Art Students Plan, Build Area Park

By LeRoy Vela

"A place to exchange ideas, where students can enjoy beauty," is how David Traub, Seaford, N.Y., senior describes the park being built by the Art Department between the Art and Music buildings.

A circular pool, nucleus of the park, will be surrounded by eight or nine benches and several walkways, when the park is completed.

The project, which began in the summer of 1971, was the product of a sculpture class under the instruction of Bill Lamb, art faculty. "The assignment was to design and build a scale model of a park," Lamb said, "objects in the design were to be utilitarian and interesting forms."

Lamb said that as the assignment progressed the idea came about to use one of the models as an actual plan for a park.

Two of the five models were chosen to present to then ET President D. Whitney Halladay. "President Halladay wanted to back the plan all the way, as does President McDowell," said Charles McGough, Art Department head. Halladay gave $500 from ET funds to the project. McGough gave $200 from art funds and the winning model was placed in the hall of the Art Building, where donations of $25 were collected. There have been other private contributions. "This is our project and is not tied into the campus beautification program," McGough said.

Initially the plan is to build, using student labor, the eight or nine benches surrounding the pool, now under construction. "Student art work can be placed at various places of the park, and if we find something that looks particularly well we will buy the piece from the student," McGough said.

"This has been a learning experience for us since we have never cast cement or worked on a project this size," said Traub.

Traub continued to say, "There is no reason why any department on campus could not do a similar project, and Mr. Lamb and I would be happy to give them any information we could."

Films, Raps on Agenda For Tonight's Drug Talk

Tonight's Seminar '72 program, including films and a panel discussion will be held at 7:30 in the Founder's Lounge of the Student Center. The weekly seminar, sponsored by the Counseling Center, is still in the "information" aspect of drug abuse.

The films, of special interest to educators, counselors and helpers, are titled "Drug Talk: Some Current Programs" and "What is Teaching, What is Learning." Mike Glick, seminar coordinator, said the films "bring the problems of drug abuse home to the helping professions. They also show techniques helpers can apply to working and communicating with people."

The panel discussion, scheduled to begin at 8:30 p.m., will include James Green, Commerce police chief; Paul Banner, Greenville lawyer; Joe Gauldin, Commerce pharmacist, and George Nixon, chemistry

Senate Ponders Ouster Attempts

By Gordon Davis

The Student Senate, in a special session Thursday, Oct. 12, refused to hear an impeachment charge brought against United Students President Ron Dalioia, but later chose to discuss a similar charge against Supreme Court Justice Billy Hicks.

The Senate, also in Oct. 12 action, approved the appointment of Thomas Taulbee, Craig Benedict, Levere Kuhn and Kurt Strenge to the Supreme Court, and recognized the appointment of George Sheffler as temporary parliamentarian.

The impeachment charge against President Ron Dalioia was introduced by Sen. Danny Reid, but the senators, voting 23-7, did not approve hearing a list of 25 impeachment charges.

SOME OF CAST—Robin Wade portraying Lily, Buddy Vann as Henry, Oscar Garza and Becky Richardson as Mr. and Mrs. Antrabus, and Cheryl Myer as Gladys make up some of the cast of "The Skin of Our Teeth." The University Playhouse production will run from Oct. 18-24.

Sen. Eddie Garcia moved to impeach Hicks, and read the case against him by consent of the Senate.

The impeachment motion against Hicks was tabled, meaning that it could possibly be brought up at a later meeting.

A mimeographed list of the 25 separate charges against Dalioia was distributed to the Senate, although the Senate refused to officially hear the accusations.

According to the list of charges, Dalioia should be impeached for such actions as his failure to provide absentee ballots for the recent general campus senatorial election as provided for in Senate bill number 19, for his failure to maintain an accurate and public copy of the Senate Journal in the office of the United Students Association, which violates Bill 06-02-68 and for his failure to call the class officers into action or to constitute them into his forum as Bill 18-02-68 requires.

The impeachment articles against Hicks, introduced by Garcia, accused Hicks of "meticulously obstructing the legislative process through his position on the Court by giving biased opinions concerning the right of the Student Senate to function," as well as three additional violations.

According to Article I Section X of the United Students Association Constitution, the Senate shall have the sole power of impeachment of all executive officers of the United Students Association.

Impeachment proceedings, according to the Constitution, must be approved by a two-thirds vote of the Senate in order to be enacted.

The Oct. 12 impeachment proposals delayed any further attempt by the Senate to work on legislation and committee appointments.

The Senate was enjoined from making any appointments at its Oct. 11 meeting because of a Supreme Court ruling which stated that the Senate was not a representative body of ET as established by the Constitution of the United Students Association until the sophomore election was completed.

The sophomore Senate posts were left vacant because of the misspelling of the name of a senatorial candidate on the Oct. 3 ballot, which justified another election for the sophomore positions.

In a special election, held Thursday, Oct. 12, Rebecca Graham, Christy Jernigan, Ann Mallory, Becky Stapp, Lonnie Tucker, Robert Long and Lisa Love were elected to fill the sophomore vacancies.

Pam Bunford and Pam Schellenberg were also elected to the Senate Oct. 12, in a run-off election to fill two freshmen Senate positions.

Farenthold Urges Support of Demos

By Sam Attlesley

State Rep. Francis Farenthold of Corpus Christi told a standing-room only crowd in the Journalism Building Auditorium Friday that the upcoming Nov. 7 presidential election will be the most important since Abraham Lincoln was elected in 1860.

Mrs. Farenthold's Oct. 13 visit to the ET campus, sponsored by Citizens for McGovern, was in behalf of the national Democratic ticket.

Lambasting President Nixon for failing to bring about an end to the Vietnam War, she said that Nixon said in a 1968 campaign speech that any president who had been in office for four years without bringing about peace should not get another chance.

"Some people say, give Nixon four more years. I say why take the risk," she said.

Farenthold said America was long overdue for the withdrawal of troops in Southeast Asia. She said it was too late to get out of Vietnam with honor. "It is a senseless, immoral war. We are going to lose our souls there."

The Democratic gubernatorial primary candidate, who lost to Dolph Briscoe, spoke briefly about domestic issues, especially the Supreme Court and the Justice Department.

Rep. Farenthold fielded questions from the audience ranging from John Connally to marijuana. When asked if Connally's leadership of Democrats for Nixon would have a major effect on the campaign, she said, "Every race in November is a lot closer than the results of the separate Democratic and Republican primaries in the spring." She favors reducing the penalty for possession of marijuana from a felony to a misdemeanor.

She answered the probe concerning her future in politics by saying that she "will be around." She also said she would follow the career of Democratic gubernatorial nominee, Dolph Briscoe, with a "fine toothed comb."

Mrs. Farenthold, who received the second highest number of votes for vice president in the Democratic National Convention, was asked what the factors were that cost her the governor's race. "Without being facetious, it was simply that not enough people voted for me, and a vicious last-week campaign was waged against me," she said. Another reason was the lack of time and a professional organization according to Mrs. Farenthold.

In asking for the voters' support of Sen. George McGovern for president, Mrs. Farenthold said, "The White House belongs to all of us, the people."

Oct. 27 Deadline Set

For H'Coming Decorations

The 1972 Homecoming Committee has set noon Friday, Oct. 27, as the deadline for completing Homecoming campus decorations that will be judged for awards.

According to the committee, no more than two organizations may work together on one entry. The maximum cost per entry is $250, and no entry may occupy more than 100 square feet of space.

Registration for entry locations began Wednesday, Oct. 11, and construction of the projects may begin at noon Sunday, Oct. 22.

Campus decorations this year are replacing the traditional Homecoming parade.

VA Checks Delayed

A statewide increase in the number of veterans applying for educational assistance is causing a seven to 10-day delay in Veterans Administration educational assistance checks to ET students, according to Al Horstmann, Director of Veterans' Affairs at ET.

The increase in applications has caused the Veterans Administration Office in Waco to mail out checks in three groups instead of one group, as in years past, said Horstmann. The checks were mailed from Waco at midnight on Oct. 5, 10, and 12.

Horstmann said the increased number of veterans applying for educational assistance is probably due to the current high unemployment rate in Texas.

About 1,000 students at ET are receiving benefits totaling nearly $2 million a year through the Veterans' Affairs office at ET.

Grover To Visit ET Campus Today

Henry Grover, Republican gubernatorial candidate, will visit the ET campus Wednesday, Oct. 18. He will make a handshake tour of the Bookstore Foyer from 12 to 1 p.m., and speak at 1 p.m. in the Texas Ballroom.

A reception in honor of Grover will be held from 2 to 3 p.m. in the Founder's Lounge.

Grover's visit to campus is sponsored by the Young Republicans.

EDITOR'S NOTEBOOK

'Puppeteers' Get Raves

Last week at that travesty called the Senate meeting, The East Texan threatened to withdraw all coverage of those meetings until they gave some indication that they could produce something newsworthy. Since then, however, I've decided that the best way to encourage some sort of order in that body is not pull publicity out from under the members but to drown them in it. Too, due to my personal involvement with members of both sides of the battle royal, I have failed to take a stand before now. But after much observation of all the proceedings that have evolved from this issue, I feel that some random thoughts fit the occasion.

The Senate meeting last Wednesday was scary. The political machinery was like something malignant. There was no order, only a handful of persons yelling "Point of order" and "You shut up" and anything else that came to mind. That chaotic session also saw the executive branch, in a seemingly rehearsed violation of law and rules of order, try to have Chief Justice Billy Hicks swear in Mack Kuhn so that Kuhn could then preside at Hicks' impeachment! It was astounding!

Such action showed no signs of a halt to be put to this miscarriage of parliamentary procedure until some freethinking individuals from the audience and from the graduate senators voiced their opinions of disgust and disappointment at the lack of maturity and insight shown by the Senate, backing up their statements with the threat of resignation from office if the situation doesn't soon show improvement. These addresses were well received by all Senate members. Both sides had lost their rationality, but hopefully, these chastisements were directional.

Then there is the matter of personalities. Let's start with Robert Mansker, who seems to be in the middle of the controversy. Mansker is apparently as adept at political or legal matters as his claims of experience (service on the governments of five other colleges) would suggest, considering his performance at his retrial on Monday night, Oct. 17. But his logic fails me. When asked to defend the constitutional revisions that he authored in the first Senate meeting of the semester, prior to the referendum vote, he talked in circles. All his defenses, even the written one published in The East Texan as a pro statement for the revision, avoided the issues at hand.

Why has he led this farcial attempt to "liberate" the students of ET with an improved constitution, relieving them of the right of not having their dorm rooms searched without unwarranted cause and protecting them against a viable election process? Why does he say in one instance during the retrial that he doesn't know what those original amendments were (No. 7 and No. 8) and in the next breath, discuss the fact that they were left out because his constitutional committee didn't feel they had the right to interfere with that process of law? Who does he think did it before, then?

And the others . . . Daloia, like Gary Stretcher and Bahram Nouyan, has obviously been set up for something. When this matter is finally settled, these three will face possible charges of perjury (Mansker retrial, Monday, Oct. 17), damaged reputations and red faces. Now these problems haven't been instigated by a group of persons with personal grudges against these people. The faction against Mansker seeking the ouster of President Daloia, is made up almost entirely of those who campaigned for Daloia during the election in which he ran. And those who are backing him (or fronting him, as the case may be) now . . . Were they aligned with him when he was seeking office? Why are these people being used, if they indeed are, and, more important, why are they letting it happen?

Whose ideas were the choices of new justices, some of whom turned out to be illegal on a variety of counts? Why did Mansker request that his name be withdrawn from consideration as a justice AFTER the Johnson vs. United Students Association case, in which the decision indicating unconstitutional action by Mansker's committee made it clear that Mansker would eventually come under fire for his involvement in packing the court? And wasn't he probably involved in the Senate packing attempt engineered by someone in the graduate class to successfully have elected nine write-in candidates?

And the impeachment papers against Daloia and Chief Justice Hicks . . . Aren't they indicative in any way of the preparation and methodology used against the men? The Daloia impeachment document was a step-by-step list of specific charges of constitutional violations, while the one against Hicks was purely subjective and had not one single reference to constitutional violation, the only charges by which a justice can be impeached.

What is it that is being bought at the price of several men's integrity and the credibility and usefulness of a 45-member body of supposedly intelligent, interested people?

A meeting, sponsored by Nouyan, was scheduled Tuesday night for the opportunity of reconciliation, compromise or what have you, between the factions. Whether or not that summit conference results in appeasement or all-out bloodshed, the questions are still going to need answers. Student government had irrevocably gone off the track this time.

You 30 uncommitted senators, use your minds. Don't let yourself be puppets. The answer lies with your conscientious attempts to decide for yourselves the issues so tangled in personality conflicts right now. Think. Don't let yourselves be used.

Letter To The Editor

To The Editor:

I wish to take this means to apologize for not reminding the student body to attend the continuing comedy put on by the Student Senate on Thursday, Oct. 12. The limited space provided in this column is not near enough to describe the main characters and plot.

It seems that there are two forces at work which compose less than 20 per cent of the senate body that go by such names as: I, ME, WE, and US. When they speak against each other they use the names of THEY, THOSE, and THEM. In other words the Senate is their private play thing.

Unfortunately, as the plot thickens, the 6-8 students involve the remaining 30 odd Senators into issues of personalities. Their selfish dominance of the senate floor and time produces fragments within the Senate with undergraduates against graduates, lowerclassmen against upperclassmen, male against female, social organizations against independents, etc.

This writer can not recall any major issues to be considered or passed by this group of student body representatives in the last 8-10 months.

Senator Marv Kuehn, at last weeks meeting of the senate, expressed the thoughts of many of his fellow senators who are caught up in the tidal wave of personalities by alluding to the fact that egotistical ram-rodders, set on personal motives, had no place on the Senate floor.

The THEY and THOSE factions have lost sight of the fact that their representation in the legislative body is NOT due to anything they did personally but by a majority vote of the student body at ETSU.

The task is not for the benefit of a half-dozen selfish student senators but for the benefit of over 8,000 plus students. To be a productive and fruitful body again; to carry out its purpose, its objectives, its goals, the Student Senate must first be depersonalized and then LION-ized.

Morris V. Maniscalco
Student senator

Freshmen Essays To Be Published

No deadline has been set on entries in this semester's Write-On publication, according to Mrs. Cassandra Reeves, literature-languages faculty.

Write-On is a publication of essays from the freshmen classes of the Literature-Languages Department.

"We try to get at least eight compositions each semester," Mrs. Reeves said. "The department tries to get one edition of Write-On out each semester. During the second semester, one and possibly two publications are published," she said.

According to Mrs. Reeves, the department does not want "special" compositions, only those submitted in class.

Of those submitted, about 75 per cent are used in the publications that are circulated within the department.

"The stories vary on theme and content," Mrs. Reeves said.

PJC Cadets Begin Ceremony

Flag raising and lowering ceremonies have been initiated for ROTC cadets enrolled at the new unit at Paris Junior College.

The unit, supervised by personnel assigned to the ET ROTC unit, is the first of its kind on a junior campus in the United States.

The ceremony is a requirement to help satisfy the training program of the corps.

The first four cadets to enroll in ROTC at Paris Junior College include James Ellis, Jerome Chapman, David Bledsoe, all of Paris and Wayne Stringfellow, Bogata.

Capt. Brent Gates, aerospace faculty, teaches the courses on the second Monday of the month.

Actor Believes Role Should Be Distinct

Oscar Garza, Premont graduate student who portrays George Antrobus in the University Playhouse production of "The Skin of Our Teeth," believes that the most difficult part of acting for him is trying to make each character he plays different and distinct.

The play will run from Oct. 18-24, with performances at 8 p.m., a 2 p.m. matinee on Sunday, Oct. 22, and a 1:30 p.m. performance on Tuesday, Oct. 24.

"The Skin of Our Teeth" is also a part of the Forum Arts series. A Forum Arts member who wants a reserved seat ticket for the play may come by the University Playhouse box office before the performance he wishes to attend. Reserved seat tickets may also be purchased for $1.

"I do not physically resemble Antrobus so I try to use my voice to display his character," Garza said. "Antrobus is portrayed in three phases during the play," he said. "In the first act, he is a jovial, likeable fellow; an inventor. During the second act he becomes somewhat pompous because he is elected president of all the mammals and humanity. Finally, in the third act, Antrobus is tired and more critical in his approach to life," Garza said.

Garza said that the Antrobus character in the third act is the character he prefers to portray. "The lines flow for me better in the third act. I prefer the more serious and dramatic roles," he said.

Garza, who has a Spanish background, feels that the Mexican-American actor does not have to be typecast. "I don't have to be limited in the roles I play," he said.

A veteran of 25 shows, five of which have been ET productions, Garza said he wishes that his parents could see him in a play. "I would like to bring the theater to the Texas Mexican-Americans," he said.

Garza, who plans to do research on contemporary Mexican theater for his master's thesis, said that he would like to establish a Mexican theater group using the works of Mexican playwrights.

And after a M.A. degree from East Texas?

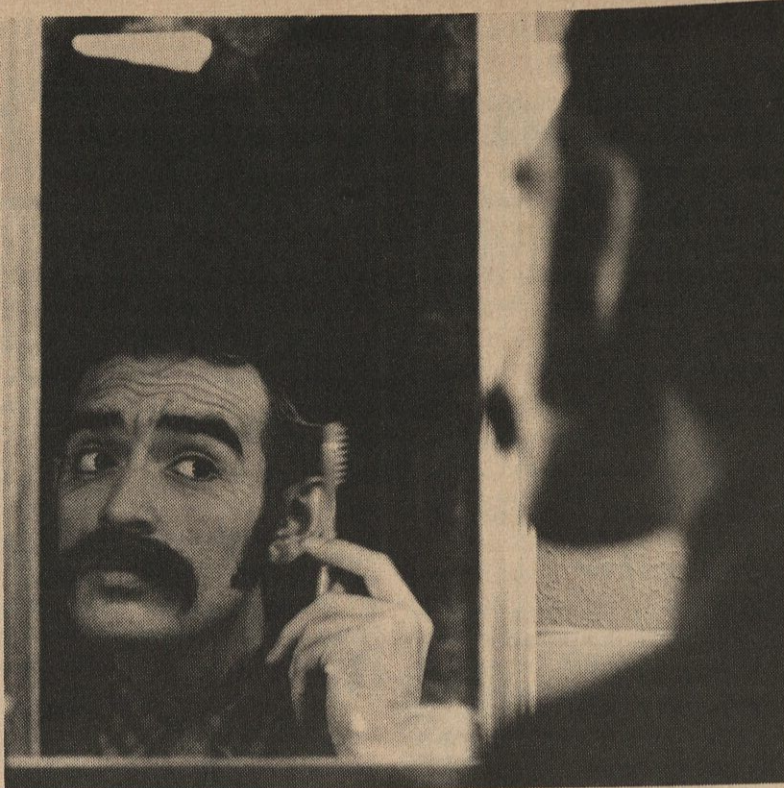

"I would like to become a paid professional actor and go into the legitimate theater," he said. "If I don't get into acting school, I'll teach for awhile and keep training and applying for acting jobs," Garza said.

Special To Publish Poll of ET Students

Results of a poll of ET students will be published in the October issue of the ETSU Special, the Department of Journalism and Graphic Arts' photojournalistic magazine, which will go on sale the week of Oct. 23-28.

In mid-September the Special polled 968 General Studies history and political science students, 751 of whom were in the 18-21 year-old age bracket. The poll concerns the upcoming Nov. 7 election and its issues. The 968 students comprise more than ten per cent of the 8,637 students on the ET campus.

ET Special Editor Ralph Dice said, "We are attempting to discover the political thinking of ET's 18-21 year-old voters. It will be interesting to compare our results with Gallup and the other national polls."

The students were polled on the Nixon-McGovern presidential race, the Tower-Sanders U.S. Senate race, and the Briscoe-Grover Texas governor's race. In addition, questions covering the issues of Vietnam, bus-ing, Nixon's and McGovern's economic policies, guaranteed annual income, and women's rights.

Students were also asked if they were registered to vote and whether they were registered in Commerce or their hometowns.

The magazine's report will indicate a breakdown of answers by race, sex, age, and income.

The Special was aided in compiling the results by the Computer Science Department. Steve White, a computer science major, wrote the program for the poll. Laura Hobbs and Shirley Watkins punched IBM cards for transmitting the information into the computer.

Analysis of the poll by Dr. Guy Poitras, political science faculty, will also appear in the October issue.

Noe Gonzalez' Clutch Passing Brings SWT Fourth Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

When in need of a football miracle, call on Noe Gonzalez. He performs them regularly for Southwest Texas State University.

With his magic, the Bobcats (4-1) maintained their co-leadership in the Lone Star Conference Saturday.

SWT and East Texas State (4-1) now have 3-0 conference records at the top of the LSC's 38th title race.

Gonzalez now has accounted for three of SWT's four victories with clutch passing in the closing minutes. In the 24-20 win over Stephen F. Austin Saturday, he marched the Bobcats 67 yards before throwing a touchdown strike of 14 yards to split end Ben Schamberg. In the same manner, Gonzalez issued defeats to Texas Lutheran and Angelo this season, his first year at quarterback.

SWT led 17-7 at the half, but SFA quarterback Larry Mayer brought the Lumberjacks back by throwing TD passes of 14 and eight yards to Ron Patterson.

Angelo (5-1) had a 110-yard rushing effort from fullback Jerry Austin as the Rams rolled to a 21-7 victory over Howard Payne (4-2).

Austin led Angelo from a 7-0 half-time deficit with three short touchdown runs in the second half, and Angelo remained in contention for the conference crown with a 3-1 league mark.

Howard Payne's only touchdown came in the second quarter, when William Adams blocked a punt and Steve Watson pounced on the ball in the end zone.

Texas A&I (4-2) also scored a victory to remain in the title picture on a 2-1 conference ledger. The Javelinas scored a 23-7 win over Sul Ross (3-2), with defense providing the scoring. A&I's Bryon Shaw returned an interception 100 yards for a conference record and a touchdown, while All-American cornerback Levi Johnson took a punt 60 yards for another six points.

New Sam Houston coach Allen Boren produced his first collegiate victory as the Bearkats (1-5) came from behind for a 17-13 triumph over Tarleton (1-5). Tailback Joe Vickers ran 31 yards for the winning TD, with two minutes left, before Sam Houston's Homecoming crowd in Huntsville.

In a non-Lone Star Conference game, Abilene Christian (1-5) lost 21-10 to Lamar University. ACC is not competing for the LSC title this year.

ET and McMurry did not play Saturday.

Will Cureton Rates High

By Jake Sandlin

"I rate a quarterback on whether he wins or loses," ET offensive coordinator Boley Crawford said, adding, "so far, Will Cureton is 800 per cent of a perfect quarterback."

Cureton, the Lions' strong-armed junior quarterback, has guided East Texas to four consecutive victories after the opening 14-12 loss to Abilene Christian.

"We played a tremendous first ball game but there were a few bad breaks. We had a touchdown called back and some fumbles which hurt us," Cureton explained.

"But we've been improving each week," the 6'3" 200 pounder noted, "and we haven't reached our potential yet. After the Howard Payne game we realized how good we were and could be, if we keep on improving."

Cureton, an All-District 16A quarterback under Clyde McMurry at Whitewright, came off a shoulder injury to finish third in LSC passing as a sophomore last season, playing only the last seven games. After five games this season, Cureton is third in total offense, with 121 yards per game, and second in conference passing, with 49 completions in 104 attempts for 606 yards and three touchdowns, while suffering six interceptions.

"Six is way too many for five games," Cureton said. "That's my main concern for improvement."

"Will's completion record has improved," Coach Crawford said, "but if he could cut out those interceptions it would be a lot better." (Against Texas A&I, ET's last opponent, Cureton hit 8 of 15 for 100 yards without an interception).

"He's calling his plays better and throwing better than he ever has. His problem is that he hasn't been setting up, causing him to throw off balance, resulting in high throws and interceptions," Crawford explained.

I'Mural All-Star Tilt Scheduled Oct. 19

The intramural all-star game, featuring players from the fraternity and independent divisions, will be played at 6 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 19 in Memorial Stadium.

The contest will pit 22 all-stars from the independent division against 22 from the fraternity league.

Players chosen from the independent league included: Sikes — Wayne Sanders, Brook Whitten, Steve Wilson, Will Whitten, Carl Briley, Fred Johnson, and Mark Stander; Soul Striders — Sam McCellan, Ellis Sanders, Tore Garrett, Kenneth Martin, Ray Dorsey, Charles Roney, and Hentz McKissick; Horns — Ronnie Clanton, Fred Davis, Mike Banner, Steve Goggins, Darrell Penny, Mike Turner and Joe Dempsey; and Baptist Student Union — David Ryer.

Those chosen from the fraternity division included: Omega Psi Phi — W. T. Thomas, W. G. Garland, Del Knight and Rayford Stevens; Sig Eps — Johnny Phillips and Bill Sommers; KAs — Gary Luttrell, Drew Burrett, Ken Little, Ronny Cathey, and Jim Burris; Sigma Chi — Larry Westerfield, Rick Orr, Glen Morton, Keith Cargill, Bub Bell, and Mike Rice; Delta Chi — Alan Everett and Ben Clayton; Deltas — Paul Drummer and Murray England; Pi Kappas — Jim VanderPoel.

Tennis Winners Named

Cheryl Berryman, Delta Sigma Theta, won first place in the women's intramural sorority singles by forfeit. Jeanne Adams, Alpha Phi, placed second.

Marcia Munson and Reba Graham, Chi Omega, won first place in sorority doubles. Patty Thomas and Norma Bellman, Alpha Phi, won second place. Paula Green and Jeanne Adams, placed third. In fourth place was Carol Edwards and Pam Bell, Alpha Phi.

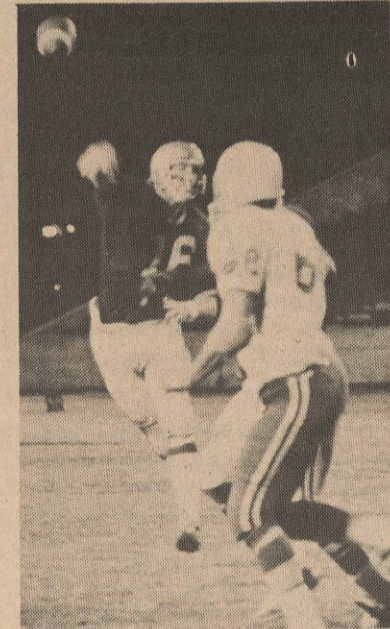

In the independent singles, Loma Bray won first and Aileen North, second.

Vanessa McCrummen and Debbie Fong placed first in independent doubles. Debbie Ryburn and Nancy Vause won second place.

Cureton is high on his teammates and eager to praise the ones he works closest with on the field, including backup quarterback Jack Frampton.

"Jack and I are probably best of friends," Cureton said. "He has helped me tremendously and I give a lot of credit to him. If I am ever injured, both the team and I have complete confidence in him."

"My receivers are real good and do a fine job," Cureton said. "Dudley (Slice, split end and the LSC's leading receiver) and I worked out together this summer. He has the ability to get open and I'm able to read him real well."

Cureton

Of the Lion running backs, Cureton said, "There couldn't be any better than ours. They're all punishing runners. I have full confidence in them to get it, when it has to be done."

"And our offensive line has done a hell of a job," Cureton continued, adding, "They demolished A&I. They deserve a lot of credit, a lot more than they get."

ET has three conference wins behind them and five remaining, including the Oct. 28 Homecoming game against defending LSC co-champion Southwest Texas.

"It's tradition to be up for our Homecoming," Cureton said, "but it's usually not hard to get pretty high for Southwest Texas."

"We think we have a good shot at the LSC title, but this conference is so well balanced that we can't let up. With teams like Southwest Texas and Angelo remaining, we have to take one game at a time."

"As long as we play the brand of ball we're capable of and keep our minds on it, we have a good chance."

"We can't overlook Stephen F. Austin (ET's next opponent Oct. 21) either. It's always tough down there," Cureton emphasized.

"Stephen F. Austin hasn't won many, but they're one of the toughest outfits, physically, in the conference," Coach Crawford warned. "They lead the conference in both pass offense and pass defense. They will beat somebody before it's over. We just hope they don't peak against us."

At times, ET's "I" formation offense becomes primarily run-oriented, which suits quarterback Cureton.

"I feel the run complements my passing," Cureton said. "I do like to pass, but as long as we can keep it balanced, about 50 per cent run and 50 per cent pass, we'll be the most successful."

Quarterback Steve Trachier tossed a 10-yard pass to Bob Koehl in the second quarter for Hubbell's initial score. The PAT failed.

Chuck Boyette set up Hubbell Hall's final score when he intercepted a pass in the fourth quarter and returned it to BSU's seven-yard line. The Trachier-to-Koehl formula worked again on a seven-yard pass for Hubbell's final TD.

BSU marched down the field in the last two minutes of play and scored on a 35-yard pass from quarterback Roger Lawrence to Dub Splawn. Lawrence hit Splawn for the PAT to complete the scoring.—DAVID CLARK

The scholarships of four Tarleton State College athletes have been terminated for disciplinary reasons and all four have withdrawn from Tarleton, athletic director Loyd Taylor has announced.

The four players were Carl Jones, Glenn Davis, Thomas Gordon, and Mike Vinson.

ing scorer and was the third-ranked scorer in the Lone Star Conference last season. Jones was an all-state guard at Wichita Falls (Hirschi).

Davis was starting defensive half-back for the Texans. He was a sophomore from Lubbock Dunbar.

Veterans May Get Increase in Benefits

ET veterans and dependents will soon be receiving an increase in their benefits if President Nixon signs a bill passed by the U.S. Senate Monday, Oct. 16.

The bill, allowing an increase in educational benefits, is designed to compensate for inflation and make Vietnam veterans' benefits comparable to those paid to World War II veterans.

A single veteran will receive an educational assistance payment of $220 a month, a 26 per cent increase. A married veteran's rate will be increased from $205 to $261 per month with additional increase for a veteran with children.

Another bill, broadening authority in the Veterans Administration to provide out-patient care for veterans, was also forwarded to the White House. In addition it provides for extending hospital benefits and out-patient care to widows and children of veterans who died of service-connected causes and to the wives and children of veterans totally disabled in service.

Bulletin Board Offers Rides, Tutors, Sitters

"Wanted: Ride to any part of Wisconsin next weekend . . ."

"Chemistry tutor available Monday nights, call . . ."

"For Sale: 9x12 rug, other miscellaneous items . . ."

Such bits of information are found on the bulletin board across from the Barber Shop in the Student Center.

The board is divided into several areas and labeled to allow quick reference to a particular item. Some areas include: For Sale, Wanted, Books, Lost, Found, Jobs, Placement Services, News, and the Student Center.

Most information is placed on the board in the form of small cards, available at one end, which are hung on hooks under appropriate headings.

Under the For Sale category recently were automobiles, a fence, a house trailer, and a "white Brahman bull."

There were no listings under jobs, nor were there any openings listed by the Placement Services, but under For Hire were listed tutors, bands, baby sitters, and shoe shines.

The Ride Needed area was almost full but the Riders Wanted section was vacant. The map of Texas, divided into sections, aids those seeking rides and riders.

Under the News section, releases are posted concerning coming campus events such as plays, special lectures, and presentations.
