NO. 31

New Forum Meets; Sanction Not Given

By M. L. Cockrell

The Presidents' Forum, governmental body designed by Eddie Garcia, United Students Association president, to replace the Student Senate, met for the first time Thursday, Jan. 31, even though the ET administration has not formally dissolved the senate and sanctioned the forum.

Members of the forum received copies of a summary written by Garcia outlining the structure of the new body, discussed student problems with the campus liquor policy, optional housing and the English Usage Test, and heard a proposal by Craig Benedict, chief justice of the Supreme Court, to change the Student Judicial Court to the Student Judicial Committee.

According to the summary written by Garcia, the highest position in the forum would be that of spokesman. The position, to be filled by Garcia himself, would carry with it the power to veto any recommendations of the forum. The veto may be overridden by a two-thirds vote.

The assembly moderator, Gary Stretcher, current Senate president, would preside over all meetings of the forum and make committee assignments. He would also set up agendas for the meetings and notify members of upcoming meetings.

Other officers in the forum would be the parliamentarian and the campus manager. The first parliamentarian would be Chief Justice Benedict. The manager would be an appointive position by the president subject to approval by a simple majority vote of the forum. He receives a salary that is currently paid to administrative assistants.

Duties of the manager would be the recommendation of students to various committees, with presidential approval, and answering questionnaires or correspondence relative to the university.

The forum would include the presidents or delegated officers from the Interfraternity Council, Inter-Residence Hall Council, Student Activities Board, Panhellenic, Cultural Center, the Association of Women Students, and class presidents.

Garcia said that 51 per cent of the forum's membership would be considered a quorum and members can be added or replaced by a two-thirds vote. He said that the election of the spokesman and moderator would be from the membership of the forum and will be approved by a vote of the student body in April. Elections of the USA would be governed by the Election Commission, and held in the second week in April.

According to Garcia, all funds except saving certificates at the Commerce Savings and Loan, the local bank account, and the state budget presently under the title Student Senate, would be assumed by the Forum. All expenditures over $50 would require approval of the forum. If the forum cannot reach a quorum, the dean of student life could authorize the expenditure.

Garcia told the forum that each member should study the summary, and bring forth any changes at the next meeting, to be held Thursday, Feb. 7.

The forum heard a complaint by Debbie Hobaugh that ET Security had confiscated a bottle of wine from her car in Whitley Hall parking lot. Hobaugh said that she had placed the bottle on top of her car prior to the time of confiscation.

Benedict, delegated to contact the Security Office by Garcia, told the forum that the officer was required to take the bottle because it was in plain sight on campus property. The forum agreed that the matter should be taken to the office of Janice King, assistant dean, Student Life.

Darlene Ewing, IRHC president, told the forum that efforts are being made to change the liquor policy in campus housing. After discussion, Garcia moved that the forum be in favor of liquor in all campus housing. The motion was seconded by Benedict and passed by the forum in a voice vote.

CPD Offers $1,320 Reward

By Thomas Garrett

Commerce police are offering a reward of $1,320 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for a series of burglaries and rapes that began Feb. 8, 1973.

The most recent was Jan. 10, when the home of a 91-year-old woman was broken into and she was raped and robbed.

According to Chief Jack Booth of the Commerce Police Department, what he calls a "reign of terror" began last year when burglaries connected with the person being sought were reported every 10 or 15 days. He said no reports were made after Oct. 8, 1973, until the most recent incident.

He said all the victims of this burglar have been elderly white women, aged 60 on up, who live alone. Booth said only cash has been stolen.

Detective John Sands of the CPD said the descriptions given by victims have varied, but that most have described the burglar as a young black male, around five feet, 11 inches tall, about 160 pounds, and having a short Afro hair style.

Sands said 15 or 20 burglaries and two reported rapes, possibly more, are believed connected to the suspect. He said the CPD has been unable to find any leads or fingerprints in any of the burglaries and that the department is offering the reward in the hopes of finding new information leading to the identity of the man being sought.

He said he wants anyone who may have information to come forward and help get the man responsible for these incidents off the streets. Sands said he knows of several unreported rapes, some that could possibly be linked to the man the police are seeking and that anyone involved should contact the CPD.

Sands also said the department has psychologists, private investigators and other law enforcement agencies aiding in the search.

Anyone having information can get in touch with the CPD, 886-3060, or

Commerce Attorney Set For Marijuana Session

Richard Carter, Commerce attorney, will conduct a final session on marijuana and possession laws from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 7, in the Student Center.

The Leisure Learning sessions began Monday at the Center with an introduction to the subject matter and a summary of existing laws. Tuesday night's participants received first-hand information on possible charges that could be filed on someone caught with marijuana.

The topic of the session, "The Bust," featured John Sands, detective, Commerce Police Department, who spoke on search and seizure; Hunt County Sheriff Wayne Green, who had information on arrests and incarceration; Merrick Money, Greenville justice of the peace, who offered material on arraignment and the setting of bail; and Norman Gray, Greenville bail bondsman, who spoke briefly on bail and bailbonds.

Thursday night's topic will be "The Trial or Disposition and the Aftermath" and will include comments from a local prosecuting attorney or

Dishonesty ET Problem

Are college students more dishonest today than students were in the past? Or has the definition of honesty changed? An increasing number of ET students, faculty members and staff members are getting property and money ripped off everyday.

A quick trip through the ET Security Office or the Commerce Police station will furnish proof of the increasing number of thefts of items ranging from stereos, cameras and jewelry all the way up to automobiles.

But those thefts are performed by a small group of dishonest people who could hardly be called average ET students, right? Maybe. But there's another rip-off that is just as bad and maybe worse that can be traced to even the "nicest" of ET students.

According to William Smith, senior director for ARA Slater Food Service, one of the greatest expenses faced by his company is the loss of food taken from the cafeteria by students.

Smith said that students constantly fill purses, pockets and knapsacks with food, help themselves to silverware and glasses and when caught claim that they are entitled to the goods because they "paid" for them when they bought a meal ticket.

Food taken from the cafeteria only creates a shortage for other students. Money spent replacing plates, silverware and glassware is money that cannot be spent to benefit the students. In essence, any student who steals from the cafeteria not only steals from his fellow students, but from himself as well.

Students do not realize how bad the problem is, Smith said. Usually they feel that no one will miss what they take, but when a small amount is multiplied over and over by many students, the problem gets out of hand.

In the past there have been many complaints about the quality of food and service in the cafeterias and calls for improvement. In light of the problems faced by Smith and other cafeteria employees, the service offered by the cafeteria is excellent. If the problems of theft and waste, in itself a form of theft, could be solved, then the service would improve.

We feel it is time that students stopped kidding themselves. A student who buys a meal ticket is entitled to the number of meals a week listed on the ticket and no more. The cafeteria should not be used as a supermarket for friends, or as a cheap place to acquire silverware and glassware to furnish an apartment.

It's time to stop the rash of thefts on the ET campus and a good place to start is in the cafeteria. Are college students more dishonest today than in the past? We're not sure. MLC

McDowell Supports College Finance Compromise in Austin

By Hardy Bratton

ET President F. H. McDowell said Thursday that he fully supported compromise measures set forth at the Constitutional Convention at Austin by representatives of the Council of Presidents, Public Senior Colleges and Universities last Wednesday.

The compromise asked for: Continued constitutional status of the University of Texas permanent fund;

Keeping and enlarging the state ad valorem tax for construction and improvement of permanent college buildings, purchase of equipment;

And constitutional status for the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System.

"Speaking for the Board of Regents and the president's office," he said, "I personally and officially endorse what the council presented at Austin."

McDowell, secretary of the organization, said the council had been working on the proposal for several months prior to its presentation. It marks one of the first times state-supported four-year colleges and universities have presented a united front in Austin on the question of financing for institutions of higher learning.

"The proposal," said McDowell, "represents our best thinking on the subject of financing."

A point-by-point explanation of the compromise is necessary to clarify the council's position before the education committee at the capitol.

Some lobbies, particularly some student body leaders at the University of Texas at Austin, oppose continued constitutional status of the UT Permanent Fund, according to some news reports.

In actuality, according to McDowell, continued constitutional status of the fund would increase quality of education by keeping the monies divided between the UT and Texas A&M systems, leaving ad valorem taxes to pay for financing in other state-supported schools.

The controversy arose about inclusion of all schools in each system in the fund. According to the Supplement to the House Journal 63rd Legislature, only UT-Austin, UT Medical Branch at Galveston, and Texas A&M at College Station re-

For 1974, UT will get $21.1 million, while A&M will receive $10.1 million. The total $32.1 million, known as the UT Available Fund, is derived from $600 million in holdings of property, bonds, and gas and oil. This revenue source is known as the UT Permanent University Fund.

McDowell said dividing the fund among all state-supported schools would enhance education at any school, but generally pull quality down.

Leaving the fund to UT and A&M systems and enlarging the ad valorem taxes, McDowell said, would give the state schools much more money. He said ET would benefit greatly if the proposal passed.

He said, however, he was not sure how many votes it would take to pass the request but was reasonably sure it would.

By January, 1978, the recommendations propose a 10 per cent per $100 ad valorem tax rate on real property. The proposal would double the present rate of 10 cents per $100 evaluation.

According to the recommendation, the monies derived from the levied taxes would, for the following 10 years, be apportioned among 19 state-supported schools not included in the UT and A&M systems.

The council further recommended that colleges participating in the ad valorem tax program, to be known as the Higher Education Tax Fund, not be allowed to receive money from the General Revenue Fund except in cases of fire or natural disaster.

Council spokesmen at Austin also urged that the Texas College and University System Coordinating Board be given constitutional status. The board creation was recommended to the legislature by former Gov. John Connally in 1965 following a report on the higher education system by a blue ribbon panel.

Purpose of the board is to eliminate "unnecessary duplication in programs, faculties, and physical plants."

Sissy To Fight Briscoe Again

AUSTIN — Former state Rep. Frances Farenthold, who came within a few percentage points of beating incumbent Gov. Dolph Briscoe in 1972, will challenge him again this year in the Democratic primary. The Houston-based chairperson of the National Women's Political Caucus made her announcement on Monday following a speech at Stephen F. Austin State University in Nacogdoches.

Ms. Farenthold withheld her decision until the last minute because she was deciding between a second race for governor or a bid for a seat on the Texas Railroad Commission.

In a recent interview, Ms. Farenthold said that she believed the issues are "about the same as two years ago," and that Gov. Briscoe was "beatable."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Senate Controversy Continues

To The Editor:

Changing student government was the decision of the majority (over 2 to 1 margin) of over 500 students voting in an open and free election. Student Senators, how is this illegal? Isn't this a society based on democracy?

The chief justice has given an opinion that the election was indeed an indication of students' desire to change its government. This government belongs to the students and not to senators or the president.

Concerning senate vacancies, I was not notified of the number of vacancies nor the classes in which they occurred. I will gladly approve any student who has the desire to serve in the senate. A quorum is the number of students who show up for a meeting, not the number who are on the rolls. It doesn't matter if the rolls are full if the senate can't have enough members to show up.

Government role playing could be the responsibility of the government department and not necessarily the responsibility, in my perception, of a student group whose goal is providing input into the university's learning process.

The Student Government Constitution has been protected from change as a result of years and years of complexing legislation negating any real chance of change.

As president, I am responsible to the wishes of the majority of students who tell me what to do by voting. Students elected me to this area of responsibility. I cannot and shall not shun difficult decisions required of me by the students I represent. Students voted change and baby, change is what you got.

Eddie A. Garcia
President United Students Assn.

To The Editor:

Eddie Garcia has a good basic idea: The Student Senate does not function and should be dissolved. At that point, Mr. Garcia and I go separate ways. He evidently feels that the Student Senate—or his proposed President's Forum — should be a quasi-executive agency of the university administration for student activities, and perhaps a student advocate of some kind.

I personally feel that the best method of student representation in a university of this size is through the method of college councils and a university council.

Through this system, students would have input into the most crucial of all aspects of the university—the academic. Each college's student body might elect at-large representatives and department representatives, who would meet regularly with the dean of that college functioning as the official university representative.

The presidents of the college councils would then meet with the university president, vice presidents, and the presidents of the residence hall councils, the student activities board, the inter-fraternity and pan-hellenic councils to form a University Student Council.

I feel that this proposal would not only serve to bring more student input into official university channels, but it would also serve to provide student input where it does not now officially exist. Many students that I have heard and overheard discuss various ETSU problems have not felt that student government as it is now structured is either functional or desirable in an academic community.

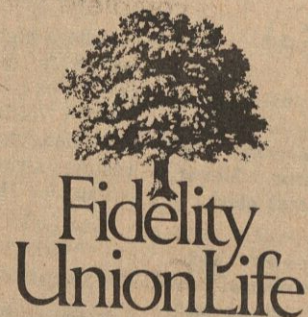

Student government should not be the plaything of practice politicians, nor a rhetorical soap box for bitching at the administration. I feel the terminology student government is itself a misnomer.

With effective student representation on college, divisional and university levels, we will become a real part of and not a necessary appendage to the university community.

Respectfully,
Richard McKinney

Slumping Lions Limp Home

By Jake Sandlin

With hopes for the Lone Star Conference slowly fading away, ET's Lions return home for a conference contest with Abilene Christian at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, after dropping two road games over the weekend.

The Lions lost to Texas A&I, 104-93, in Kingsville Monday, as a hot-handed Hoegie Simmons fired 52 points through the nets, one point shy of the LSC record. ET had lost to Southwest Texas 78-61, in San Marcos Saturday.

ET, now sitting at the conference's fifth-place position after being tied for second last week, holds a 6-5 LSC slate and a 9-10 mark overall. ACC's win over Sul Ross Monday night put the Wildcats in a fifth place tie with the Lions. The Wildcats are 12-9 overall.

ACC is led by 6-7, 210-pound

Andrew Prince, LSC rebounding leader with a 15.3 average per game. The junior forward averages 22.7 points per contest to rank in the conference's top five in scoring.

Sophomore Jeremiah James, a 5-9 sophomore guard, is the Wildcats' second leading scorer, with a 12.8 average. Junior Mark Hayes, 6-9 junior forward, is ACC's second leading rebounder, with a 9.3 average and scores at a rate of 12.4 points per game.

ET hosts Sam Houston Saturday, followed by Stephen F. Austin Monday.

Simmons' performance Monday night missed the LSC single-game mark of 53 points, set by SWT's Charles Sharp against Texas Wesleyan during the 1959-60 season. Simmons tied the mark for a conference game, set by ET's Calvin Walker against Tarleton during 1969-70.

The 5-7 senior, the LSC's top scorer, with a 28-point average, hit for 26 points in each half. ET's O'Neal Tarrant popped in 32 points in the losing cause.

The Javelinas sped to a 51-41 half-time lead behind the shooting of Simmons and led by 19 at one point during the second half.

A&I, riding a three-game win streak, raised its record to 5-7 in the LSC and 9-11.

SWT's Travis Cornett had a hot hand of his own Saturday night, dropping in 21 points during the first half to lead the Bobcats past the Lions.

Cornett, a 6-7 senior forward, finished the game with 27 points to lead all scorers, while teammate Celester Collier contributed 20 points. Tarrant had 17 points for the Lions. Nate Granger scored 13 for ET.

The Bobcats hit 69 per cent during the first half to coast to a 45-32 advantage at halftime. SWT connected on 67 per cent of its shots during the game.

In comparison, ET hit only 35 per cent from the field during the game, the worst shooting night for the Lions this season.

BATTLING BENEATH THE BOARDS were ET's Nate Granger (42) and Southwest Texas' Billy Clark (25) during the Lions' 78-61 loss to the Bobcats Saturday night in San Marcos. Watching the action were SWT's Bruce Featherston (55) and ET's David Laurance (52). (Photo by Danny Walbridge)

LSC ROUNDUP

SH Awaits Forfeit Decision

Lone Star Conference officials Monday still had not reached a decision concerning Sam Houston's use of an ineligible player during one of its wins this season, as was incorrectly stated in last Thursday's Dallas Times Herald.

The Times Herald reported that SH had forfeited one game because of the Bearkats use of 6-6 forward Charles Manson during SH's win over Tarleton earlier this season. Manson was discovered to be ineligible by Sam Houston officials a few days after the game, and the information was turned over to conference officials.

Six LSC players were selected by professional teams during last week's National Football League collegiate draft.

Southwest Texas had two players chosen, while Abilene Christian, Angelo State and Stephen F. Austin each had one.

ACC wide receiver Richard Williams was the first player from the conference to be selected. The 6-0, 175-pounder with 9.6 speed was picked by the Cincinnati Bengals in the fourth round.

In the 12th round, SWT's Noe Gonzalez was selected as a running-back by the Oakland Raiders. In the next round, offensive tackle Dennis Colvin of SWT was chosen by the New York Giants.

The Detroit Lions took HP defensive back David Jones in the 14th round. The New England Patriots selected Stephen F. Austin linebacker Sam Hunt in the 15th round. In round 17, ASU's Larry Moore was selected by the Pittsburgh Steelers as a defensive end.

Howard Payne maintained a one-game lead over Sam Houston and Southwest Texas in LSC play Monday night, with an easy 88-62 romp over Angelo State in Brownwood.

In other games Monday, SWT nipped Tarleton, 79-74, in San Marcos; Abilene Christian outscored Sul Ross, 99-91, in Abilene; and A&I ripped ET, 104-93, in Kingsville. Stephen F. Austin and Sam Houston were idle.

In action Saturday night, HP jumped into first place, with a 78-73 win over SR in Brownwood; SFA nipped SH, 66-65, in Nacogdoches; ACC dropped ASU, 82-74, in Abilene; A&I romped TSU, 87-54, in Kingsville; and SWT slew ET's Lions, 78-61, in San Marcos.

Last Wednesday, HP rambled past ASU, 90-77, in San Angelo, in the only game scheduled that night.

By Wally Crawford

The Over the Hill Gang demolished Delta Sigma Pi "B", 104-25, in men's intramural basketball, Wednesday night, Jan. 30. Otis Cobb led "The Gang" by pumping in 56 points. Lee

2 Teams Dropped From IM Basketball

The Jock Squad and the Panthers I have been dropped from the independent intramural basketball league because of excessive forfeits, according to Barney Iles, intramural director.

Two new teams have been formed to take the place of the two dropped. The MSC Graduates will take the place of the Panthers I, and the PE Graduates will take the place of the Jock Squad. These new teams will finish the schedule started by the two that were dropped.

Iles also said that any games won or lost by the two teams dropped will be taken off the league standings. Iles explained that he hoped he would be able to reschedule the new teams to play the games forfeited by the Jock Squad and the Panthers I.

According to Iles, the forfeit rule states that if a team forfeits two or more games, it can be dropped from the league.

Bollinger helped the Delta Sigs, with seven points.

Mach III slipped by the Soul Striders, 60-52, on the scoring of Larry Boyd, who had 16 points for the night. The Strider scoring attack was led by Leroy Johnson with 18.

The Steamrollers got rolling with a 39-26 win over Alpha Phi Omega. Gary Bollinger netted 10 for the winners, while Byron Meads tossed in eight for APO.

Matt Firman's 16 points led the Mustangs to a 41-34 win over the Ballers, with Mick Proffitt dumping in 16 for the Ballers.

Kappa Alpha Psi edged Sikes, 61-53, on the 21 points of Bill Bryan, but Sikes' Joe Launza led all scorers, with 31.

In other action, the Hilltoppers raced by the Bruins, 60-28, with Bill Horner scoring half of the Hilltoppers points, and Mark Armentrout laying in 10 for the Bruins.

The Magnificent Seven, the Panthers II, and the Delta Sigma Phi "A" teams all won by forfeit over the Panthers I, the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, and the Jock Squad, respectively.

60 Gridders Set For Spring Drills

Sixty prospects are scheduled to greet head football coach Ernest Hawkins Monday, Feb. 18, for the start of spring training. Hawkins said that workouts will be held on Mondays, Tuesdays, and Wednesdays, with scrimmages at 3 p.m. each Friday until mid-semester break.

"We will begin working again March 18 and hold our annual intersquad scrimmage at 2 p.m. Saturday, March 30," Hawkins said.

He explained that this will be one of the biggest turnouts ET has ever had for spring training and attributed it to the large number of "walk-ons" on a tryout basis. "We have a lot of kids we don't know much about. It will be interesting to see what they can do when we pad up," Hawkins added.

The Lions lose seven players via graduation off last year's team that finished third in the Lone Star Conference, with a 6-3 record and a 7-4 mark overall. ET returns 28 letterman, including 10 seniors, 10 juniors and eight sophomores.

Sigma Chi defeated Sigma Phi Epsilon in a heart-stopper, 43-42, Thursday night, Jan. 31, in fraternity league play. John Burgin's 16 points provided the winning margin. The Sig Eps were led by Bill Carroll, with 13.

In another close game, Sigma Chi "B" slipped by Kappa Alpha "B", 37-35. The 13 points of Bob Archibald led Sigma Chi to victory. Dusty Men's intramural basketball will not be held Thursday night, due to the ET-Abilene Christian game, in the Field House.

Jennings tossed in 13 for the KAs. In the only rout of the evening, Delta Tau Delta overwhelmed Acacia, 100-22, on the scoring of Keith Tucker, who had 28 for the night. Clark Ellison tossed in nine for Acacia.

Reginald Bibb's 21 points led Alpha Phi Alpha to a 45-40 win over Kappa Alpha. Bill Montgomery and Tom Fagg each had 10 points for the KAs. Lambda Chi Alpha nipped Pi Kappa Phi, 35-30, behind the scoring of Mark Owens, who netted 10. Pi Kapps' Ken Park scored 11.

Sigma Phi Epsilon "B" outlasted Alpha Gamma Rho "B", 43-30. Tom Nichols scored 12 for the Sig Eps, while Jim Burk dumped in 12 for AGR.

John Sutton's 12 points helped put Delta Chi "B" over Delta Tau Delta "B", 39-17. Mike Hatley scored five for the Delts.

In other action Thursday night, Alpha Phi Alpha "B" outscored Lambda Chi Alpha "B", 46-23. Bowens captured the scoring honors for that game with 19 points. Lambda Chi's James Coffey led his team by netting 17 points.

Hammonds Takes First In Women's IM B'Minton

Connie Hammonds took top honors in the independent badminton singles competition by defeating Katie Calhoun in the final game.

Miss Hammond won the best two out of three match with scores of 11-10, 8-11, and 11-1.

Badminton doubles play will continue in the independent division at 6 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 6 and sorority doubles at 6 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 7, at Whitley Gym.

Dr. Moss, a member of the International Planning Committee which helped organize the convention, said that it is the largest convention in the world specifically relating to education learning problems of children. He added that between 8,000 and 10,000 parents and professionals dealing with exceptional children are expected to attend.

Hu To Show Art in Michigan

Sandria Hu, art faculty, has been selected to exhibit art work in the Invitational Print Exhibition to be held at Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, in April.

She is one of 35 United States artists asked to exhibit work in the show, which will also include the work of 25 artists representing Canada, Italy, England, Germany and the Netherlands.

Henry Hopkins, area juror for the exhibition for the South Central Region of the United States, chose Ms. Hu as one of five artists to represent the region in the show. Hopkins, former director of the Fort Worth Museum of Fine Arts, is director of the San Francisco Museum of Fine Art.

The Welch Foundation supports basic research in chemistry at numerous institutions in Texas, an annual chemical research meeting, scholarships in chemistry and a lecture tour of noted chemists.

ET Takes 28 Best in Show

Second-place Sam Houston State University took 10 ribbons.

A $25 cash prize was awarded to Robert McMurray, ET, for "Best in Show," black-and-white category, and to Nateliah Hemby, ET, "Best in Show," color category.

Other ET students taking first place ribbons were Susie Biehler, commercial black and white; John Frair, commercial color; Wallace Crawford, human interest black and white; Robert McMurray, miscellaneous black and white; Ron McKeown, news black and white; Notelayah Hemby, portrait color; James Casabona and Glenn Hillin, both of ET, tied for first place in portrait black and white.

There were 485 entries in this year's contest coming from 14 colleges and junior colleges, including six Texas colleges and five Texas junior colleges. Other states represented were Arkansas and Oklahoma. ET students entered 210 photographs.

The winning photographs will be displayed on the first and third floors of the Journalism Building through Feb. 16.

Ewing also brought up the subjects of optional housing, meal tickets and the English Usage Test. The forum agreed that the chairman of the English Usage Committee of the Faculty Senate should appear before the forum at the next meeting.

Garcia recommended that the ET coffeehouse should be available for organization parties with alcoholic beverages. He said that a security guard should be hired for each party and that a $50 deposit would be required of each organization before a party. The forum approved the measure and delegated Rick Miller to gather further information regarding the matter.

Benedict presented a proposal to the forum that would restructure the Student Supreme Court and rename the organization the Student Judicial Committee. He said the group would be a standing committee, and that hearings of discrepancies and appeals would be changed from a formal court situation to informal hearings.

Benedict said that the committee will be composed of seven members to be appointed by the president of the university upon the recommendation of student body officers. The only requirements for membership, Benedict said, would be that the student not be a member of one of the lower judicial boards and that he be enrolled for at least six semester hours.

MED SCHOOL ADMISSION PROBLEMS?

EuroMed may offer RX via overseas training

For the session starting Fall, 1974, EuroMed will assist qualified American students in gaining admission to recognized overseas medical schools.

And that's just the beginning.

Since the language barrier constitutes the preponderate difficulty in succeeding at a foreign school, the EuroMed program also includes an intensive 12 week medical and conversational language course, mandatory for all students. Five hours daily, 5 days per week (12-16 weeks) the course is given in the country where the student will attend medical school.

In addition, EuroMed provides students with a 12 week intensive cultural orientation program, with American students now studying medicine in that particular country serving as counselors.

Senior or graduate students currently enrolled in an American university are eligible to participate in the EuroMed program.
