Day, an event during which ET students act as parents to orphans from area children's homes.

The rodeo will be sponsored by the ET Rodeo Club at a cost of more than $1,100, according to Jeff Seals, club president. He said this year is the first time that the fall rodeo has been open to high school students and that he hopes for a big turnout.

Seals said that the planning started as the spring rodeo was coming to a close. Some things that the rodeo club had to consider included: how much money could be spent; who the stock producer would be; condition of the arena; and who to get for the judges and the announcer.

Seals said that when picking a stock producer, one has to consider the stock to be used, the cast, not only for the stock but also for trucking and the pick-up men. This year the rodeo club selected the Wing Rodeo Co., Bogata, to be the stock producer. The rodeo club is paying the producer $1,160, which is an increase of $190 over last year. The reason for this, according to Seals, is that a new event is being added, Saddle Bronc Riding, and the stock producer has to supply additional horses for that event.

Money spent for the rodeo is col-

'Related Series' Canceled

The "Related Subjects Series" sponsored by the Inter-Residence Hall Council, slated to begin at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 9, has been canceled for the semester according to Darlene Ewing, IRHC president.

Although plans for the series next semester have not been abandoned, Ms. Ewing cited lack of finances and time to prepare a good program as reasons for the failure of this semester's series.

lected by the Rodeo Club from its various club functions, and $3 is held back from each entry fee for the rodeo.

According to Dr. Charley Jones, agriculture faculty and rodeo club sponsor, the rodeo has not been a money making project in the past but will have to be in the future. If it does not start to make money, the rodeo will have to be discontinued, he said.

Voters Elect Officers, Senators

Approximately 500 students voted in the fall general election for senators and class officers, according to Frank Middleton, Election Commission chairman. Due to the method of balloting, Middleton said, a total voter figure is difficult to tabulate.

Newly-elected senate members will take office at the next meeting of the Student Senate, which will be Wednesday, Oct. 10, according to Jim Hallock, president of the senate.

In the race for freshman president, Mike Jones was elected. Jones defeated Jeff Young, Bob Wade and Louanne DePiro.

Camille Ownsby was elected freshman vice president, defeating Mandy White, Ronnie Adcock and Kathy Dickson. In the race for secretary, Molly Beth Beene defeated Lynn Clark, Beverly Grover and Darrell Hunter.

Shelby Mitchell was elected freshman treasurer, defeating Carol Gregoire, Bill Munson and Erika Bouknight. Kena Earhart defeated Judy Gammon and Pam Pearson for reporter.

In the race for sophomore president, Terry Brimer was elected, defeating Pam Binford, Debbie Brookman and Wally Hogland.

Christine Yeager was elected vice president, defeating Bill Fulton, Yvonne Cronholm, Marty Shelton and David Hamilton. In the race for sophomore secretary, Janice Young defeated Linda Beard, Chris Pickard, Terry Leggett and Janice Jones.

Karen Boyd was elected treasurer, defeating Karen Reed and Debbie Hunt. Debra Gregory was elected reporter, defeating Eugenia Robinson, Lanelle Matthews and Temple

Naland.

Gerald Dickey was elected president of the junior class. Dickey defeated Randy Sadler, Rebecca Graham and Gerald Scarborough.

Inez Haggard was elected junior vice president, defeating Greg Gotses, Mary Palmore and Ann Mallory. Candy James was elected secretary, defeating Georganna Stewart and Jane Ann Williams.

Mobil Home Decision Delayed

By Sondra Fowler and Steve Hitchcock

The Commerce City Commission was advised by James Faires, city attorney, Tuesday night, that final decision on a contested mobile home permit would have to be made by Jack Dickerson, city manager.

The commission also heard a proposal to reappraise property within the city limits, voted to hire a delinquent-tax attorney for a particular case, discussed an additional loading zone for the city, approved the city manager's report, and approved payment of the monthly bills.

Faires said that the decision of the mobile home location is under jurisdiction of the city manager. The matter came before the commission recently in the form of a petition from residents living on Sycamore Street asking the commission to revoke a mobile home permit that had been issued in their neighborhood. The residents did not think that the permit had been issued legally. Dickerson said that he had not yet reached a decision on the matter.

Weldon Taylor, representing the Board of Equalization, recommended that a professional appraisal firm be hired to reassess property in the downtown area and make descriptive property cards. Also, it was suggested that a full time tax assessor-collector be hired to collect delinquent taxes. Taylor went on to say that 1958 was the last time a property assessment was made and that a new one should be taken at least every ten years, and preferably every five years.

Dickerson estimated that such a job would cost $30,000, and Mayor Thomas Young stated that funding would have to be taken out of next year's budget.

Dickerson said he would contact the school districts to see if they would be interested in a cooperative appraisal to share the cost.

Dickerson was instructed by the commission to hire a temporary attorney to collect overdue tax on a piece of personal property. The request was made by Pemberton and Green, a Greenville law firm, and was said to require immediate attention.

Bill Bagniefski, Commerce agent for the Dallas Times Herald and Tex-Pac Express Inc., requested that a loading zone large enough for two vehicles be installed at 1009 Main to prevent trucks from double-park-

Carnival, ETspo Set Oct. 10-11 in Center

A carnival will be held in conjunction with ETspo from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 10-11, on the west lawn of the Student Center.

Sponsored by the University Service Council, Inter-fraternity Council and Panhellenic, the carnival will be used to attract students into the Student Center to see the ETspo exhibits, according to Christy Jernigan, Panhellenic president.

Sorority, fraternity and service club members will work in each of the carnival booths. Carnival games will include ring-toss, penny-pitch, ball-toss and darts. The 5 or 10 cent carnival game price will be donated to the Day Care Center on campus and to Children's Day, Miss Jernigan said.

Free cola drinks will be provided by ARA Slater Food Service, she added.

The ETspo exhibits to be held on the second floor of the Student Center will be from social and service groups and academic departments.

The information provided by the exhibits is to acquaint students with the various organizations on campus and to get students not involved in activities to participate.

Over sixty exhibits are expected at ETspo, according to Jack Lassiter, director of Student Development.

ETspo is being jointly sponsored by the Office of Student Development and the Student Activities Board of the Student Center.

ET Poultry Costs Rising

ET students taking a poultry course have the chance to work with 1,000 birds at the ET Poultry Center. The center has turkeys, broilers, and laying hens, all to be used in lab experiments.

The center is mostly involved in an egg-laying type program, but a commercial type pullet is raised for the student to dissect, so he can identify the digestive, respiratory and reproductive systems. The student also learns about debeaking, blood testing, the brooding of baby chicks and egg grading.

According to Dr. Jimmy Wolf, agriculture faculty, the price of feed has doubled since last year. The cost of feed last year was about $4 per 100 pound; it is now $8-9.

The reason for this increase is that the cost of the primary ingredients, corn and soybean meal, has gone up. What this means according to Dr. Wolf, is that a dozen eggs that sold at 40 cents last year would have to sell at 80 cents today for the egg producer to maintain his margin of profit.

The Poultry Center is used for educational purposes and demonstrations on a small scale. Dr. Wolf said, "If it works on a small scale, you can work it on large scale," by increasing the number of birds being used.

Concerning egg production, Dr. Wolf said, "We use natural light as far as it goes, then use supplemental when it gets dark." This means that as the days get shorter, during the fall and winter, more supplemental light is used and as the days get longer, supplemental lighting is used less. "We try and simulate spring-time conditions," Dr. Wolf said, because this, "triggers reproduction."

The eggs that are reproduced at the Poultry Center are washed and graded by students. The eggs are then sold to a central outlet, Campbell's Produce in Commerce.

Lion Cheerleaders Develop ET Spirit

By Kris Blankenship

One frequently overlooked organization on campus is the ETSU cheerleaders. Officially recognized as an organization, the main purpose of the cheerleaders is to "develop the potential spirit on campus," according to Bill Sengbush, head cheerleader.

In addition, the 10 cheerleaders also usher guests of the university around campus, attend student leadership luncheon sponsors pep rallies, perform at football games and judge cheerleader tryouts from the grade school level through junior college. The cheerleaders are not paid but do receive game expenses. These expenses include motel, food allowances and gasoline when distance warrants it for out-of-town games.

Uniforms are furnished if the request goes in before the end of the budget year. After that time, the cheerleader foots the bill.

The other nine cheerleaders are Mark Anglin, Gerald Dickey, Dwight Kilgore, Scott McCord, Cathy Brown, Dege Castle, Roxie Gray, Donna Turney and Nancy Vause.

Few students are aware of the amount of red tape that must be dealt with to host a pep rally. Sengbush explained that first the Security Office must be contacted and informed of plans for the rally. If it is to be held in the intramural field, the Field House or the stadium, Dr. Jesse Hawthorne, head, Health and Physical Education Department, must be contacted.

In the event of a special pep rally (for example when classes are let out), Dr. Bob Butler, dean of Student Life, must be told. Ernest Hawkins, football coach, is then contacted to arrange for the team to attend the pep rally.

At this point the band is called and given the pep rally schedule so it will know what to play and at which time. The Sign Shop in the Student Center is commissioned to make signs.

Once the signs are finished, stakes must be put on them and the signs distributed across the campus. Finally, all organizations that list a phone are contacted.

The cheerleaders practice two times a week for no less than an hour a time, Sengbush said. "Getting together as a group has been our biggest problem with nine different organizations represented. It's hard to find a good time when we can all get together," he added.

This year nine of the ten cheerleaders are Greeks with only one independent as opposed to last year when seven of the cheerleaders were independent and only one was Greek. Sengbush said that it helps for the cheerleader to be affiliated with a group because he receives group backing.

A precedent in cheerleader policy this year is the increase from last year's eight cheerleaders to the current 10. Unfortunately, this presents problems. "The cheerleaders have been increased by two but we are working with a decrease in budget," Sengbush explained. "It is also harder to get 10 people together to work than eight." He suggests that the solution to this problem might be an activity period or a PE class the cheerleaders could take to work together.

However, there prevails an air of optimism about "spirit" at ET, Sengbush thinks. "We are riding on a carryover from last year and spirit is better now than it has been in the past," he said. In the final analysis, "it's up to the students to get involved."

Female Rider To Compete Against Men at ET Rodeo

A female bare back rider will participate in rodeos tonight and Saturday night as part of ET's Western Week.

Patti Arrington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Arrington, Commerce, a freshman at Commerce High School, is to be the only woman contestant in the bare back riding event at the rodeo, which will open at 8 p.m. today and Saturday at the arena south of the main campus.

Miss Arrington has been riding in rodeos for three or four years, but did not start entering the bare back event until August 1972 at the All-Girl-Rodeo in Sulphur Springs, she said. She first became interested in bare back riding when her cousin, Rick Brunson of Mesquite, also a bare back rider, started talking to her about the event.

In most of the rodeos she has competed against other females, but in the ET rodeo she will be competing against male contestants. There is a difference between the riding regulations set for male and female competitors. In female competition, the rider is allowed to hold on with both hands, but in male competition, the rider can only use one hand.

Since she has become a bare back rider she has had her hip fractured, nose broken and received a concussion and bruises.

As her rigging is being put on the horse, "I ride him five or six times, in my mind," she said. As she gets on the horse, she starts to think about getting a good hold, how the horse will buck and the placement of her spurs on the horses' shoulders.

According to Patti, she has no definite plans on how long she will continue riding in the bare back event.

Sikes II Trips Comets For IM Football Crown

By Ike Williams

Sikes II rolled over the Comets, 25-13, in touch football action Monday, Oct. 1, to claim the Independent League crown. Going into the play-off game, both teams had recorded 5-0 records in their respective brackets.

Sikes II took control in the second quarter when quarterback Rick Brazell threw for two TDs. Up until that point, both teams were stalled between the 20-yard lines.

The first was a 12-yard toss to end Darwin Hinson, with 3:17 left in the quarter. Sikes' second score was set up by a Tony Huckaby interception. Brazell followed with a 33-yard scoring toss, with just 14 seconds left in the half.

Brazell widened the lead in the third quarter by throwing a five-yard TD to Huckaby, with 4:04 left in the period. The PAT was good to Mick Makadoo. Sikes' other score came in the fourth quarter on a 10-yard toss from Brazell to Makadoo, with 6:06 left.

The Comets started to move late in the fourth quarter. Their first score was set up by a 51-yard re-

"just a little better selection"

Can you shoulder it?

Command a platoon of 46 Marines? Or pilot a four million dollar, 1400 mile-per-hour Phantom? At the age of 22 or 23, that's a lot of weight on any pair of shoulders. Face it—it's more responsibility than most men will know in their whole lives.

If you want to go for it, you can begin leadership training at Quantico, Virginia, next summer. And if the Corps thinks you can handle the job, you'll be a lieutenant of Marines the day you graduate from college.

Talk it over with the Marine officer who visits your campus:

Ask a Marine

Aviation and ground programs are available for either graduates or undergraduates, discuss your opportunities as an officer of Marines with Captain Joe Horton on 8, 9, 10 October in the Student Union Building between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. or call AC 214 749-2812 collect.

Catalog Changes Pass Faculty Senate

Additions to the university catalog, election of members on standing Senate committees, and proposals for changes in the constitution and rules were passed by the Faculty Senate Tuesday, Oct. 2.

Additions were recommended to the university catalog on students taking a course for the second time. The student would be required to notify the Records Office during the semester in which he repeated the course to insure an updated record of his grades.

Standing senate committee chairmen elected were: Dr. James Humphries, curriculum; Dr. Wendell Edwards, admission and retention of students; Dr. Bob Davis, instruction and academic practice; Dr. Bruce Kersey, research and grants; Dr. Mary Wheeler, university community and academic life; Dr. Mary Preas, academic facilities and scheduling; and Dr. Denis Quane, organization of the senate.

One change made in the constitution and rules was that the secretary will be elected by the senate at the last stated meeting of each academic year and will take office on the following September for one year.

Also, vacant offices will be filled by a temporary appointment by the executive committee until the next senate meeting, at which time a replacement will be elected for the remainder of the term.

ET To Participate In National Survey

ET has been asked to participate in a special survey to be conducted sometime in October by the Office of Youth Development, a division of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, according to Eddie Garcia, president of the United Students Association.

Garcia said that he received a letter from Thomas T. Marshall, special assistant in the Office of Youth Development, explaining that the survey will determine and analyze the needs and concerns of young people on college campuses.

Garcia said the survey will be developed and sent to selected colleges and universities later this month. Questions on the survey will cover campus government, student life, community involvement and problems faced by minority groups and women. After the survey results are compiled, he said, they will be sent to all schools that participated in the survey.

Marshall's letter said results from the survey will increase communication between students and will be a valuable resource for distribution to the HEW officials and other youth-oriented agencies.
