Lions Eye NAIA Berth

By Jake Sandlin

SAN ANTONIO — Behind every silver lining there lies a dark cloud.

ET's young Lions had their clear skies darkened and their hopes of the NAIA national tournament dimmed as St. Mary's University destroyed the Lions, 85-61, here Monday night in the second game of the NAIA District IV playoff.

ET won the first of best-of-three series with St. Mary's, 84-79, in Commerce Saturday night. A final game was scheduled here Tuesday night.

The Lions earned the right to represent the Lone Star Conference against St. Mary's after defeating LSC co-leader Howard Payne, 78-66, Thursday in Commerce, while LSC co-leader Southwest Texas was losing to Stephen F. Austin, 62-59, in Nacogdoches, to create a three-way tie for the title. The three teams held a coin toss Thursday night, and the Lions leaped into the playoffs, winning on the third toss.

In the Lions' loss Monday night, St. Mary's led nine times during the first half before taking control of the game on a Robert Taylor jumper, with about 10 minutes left in the half, putting the Rattlers ahead 20-18. St. Mary's went ahead by five, 29-24, as Dennis Carter hit a free three throw, with 5:25 remaining.

ET forwards Nate Granger and Hugo Cabrera each scored to bring the Lions to within one, 29-28, with 4:50 left in the half. St. Mary's then reeled off 16 straight points to take a commanding 45-28 advantage, with 1:17 left in the half. Granger scored twice to cut the margin to 45-32 at halftime.

The Rattlers kept building on their lead throughout the second half, taking a 21-point advantage as Gary Tomaszewski scored on a tip-in, with 12:01 to go and the score 62-41. Granger scored on a reverse layup, trimming the margin to 65-51, before seven Rattler points increased the lead to 72-51, with 6:57 left.

Coach Jim Gudger had taken the Lions' starters out of the game with 3:15 left, and St. Mary's ran the final margin to 85-61.

Leading the night's scoring were St. Mary's Tomaszewski and Carter, with 24 and 22, respectively. Granger topped ET scoring, with 21 points, followed by Cabrera, with 17, and O'Neal Tarrant, with 14.

Tomaszewski pulled down 15 rebounds to top that category. Granger had nine for the Lions. The Lions suffered 19 turnovers, while St. Mary's had 14.

The win put St. Mary's record at 20-7 for the season, and the loss gave the Lions a 16-12 slate.

It took four consecutive free throws by Cabrera and two by freshman Larry Brown in the last 1:10 of play to preserve an 84-79 Lion victory in the first game against St. Mary's Saturday night in Commerce.

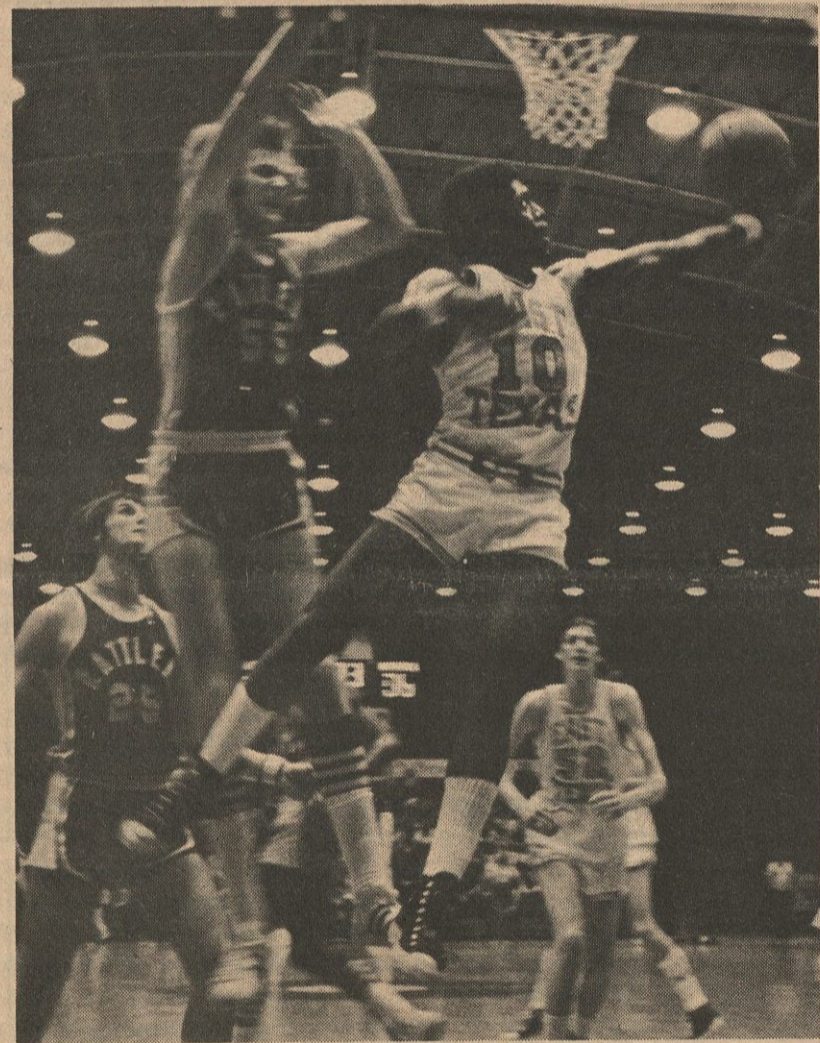

ET held a 32-31 lead at halftime, before stretching its lead to 12, 64-52, with 9:09 remaining in the game. The Rattlers narrowed the gap to seven, but a layup by Granger, two free throws by Thomas Simon and a drive by Tarrant put the margin at 11, 74-63, as the clock ticked down to 4:51.

A full-court press by St. Mary's forced the Lions to turn the ball over three straight times and, with 3:25 left, the Rattlers narrowed the margin to 74-72 on Tomaszewski's layup.

Granger moved the Lions ahead by six, but five straight points by Carter brought the Rattlers within one, 78-77, with 1:35 to go. Cabrera was fouled two separate times as he attempted to run out the clock, and connected on both of his two one-and-one situations.

Tomaszewski hit St. Mary's last basket, with 29 seconds left, then ET's Brown was fouled with 19 seconds

Dallas Senior Wins Citizenship Award

Alert thinking resulted in David M. Parry, Dallas senior, receiving the monthly Involved Citizen Award given by the Dallas Morning News and Everts Jewelers, Dallas.

Parry was stopped at a red light when a motorist drove through a crosswalk full of children. Parry said he saw the man hit two boys.

According to reports from the Dallas Morning News, one boy was treated and released from a Dallas hospital, and the other remained in intensive care for nearly a week.

Parry who has a five-year-old daughter, followed the motorist, eventually motioning him to the side of the road and bringing him back to the scene of the accident.

Parry was nominated for the award by Dallas Police Officer James Poss for his quick action. A direct result of Parry's alertness has been an indictment for failure to stop and render aid for the 45-year-old motorist, whose trial is set for March.

Commerce Resident Wins March of Dimes Walkathon

Keith Barton, 3013 Monroe, literally ran away with the annual 20-mile March of Dimes walkathon Saturday when he finished the course in marathon time of two hours and fifteen minutes, according to march officials.

Barton declined a watch awarded the first male to finish the trek, asking that it be donated to the March of Dimes chapter here. He told officials he was running "just for the fun of it."

One hundred-sixty marchers, 50 from ET, began marching at 9:10 a.m. with some of them still marching at 6 p.m. Marchers, most from Commerce Middle School, started the hike at the Ridgecrest Baptist Church, 718 Bishop St., continued to FM 1531 to the H24 intersection, followed the highway around Commerce to Park Street and back to the church.

Mrs. Gene Casselberry, area March of Dimes chairman, said the walkathon is expected to net $4,000. Mrs. Harriet Williams, walkathon chairman said, "We would like to remind all marchers to have their sponsors' pledges in by March 25, or they won't be eligible for the prizes."

Marchers vied for an eight-track stereo for the person collecting the most money; a bean-bag chair for the one collecting the most sponsors; and watches for the first male and female to finish the hike. Runners-up for the different categories will receive gift certificates from various Commerce businesses.

Mike Bing, Alpha Phi Omega, service fraternity, is prime contender for the title of most sponsors and most money collected. Bing, a Vietnam veteran who lost his left leg during combat, said he had 155 sponsors and hoped to collect $330 for his efforts.

Another handicapped marceher, Marvin Giles, who suffers from infantile muscular atrophy, will collect $1.31 for each mile he rode. Giles is wheelchair-bound.

Bing and Giles were the only handicapped hikers to make the march.

Angel Flight and APO members manned four check points along the route.

The Commerce Emergency Corps handled the safety aspect of the march.

11 File for City Posts

Eleven candidates have filed for an April 2 election to fill three places on the Commerce City Commission, according to Willena Maniscalco, secretary to the city manager.

All three positions are "at large" positions open to the persons receiving the highest numbers of votes. The mayor will be named by the two holdover and three new commission members after the new group is formed following the April 2 election.

Mrs. Maniscalco said places for the ballot will be assigned March 7. The election is scheduled for Tuesday, April 2, from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m.

To vote in the April election, a person must be registered 30 days before the election.

The three incumbents whose terms expire this year have all filed for re-election: Dale Mills, plumber; Eddie Moore, owner of a radio-TV repair store, and Robert Peek, apartment house owner.

Terms of two commissioners, Mayor Thomas Young and Dr. K. C. Smith, will expire next year.

The other eight candidates include two former members of the commission (one an ET faculty member), two ET faculty members, an ET graduate student, an ET faculty wife, and two Commerce businessmen.

The eight opposing the incumbents, in alphabetical order, are Dr. W. J. Bell, Sanford L. Belcher Jr., Russell D. Butler, Dewey Chapman, Steve Favors, Sharon Fulkerson, Robin Rudoff, and Harry Allen Thomas.

Dr. Bell, head of the Journalism-Graphic Arts Department at ET, is a former commissioner and mayor who had to resign in November 1970 when a state ruling prevented anyone on the payroll of a state university from holding an "elected position of trust and responsibility."

Two other ET faculty members had to resign at the same time: Dr. J. J. Hawthorne, health physical education and recreation;

Texas voters in 1972 approved Constitutional Amendment No. 12 that permits such state employees to hold such unpaid municipal offices.

Belcher is a Commerce plumber.

Butler, a 26-year-old listed by ET records as from Greenville, is working on a master's degree in guidance and philosophy.

Chapman, a barber and former commissioner, was defeated for re-election in 1970, after several years of holding office. Chapman was re-appointed at the end of 1970 after the resignation of the ET faculty commissioners.

Favors is assistant director of Student Development at ET.

Mrs. Fulkerson, wife of Richard Fulkerson of the literature-languages faculty, was an unsuccessful candidate in last year's city election.

Dr. Rudoff is a member of the history faculty and director of ET's Office of Independent Studies.

Harry Allen Thomas is one of the operators of a downtown club.

The first day to cast an absentee ballot in person will be March 14. Absentee voting will continue until March 29 by personal appearance and March 30 by mail.

Cheerleader Clinic Set March 26-28

A cheerleader clinic for students interested in trying out for cheerleader will be held at 6:30 p.m. March 26, 27, and 28 in Whitley Gym, according to Roberta Whitener, assistant head of the Office of Student Development.

Attendance at the clinic is not required in order to try out, but is intended to offer assistance to prospective cheerleaders in yells, stunts, and chants, Mrs. Whitener said.

Any student desiring to attend the clinic to be conducted by the current cheerleaders should bring $1 to the gym the first night of the clinic, she said.

Participants should wear tennis shoes and no jewelry.

The first competition elimination will be held at 3 p.m. Wednesday, April 10, in the American Ballroom, Student Center.

TEXAS POLITICS

Daniel Predicts Political Recess

Compiled From
The Associated Press

AUSTIN — Price Daniel Jr.'s favorite song must be "I'm Just a Cock-eyed Optimist."

But even the Texas Constitutional Convention's perennially sanguine president is beginning to talk about what happens if his 90-day timetable can't be met.

A 30- to 60-day recess for politicking will be called around April 5 if the convention's unfinished business is too great to polish off quickly, he told reporters Friday.

Two weeks of debate on the new constitution's education article had just ended without a final vote, despite Daniel's fondest hopes.

The convention has five weeks to go before the 90-day schedule runs out. Nine of the 11 articles of the constitution remain to be debated.

Daniel said he had expected debate on education to run only two days and was surprised it had run for more than two weeks instead.

But he added, "I don't think it's bad," for discussion and amendments to run that long. After all, "free, full and open debate" was practically his slogan as House speaker. He said he wanted to end a decade of increasingly tight control of the House by its speakers and their "teams."

"If the 90-day schedule was some kind of magic number, I would say, 'Let's work nights, Saturdays and Friday afternoons,'" Daniel said.

Recess in Order

He said he thought a recess would be in order anyway after all articles had received preliminary approval. The next step would be editing by the Style and Drafting committee, followed by another vote on each article. Then would come final approval of a complete constitution, requiring a two-thirds vote, for submission to the voters.

Daniel said he did not want to make any commitment to a convention recess because he feared a "tendency to put it all off" until the last minute if delegates had a fixed adjournment date.

"Do not interpret what I am saying as throwing in the towel on the 90-day completion," Daniel quickly added.

May 31 is Tentative Deadline

The convention must adjourn by May 31 unless the legislator-delegates cast a two-thirds vote to extend it another 60 days.

It won't take many more debates like those on higher education funds and equal educational opportunity, however, to force Daniel to abandon his timetable.

Delegates argued for all or part of three days just on a State Higher Education Assistance Fund to provide the 22 smaller state colleges with guaranteed money for construction before finally reaching a compromise. It took them two days to find an acceptable way of saying school children should have equal educational opportunity. Various attempts to change the way the Permanent University Fund and its income, the Available University Fund, took up another two days.

Status in Brief

Here in brief is the status of the 11 articles of the proposed new state constitution now being considered by the Texas Constitutional Convention: Bill of rights—out of committee, approved once in floor debate, needs a final two-thirds vote.

Legislature—still in committee, 19 changes made so far in preliminary draft.

Executive—approved by committee Feb. 27, ready for floor debate.

Judiciary—still in committee, 11 changes made in preliminary draft.

Rights and Suffrage—approved by committee Feb. 25 ready for floor debate scheduled up after education article.

Education — pending business in floor debate, eight floor amendments made.

Finance—still in committee, no amendments finally adopted to preliminary draft.

Local Government — still in committee, 14 changes made in preliminary draft.

Mode of amending the constitution — approved by committee Feb. 28, ready for floor action.

Briscoe Asks Suit Dismissal

Gov. Dolph Briscoe said through his lawyer Monday that he did not decide to seek re-election until the day he made his announcement at a statewide appreciation dinner.

The assertion was made in Briscoe's "special exceptions" to a $3.5 million lawsuit filed against Briscoe and his campaign managers by his chief Democratic primary opponent, Mrs. Frances Farenthold.

Joe Kilgore, former McAllen congressman who is managing Briscoe's campaign, also filed an answer to the suit, denying that the new "reform" campaign finance reporting law was violated.

Kilgore said the suit should be dismissed because Mrs. Farenthold filed it on behalf of all Texans, something Kilgore says she lacks legal standing to do. If she wants to continue the suit on her own behalf as a private citizen and political candidate, she should be required to file it anew, omitting all claims to the right to sue for the people of Texas, he said.

The date when Briscoe became a candidate is of crucial importance to the case.

Mrs. Farenthold alleged Briscoe accepted campaign contributions as a gubernatorial candidate before appointing a campaign manager as required by the new campaign finance reporting law.

Briscoe: Kilgore Named Legally

Kilgore's name was filed with the secretary of state as Briscoe's campaign manager Oct. 30, the day the governor announced for re-election.

Briscoe's lawyer said the governor decided to become a candidate "after due deliberation and after having been advised of the response in connection with the Dolph Briscoe Appreciation Dinner."

The lawyer said Briscoe's first action toward becoming a candidate was to tell Kilgore Oct. 30 he would run for re-election and announce as a candidate that night if Kilgore would serve as his campaign manager.

Kilgore said neither he nor Jess Hay, campaign manager for the dinner, accepted contributions for Briscoe's re-election campaign before Oct. 30, except as members of the committee that sponsored the dinner.

Kilgore contended that nothing in Texas election law prohibits a committee from soliciting contributions for a potential candidate before he actually announces for office.

He said the new "reform" campaign reporting law requires designation of a campaign manager mainly to assure accurate recording and reporting of contributions and expenditures.

The fund-raising committee "kept meticulously complete records of each contribution received and each expenditure made," filed its report Feb. 6, Kilgore said.

He said he believed "it is apparent that this lawsuit was brought by the plaintiff without adequate cause and for improper political purposes."

Kilgore's answer also seeks dismissal of Atty. Gen. John Hill as an involuntary plaintiff in Mrs. Farenthold's suit, saying Hill has the exclusive right to file suit for penalties under the election code on behalf of the state.

Candidates To Present

Platforms at ET Meeting

Democratic candidates for state representative, District 10 including Hunt, Hopkins and Rains counties, will present their platforms during a forum sponsored by the Young Democrats at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, March 7, in the Friendship Room of the Student Center.

The four candidates who are running in the May 4 State Primary Election are Jay Brim, Robert Mansker, ET student, Smith Gilley and J. L. Green.

Brim, 28-year-old Air Force Veteran, was born in Sulphur Springs and received his undergraduate education at the University of Texas at Austin. He is completing requirements for a law degree from the University of Texas School of Law.

A native of Hunt County, Greenville businessman J. L. Green Jr. received his bachelor's from ET and attended the University of Texas School of Law.

Smith Gilley, Greenville attorney, was born in Miller Grove. He studied law at Baylor University, and in 1968 ran unsuccessfully for the state legislature.

Robert Mansker, past president of the Student Senate, received his B.B.A. degree from the University of Texas, M.B.A. from West Texas State and is doing work toward his doctorate at ET. He is a former sponsor of the Young Democrats.

EDITORIAL

Do They Really Mean It?

After all the recent controversy over student government and all the accusations against student leaders, it would seem that the dates of March 7-8 would be circled in red on each ET student's calendar. On these dates, from 9 a.m.-5 p.m., all candidates for the offices of president and vice president of the United Students Association can register at the USA office on the second floor of the Student Center.

According to Debbi Daniels, Election Commission chairman, each student must present a note from the Records Office indicating that he has completed 60 credit hours and is in good standing with the university. A $3 filing fee is also required of each candidate.

It's time to put up or shut up. We hope to see each student who in past weeks mounted a soap box to expound on the faults of student government take his place in the registration line.

A timely piece of legislation passed by the Student Senate concerning the upcoming elections was recently approved by USA President Eddie Garcia. Senate Bill No. 19, which limits each presidential and vice presidential candidate to $150 in campaign funds and requires that he submit a list of his expenditures to the Election Commission within 48 hours after the election, is currently awaiting ET President F. H. McDowell's approval.

Strict campaign rules regarding expenditures were never needed more than now. True, there would be ways of avoiding restrictions set down in the bill, but at least it would be a positive step toward making ET student government elections fair. —MLC remaining. Brown converted both ends of the one-and-one to seal the win.

LIONS WIN, LOSE . . .

Tarrant scored 30 points, 18 in the first half, to lead scorers. Granger had 19 and Cabrera scored 18 for the Lions. Carter and Tomaszewski led the Rattlers, with 18 and 17 points, respectively.

Tomaszewski was the top rebounder in the game, with 13. Granger pulled down 11, Cabrera had 10 and Pat Laue had nine rebounds. The Lions totaled 48 rebounds for the night, while St. Mary's had 35.

Granger and Tarrant were the big guns that shot ET into the LSC tri-championship and, ET graduate Marvin Ellis flipped the Lions into the playoff series against St. Mary's to end the conference's 40th basketball season Thursday night in Commerce.

Granger poured in 33 points, and Tarrant ripped the nets for 27 more as the Lions shot down LSC co-leader HP, 78-66, in Commerce, while SFA was defeating co-leader SWT, 62-59, in Nacogdoches, throwing the race for first into a three-way tie.

The tie forced a coin flip to decide whether ET, HP, or SWT would represent the LSC against St. Mary's in the District IV playoffs. The toss was conducted in Nacogdoches, with ET's Gudger and HP coach Ken Henson listening by telephone in Commerce.

Ellis, a Tyler sportswriter who holds bachelor's and a master's degrees from ET, represented the Lions. SFA coach Marshall Brown, whose Lumberjacks had just beaten, SWT, flipped for HP. SWT coach Vernon McDonald tossed for the Bobcats.

The first two tosses came up all tails; then Ellis' third flip came up odd, and the Lions were in the playoffs.

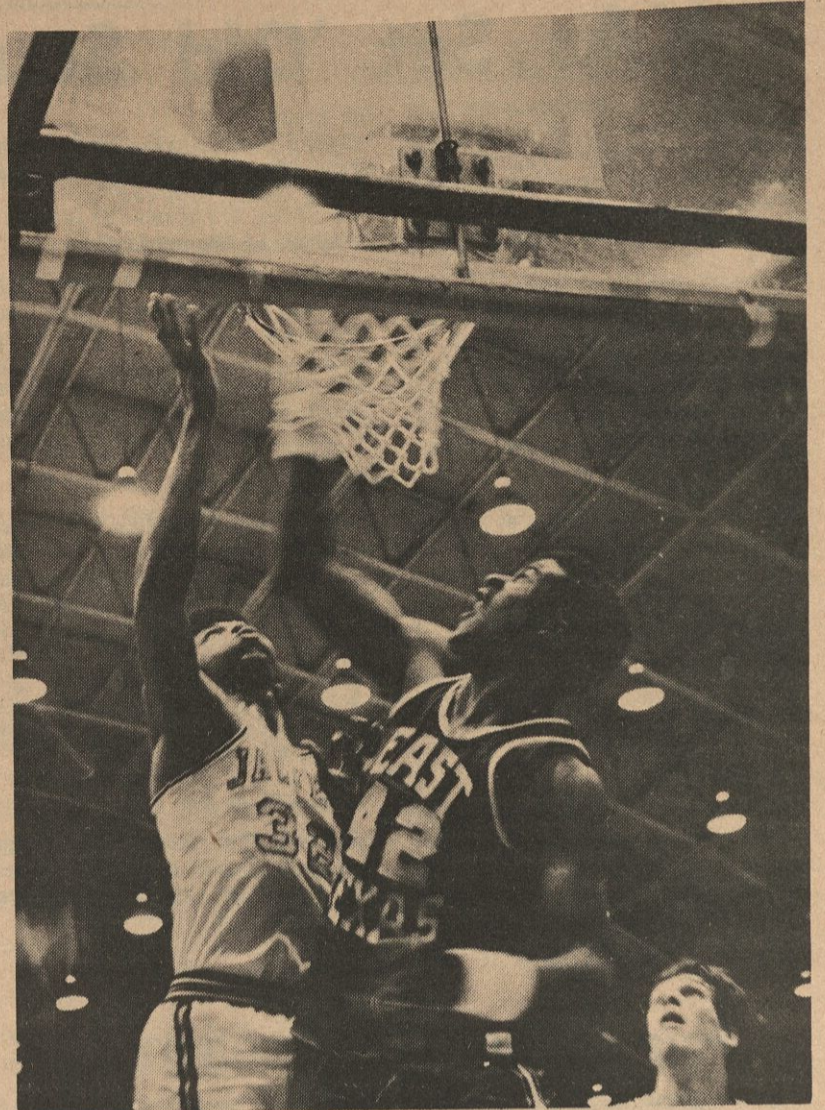

ET came out scoring in the HP game, leading by 11, 21-10, with 7:45 left in the first half, when Granger scored off a layup. The Yellow Jackets came back quickly, and Terry Davis tied the score 30-30 at halftime.

HP took its biggest lead of the night, with 11:08 to go in the game when Fred Richardson put the score at 51-46. Granger scored twice and Cabrera and Tarrant once each to put the Lions ahead to stay at 8:24 to go and the score 54-53.

HP never could regain momentum, and the Lions cruised to a 14-point 78-64 lead, with 37 seconds left. Greg Rogers scored the Yellow Jackets final two points, with nine seconds remaining.

Garland Bullock headed HP's scoring, with 14 points. Bob Kershaw followed with 12. Kershaw and Granger led in rebounds, each with 14. David Laurence hauled in 11 for ET.

The loss dropped HP to 12-6 in the LSC and 18-10 on the season.

NATE "THE GREAT" GRANGER (42) squirms for two of his 33 points in ET's 78-66 victory over Howard Payne last Thursday in the Field House.

Tennis Team Loses Opener To TCU, Then Bombs UTA

By Allen Hallmark

After opening the season with a narrow 5-4 defeat at the hands of Southwest Conference power Texas Christian University, the ET tennis team rebounded to trounce the University of Texas at Arlington, 9-0.

The team was scheduled to take on Baylor University Monday in Waco before its first Lone Star Conference match of the season today against Angelo State University as part of the North Texas State University Tournament in Denton.

Dr. William Crabtree, ET tennis coach, was not particularly surprised by the loss to TCU, whom the Lion netters beat twice last season. "I was pretty sure we wouldn't be as strong as last year's team, and this loss proved it," Crabtree said. "But the conference matches are the important ones, and I think we are the top contender for the championship (of the LSC)."

Against TCU, the match was all even at the start of doubles play as three ET players won their singles matches and three lost. Syed Abid, No. 1 player, Matt Firmin, No. 2, and Steve Barker, who played No. 5, were the winners.

In doubles after Abid and Firmin won their match to put ET ahead, 4-3, ET's second and third doubles teams faltered. After winning the opening sets in both matches, Steve Katz and Bubba Cardwell, and Barker and Bill Munson could not keep it alive and dropped the second and third sets in each match to give the Frogs the victory.

Crabtree shook up the team order for the UTA contest. Abid and Firmin remained the top two players, but Steve Barker moved up to No. 3. Bob Koch made the trip in place of Munson and played No. 4, while Steve Katz was No. 5, and freshman Cardwell was No. 6. This rejuvenated lineup dominated the Mavericks, winning every match in straight sets.

When the Lion netters take the court against Angelo State they will be beginning their quest for ET's 10th LSC tennis championship in 11 years. In conference play, each match won, either doubles or singles, counts one point. ET will play each of the other six conference schools at six-match contest, four singles matches and two doubles.

5 Battle for Quarterback Slot In ET Spring Football Training

By Richard Jordan

"The best will shine," is ET head football coach Ernest Hawkins' motto this spring as he evaluates the 63 prospects out for spring training.

"We want to give everyone a chance to start, and no one is playing first, second, or third team," Hawkins said. "Our main concern at this time is our linebackers, quarterback, and our overall depth," Hawkins added.

Hawkins will have to find a replacement for middle linebacker Leroy Johnson, who last year was named the Lone Star Conference's "Most Valuable Lineman." Last year's starting fullback David Stewart, Sulphur Springs junior, has been moved to the middle linebacker spot. He will have to fight off a strong challenge from freshman Charles Peterson of Dallas, and sophomore Billy Thrailkill, of Dun-cannville.

Junior Steve Wade of Grand Prairie and junior James Addy from Simms Bowie are the veterans returning at the linebacker spots. Wade must fight off transfers Chris Chiverton of Central Islip, N.Y.; Paul Murphy, a University of Texas at Austin transfer, and junior Brad Barker of Greenville. Addy will not see any action this spring due to a knee injury and will have to wait until next fall to try to get his job back.

Probably the key position this spring will be the battle for the quarterback spot. Can Hawkins find a replacement for graduating quarterbacks Jack Frampton and Will Cureton?

The five candidates vying for the spot are Bill Hill, from Dallas; freshman Eddie Cox of Miami, Fla.; freshman Terry Skinner, from Forney; freshman Mark Feuchter, of Southlake; and junior George Kleinmeir, from Sayville, N.Y. "We've got to develop a good quarterback," Hawkins said, adding, "Hill probably has a slight advantage at this time because he has some experience, but it is much too soon to tell much about the other kids. It will be our No. 1 battle."

Calvin Harris has been a visitor to workouts this spring. Harris, last year's starting tight end, was due to return this year but quit the team at the end of the year to devote more time to his studies, according to Hawkins. Hawkins said he did not know if Harris would return in the fall.

Pro scouts are starting to turn up during workouts this spring with special interest in senior tailback Craig Powell of Fort Worth, and senior defensive back Autry Beamon of Kaufman, according to Hawkins.

"Recruiting is a little slow right now because we are trying to evaluate what we have before we start concentrating on it very much," Hawkins said. "High school kids have been a lot more receptive than in the past. We have had a better response this year because of the new NCAA rule limiting its member schools to 30 scholarships, opposed to the previous 45," according to Hawkins.

ET returns seven offensive and seven defensive starters and 25 let-terms from a 7-4 team that tied for third place in the LSC.

Workouts will be held Monday-Wednesday, with scrimmages set for Friday at 3 p.m. The spring game is set for 2 p.m., March 30, at Memorial Stadium.

LSC ROUNDUP

Lions 'Flip' Into No. 1

ET, Howard Payne and Southwest Texas ended the 40th Lone Star Conference basketball season in a three-way tie for first place, then decided the conference representative for the NAIA District IV playoffs by a coin flip, with ET winning it all on the third toss.

The decision came last Thursday night after third-place ET clipped co-leader HP, 78-66, in Commerce, and Stephen F. Austin upset co-leader SWT, 62-59, in Nacogdoches, throwing the race for first into a three-way deadlock.

Three representatives for the schools flipped three coins in Nacogdoches, while ET coach Jim Gudger and HP coach Ken Henson listened by telephone in Commerce. SWT coach Vernon McDonald relayed the results from Nacogdoches.

The first two flips turned up tails for each school; then the Lions' coin came up odd on the third try, and ET was in the playoffs against St. Mary's University, champion of the Big State Conference.

Rounding out the final night of LSC basketball, Sam Houston defeated Texas A&I, 80-73, in Huntsville; Tarleton State nipped Abilene Christian, 80-78, in Stephenville; and Angelo State outshot Sul Ross, 106-99, in Alpine.

The winner of that game will play Carolyn "Scooter" McQueary and Anita Fennell at 6:30 p.m.

Sorority doubles will begin at 6 p.m. Tuesday, March 19, in Whitley Gym, with a game between Arlene Johnston and Suzanne Dambert of Alpha Delta Pi and Pamela Pearson and Kandi Summers of Alpha Phi.

Louette Jenkins and Marcia Munson of Chi Omega will meet the winner of that game at 6:30 p.m.

By Donald Kerr

Returning from a two-week jaunt to meets in West Texas, the ET cindermen will remain in the Eastern Cottonbelt to host the annual ET Invitational Thursday at Memorial Stadium.

The meet will begin at 1 p.m. in Memorial Stadium, with competition starting in the field events and the mile run. There will be no preliminaries. Admission to the stadium is free.

Assistant coach Butch Luce hopes that the change of scenery and the addition of the home crowd will boost the marks of the ET trackers, who are steadily improving each week as evidenced by the marks posted by the team in last week's Border Olympics in Laredo, won by Texas Southern.

Although the team as a whole gathered only 11 points, the individual times and distances took a turn for the better, with six ET performers turning in marks that improved their efforts two weeks ago in Fort Worth.

Bill Carroll continued to improve in the javelin competition. The Waco sophomore, still recovering from a pulled hamstring, which is forcing him out of the hurdles, tossed the spear a distance of 174-4, good enough for second place. Although Carroll took top honors in the event at Fort Worth, his Border toss was a 2½-foot improvement.

Bubba Reagan again placed with Carroll in the javelin, by throwing a 140-11. This fifth place effort was also a 2½-foot improvement over his Fort Worth throw.

The 120-yard high hurdles proved fruitful for ET for the second straight week. According to coach Delmer Brown, Hollar stepped off a time of 15.3 and fourth place. However, this time was up from his 14.8 time in Fort Worth.

Merrill Huckabee, DeSoto freshman, showed his capabilities, with a fourth place in the discus. Huckabee uncorked the disc a distance of 135-0. Jeff Young continued his improvement in the shot put, with a 44-1 heave, bettering his Fort Worth effort by 18 inches.

Luce is depending on his field men to continue their upswing this Thursday at the ET meet. Competition from rival Lone Star Conference teams will be tough, by glancing at the winning marks in the field events at Laredo.

Eldon Tuttle, from Texas A&I, won the javelin by 31 feet over Carroll's mark. Howard Payne's Barry Lightfoot placed third, two feet behind Carroll. Carroll beat Lightfoot by seven feet in the Fort Worth meet.

Howard Payne showed strength in nearly all of the field events. Lightfoot was on the top end of a one-two-six place Baptist finish in the discus, with a throw of 152-2. Tom Klearner of HP won the shot put, with a 55-1 effort, and teammate Moses Romaney took the long jump.

Although Jody Mansfield vaulted 14-0 in the event at Laredo, he failed to place in the competition. "That's a good vault not to even place," Luce said. David Howard of LSC rival Abilene Christian took the vault, with a 15-0.

HP led the LSC schools at Laredo by totaling 61 points. A&I followed with 46, and Sul Ross and Southwest Texas had 40 and 32, respectively. All are entered in the Thursday meet, with SWT returning to defend its title. ET finished third last year.

Golfers Take 2nd In SWT Tourney

By Tony Floyd

Windy weather hampered scores, but ET golfers shot well enough to take second place in the Southwest Texas State Invitational Golf Tournament Feb. 21-23 at the par-72 Quail Creek Country Club in San Marcos. Angelo State, a Lone Star Conference foe, won the tourney.

Concerning the Lions' 1,451-stroke total, a 155 over par for the 54-hole totals of the six-member team, Coach Boley Crawford commented, "We didn't shoot too well, hopefully due to the weather conditions. Winds gusted up to 45 miles-per-hour."

Top shooter for the Lions was veteran Glenn Sockwell, who fired a 13 over par 229, including a best round of 76.

Commerce freshman Mike Mayo was right behind Sockwell, with a 234 total, including a best round of 76. Other ET scores included Steve Proffitt, a 244 total; Bill Parnell, 247; Bill Montgomery, 248; and Bill Berry, 249, including a four over par low round of 76.

Finishing behind ET were LSC members Sam Houston, Texas A&I, Southwest Texas, Howard Payne and Tarleton. The last two spots were held down by Trinity University and Texas Lutheran.

The ET golfers are currently re-qualifying for the Sam Houston State Invitational Tournament, scheduled Friday and Saturday, March 8-9, at the Elkins Lake Course in Huntsville.

Symphonic Concert Set

The Symphonic Band, a part of the University Band, will perform in a free concert at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, March 7, in the University Auditorium, according to Kenneth F. Parrach, Kappa Kappa Psi, honorary music faculty reporter.

North Texas Beats ET Women Netters

ET's Shirley Tomlinson won her singles match and the team of Nancy Moffitt and Susie Couley won its doubles match, but ET's tennis team lost the match, 2-7, to North Texas State University, last Saturday in Commerce.

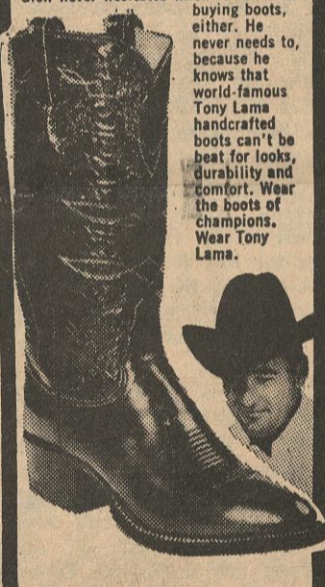

"I was really pleased with the meet. Our No. 1 doubles team beat North Texas No. 1 doubles team," coach Sandy Weeks said. "Although we still have a long way to go, the women were stroking better and using better court strategy," Mrs. Weeks added.

In other singles competition, Marjie Allen lost to her opponent, 1-6, 2-6, while Roz Jeffcoat lost to NTSU's Nebra McMillan, 3-6, 1-6. Debbie Ryburn lost to her opponent, 3-6, 2-6, and Wanda Callaway lost, 0-6, 8-10.

In doubles competition, ET's Nancy Moffitt and Susie Couley lost, 2-6, 1-6; Jeffcoat and Daniels were defeated, 5-7, 2-6; and Ryburn and Nelson lost, 1-6, 2-6.

Charges Pending for 'Streaker'

By Thomas Garrett

Charges are pending for an unidentified male arrested last Thursday in one of the latest streaking incidents on campus.

Security Officer Bill Brownfield and Jim Peek of the Commerce Police Department apprehended the streaker around 12:30 a.m. Thursday, Feb. 28, at the intersection of Stonewall and Bois d'Arc streets behind the Home Economics Building.

Sam McCord, director of Security, said three possible actions may be taken against the streaker. He could be taken before the justice of the peace and charged with disorderly conduct, which carries a fine up to $200. The person could be placed on disciplinary probation by the university or released with a warning.

The streaker was arrested when he ran from behind the Journalism Building along the sidewalk between the Social Sciences Building and the Faculty Lounge. The runner wore only a pair of socks.

Peek, who had been parked in the parking lot in front of the Social Sciences Building, pursued the streaker along the sidewalk in the patrol car. The second streaker at the intersection for Brownfield as the streaker jumped into a waiting auto.

As Peek was chasing the streaker, another naked runner ran from the other side of the Journalism Building along the sidewalk behind the patrol car. The second streaker managed to elude officers and was not caught.

The streaker was arrested and placed in a Security patrol car while Rick Bunch, who was with the Commerce police officer, and an unidentified person searched for the second streaker. During the arrest a friend of the streaker asked the reporter covering the incident not to take notes on the arrest.

Brownfield took the streaker to the Security Office, where he was questioned and arrest reports were filled out while he was naked. The streaker later had clothes brought to him.

Buildings Without Power For 30 Minutes Monday

A shot in electrical wires behind the sorority houses caused five classroom buildings to be without power for approximately 30 minutes Monday, March 4.

The interruption in service occurred when a rusted anchor pin gave way, causing slack in a guy wire which allowed two wires to come into contact and short out, according to Jim Huttel of Texas Power and Light Company.

Buildings without electricity included the Journalism Building, Hall of Sciences, Home Economics Building, Agriculture Building and the Speech Building. Other buildings had lights flickering on and off, but no complete loss of power was reported. Mayo Hall, which houses ROTC officers, was the only building affected in any way.

Power was restored to most buildings within half an hour, but the sorority houses were still without power at press time Monday.

Another Year Has Gone

What in the Hell went wrong

Fellow Students:

As a member of the President's Cabinet of ETSU, I need your support and help in order to tryto achieve the following objectives, which will enable us to build a better ETSU:

1. To allow 18 year olds to have full adult rights (optional housing, optional meal tickets and optional alcoholic beverages).
2. To have an indoor swimming pool and a university bowling alley.
3. To reduce the parking fine fee.
4. To establish a comprehensive health program on campus.
5. To abolish the English usage test.

Faithfully yours,

Bahram Nouyan
