Homecoming, Inauguration Activities Set for Weekend

By Gordon Davis

The inauguration of F. H. (Bub) McDowell as ET's seventh president, the crowning of the Homecoming Queen, a football game with Southwest Texas State and a float display are part of the activities slated for Homecoming '72, Saturday, Oct. 28.

The Homecoming Activities will officially begin on Friday, Oct. 27, when Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, and the ET cheerleaders sponsor a Torchlight Parade beginning at 6:30 p.m., to be followed by the lighting of a Homecoming Bonfire.

The traditional 7 a.m. breakfast in the Student Center Cafeteria for the Agricultural Alumni will begin the Homecoming Day activities Oct. 28.

Registration for ET alumni will begin at 8 a.m. in the Founder's Lounge in the Student Center. At 8:30 a.m. the Mayo Exes, former students who attended school when ET was a private school, will gather for their meeting in the Leadership Lounge.

The inauguration ceremony for McDowell will begin at 10 a.m. in the University Auditorium with Dr. Otha C. Spencer, journalism-graphic arts faculty, presiding. Dr. William Garland Button, chairman of the Board of Regents of ET and former president of the ET Alumni Association, will deliver the invocation. The inaugural address will be delivered by Thomas B. Steely, vice chairman of the Board of Regents and also a former president of the ET Alumni Association. The ET Chorale, under the direction of Charles Nelson, music faculty, will perform during the ceremony.

McDowell is the seventh administrator to head ET since its founding in 1889 as East Texas Normal College by its first president, William Leonidas Mayo. The new president holds two degrees from ET and has served under four ET presidents since beginning his career at the university in 1938 as assistant business manager.

Following the inauguration ceremony at 11:30 a.m. will be a luncheon in the Field House. Tickets to this event will be available at the door.

Beginning at 1:30 p.m., pre-game ceremonies will be held in Memorial Stadium, to be followed at 2 p.m. with the Homecoming game clash between ETSU and Southwest Texas. Special halftime ceremonies are planned by the ET Lion Band, which will include the presentation of the Homecoming Queen and her court.

A reception honoring the new president and his family will be held in the Founder's Lounge in the Student Center immediately following the game.

According to Dr. Gideon James, earth science faculty member and chairman of the inauguration planning committee, alumni, faculty, students and friends of the university will be invited to attend. SEE HOMECOMING PAGE 6

Mac Davis Will Not Appear; Helen Reddy Still Scheduled

Singer-composer Mac Davis, who was scheduled to appear in concert with Helen Reddy in the University Auditorium on Thursday, Nov. 2, will not perform on campus because of an apparent agency error in scheduling Davis on a "rest day."

George Maguire, Student Center program director, said the concert is still on, with Helen Reddy scheduled to appear with a replacement for Davis. "The concert will begin at 8 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 2, with tickets going on sale starting today in the Student Activities Center on the second floor of the Student Center."

Maguire said the tickets would not go on sale, however, if a "replacement of Davis' calibre" was not found. "We are almost definite about the replacement and are waiting only for confirmation," he said.

"A communication gap apparently existed between Davis and the agency through which we are dealing," Maguire said. "Davis has performed a lot of concerts during October and he has set aside Nov. 2 as a rest day," he explained.

Maguire said the committee working on the concert had no idea of Davis' schedule and it was just an unfortunate circumstance.

About the replacement group, the program director said, "We do not want to release the name of the group until we are definitely sure of their appearance. However, they are equal to the quality of Mac Davis and we are sure to get a confirmation."

He said no problem exists with

Helen Reddy and she will definitely appear. Her most recent recording hit is "I Am Woman."

Tickets for the performance will cost $3 for the center section and $2.50 for the sides and balcony with all seats reserved.

English Usage Test To Be Nov. 1

The next English Usage Test will be given at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 1. Another test will be given at 9 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 4, according to Dr. James M. Lacy, English faculty. He is former head of Student Use of English Committee which administers the test, now the function of a Faculty Senate committee.

Any eligible student should receive a letter of information needed for the test from the dean of Liberal and Fine Arts before Saturday, Oct. 28. A student is eligible for the test when he has 20 courses registered in the Records Office. A student who has a grade average of "B" on the four required freshman and sophomore English courses is exempted from taking the test.

If a student with a junior standing or above who is eligible for the test does not receive a letter by Oct. 28, he may check with the Records Office. If a student does not take the test in time to take the remedial composition course for those failing the test, his graduation could be delayed.

Beginning this semester, the English Usage Test will be conducted by the Curriculum Committee of the Faculty Senate.

Test papers will be graded on Wednesday, Nov. 8, and the names of the students who passed the test will be posted in the hallway of the second floor, Social Sciences Building by Wednesday, Nov. 15. A student who fails the test will be notified by mail.

United Students To Poll ET Opinions

ET students will have a chance to voice their opinions on issues and candidates of the 1972 Election Wednesday, Nov. 1, in a straw vote sponsored by the United Students Association, according to Ron Daloia, United Students President.

Daloia said the vote is a poll to see how the candidates and issues fare with the ET student body. Results of the poll will be made public prior to the Nov. 7 Election Day.

Polling places will be in residence hall lobbies and the foyer of the Student Center. Daloia said students wishing to vote do not have to be of voting age and will not need their I.D. cards.

Candidates for U. S. President, U. S. senator and Texas governor will have their names on the straw vote ballots. Under U. S. President will be Republican Candidate Richard M. Nixon, Democratic Candidate George McGovern and a blank space for any write-in candidate. Democrat Barefoot Sanders and Republican John Tower will be on the ballot for U. S. Senate. Texas gubernatorial candidates will be Democrat Dolph Briscoe, Republican Henry Grover and La Raza Unita (Mexican-American party) Ramsey Muniz.

Also on the ballot will be four amendments to the Texas Constitution. A yes or no vote will be taken on an amendment to provide that the various political subdivisions of the state may exempt not less than $3,000 of the value of residence homesteads of all persons 65 or older from ad valorem taxes under certain conditions.

Another amendment would provide

'Purlie Victorious' Spoof To Run at Playhouse

Rehearsals have begun on "Purlie Victorious," the second play to be presented by the University Playhouse this semester. The play will open at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 15, and run through Nov. 21 with nightly performances and a 2 p.m. matinee Sunday, Nov. 19.

All seats for the play will be reserved. Tickets may be purchased for $1 at the University Playhouse in the Speech-Drama Building.

The cast members of the ET production are Willie Gray, Purlie Victorious Judson; Rebecca Baurd, Lutibelle Gussie Mae Jinkins; Michelle Clay, Missy Judson; Donald Daniels, Gitlow Judson; Stephen Roberts, Charlie Cotchipee; Ida Dorsey, Idella Landy; Truman Tate, Ol' Cap'n Cotchipee; Jim Bowden, Sheriff; and Jerry Biggs, Deputy.

"Purlie Victorious" was first performed in 1964 in New York City with Ossie Davis, author of the play, in the title role. The play was the basis for the Tony award-winning musical "Purlie" on Broadway.

According to Nathan Wilson, speech-drama faculty, who is directing the play, "Purlie Victorious" is the story of Purlie Victorious Judson, a self-styled black preacher who devises a fantastic scheme to connive an inheritance from a Southern white plantation owner.

Wilson described the play as "somewhere between a social satire and a folk comedy." He also said, "This is probably one of the funniest plays we've ever done. To me, 'Purlie Victorious' is a bright and gleeful spoof of the South. It's a whopping good time for everybody."

APOs Firing-up Homecoming

As is traditional at ET, Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, is busy at work chopping wood and collecting scrap lumber to burn in the Homecoming bonfire, scheduled to burn this Friday on the field behind the ET Traffic and Security Office.

The bonfire will be burned following a Torchlight Parade that will begin at 7:30 p.m. Friday in front of the Social Sciences Building.

APO members have been cutting down trees on University property about three miles south of Commerce on Highway 50, according to John Hammersmith, first vice president of APO. "We have been cutting for about six weeks and we started hauling the wood into the campus last Friday," he said.

Hammersmith said the bonfire will be different from the past because more brush and scrap lumber collected from area residents will be burned instead of a lot of trees.

"The brush and lumber will be piled around a center telephone post and the trees will be stacked around the pile to form the usual 'teepee' shape of the bonfire," he said.

Another unusual aspect about the fire will be an old outhouse which will be hoisted to the top of the fire after it is built, Hammersmith noted. "It has a quarter moon painted on the door," he said.

Hammersmith said anyone who has scrap lumber or discarded wood articles that he wants burned should bring them to the bonfire location by Friday afternoon. He said that he does not have enough men to come by and pick up any wood, as it will take all his available manpower to haul in trees and build the fire.

Hammersmith is optimistic that this year's bonfire will come off without a hitch, such as a big rain storm. "We have been on schedule so far and foree no real problems," he said.

'Fantasticks' Called Big Success

More than 400 persons attended the six performances of "The Fantasticks" dinner-theater production last week.

According to Barry Mangels, Student Activities Board chairman, attendance far surpassed the expectations of the Student Center, and was so successful that a dinner-theater production is being planned for the spring.

'Terrarium Crafts Night' Set

The Student Activities Board of the Student Center will feature a

"Terrarium Crafts Night" at 8 p.m. Monday, Nov. 6, in the Bluebonnet and Pecan rooms of the Student Center.

Security Provides

Bicycle Registration

ET students and faculty members who wish to register their bicycles may now do so at no charge due to a service that was begun this fall by the ET Traffic and Security Department.

ET Security hopes the service will aid reducing the number of bicycle thefts on campus and also help recover stolen bikes.

The department recently purchased three etching machines to etch the number of a bicycle owner's drivers license into the bike frame. If the owner has no drivers license, his social security number will be used.

One etching machine will be at Whitley Hall from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. nightly. Others will be available at the Security office. An officer will assist in etching the identifying number.

One machine will be available for loan to students so that they may place identifying marks on their personal objects such as typewriters and tape decks.

Letter To Editor

To The Editor:

I object to the October 20 coverage of the Mansker court case. Two paragraphs were devoted to the allegation that Gary Stretcher, Vice President of the student body, might have perjured himself. Everyone who testified in that trial might have perjured himself for all The EAST TEXAN or any other human knows. No other names were mentioned in coverage, but upon checking the transcript of the trial, one would find that charges of perjury were leveled against numerous other witnesses. If personalities are to be dropped from student government The EAST TEXAN should be cautious in singling out any one person.

In fact, Mr. Stretcher has succeeded more than any other executive in remaining above the petty squabbles. His action in appointing impartial senate committee chairmen should be heartily approved by any knowledgeable parties. President Daloia and I both have felt the heat which impeachment charges can generate. Mr. Stretcher's studied actions can never generate such heat.

Finally, I correct another error. I did not disqualify myself because of "possible" prejudice. I disqualified myself because I was prejudiced. There is a difference. I am human. Who would not have been prejudiced against a person who had initiated impeachment proceedings against him? Mr. Mansker should be most pleased that I chose to invalidate myself. I would have been much harsher with his double-talk than the court was.

Words on 'Weed'

"Whereas a growing demand for reasonable laws concerning marijuana has been heard in every part of our Nation, and . . ."

So begins a resolution that was introduced in the Oct. 18 session of the Student Senate by Sen. George Sheffler. The resolution was authored by Robert Mansker, who did not introduce the material himself because the Supreme Court decision of his acquittal (Williams vs. Mansker) had not at that time been handed down to the senate.

The resolution goes on to suggest that the ET Student Senate request "the legislature of Texas to enact laws which will reduce the penalties associated with first-offense marijuana possession to not more than a misdemeanor . . ."

Included in further statements in that piece of legislation are the resolutions that "opportunity be made available to expunge the record of a (first time) offender following a reasonable period of probation," and that an "impartial committee of citizens be appointed to make recommendations to the legislature as to the feasibility of legalizing the sale and possession of marijuana."

The resolution was postponed for two weeks so that all aspects of it might be considered by all senators. It is indeed an enterprise unusual to ET, and its effects will no doubt be far-reaching if it is passed. It could even be pretty far-reaching if it isn't.

The senate is depending on public opinion and comment to help arrive at a decision on this controversial subject. Let your senator know your views. Better yet, write to The East Texan in a letter to the editor or even in a pro-con guest editorial.

The replies should be interesting.

Numeric Control Course

Offered in C. Science

An interdisciplinary course in numeric control applications is being offered for the first time this fall by the Department of Computer Science.

According to Dr. Alton Goddard, head, Computer Science Department, the purpose of the course is to study and use high level programming languages for use with numeric controlled tools. Tools such as tape operated milling machines use the numeric control system.

Dr. Goddard said that there are no prerequisites for the course, and it is especially suited for students of computer science or industry and technology.

The acquisition of a plotter which draws the shape that has been programmed on the tape has enabled the department to offer the numeric control course.

Students learn a numeric control language and write several programs to be run on the plotter. Also included in the course are field trips which help the students see how industry uses the numeric control to operate machines.

On a recent field trip to General Dynamics in Fort Worth, students heard company officials say that they now have 92 machines which are operated by numeric control. Dr. Goddard said that even though numeric control machines have been in use for a number of years, he believes that their growth has just begun. In the future he said he expects the use of numeric control machines to double or even triple.

FACULTY NOTES

Two Study Teachers Ed

Dr. Grady Tice, head Secondary and Higher Education Department, and Dr. Robert Munday, secondary and higher education faculty, are presently involved in writing behavioral objectives for the undergraduate teacher education program.

Behavioral objectives are a statement in specific terms of what a teaching candidate must be able to perform at the end of the teacher education program.

The behavioral objectives system awards teacher certificates on the competency of the student instead of how many courses of instruction he has completed.

After the behavioral objectives have been completed the student will be judged by the faculty on his level of competency.

By 1975 all teaching programs on all campuses will be performance based, according to Dr. Robert Munday, secondary and higher education faculty.

Rudoff To Attend Meeting

Dr. Robin Rudoff, history faculty, will attend the annual meeting of the Southern Historical Association Nov. 15-20 in Miami, Fla.

Dr. Rudoff will try to obtain new information which will assist in improving the curriculum of both the history department and the University Honors Program.

Bone Co-Authors Article

Dr. Larry T. Bone, chemistry faculty, has had an article, "Relative Proton Affinities of Hydrogen Sulfide and Water," accepted for publication by the Journal of Chemical Physics. The article was co-authored by J. M. Hopkins, former graduate student.

The article had previously been presented by Bone at the annual meeting of the American Society for Mass Spectrometry and by Hopkins at the American Chemical Society where it won second prize.

Byrd Writes Article

An article written by Dr. James W. Byrd, literature and languages faculty, will appear in "History of Troy State University," edited by C. B. Smith.

Numeric Control Course Offered in C. Science

An interdisciplinary course in numeric control applications is being offered for the first time this fall by the Department of Computer Science.

According to Dr. Alton Goddard, head, Computer Science Department, the purpose of the course is to study and use high level programming languages for use with numeric controlled tools. Tools such as tape operated milling machines use the numeric control system.

Dr. Goddard said that there are no prerequisites for the course, and it is especially suited for students of computer science or industry and technology.

The acquisition of a plotter which draws the shape that has been programmed on the tape has enabled the department to offer the numeric control course.

Students learn a numeric control language and write several programs to be run on the plotter. Also included in the course are field trips which help the students see how industry uses the numeric control to operate machines.

On a recent field trip to General Dynamics in Fort Worth, students heard company officials say that they now have 92 machines which are operated by numeric control. Dr. Goddard said that even though numeric control machines have been in use for a number of years, he believes that their growth has just begun. In the future he said he expects the use of numeric control machines to double or even triple.

Lions Struggle Past SFA

By Ken Brazzle

NACOGDOCHES — Whether or not week's layoff would affect the ET Lions was a big question mark in the mind of head coach Ernest Hawkins before Saturday night's contest with Stephen F. Austin.

Hawkins' question was apparently answered as the Lions struggled to a 21-9 victory over the Lumberjacks, who remain winless in five games. After watching ET flounder for almost two quarters, an assistant coach was prompt to say, "That weekend off definitely hurt us."

The Lions survived first half jitters, which saw receivers drop a number of passes and quarterback

Will Cureton have a rough time with his passing game. Cureton completed only one pass in 11 attempts during the opening half.

SFA held the Lions to 131 yards on the ground and eight yards in the air throughout the half. The eight yards through the air accounted for ET's first score. For the night, ET had 412 yards total offense, grinding out 304 on the ground and going for 108 in the air.

ET now gets ready to host Southwest Texas State at 2 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 28 in Memorial Stadium. On the line for the Lions will be sole leadership of the Lone Star Conference's top position. Both teams have identical 4-0 conference marks and 5-1 season records.

Tailback Kenneth Parks was the big spark for the Lions as he picked up 155 yards in 30 carries. Parks helped ET get started late in the second quarter by picking up 53 yards in its 63-yard scoring drive, which was capped by an eight-yard touchdown pass from Cureton to tight end Calvin Harris. Jon Washington came on to kick the first of three extra points for ET.

Early in the third period, SFA got on the scoreboard when a snap from ET's center sailed over punter Washington's head and out of the end zone. The Lumberjacks' safety pulled them to within five, 7-2, with 9:03 left in the period.

ET-SWT Tilt Saturday

For First Place in LSC

ET and Southwest Texas State, the big guns in the Lone Star Conference, will duel at 2 p.m. Saturday in Commerce to decide an undisputed leader in LSC play.

Both teams have 4-0 marks and 5-1 season records. SWT downed Sam Houston last weekend, 26-10, while ET slipped past Stephen F. Austin, 21-9.

SH has a 1-4 LSC record and 1-6 overall mark, while SFA dropped its fifth consecutive game, four in LSC action.

In other LSC action, second-place Angelo ended Texas A&I's hopes for an LSC title with a 10-0 win. Angelo stands 4-1 in conference play and 6-1 on the season. A&I is now 2-2 in the LSC and 4-3 overall.

Howard Payne, 3-2 in the LSC and 4-2 overall, nipped Tarleton, 20-16. Tarleton is winless in five LSC starts and 1-6 overall.

Sul Ross, 2-2 and 4-2, beat McMurry 17-7. McMurry, 2-4 for the season, is not competing for the LSC crown this year. Abilene Christian broke a five game losing streak with its 3-0 win over Arkansas State. ACC, 2-5 for the year, is not competing for the LSC crown this year.

Pool Entry Deadline Set

Entry deadline for the intramural pool tournament will be 5 p.m. Monday, Oct. 30, in the intramural office in the Field House.

The tournament is slated to begin on Monday, Nov. 6, in the Game Room of the Student Center. Competition will be in singles and doubles divisions and winners will be determined on the basis of the best two out of three games of eight ball.

Washington's free kick was taken on the SFA 27 by Cal Varner, who returned it to the 44. On first down, quarterback Larry Mayer dropped back to pass and middle linebacker James Talbot stepped in front of the intended receiver to put ET in business on its 48.

Cureton, who completed seven passes in 22 tries for the evening, started to connect after the interception. Cureton spotted Tim Collier running down the left sideline for 34 yards, and a pass to Harris tacked on 19 more. Six plays later, fullback Nelson Robinson went over from the one.

The Lumberjacks drove 80 yards in seven plays on their first possession of the fourth period. Mayer ran and passed SFA to the Lions' 21 before a pass interference call on cornerback Curtis Royall moved it to the one. Mayer plunged over for the score on the next play. The PAT by John Lewis was good, and SFA was within five again, 14-9.

ET's "Blue Gang" defense aided the Lions in scoring their last touchdown, as Cureton hit split end Dudley Slice on a 23-yard strike. ET's steady defense had kept SFA buried in its own territory. The Lumberjacks were forced to punt from their 21 and the kick only covered 24 yards, which provided the Lions good field position.

Greeks Win All-Star Tilt

By Sam Walker

The Greek All-Stars delt a 24-13 defeat to the Independent All-Stars Thursday night in the last intramural flag football game of the season.

The first half of action was controlled completely by the Greeks, who took a 18-0 lead at the half.

Greek quarterback Gary Luttrell tossed three touchdown passes in the first half, hitting Murray England twice for 50 and 20 yard scores.

The third TD was set up when Alan Everett intercepted a pass to put the Greeks on the Independent 20 yard line. Luttrell went to the air on the very next play and found Ken Little waiting in the end zone for the third score. All three extra point attempts failed.

Led by Ellis Sanders, the Independent All-Stars began to come alive, as Sanders took a pitch-out and ran some 50 yards for the first score. The PAT was no good.

Joe Dempsey sparked the next Independent drive with an interception that he returned to the Greek 25-yard line. A 15-yard penalty for tackling was tacked on to the gain. From there, it didn't take Mark Standefer long to cross the goal line and close the gap to 18-13.

After an interception by Jim Burris, which set the ball up on the Independent 25 yard line, Luttrell connected with Little for his fourth TD pass and the last score of the contest.

HOME COMING, INAUGURATION . . .

Seminar To Feature Films

By Joe Snyder

Seminar '72 will continue its "information" aspect tonight with films and discussion on the "social, psychological and spiritual effects" of drugs, according to Dr. Wade Birch, director of the Counseling Center. Tonight's seminar will begin at 7:30 in the Founder's Lounge of the Student Center.

Experts in each of the three fields will participate in a "Question and Answer Forum" immediately following the films. The purpose of this forum is "to get at what the participants want to know, not just what a panel wants to give them," Birch said.

Questions dealing with the social and psychologic aspects of drugs will be answered by Birch, Mike Glick and Mike Jamail of the Counseling Center. Steve Ball, psychology faculty, and Jim McDowell and Charles McDowell, sociology and anthropology faculty will also answer questions on these aspects of drug use.

Spiritual-related questions will be directed to pastor Bob Garrells of the First Lutheran Church, or to Rev. Gil Fleer of the Wesleyan Foundation.

Films will be "situation, rather than documentary or scientific information-type," Birch said. "They are designed to depict actual drug situations in order to gain individual reactions from the audience."

Birch said this week's seminar is meant "to get to the causal factors of drugs, as opposed to the mechanical factors as presented last week." Last week's panel discussion was entitled "Pharmacological, Legal and Medical Discussion of Drugs and their Effects."

Next week, on Wednesday, Nov. 1, the "alternatives" aspect of the drug seminar will begin. The first session of this second aspect will include workshops in yoga, sensory awareness and transpersonal communications and "suicied and crisis intervention workshop."

city are invited to attend all of the inaugural events.

Also to take place during the inaugural ceremony will be the dedication of ETSU's library as the James Gilliam Gee Library in the presence of the university fifth president for whom it was named.

Because of the many activities surrounding the inauguration of President McDowell, there will not be a Homecoming Parade this year. A float contest will be held on the ET campus in lieu of the traditional parade.

Float entries, to be built around a theme of "Changes '72," will be positioned in various locations on the main campus. The floats will be judged by members of the faculty. Trophies will be presented by the Office of Alumni Affairs in five categories including the President's Award, the Spirit Award, best in show, most creative and best use of theme. The winning floats will be announced at the Homecoming game.

Seven social sororities have scheduled teas at 4:30 p.m. for their alumnae and present members.

Teas are scheduled by Alpha Delta Phi, Alpha Kappa Alpha, Alpha Phi, Chi Omega, Gamma Phi Beta, Delta Sigma Theta and Kappa Delta.

Former members of other organizations will be welcomed at various formal and informal activities throughout the day. There will be a coffee for all former English and foreign language students at 8:30 a.m. in the foyer of the Hall of Languages.

Training School Exes will have a 6:30 p.m. banquet in the northwest section of the Student Center Cafeteria.

The Truax Scholarship Foundation will award scholarships to two graduate students majoring in Student Personnel and Guidance at a banquet to be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Commerce High School Cafeteria.

Tickets to this event are by reservation only.

The Front Street Warehouse, a rock group, will close the Homecoming Day activities with a dance, to be held at 8 p.m. in the Texas and American Ballrooms of the Student

Sigma Chi, social fraternity, is hosting its eighth annual Derby Day on the ETSU campus Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 24 and 25.

Derby Day activities included the Derby Chase to be held Tuesday, involving about 75 members and pledges of the fraternity being chased by members of the six social sororities on campus. Sorority members were to capture derbies being worn by Sigma Chi members. Sororities get awarded points toward the first place trophy for the derbies they capture.

three miles south of Commerce off highway 50, Farm to Market 1568—Antiques, collectable hand-crafted decorative items, custom framing. Monday, Wednesday, and Friday mornings, and Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday afternoons.

Today's events, which begin at 2:30 p.m. at the Band Practice Field, will include a limbo contest, a beauty contest, a zip strip, a pillow fight, musical ice water contest and a pole panic race.

Guy Blanchard, Sigma Chi vice president, said that the beauty contest will be judged by three local businessmen who will be identified at the contest. Blanchard said that each of the six sororities will be represented in the beauty contest.

The musical ice water contest, according to Blanchard, will be similar to musical chairs except that an entrant will have to sit in a tub of ice water instead of the usual chairs.

Blanchard said that the sorority winning first place will be awarded a rotating trophy which the sorority will be able to keep if it wins the trophy two years in a row. The second and third place winners in the Derby Day events will be awarded plaques.

The winners of each event will be awarded ribbons which will be counted to determine the first, second and third place winners.

New VA Act To Be Explained

The new Veterans' Administration Act will be explained at the Veterans' Club meeting at 7 p.m. tonight in the Coronado Room of the Student Center, according to Al Horstmann, director of ET Veterans' Affairs. The act, signed into law by President Nixon last week, contains several items of interest to veterans and dependents other than financial benefits, Horstmann said.

Also, Ann Dean, ET counselor, will speak on how the Counseling Center can work with veterans.

The club and the meeting are open not only to veterans, Horstmann said, but to dependents and widows who also receive benefits through the VA office at ET.

Figures released by Horstmann show that approximately 1400 students, 16 per cent of the student body, receive benefits through the ET Veterans' Office. Most of the recipients are men, Horstmann said.

The federal G.I. Bill provides monthly benefits for 902 veterans and 73 dependents at ET. Twenty students are taking courses under the rehabilitation program and 228 dependents receive partial payments.

Under the state-funded Hazlewood Act, 122 students are receiving benefits and others are taking extension courses under this program.
