Advisement Week Slated

By Sondra Fowler

Academic advisement for summer and fall registration will begin Monday, April 22, continuing through Saturday, April 27, for students to receive advisement slips or degree plans for entrance into summer and fall registration, according to Dr. Keith McFarland, assistant dean of the College of Liberal and Fine Arts.

A student without a major should go to the dean of the College of Liberal and Fine Arts for advisement, Dr. McFarland said. A student with a major should go to the departmental office of his major field.

Special Help To Be Offered

The advisement program for the fall will provide special help courses for incoming freshmen by allowing advisers to review incoming students' SAT test scores and high school transcripts and to recommend help if it is needed.

If the adviser decides the student needs help, a notation will be made on the advisement form that the student should take a special course. A student will not be admitted to a special section unless the adviser has indicated it on the advisement slip, Dr. McFarland said.

However, the student makes the final decision of whether or not to enroll in the special section.

Special help sections will be available in the fall in English 101, 201; History 121, 122 and Political Science 220. English 101, 202 and Political Science 221 will be added in the spring.

Seven Courses Possible

A student with a 3.5 grade-point average on the last five courses he has taken and an overall cumulative grade average of 3.0 may appeal to his academic dean for permission to take seven courses, not to exceed 24 hours in the fall, he said. However, any student who adds the seventh course on an add sheet who does not have his dean's approval on the sheet will be automatically dropped from that course and notified by the dean.

In the summer session, a student lacking five courses to graduate at the end of that summer and who has an overall "C" average may schedule three courses for one term. A student who lacks 10 courses to graduate in December, five of which are his student-teaching block and has an overall "C" average, may register for three courses during one summer term, he said.

A student desiring approval to take extra courses should go to the Registrar. See ADVISEMENT, Page 8

Job Outlook For Arts Grad Is Discussed

By Mary Lou Hazal

In seeking employment, a liberal arts graduate must decide on a specific career and learn how to market his skills and abilities, Joseph Saar, certified public accountant, Saar Professional Employment Service, told a Liberal Arts Employment Roundtable audience here Wednesday afternoon.

Saar said a liberal arts graduate should consider his education, previous work experience and "strengths and weaknesses" when writing a resume, as well as personal commitment to do a good job and mental attitude.

"Decide on a career objective. If you don't have one, you'd better; it sets the stage and predicates all your actions," he explained.

Sponsored by the College of Liberal and Fine Arts, this was the second annual employment seminar held for students in the liberal arts who do not train for specific industrial or technical occupations.

Others participating on the employment panel included Jerome R. Pikulinski, director of Manpower planning, North Central Texas Council of Governments; E. V. Womble, Good-year Tire & Rubber Co.; Maurice Rawlings, assistant superintendent, Hurst - Euless - Bedford Independent School District; and Jess Davis, Civil Service Commission.

Pikulinski said research done at the North Central Council of Governments projects that by 1980 there will be a 40 per cent increase in manufacturing-related jobs, 44 per cent increase in service field jobs including hotel, car repair and advertising; and a 48 per cent increase in managerial positions.

Growth for the North Texas area will be related to the industrial sector, and 75 per cent of these jobs will be filled by applicants with a high school diploma or community college degree, he said.

Pikulinsky explained that there may be more graduates with bachelor's degrees than jobs, but there will be a shortage of graduates with master's degrees.

Regarding employment with the federal government, Davis said 300,000 jobs are filled every year, and "some growth" is anticipated in the future.

In gaining employment for most federal jobs, a graduate must contact the Civil Service Commission, take the Civil Service Entrance Exam and "be found educable," Davis explained.

He said the "vast majority" of jobs are filled by competitive means with

'No Homecoming Queen' To Be on Next Ballot

A proposal to replace the annually elected Homecoming Queen with 10 elected students was referred to the next general election for a student body vote by the Student Senate Wednesday night.

The proposed bill authored by Sen. Darlene Ewing states that the election of a queen "has caused dissension, tension, and controversy on campus in recent years" and that a new method for recognizing outstanding students of ET during Homecoming activities be considered.

The bill would allow a total of 10 students, five female and five male, to be honored at Homecoming. Selection would be by popular vote by the student body with the five persons in each category receiving the highest vote being declared winners.

To be eligible for election, a candidate would be a student in good standing with the university have completed at least 12 semester hours, be a member of two recognized campus organizations, and obtain one written endorsement from a faculty member in his major department and one from another department.

The 10 winners would be announced at the Homecoming Bonfire and would reign as "Lion Leaders" for the year.

Senatorial courtesy was extended to Sue Zschoche, assistant director of Housing and member of the Campus Activities for Homecoming Committee. Miss Zschoche said the new play would hopefully "alleviate the

TEXAS POLITICS

Briscoe Denies 'Selling' Offices

By The Associated Press

Gov. Dolph Briscoe, after twice trying to avoid confronting the issue, Tuesday denied that he rewarded political contributors with appointments to state boards and commissions.

His Democratic primary opponent, former Rep. Frances Farenthold, said in a statement that 183 Briscoe appointees or their spouses had donated a total of $247,942 to his campaigns.

"I do not want to be unfair to the current governor, but this list does raise a serious question as to whether appointments to state boards and commissions are still for sale to campaign contributors," Mrs. Farenthold said in a statement that was accompanied by an itemized list of appointees and their contributions.

Briscoe was asked for his reaction following a swearing-in ceremony for Robert Shelton of Kingsville, the governor's latest appointee to the Texas Public Safety Commission. Shelton said later he had not contributed to any Briscoe campaign.

"I am going to run a positive campaign . . . based upon the record of this administration—a record I am very proud of," was Briscoe's first response.

When pressed, he said, "I am very proud of those I have appointed—men and women of top quality."

Then when asked whether there was any relationship between contributions and appointments, Briscoe said, "Absolutely none."

Christie Refutes Sissy's Claims

Texas Insurance Commissioner Joe

Christie said Mrs. Farenthold was trying to make it appear there had been no insurance reforms under Briscoe, who named Christie to the board last February.

Christie pointed out that car insurance rates were reduced an average of nearly five per cent last year and had implemented a competitive rating plan, endorsed by Briscoe, that has brought reductions of up to 20 per cent for many drivers.

"Around campaign time, the State Insurance Board becomes some politicians' favorite whipping boy and their complaints sprout like bluebonnets along the roadside. Well, this year, it's different because the board has a solid, progressive record and these charges won't hold water," Christie said in a statement.

Betting Draws Mixed Reactions

The so-called "Sport of Kings" was in the thick of the political picture in Monday's campaigning.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby has endorsed pari-mutuel horse race betting in Texas.

In Houston to speak at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon, Hobby Monday described the state law prohibiting gambling on horse racing as foolish.

He added that the ban "breeds disrespect for the law."

Texans are to vote on a pari-mutuel referendum in May but the outcome of the vote will not be binding on the State Legislature. The Houston chairman of the Texas Citizens for Pari-Mutuel Horse Racing said Saturday the group will spend $500,000 in behalf of the referendum. Briscoe also was asked for his position on the pari-mutuel horse race betting referendum on the Democratic and Republican primary ballots, something that Mrs. Farenthold has made an issue in the campaign.

He referred newsmen to his earlier statements, apparently to his remark in Victoria last Wednesday that "I am not going to involve the office of governor in that issue."

Parker Claims Speaker Lead

Rep. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, said he is leading the race for 1975 House speaker, promised to continue the Price Daniel Jr. "reforms" and declined to limit himself to one term in the job.

Parker said he has 39 written unconditional pledges of support from incumbent representatives who are seeking re-election, plus another 16 not-so-solid pledges. The latter includes pledges as a second choice or promises from non-incumbent candidates for the House, some of them running against one another.

The House will elect a new speaker when it convenes in January. The job carries considerable power, including the chairmen and some committee members and the power to determine whom to recognize for key motions. Through his committee choices, a speaker can pretty well determine what kind of legislation reaches the floor and what will die without debate before the House.

Nixon Names New Federal Judge

Robert Porter, a former Dallas County Republican chairman, is President Nixon's choice to become a U.S. district court judge in the northern district of Texas.

The President said Monday he will nominate Porter, a Dallas lawyer and former mayor of Richardson, Tex. He will succeed Judge Lee Brewster of Fort Worth, who retired from the federal court bench last November.

Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., had recommended Porter. He resigned his GOP chairmanship recently because of the impending appointment.

The 100-county northern district of Texas stretches from the Dallas-Fort Worth area to the New Mexico and Oklahoma borders.

PLAY REVIEW

Final Rehearsal Unusual

By Richard McKinney

It was a departure from the standard operating procedure. Rather than a full performance-quality dress rehearsal the night before opening, "The Grass Harp" director Jerry Phillips ran a no-costumes, no-make-up, minimal props, stop-and-start "finishing touches" rehearsal Wednesday.

Tickets for "The Grass Harp," which runs through Wednesday, April 24, in the University Playhouse, are $1 for ET students. Reservations must be made in advance by calling the box office at 468-2669.

Unseen but audible in the balcony of the University Playhouse theatre, Phillips voice would break through the rehearsal from time to time with a "Hold it! Let's take that scene again . . . go back to his line and . . ."

He would then give some direction, comment and/or encouragement to his cast or crew.

"Polishing up the last few details before the performance run is important," Phillips said. "That's why this rehearsal is set up this way. We already know that our costumes, makeup and props are set—it's working out the last-minute cues, and minor bits of stage business that is crucial before we open," he explained.

"After tonight," he said Wednesday, "we're ready."

The play itself is both amusing and poignant. Truman Capote is probably better known for his books ("In Cold Blood"), or his controversial comments on the late-night talk shows.

With "The Grass Harp," however, he has delved into the drama of the emotions quite well. Brooks Atkinson, a former New York Times critic, praised the play highly in his review of the original production, calling it "a beautiful play."

Technically Flexible

Because "The Grass Harp" will go "on the road" to Linden, a number of the technical features of the play had to be adaptable to fit a different theatre. Norman Colvin, in addition to his role, designed the sets for the production.

Besides the creditable flexibility, the sets are also effective and pleasant to look at. Colvin is one of the only undergraduate students in recent University Playhouse memory to design a major-season production.

Staging also had to be flexible. Phillips has made effective use of pinpoint spotlighting and impressionistic staging to carry through one scene of the play for which a more complete set would have been impossible in the ET theatre, and, more important, would have limited the adaptation of the play to another theatre.

He admirably depicts that differences in locale and personality of the various townspeople in the play in the gossip scene. It is genuinely funny and laughable.

Delt Relays Highlight Cavalier Week

Epsilon Eta chapter of Delta Tau Delta was founded on the ET campus on January 7, 1961. Before being known as the Delts they were known as the Cavaliers. These men helped found the chapter, and it in their fellowship and spirit that Cavalier Week is based upon.

The Cavalier Club was the youngest men's organization on the ET campus. Founded in 1950, its purpose was to promote scholarship, fellowship, and brotherhood on the campus as well as among its members.

Its members were active in all phases of school life, and produced many outstanding leaders. As a club they sponsored the annual talent show, halloween dance, and scholarship fund. When ETSC decided to permit national fraternal societies, the Cavaliers voted unanimously to petition Delta Tau Delta.

Cavalier Week is dotted with many functions. Some of them include a blanket party on Tuesday, a roller skating party on Wednesday, the Delt Relays on Thursday, and the Spring outing on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

The Delt Relays give frats the chance for intramural track competition.

History of Delt Relays

The Delt Relays, began in 1962 on the East Texas campus, is sponsored each spring by Delta Tau Delta, social fraternity. The Relays offer the opportunity for Greeks to compete in strong competition for awards and honors for their fraternity or sorority, and now the Relays include and encourage independent teams to compete, making the event campus-wide. Prior to 1968, the Relays consisted of only eight events, not all of which pertained to track and field. But that year, the Relays took on a new look, expanding its field to 10 events, adding the medley relay, the mile relay, the mile run, the 880 yd. run, and the 440 yd. dash. In 1968, Thane Baker, Olympic gold medalist, was the honorary starter for the Relays, and in 1969, Eddie Southern, another Olympic medalist who was recently inducted into the Texas Sports Hall of Fame, had the honors.

This year's Relays look bigger and better than ever, with more teams entered and sorority and independent divisions. The results should produce many exciting races and records for the spectators to enjoy. The brothers of Delta Tau Delta would like to welcome you to the 12th Annual Delt Relays and hope you enjoy the activities.

Besides setting high standards in scholastics, Delta Tau Delta also has achieved a high standard in intramural sports. In the past the Delts have won more than their share of awards. Out of the ten records in the Delt Relays, the Delts hold seven. This past year the Delts have won swimming, horseshoes, (for the fourth straight year, volleyball (for the second straight year), and archery for the third consecutive year. They also finished second in bowling, cross country, and third in basketball. The key though, is competing. And the Delts compete in all sports, from horseshoes to ping pong, and you'll always find them near the top in each event. In 1968-69 they won the intramural championship, and last year's Charles Gutierrez was named outstanding intramural athlete. Looking at the national picture you'll find many famous Delts such as; Kyle Rote, Jr., Jim Plunkett, Jeff Siemon, Gene Washington, Pat Kelley, Randy Vataha, and Don McCafferty just to name a few.

The fraternities and sororities are in the center of activity at ET. Dances, intramurals, and a wide variety of extracurricular activities are sponsored by the Greek System. They form a bond of loyalty and spirit that is so vitally necessary in order for the college to remain on the goal and in the spotlight.

Delta Tau Delta Fraternity is one of these groups. Similar to other fraternities in structure, but completely different in helping the individual maintain his identity, Delta Tau Delta is a fraternity of men, willing to help each other and always striving for the betterment of the school, the town, and society.

Delta Tau Delta is proud of its heritage and standing on the ET campus. The men of the fraternity have formed a bond of friendship; a lasting relationship that will never be forgotten or erased from their memories. It is this unity that causes the Delts to work and strive together to make the name Delta Tau Delta one of respect and strong leadership on the ET campus.

This unity brought the Delts fame at East Texas among the students and faculty and showed what a brotherhood of men could do together. During the school year of 1973-74, Delta Tau Delta won more than its share of awards and did more for the betterment of the Greek System than ever before.

Dr. Williams Delt Adviser

For all but two years since our founding in 1961 our chapter adviser has been Dr. Robert K. Williams. A member of the Biology staff at East Texas State University, Dr. Williams received his B.S., M.S., and Ph.D. from Texas A&M University. We as a fraternity are very fortunate in having a man who takes an active interest and part in fraternity affairs. Dr. Williams has been instrumental in instilling into members of the fraternity the need for social and moral improvement as well as the necessity for academic excellence. Under his guidance, in 1969-70, the Delts were able to attain the Hugh Shields Award for chapter excellence, an award given each year to the 10 highest achieving Delt chapters in the nation. Through Dr. Williams outstanding leadership, Epsilon Eta is looking forward to the construction of a new fraternity house, the most complete and luxurious of its kind at ET.

History of Delta Tau Delta

The history of Delta Tau Delta begins in the spring of 1858 in North-western Virginia, (now W. Virginia) at a small college called Bethany. Bethany was highly regarded as an academic institution and attracted outstanding students from the best of families from both the north and south. Eight of these students were destined to be recognized and honored by more than 85,000 men as the founders of Delta Tau Delta.

On the East Texas campus Delta Tau Delta came into existence on Jan. 7, 1961, when the existing social colony, the "Cavaliers" earned their admittance into the brotherhood of Delta Tau Delta. Since that time the Delts at ET have been proud of their heritage and have maintained the high social and academic responsibilities bonded in their history.

Delta Tau Delta stands alone as the only ET fraternity that requires a pledge to achieve a 2.0 GPA before he becomes eligible for initiation. In addition, the brothers are required to maintain a passing grade point average to stay active in the fraternity.

Besides the chapter's unsurpassed intramural record, the Delts host the Cross Country and the Delt Relays. Socially, the fraternity has been involved in blood drives, ecology campaigns, sorority sponsored activities and regular chapter parties.

Epsilon Eta chapter of Delta Tau Delta has a driving desire to turn a dream into a reality. For several years, ET Delts have envisioned a custom-built house on fraternity-owned property. At last, the chapter is prepared to start the project.

With a past steeped in tradition and a constant eye on the future, the fraternity's position of leadership has been secured and its future assured.

Delts Reflect Changes at ETSU

The changes taking place on the East Texas State University campus are reflected in Delta Tau Delta. We interpret our role as a social fraternity in the broadest meaning of the word "social" . . . the practice of human relationships. The classroom shapes our hypotheses for meeting challenges of life. Delta Tau Delta is life.

Should you seek membership in Delta Tau Delta?

Let us describe the man we are looking for, then you can make your own decision.

First of all, we are looking for the man who is serious about scholarship. Our academic standing is above all-campus averages. We want to keep it that way.

We take pride in our individuality. So, we want idea men. That is the fun, as well as the value of our Fraternity. We have the chance to work closely with a small group of men—involved in campus life, but with the extra opportunity of applying personal talents to meaningful social, academic, and economic situations. And we believe that real progress is best made by working within the framework of cooperation among universities, undergraduates, the national Fraternity, and alumni.

Our activities vary from participating in intramural athletics to organizing informal discussions with faculty members or visiting dignitaries. We determine our own finances, set up public relations programs, create new ideas for social events, and argue politics.

We want men who look to the future. Delta Tau Delta has been in existence since 1858, yet it is adding campus chapters at a more rapid rate than ever before in its history.

As a member of Delta Tau Delta, you will share the excitement of developing community projects . . . of testing your skills in leadership . . . of making your own decisions . . . and sharing your personal thoughts with other students who really care. There is a bond in Delta Tau Delta that cannot be described. It is felt. And it lasts a lifetime.

The Brighter Side of ET

Delta Tau Delta is greatly honored to be represented on campus by its Little Sisters organization. These 26 hardworking girls contribute countless hours for the betterment and encouragement of the Delts.

A girl wishing to become a member is first voted on by both the chapter and the Little Sisters and then required to participate in a semester long pledgship program. During this time she learns the background of the fraternity and local customs as well as about its members.

Upon completion of this phase, the girls hold a full scale initiation and are our guests for a meal afterward. Some of their many activities include picnics for the chapter, holiday parties, and attendance at our athletic functions.

The Little Sisters promote our fraternity by their actions and words. Their much appreciated help in Rush begins each semester. The chapter realizes just how effective this group is by experiencing all of the "little things" a fantastic group of girls can do for a fraternity.

The Spring 1974 members are: Janice Jones (president), Glenna Ward (vice president), Cindy Daugherty (treasurer), Cynthia Suiter (secretary), Joy Drummond (Sgt.-at-Arms), Sabrina Hughes (reporter-historian), Sherry Tyner (activities chairman).

Also Scheryl Duncan, Barbara Glidewell, Lynn Hellman, Vickey Maddison, Carla McCord, Donna Nixon, Jan Parker, Sissy Reagan, Lynn Reagan, Julie Rubel, George-anna Stewart, Trisha Thompson, Debbie Wilkinson and Mandy White.

This semester's pledges are: Cathy Lou Brown, Kelly Joyner, Nancy Jones, Joy Roberts, and Laura Vitito.

Delt Honor Roll

History has blessed our fraternity with some of the world's most honorable men.

Here are only a few:
Scott Carpenter, astronaut.
Tom Clark, retired Supreme Court Justice.
Jim Nabors, actor.
Mims Thomason, President, UPI.
Ken Mattingly, astronaut.

Sherry Tyner 1974 Delt Queen

Representing Delta Tau Delta as Delt Queen is Sherry Tyner. Sherry is a 1972 graduate of Dallas Kimball High School. A member of Alpha Delta Pi, Miss Tyner is very active in the Delt Little Sister organization as social chairman.

Generosity, helpfulness, and understanding are only a few of Sherry Tyner's qualities. The Brothers of Delta Tau Delta are very fortunate to have such a hard worked for the 1973-74 Delt Queen and we love and respect her sincerely.

Thins Competing at SWT

By Donald Kerr

ET's cindermen will get down to the "nitty-gritty" today when they meet all but two Lone Star Conference foes in the 13th Southwest Texas State Invitational Meet in San Marcos.

The meet today will be a preview, minus Sul Ross and Abilene Christian, of the annual LSC meet set next week in Huntsville. After 10 weeks of preparation, the Lions hope to put it all together today and carry the momentum to next week's "biggie."

ET's main hope for points, according to assistant coach Butch Luce, is hurdler Bobby Hollar. "I'm looking for Hollar to do well in both hurdle events today," Luce said. Hollar, ET's top point man with 32½, has scored in every meet this year.

His best time this season in the 120-highs is 14.6, which ties him for first in the conference standings with Mike Ross of Howard Payne. Hollar's 55.4 in the 440-yard intermediates is only 1.4 off the leading time of Tom McMillion of Texas A&I.

Teammate Jose Tellez will also run the hurdles for ET, hoping to improve his season bests of 15.2 in the highs and 56.3 in the intermediates.

Bill Carroll, who has been out of running competition since February 23, again will not be able to run his specialty, the high hurdles. Last year, Carroll placed second in the LSC meet. Carroll reinjured the hamstring muscle that has plagued him this season, and a dejected Luce said that Carroll will have to concentrate on the javelin and sprint relay. However, Carroll's season best javelin toss of 187-0 is fourth best in the conference.

Luce is looking for Mike Gutierrez and Craig Manning to put in strong performances today. Gutierrez has a season best of 1:56.3 in the 880, eighth best in the conference. Manning, who moved to the half mile several weeks ago, will run today in his former race, the 440. Joining him will be Rick Easley, who has a 49.5 to his credit.

LSC co-leader in the high jump, Glen Machan, has a best of 6-8 entering the meet, which ties him for the conference lead with Randy Rea of Abilene Christian. ACC is not scheduled to enter the meet today, however.

Merrill Huckabee, ET's strongman, is the only other individual listed in the current LSC standings. Huckabee will try to improve on his discus toss of 149-6½, presently good for fourth in the conference. Huckabee will also throw the shot for the East Texans today.

Favorite in the San Marcos meet is Angelo State, with eight marks standing as the league's best. Angelo's Josh Owusu took the only first place for the conference in last week's Texas Relays, when he long jumped 25-9½. Teammate K. O. Okyir is leading the conference in both the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes, with marks of 9.3 and 21.1, respectively.

IM SOFTBALL
Sig Eps Edge Sigma Chi, 8-5
 By Eugene Buonviri
 Sigma Phi Epsilon outplayed Sigma Chi, 8-5, in men's intramural slow pitch softball, Tuesday.
 A strong North wind held up most outfield fly balls long enough for fielders to position themselves for a play. In the top of the first inning the Sig Eps promptly put two of their first three batters on base. With one out, the Sigma Chis were looking for a double play to stop the Eps offense, but Bill Carroll's triple gave the Eps a two-run lead. With the bases loaded, Rudy Jones's double brought in two more runs, giving the Eps a four-run lead. The Eps offensive drive was smothered by a Sigma Chi double play.
 The first Sigma Chi batter slammed a long drive to left field where it was caught, with the help of the wind. John Bergin hit a home run with two men on and one out; however, Bergin was called out for not tagging second base.
 With two outs and two men on base, Jones slammed a home run to extend the Sig Eps lead to 7-2 in the top of the third inning. Taking advantage of two singles and two errors, the Sigma Chis scored one run, in their half of the inning.
 In the top of the fifth inning, the Eps increased their lead by one run, and Sigma Chi scored two runs on two errors closing the fifth inning, 8-5.
 Other fraternity slow pitch action saw Delta Tau Delta shut out Kappa Alpha Psi, 11-0, and Phi Kappa Theta outmuscle Delta Chi, 12-9. Kappa Alpha slid by Omega Psi Phi, 12-11.
 There were no fraternity fast pitch games because of forfeits. Teams winning by forfeit were Kappa Alpha, Sigma Phi Epsilon and Alpha Gamma Rho.
 In independent slow pitch, the Gold Bars won a double-header, walking over the Streal Fleakers, 13-3, and then beating the Showdown, 17-13.
 Mike Beseda knocked in the winning run as the Showdown downed the Comets, 13-12. The Tops ripped the BSU, 11-2.
 The Jock Squad demolished the Morons, 13-3, and the f-Stops ran over Sikes DC, 12-4. The Brewers beat the Pub Club, 14-7, and APO won by forfeit over the Soul Striders.
 There were no independent fast pitch games scheduled.

Netters Win Two, Run Victory Streak to Nine
 By Allen Hallmark
 ET's tennis team extended its winning streak to nine matches and its season record to 16-4 by beating Sam Houston, 9-0, in Huntsville Monday, and Texas Wesleyan College, 8-1, in Fort Worth Tuesday. Both were non-conference matches.
 ET has a home match at 2 p.m. today against tough North Texas State University, who beat the Lions 9-0 earlier. At 10 a.m. Saturday, ET hosts Stephen F. Austin. The Lion netter beat SFA for conference points 5-1, April 9.
 Coach William Crabtree's players repeated an earlier 9-0 shellacking of SH March 30. The first match counted for conference points, the one Monday was a warmup for the Lone Star Conference Tournament beginning April 25.
 Crabtree has been changing his lineup for nearly every match, since ET has completed its LSC team competition. Against SH Syed Abid, in the No. 1 spot, beat Mike Ellison, 6-4, 6-4. Steve Katz moved up to No. 2 and beat Tom Scott, 6-3, 6-2.
 Bob Koch played No. 3 and defeated Mike Long, 6-2, 7-6. Matt Firmin was No. 4 that day and beat Larry York, 6-2, 6-3. Steve Barker, No. 5, beat Tom Ballard, 6-1, 6-3, and Bubba Cardwell, No. 6, handled Mark Handel, 6-4, 6-4.
 In doubles Abid-Koch knocked off Long-Ballard, 6-2, 6-2. Barker-Firmin were pushed to a tiebreaker in the second set but beat Scott-Ellison, 6-2, 7-6, while Katz-Cardwell were beating York-Handel, 6-3, 6-1.
 ET beat its second Fort Worth foe in less than a week, defeating TWC, 8-1, Tuesday. The previous Friday, ET had beaten TCU, 4-3.
 Against TWC, Crabtree left Abid in Commerce to catch up on his studies. Firmin won the No. 1 position and the match against Kevin Tee, 6-3, 6-4. Katz, No. 2, won over Warren Ruth, 6-3, 6-2. Katz hasn't lost a set since losing to Mark Crozier of Oklahoma on March 27, which was the last match ET lost this season.
 Koch again played No. 3 and beat Roland Dreschel, 6-2, 6-2. Barker bopped Greg Gordon, 7-5, 6-1. ET's two freshmen netters, Bubba Cardwell and Bill Munson, made the Fort Worth trip to gain experience and both rewarded Crabtree with three-set victories. Cardwell beat Kem Schaade, 7-5, 4-6, 6-1, while Munson was winning 6-1, 1-6, 6-0 over Mike Bien.
 In doubles against TWC, Barker-Firmin beat Tee-Ruth, 6-4, 1-6, 6-1, and Koch-Katz beat Bien-Gordon, 6-1, 6-3. ET's one loss came in the final match of the day as Munson-Cardwell fell to Dreschel-Schaade, 3-6, 2-6.
