No Delay Seen In Spring Classes

The 1974 spring semester will begin as scheduled, with no problems expected because of the energy shortage, according to ET President F.H. McDowell.

McDowell told students at a luncheon in his home Thursday, Nov. 29, that the start of the spring semester will not be delayed. He said the university has been assured of adequate fuel to last through the semester.

Residence halls will officially open at 2 p.m. Monday, Jan. 7, and the first meal of the semester will be served at 5 p.m. in the University Cafeteria.

All undergraduate students enrolling at ET for the first time are required to attend orientation prior to registration. Orientation will begin at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday, Jan. 8, in the University Auditorium. Academic advisors will be available for student advisement from 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Orientation will be continued on Wednesday, Jan. 9.

Spring registration will begin at 7:30 on Thursday, Jan. 10, in the Student Center. Students registering for night classes may do so from 5-8 p.m. Registration will continue on Friday, Jan. 11, from 7:30 a.m.-5 p.m.

Registration for Saturday students and all students who have not completed registration will be held on Saturday, Jan. 12. Saturday will be the last day to register without paying a late fee of $6.

Ken Wallace, associate director, Admissions and Records, said that there have been problems in the past during registration caused by students who come before their scheduled registration times. He said a new procedure has been planned to allow each student to register on time without being hampered by early registrants.

Classes will begin on Monday, Jan. 14, at 7:30 a.m., despite rumors that the times for first-period classes had been changed, Wallace said.

Blood Drive, 2nd Largest

The blood drive on campus last Wednesday and Thursday sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega and Gamma Sigma Sigma, service organizations, collected 259 pints of blood, making it the second largest blood drive in ET history, according to Rick Ramirez, blood drive chairman.

The ET Blood Bank's most successful drive was two years ago when 292 pints were donated to the Wadley Central Blood Bank of Dallas.

Ramirez said last week's blood drive came at a good time because Wadley was running short of some blood types.

He explained that the ET Blood Bank has an account number at Wadley's with a specific amount of blood, this year 60 pints going to the ET bank for its own use and the rest going to the Wadley bank. At the end of the year the remaining blood will be taken out of the ET account and the number voided with the next ET blood drive starting with a new number, Ramirez said.

He said 389 pints have been collected by the ET bank plus last week's drive number, making a total of 648 collected in all by the ET Blood Bank.

Those who donated a pint of blood during the drive are members of the ET Blood Bank, and they and their immediate families are entitled to a free supply of blood at any affiliated hospital in the United States for one year.

Ramirez added that an ET student who is not a member of the blood bank can get blood by contacting APO. In special needy cases after the circumstances are known, those involved can get blood from the ET bank without any "hassle," he said.

A Hunt County Blood Drive is being planned in the "near future" and will take place at Citizens General Hospital in Greenville, he added. An ET student who did not donate blood at the drive on campus can go to the Hunt County Drive and have the blood added to the ET bank, Ramirez explained.

A blood bank conference sponsored by Wadley with college blood banks to develop ideas for improving blood drives is also planned, Ramirez said.

The ET Blood Bank is the third largest in the state with North Texas State second, and Texas A&M on top.

693 To Seek ETSU Degrees Dec. 21

Degree applications have been filed by 693 degree candidates for graduation at Winter Commencement exercises set for 10 a.m. Friday, Dec. 21, in the University Auditorium.

ETSU President F.H. McDowell will welcome the degree candidates, their families and friends. The invocation and benediction will be given by the Rev. Walter Lazenby, minister of the First Presbyterian Church in Commerce.

The degree candidates include 457 for bachelor's degrees, 220 for master's and 16 doctorates. Graduation will depend upon satisfactory completion of courses now in progress.

Certificates to teach in public schools of Texas are sought by nearly half of the candidates for bachelor's degrees at secondary school level, elementary or all-level.

Almost 100 of the master candidates seek degrees with majors in the College of Education.

According to Dr. Robin Rudoff, honor director, three graduating seniors have been named by the Office of Independent Studies as candidates for graduation with honors.

The students are Craig L. Benedict, industry-technology major; Edwin Michael Flagg, chemistry major; and Carol Parker, chemistry major.

Final exams will be conducted Saturday, Dec. 15, through Friday, Dec. 21. Friday will also be the closing day of the fall semester with teachers' grade reports due at the Records Office by 5 p.m.

Opening day of the spring semester will be Monday, Jan. 7, with a faculty meeting scheduled for 9:30 a.m. in the Student Center and residence halls opening at 2 p.m.

Following orientation sessions for new students on Tuesday and Wednesday, registration will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with classes starting at 7:30 a.m. Monday, Jan. 14.

Cockrell, Blakely Editors for Spring

M.L. Cockrell, Cayuga senior, was named editor of The East Texan, campus newspaper, and Melanie Blakely, Commerce senior, editor of the ETSU Special, campus magazine, for the spring semester by the Student Publications Committee Dec. 6.

Denise Bryant was named business manager for the East Texan.

It was also decided by the committee that hereafter the editor of the ETSU Special would be elected for only one semester instead of for the full academic year in order to provide experience for more persons.

Grad Is Rhodes Nominee

Charles T. Waggoner, graduate political science major at ETSU, has been invited to the state interview for candidates for the Rhodes Scholarship to the University of Oxford.

Dr. G. Ellis Sandoz, head, Political Science Department, said Waggoner's invitation is significant because approximately 50 per cent of the scholarship applicants are eliminated before the state interview. The interview will be held Wednesday, Dec. 12, in Houston.

He explained that two representatives from Texas will be selected at the state interview. These two candidates will be eligible to appear before the district committee in New Orleans, which will select not more than four persons to receive scholarships. Over-all, only 32 scholarships will be awarded in the United States, Dr. Sandoz said.

Waggoner, whose hometown is Terrel, has a four-point average as a graduate student. He received his at ET last May. The candidate also bachelor's degree in political science serves as a teaching assistant in the Political Science Department.

Hunt County Voters May Register Now

Any student who wishes to register to vote in Hunt County may do so by filling out the proper forms in the United Students Association Office in the Student Center, according to Eddie Garcia, USA president.

Garcia said that a registrant must be a United States citizen, attend ET or have lived in Hunt County for 30 days or more, be 18 years of age and cannot have been convicted of any federal crime.

If a student is registered to vote in another county and wishes to change, Garcia said, he may turn in his old registration certificate to a Hunt County official or at the USA Office.

President's Greetings

Jo and Bub McDowell wish you a very merry Christmas and a bright and happy year.

EDITORIAL

Last Issue Today

It's dead week and I'm faced with the trauma of wishing the week was over yet wanting more time to prepare myself. This is the last issue of The East Texan this semester and my last issue as editor.

Les Cockrell, the new editor, and his staff will be around next semester to get out the newspaper. Yes, there will be a newspaper. Carl Hyatt, ET print shop manager, has assured us that he has lined up enough paper.

It's been an interesting semester for me as editor. I feel I have become more alert to student needs other than my own. However, I don't feel I have been instrumental in changing the things I would liked to have seen changed, like student government.

Our primary goal on The East Texan is to keep the students informed on campus happenings. I hope we haven't disappointed you.

Changed Drug Laws Result in Confusion

By Thomas Garrett

In recent weeks there has been an increase in drug arrests in Commerce, the most recent netting 12 persons. Most of the arrests have been for marijuana violations, some in part as results of confusion about the new drug laws recently passed by the Texas legislature, according to Jerry Davis, Hunt County attorney.

Davis said many persons seem to feel that since the penalties for marijuana possession were reduced to a misdemeanor, it is no longer illegal. The county attorney said that there will not be any de-emphasizing of the law at all. "It is still a criminal offense, and we intend to prosecute," Davis said.

The new law, which went into effect Aug. 27, is the Texas Controlled Substance Act which makes possession of four ounces or less of marijuana a misdemeanor. Davis said many persons feel that the most they can receive for possession is a $1,000 fine or a six-month term in the county jail. He said that this is correct for possession of two ounces or less of marijuana. For possession of from two to four ounces the penalty doubles, with a $2,000 fine or a year in the county jail.

The classifications for marijuana are a Class B Misdemeanor for two ounces or less and a Class A Misdemeanor for two to four ounces.

Possession of marijuana becomes a felony when a person has more than four ounces. This is a third-degree felony with a 2-10 year sentence in the Texas Department of Corrections (TDC) and a possible $5,000 fine. The latter is up to the judge's discretion.

Sale or delivery of one-fourth of an ounce of marijuana or more is also a third degree felony while less than one-fourth of an ounce is a Class B Misdemeanor, if no money changes hands.

In some of the arrests and raids made by the Commerce Police Department pills and syringes have been confiscated. Possession of pills and drugs other than marijuana fall into what has been called the dangerous drugs category, though some are under the controlled substance act.

Davis said that simple possession of drugs such as dexadrine, benzedrine, seconal, terinal and chloral hydrate were formerly dangerous drugs, but are now considered controlled substances and are Class A Misdemeanors ($2,000 fine or one year in jail). Manufacture, sale or delivery of such drugs is a third-degree felony.

LSD falls into the dangerous drug category. Possession of it is a second degree felony carrying a 2-20-year sentence in the TDC and possible $10,000 fine, again at the discretion of the judge. Manufacture, sale or delivery of LSD is a first-degree felony which carries a sentence of 5-99 years in the TDC.

Possession of heroin, opium, cocaine, morphine, methadone, Demarol and pethidine is a second degree felony, Davis said. The manufacture, sale or delivery of such drugs is a first degree felony.

The county attorney said that he felt police would now make more arrests for marijuana violations than before, simply because of the changes in the law. He also said that more cases will probably be filed with his office for the same reason.

When asked how police go about making a raid, Davis said that an officer must first get a search warrant. In order to do this, he said, the officer must show probable cause as to why he wants to make a search for drugs and must state the basis for his belief before a justice of the peace. A search warrant may then be issued along with an arrest warrant for the person owning or residing in the place to be searched.

Letter To Editor

To The Editor:

In your Dec. 7 edition, the Housing Office made a request for commuting students to consider living on campus.

That is a large-scale joke. If this campus wasn't run so much like a high school, maybe more people would live on campus.

The only legal place on campus to indulge in alcoholic beverages is West Halls. There are no dormitories on campus where there is seven-day, 24-hour open house. The "Coed Dormitory Experience" at Berry Hall is a bigger joke than Housing wanting commuters to live on campus.

Just off the record, about 5-15 per cent of ET's "commuting students" live here in Commerce in apartments. Open your eyes, Dr. Pope! Unless you change and revise your rules, you won't get anyone else to live on campus.

SAB Announces Spring Films

"The Heart is a Lonely Hunter" will kick off the spring semester's movie schedule on Sunday, Jan. 13, according to Danny Walbridge, chairman of the Cinemedia committee of the Student Activities Board.

Other movies planned for the spring semester are "The Big Store" (Marx Brothers), "Dirty Harry", "Lady Sings the Blues," "The Candidate" and "The Life and Times of Judge Roy Bean."

Also planned are an Easter special on April 14 and an all-day film festival to be held in March.

Spring Sci. Fi. Course Set

A science and fiction course cross-listed as English 445 and Physics 445 will be offered during the spring semester at 5A. The course will be taught by Dr. Arlen Zander, physics; Dr. Jim Reynolds, English; Dr. Steve Ball, psychology. The objectives of the course are to investigate concepts such as the impact of scientific thought on the imagination of the artist or writer, the conflict between scientific and humanistic values, the role of science fiction in predicting and shaping the future and the dialogue which can be attained by men of science and men of literature. The course may be counted toward a major or minor in physics or English and carries credit of three semester hours.

In the interdisciplinary course the three instructors will meet and teach each class. Materials include several movies, novels dealing with science, and short story anthologies.

ET Participates in Tulsa Art Show

Eight faculty members, students and former students of the Art Department recently exhibited works in the Mid-Western Graphics Annual Show in Tulsa, Okla.

Six works received juror purchase recommendations or were purchased by the Tulsa City-County Library for its circulating collection.

"Metallic Formation XVII," by

Karl Umlauf, art faculty; "Chair Series No. 1" by Sandra Hu, art faculty; "Tripartite Division" by David A. Wallin, art student; and "Edith Sitwell" by Kandy Kinder Radzinski, former art student; were purchased by the Tulsa City-County Library.

"Nexus (One-F)" by James Allumbaugh, art faculty; and "You Catch 'Em, They Catch 'Em" by Dale Conner, former art student, were juror purchase recommendations. Also exhibiting in the show were Charles McGough, head, Art Department, "Upon Eagles Wings," and Greg Metz, art student, "Portrait of a Young Artist."

The jury consists of Rudy O. Pozzatti of printmaking at the University of Indiana, and Garo Antreasian, instructor of lithography, University of New Mexico.

MC Center To Sponsor Dance

The Multi-Culture Center will sponsor a dance at 7:30 p.m. Wed., Dec. 12 in the American Ball Room of the Student Center.

The Children of the Earth will provide music and there will be refreshments and a prize for dance contest winners.

Phillips Has One Man Show

Barry Phillips, graduate student in art, is exhibiting a one-man show at the University of Texas at Arlington Dec. 4 through Jan. 15.

Phillips won the show as part of his prize at the Tarrant County Painting and Sculpture Show. The show will also serve as Phillips's graduate show.

The show is on the sixth floor of the University of Texas at Arlington's library.

LSC ROUNDUP

Beamon Named All-America

Safety Autry Beamon, a unanimous All-Lone Star Conference selection for the past two seasons, has been chosen to the Associated Press Small college All-America first team.

The 6-2, 195-pound junior from Kaufman led the LSC in pass interceptions this past season, with seven thefts, after leading the league last year with 12. Beamon has been first team All-LSC and first team All-Texas for three seasons.

Joining Beamon on the first team was Abilene Christian freshman runningback Wilbert Montgomery. Montgomery led ACC to the National Intercollegiate Athletics Association champion, scoring 31 touchdowns during the regular season and six in the Wildcats' two playoff victories.

Larry Mayer scampered 61 yards for a touchdown to ignite Stephen F. Austin to a 31-10 victory over Gardner Webb in the first annual Poultry Bowl Saturday in Gainesville, Ga.

Mayer's score gave the Lumberjacks a 10-0 lead in the second quarter. The sophomore signal caller galloped 55 yards in the third period to set up a seven-yard scoring run by Dick Austin.

SFA fullback Bill Tyler rambled for 150 yards on 18 carries, including a 70-yard touchdown run in the final quarter. John Reece scored on a 14-yard sprint, and John Lewis added a 32-yard field goal for the 'Jacks.

SFA netted 468 yards on the ground but only three yards passing. The 'Jacks finished the season 9-3.

Gardner Webb, closing its season 8-4, scored on Mike Stephens' 22-yard field goal and a two-yard run by Scott Thompson.

In Lone Star Conference games Monday night, ET retained its LSC lead by knocking off Texas A&I, 77-76, while Sul Ross nipped Abilene Christian College, 86-83, and Southwest Texas dropped Tarleton 78-67. In a non-conference tilt Stephen F. Austin was smothered by Texas A&M, 87-62.

In Saturday night LSC games, ET beat SWT, 60-57; Tarleton dumped A&I, 96-94; and Angelo ripped ACC, 105-87. In non-conference play, McMurry downed Howard Payne, 71-65, and Midwestern beat SFA, 74-72.

FCA To Send Gifts To Florida Athlete

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes initiated a project to send flowers and a get-well card to a high school athlete who broke his neck. The FCA also passed an amendment to change its meeting dates for the spring semester, at the meeting on Wednesday, Dec. 5, according to Jimmy Talley, FCA president.

The Miami, Fla., high school athlete who broke his neck will be paralyzed for life, Talley said.

The first meeting of the spring semester will be Jan. 16, 1974. Additional regular FCA meetings will be the first and third Wednesdays of each month.

More Students in Austin Dorms

AUSTIN—University of Texas students have returned to student housing facilities within the central campus this fall, according to The Daily Texan, student newspaper.

Dr. Ronald Brown, vice president for student affairs, said the reasons for the full dormitories were lower food costs at the dormitories compared with city living and central campus activities students want to participate in.

KDs Rip Chi Os, 28-11, For IM Sorority Crown

Kappa Delta mauled Chi Omega 28-11, to win the women's Sorority League intramural basketball championship, Thursday, Dec. 6, and the Boobs will play Smith Hustlers at 6 p.m. today for the Independent League title.

Forward Donna Patterson sparked the KDs by being high pointer every game and by adding 15 points in the title game. The KDs held a 4-2 first quarter lead and stretched it to 13-2 at half. By the end of the third quarter, the KDs led 23-4, while the fourth quarter found Chi Omega narrowing the margin to 28-11.

Chi Omega was handicapped by the absence of forward Sherry Waters. Trish King dumped in six points for six points for Chi Omega to gain scoring honors.

The Boobs won the winners' bracket of the Independent League tournament, while Smith Hustlers captured the losers' bracket. The Boobs forfeited to the Hustlers Monday, Dec. 10, which leads to the rematch today because a team must lose twice before elimination from the tournament.

Lions Leap Into LSC Lead

By Jake Sandlin

With two Lone Star Conference victories under lock-and-key, ET steps briefly into "big college" competition, taking on Texas Christian University tonight in Fort Worth, and Memphis State University Saturday in the Mid-South Coliseum in Memphis, Tenn. Both contests start at 7:30 p.m.

The Lions, 3-1 for the season and leading the LSC with a 2-0 slate, escaped with two close conference wins, 77-76 over Texas A&I Monday night and 60-57 over Southwest Texas Saturday night, both in Commerce.

TCU, a member of the Southwest Conference and the National Collegiate Athletic Association, sports a 1-3 record for the season. MSU, an independent member of the NCAA, is ranked 10th nationally, with a 4-0 mark. The Tigers were runnersup for the national championship, losing to perennial champ UCLA.

The Lions built an 18-point lead over A&I Monday before the Javelinas surged back during the second half and trimmed the final ET margin to 77-76.

A short jumper by sophomore guard O'Neal Tarrant put the Lions in front 47-29 with 2:19 left in the first half, but the Javelinas bounced back after intermission to lead 50-49, with 15:11 remaining in the game. ET scored only two points during that seven minute span.

Freshman forward Nate Granger put the Lions back in front, 53-52, on a tip-in, with 13:49 left. A&I's Danny Kaspar hit from 15 feet away to give the advantage back to the Hogs, 56-55, with 12:28 to go.

The Lions tied the score four times before taking control of the contest, with 5:41 left, as Hugo Cabrera laid the ball in, putting the score at 67-65. Dean Thomas sank two free throws to give the Lions a 73-66 advantage, with 3:08 remaining.

Hoegie Simmons slashed ET's margin to one, 75-74, on a layup with 53 seconds left, but fouled Granger in the process. Granger practically insured the win with his two charity tosses, making the score 77-74. A&I's final two points came on two free shots by Ricky Calhoun after the game was over, as he was fouled at the buzzer.

Tarrant led the Lions' scoring, with 19 points, while Hugo Cabrera and Granger each scored 16 for ET. Thomas had 10 and freshman Pat Laue had eight. Thomas topped the rebounding category, with 19, and Granger added 10.

Jeff St. Clair of A&I was high scorer for the game with 22 points. Kaspar had 14, and Simmons scored 13 for the Hogs. George Shivers grabbed nine of A&I's rebounds.

Simmons was ranked second among conference scorers coming into the contest, carrying a 25.6 per-game average. Tarrant was ranked third in the LSC, with a 24-point average coming into Monday's contest.

Tarrant hit six of his 16 shots from the field and converted seven of seven free-throw attempts. Simmons managed to convert five of 27 shots from the field and sank three of four charity shots.

A&I, 3-3 on the season and 0-2 in conference play, will participate in the Alamo Classic in San Antonio, Friday, along with LSC adversaries SWT and Stephen F. Austin.

Cabrera and Tarrant each converted both ends of one-and-one situations in the final 33 seconds to grasp the Lions' first victory in LSC competition this season, 60-57, over SWT Saturday.

Cabrera sank his two charity throws, his only two shots of the second half, to raise ET's margin to 58-55, with 33 seconds remaining. Bobcat Billy Clark cut the score to 58-57 on a 20-foot jumper with 23 seconds left, before Tarrant was fouled with seven seconds to go.

Tarrant hit both free shots to ice the win, and to lead the night's scoring with 23 points. Freshman Nate Granger added 11 points for the Lions and hauled in eight rebounds.

Clark led SWT with 22 points, all from the 20 to 25-foot range. Travis Cornett scored 15 points and grabbed eight rebounds for the Bobcats.

SWT had its biggest lead of the night in a ball-control first half when Cornett sank a rebound shot with 3:05 to go in the half, putting the score at 24-19. Thomas narrowed the halftime margin to 24-23, converting a left-handed hook from 10 feet out and following seconds later with a tip-in shot.

A three-point play by Tarrant, with 12:44 remaining in the contest, gave ET a 37-36 lead and put the Lions in control for the night. ET stretched its lead to seven, 54-47, when Tarrant hit two free throws, with 3:01 left.

Cornett narrowed the gap to 54-53, but Granger scored off a rebound, with 1:30 remaining, to move the score to 56-53. Celester Collier reduced the margin to one, before Eric Bartlett fouled Cabrera with 33 seconds to go.

The loss dropped SWT to 2-3 for the season and 0-1 in the LSC.

In other games during the semester vacation, ET will participate in the Cotton Bowl Tournament in Dallas, Friday-Saturday, Dec. 28-29. The Lions go up against Southern State (Ark.) Wednesday, Jan. 2, in Magnolia, Ark., then return to LSC play Saturday, Jan. 5, battling Sam Houston in Huntsville. ET will then tangle with Stephen F. Austin Monday, Jan. 7, in Nacogdoches, and take on Tarleton Saturday, Jan. 12, in Stephenville.

LSC'S SIXTH TITLE

ACC Rolls Past Elon, 42-14

Quarterback Clint Longley and runningback Wilbert Montgomery were the big guns for Lone Star Conference champ Abilene Christian Saturday, as the Wildcats shot down undefeated Elon (N.C.) College, 42-14, to claim the NAIA championship in Shreveport, La.

Longley, the NAIA national leader in passing and total offense this past season, completed 19 of 33 passes for 341 yards, including touchdown tosses of 68, 11, 6 and 17 yards.

Montgomery, the LSC's "Freshman of the Year" this season, rushed for 159 yards on 21 carries and scored one touchdown. Montgomery also caught four passes for 79 yards and a score.

Runningback Hubert Pickett scored on a two-yard run for ACC's other touchdown. The Wildcats closed their season with an 11-1 record, which included a 9-0 LSC slate. ACC's only loss was to Arkansas State in the Wildcats' opener, 56-46.

Quarterback Joe West passed 28 yards to Alex McMillan, and McMillan scored again on a two-yard run for Elon's two scores. Elon, ranked No. 1 among the nation's small colleges going into the game, finished its season 12-1.

The national championship was the LSC's second consecutive and fourth in the past five years. ET claimed the title last season, and Texas A&I won the championship in 1969 and 1970. A&I also took the national laurels in 1959 and Sam Houston shared the crown with Concordia (Minn.) in 1964.

IM Basketball Dates Set

Registration for intramural basketball will begin Monday, Jan. 14, and end Thursday, Jan. 17, according to Jim Baldwin, director of men's intramural sports. Play will begin Tuesday, Jan. 22.

Nuclear Chemistry Paper Accepted

A paper entitled "Fast Neutron Studies in Uranium" by Dr. Moses Attrep, Jr., chemistry faculty, and Dr. Kendall S. Tasa, former chemistry doctoral student, has been accepted for publication in the Journal of Inorganic and Nuclear Chemistry. Dr. Kendall is teaching at Brazosport Community College.

The study of the neutron composition of natural uranium systems has been conducted using specialized radiochemical techniques and counting equipment. The study will provide information of the nuclear geochemistry of uranium ores in the earth.

Synthesis To Be Reported

A paper entitled "Synthesis of Pyridyl Meso Substituted Dipyrromethanes" by Kenneth R. Ashley, chemistry faculty, and Jai P. Nagar-katti, doctoral student in chemistry, has been accepted for publication in "Synthesis," an international journal of methods in synthetic organic chemistry published in West Germany.

Dipyrromethanes are the most suitable starting materials for the total synthesis of porphyrin complexes. The chemistry of dipyrromethanes and their metal complexes would provide insight into the role of porphyrins like chlorophyll, heme and Cyanocobalamine (Vitamin B12) in biological systems.

Godbold Presents Paper

"Teacher Training for Effective Questioning" was the subject of a paper presented by Dr. John V. Godbold secondary and higher education faculty, as part of a research symposium at Stanford University Nov. 20. The research symposium included presentations from across the nation and was jointly sponsored by the National Council for the Social Studies and the Stanford Center for Research and Development in Teacher Education.

Physicists at Oak Ridge

Dr. Charles E. Jones, head, Physics Department, and Dr. Arlen

R. Zander, physics faculty, attended the recent Atomic Physics Consortium conference at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

The purpose of the conference was to establish a group of selected universities that would receive special research privileges in atomic physics at Oak Ridge National Laboratory. ET has been invited as one of these universities.

Wheeler Houston Assistant

Dr. R. W. Wheeler, psychology faculty, served recently in the Houston Independent School District as a technical assistant for reading teachers. The program was sponsored by "Right to Read," an organization which is a part of the federal Health, Education, and Welfare Department, according to Dr. Wheeler.

Zander To Be on KGVL

Dr. Arlen Zander, physics faculty, will discuss the Comet Kohoutek on the current events program "Town Topics" produced by Radio Station KGVL, Greenville, at 3 p.m. Monday, Dec. 17.

SPRING . . . CORRECTION . . .

day, will be the last day to register. "That's purely speculation," Wallace said when asked if enrollment would fall in the spring because of the energy shortage. "The enrollment is always off in the spring from fall, sometimes as much as 20 per cent." Wallace said that with all the efforts people are making to form car pools and help commuters, that the energy shortage should cause no significant changes in the number of students at ET next semester.

The names of Gene Sloan and John Owens were omitted as winners of the Delta Tau Delta Cross Country competition in the Wednesday, Dec. 5, issue of The East Texan. Sloan and Owens, who entered in the independent division, placed first and second in over-all individual competition, but there were not enough entries in the independent division to award a team title. Pi Kappa Phi's team captured first-place team honors in the fraternity division.

CORRECTION . . . Locust Pics To Be Taken

Orientation for seniors interested in graduate school will be held at 3 p.m. Wednesday, in the Texas Ballroom of the Student Center. The Friday, Dec. 7, edition of The East Texan said that the meeting would take place at the Office of Testing, Orientation and School Relations.

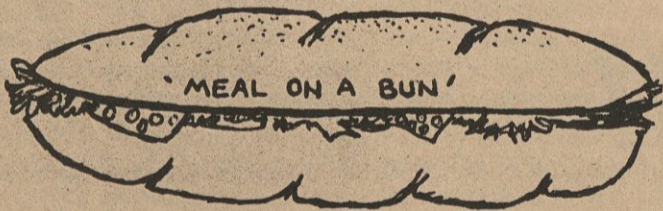

Student photographs for the Locust, university yearbook, will be taken at spring registration Jan. 10 and 11, according to Mrs. Neva Grieves, editor. This will be the only time during the spring semester when student pictures will be taken, she said.
