Music Changes Delayed

By Kevin P. Cox

ET President F. H. McDowell announced Monday that recently proposed changes in the teaching of applied music courses would not be implemented for the 1975-76 academic year.

According to a memorandum released from his office Monday afternoon, McDowell made the decision after conferring with members of the ET Board of Regents and after obtaining authorization to not implement the program from the board's executive committee.

According to the proposed program previously scheduled to go into effect in the fall, all undergraduate instrumental, vocal and keyboard students taking major, minor or principal applied music courses would be taught on a combination of private and classroom basis, rather than on a strictly private basis as now. All other applied courses would have been taught on a strictly classroom basis, according to the proposed program.

In the memorandum, McDowell stated that instruction must be efficient in terms of personnel utilization and in the use of institutional resources. He recommended that the Board of Regents conduct an intensive study of course/program efficiency and productivity on a university-wide basis as soon as possible.

The president's decision followed a meeting with a committee of music students Friday afternoon in which he told students that apparently the administration "didn't do a good job of selling the thing."

In reference to the proposed program, he added that "something's not going to work if there is a lack of support for it."

During the meeting, McDowell said, "My only regret is that I didn't have some input from students."

He added that maybe a pilot program should have been developed. President McDowell said that he realized that the Music Department cannot have the same faculty to student ratio as some departments.

But, he added, the administration will have to "find ways to do things better with less money" in the future.

Dr. Johnnie C. Sturcken, dean, College of Liberal and Fine Arts, said last week that the program was aimed at developing a "more efficient use of faculty."

The committee which met with the president consists of seven members who were elected by music students to represent their attitudes toward the program.

The committee members that attended the meeting with the president are Linda Thrall, Joan Graves, Phillip Seawell, Rodney Mann, Inez Haggard, Dana Rothlisberger and James Collier.

President McDowell said that Regents had received several letters from students about the program.

Burgess To Speak Thursday On 'Literature, Film as Art'

By Debi Patterson

Anthony Burgess, novelist and writer, will present a Forum Arts program at 9 a.m. Thursday, March 6, in the University Auditorium, according to Dr. Fred Tarpley, head, Literature-Languages Department.

The author of "A Clockwork Orange" will speak on "Literature and Film as Art Forms." The program is being sponsored by the Literature-Languages Department.

An open house for Burgess will be held at 8:30 p.m. tonight at 1407 Bois d'Arc, the home of Dr. Tom Burke, literature-languages faculty. Refreshments will be provided by Sigma Tau Delta, honorary English society.

Dr. Tarpley said that Burgess has had critics' acclaim for eight non-fiction works and 16 novels in 16 years. Dr. Tarpley added that Burgess wrote six books in one year because he was told he had a brain tumor and only had one year to live. However, when the year was over, no trace of the tumor could be found, he explained.

Burgess wrote the six books under several different names because he felt that the public would not accept that many books by the same author in one year, Dr. Tarpley added.

A distinguished professor at the City College of New York, Burgess had little to do with the movie of his novel, "A Clockwork Orange," which was produced by Stanley Kubrick. However, according to Dr. Tarpley, Burgess sold the rights to make his own movie with the Rolling Stones as he had originally planned.

"He finds many things good about the movie and many places where it departs from the novel," Dr. Tarpley said.

He also noted that there are two versions of the novel: British and American. Also, several ET classes are studying "A Clockwork Orange," this semester, he added.

Since the novel, Burgess has become a popular speaker at college campuses across the nation, according to Dr. Tarpley.

Burgess, whose book and lyrics are currently being used in the Broadway musical production of "Cyrano," was born in Manchester, England and graduated with honors from Manchester University.

In addition to his career in writing, Burgess has also been a composer, a pianist, a translator, a teacher and an Education Officer in the British Colonial Service, Dr. Tarpley added.

APO Slates Blood Drive March 5-6

The Spring ET Community Blood Drive, sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, and Wadley Blood Bank of Dallas, is scheduled from 1-7:30 p.m. Wednesday, March 5, in the Fellowship Hall of the First United Methodist Church of Commerce on Highway 50, and from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Thursday, March 6, in the Texas Ballroom of the Student Center.

APO will award the two largest groups of blood donors a certificate of appreciation and five blood credit units to be donated in the group's name to the person or persons of their choice, according to Roger Crouch, ET Community Blood Club Chairman.

Crouch added that anyone can represent any organization he chooses by telling the scorer in the canteen area after donating. The individual will still receive the blood credit and he and his immediate family will be insured for a year, Crouch emphasized.

Gamma Sigma Sigma, national service sorority, is helping with the drive as well as the Methodist Church and area boy scouts, who canvassed Commerce in a door-to-door campaign.

The APOs ET Community Blood Club has set a goal of 100 pints per day for the spring drive, according to Scott Miller, APO president. A donor will supply Wadley with information concerning his present health and any negative factors that would prevent him from donating, Miller said.

After blood-typing, the donor is escorted to a table where a technician draws a pint of blood. The entire procedure is painless and takes about an hour, Miller added.

Membership in the ET Community Blood Bank entitles the blood donor and his immediate family to be covered by Wadley for all blood needs for one year, Crouch said. Wadley, through a national clearing house program, can transfer the blood to almost any hospital in the United States, Crouch added.

Six ET Students File For USA Election

Two students have filed as candidates to run for president and four for vice president in the United Students Association general election Wednesday, March 12, according to Rick Hall, election commissioner.

The candidates for president are Gerald Scarborough and Gary Bassett. Danny Reid, Chauncey Nealy, Del Brown, and "Doc" Dockery, have filed as vice presidential candidates.

According to Hall, there will be five places where students can vote during the election. Students may vote from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Hall of Languages, the Hall of Sciences and the Business Administration Building. Voting will take place at Watson Cafeteria from 4:30 to 6 p.m. and from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the main hall of the Student Center on the second floor.

Local Weather Forecast

Commerce: Possibility of light frost Wednesday morning. Fair both Wednesday and Thursday, and warming by Friday.

Wednesday's low temperature will be near 30 and climb to a high in the mid 50's. Thursday's low will be 38 and reach a high near 60.

The local weather outlook is forecast by Mike Mhoon, student in the Earth Sciences Department.

Accidents Investigated

Two automobile accidents were reported, one arrest was made, a complaint of harrasment was filed, and a stolen bicycle was recovered by the ET Security Department.

A 1967 Plymouth driven by Laurys Shores and a 1965 Ford driven by Amador Guerreo were involved in an accident Thursday, Feb. 27. The accident occurred as one of the cars was backing out of a parking space on Lee Street and was stuck by the second vehicle.

A car owned by Helen Varnadore and a car owned by Alana Holley were involved in an accident Friday, Feb. 28. Both cars were reported unoccupied at the time of the accident.

James Travis Hunter, a non-student, was arrested by Security officers for public intoxication in the Continuing Education Parking Lot. He was released to the Commerce Police Department and was placed in the city jail.

Friday, a female student filed a complaint against a male student for harrasment; no charges were filed.

Blood Donations Asked

We need your blood—for those in immediate need and also for a form of blood insurance for you and your family.

The ET Blood Drive, sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega and Wadley Blood Bank of Dallas, will be accepting blood donations from 1 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, March 5, in the Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church on Highway 50, and from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Thursday, March 6, in the Texas Ballroom of the Student Center.

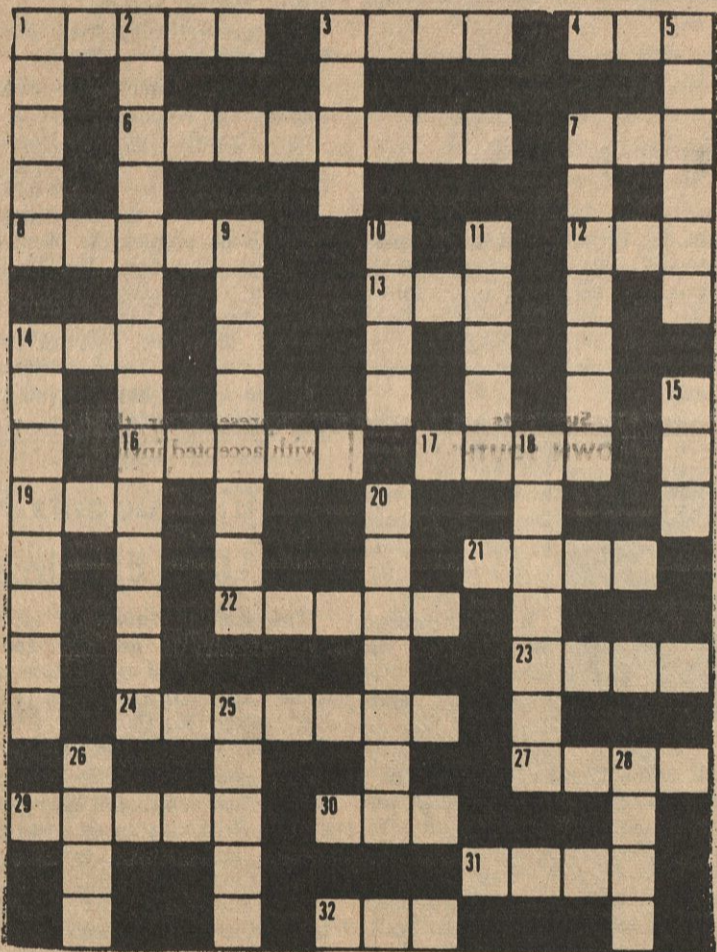

It is not necessary to fill out a pledge card to give—just come by any time during the above hours. By giving a pint of blood, you will insure yourself and your direct family for unlimited blood needs for the period of one year. Giving blood is easy and is not time consuming. Any person in good health and weighing at least 110 pounds is eligible to give.

In order to develop competitive spirit, campus fraternities, sororities, and campus organizations will be competing to send the most representatives to donate. The winner of the Greek and independent divisions will receive a certificate as well as the right to disperse five pints of blood to any person or persons they wish, in their name.

This is intended to impress upon you the very great importance you as an individual have in our campus and community. There is little if anything you can do in your four years here at ETSU which will give you more satisfaction than knowing a pint of your blood saved another person's life—unless it is the knowledge that a pint of his blood saved yours.

This blood drive depends upon you—the donor. We need your support to succeed. Please give—so that others might live. Thank you.

Roger W. Crouch
E.T. Community Blood Club Chairman

ET Play Set March 6 'Down South' Set

By Debi Patterson

"Once Upon A Time . . ." a graduate thesis play to begin Thursday, March 6, at the University Playhouse differs from most Playhouse productions in that the actors have no script to memorize.

The play is an experiment in improvisation based on theories of improvisational acting by Viola Spoline, author and director of improvisational drama.

Performances will be at 8 p.m. Thursday through Saturday, March 6-8, and at 2 p.m. Sunday, March 9, according to Jan Whitaker, University Playhouse business manager. Tickets for the play are $1, and reservations may be made at the University Playhouse Box Office by calling 468-2669.

Ms. Spoline "believes that every problem you run across in the theatre can be solved by the use of theatre games," Gail Harper, play director, explained.

Ms. Harper said that she uses several theatre games which are "technically for beginning actors to learn the different aspects of acting." These games include such things as playing "Who am I?" "Where am I?" or "What am I doing?"

For example, she said that the "Who am I?" game might be telling one person to choose a number between one and 100. The number is to be indicative of a person's age. Then, perform a task which indicates what age he has chosen. She added that she has had everything from a baby taking his first step to a 99-year-old grandfather trying to stand up.

She has also done "a lot of exercises on building group spirit so they can work together," she continued. "The whole idea," she said, "is to work together toward a certain end. The group spirit is essential to a show like this. If the group wouldn't work together it would be zero."

Symposium Meeting Set For Student Organizations

A meeting to discuss the Sam Rayburn Symposium on Public Affairs will be held at 3 p.m. Wednesday, March 5, in the Board Room of the Student Center, according to John Carrier, head, History Department, and chairman of the Symposium Committee. Representatives from student organizations have been invited to attend the meeting.

The symposium, to be held Tuesday and Wednesday, April 1-2, will be a two-day discussion and exchange about public affairs and issues. In attendance at the symposium will be U.S. Congressmen, Washington political satirist Mark Russell, White House correspondents, journalists and specialists in Congressional government, nuclear energy and communications, according to Dr. Carrier.

NADSAT PUZZLE — The NADSAT crossword puzzle, conceived by Bob Miller for an English 102 project, is being re-run, this time in its complete form. Some of the "across" words were inadvertently omitted from the puzzle in the Friday, Feb. 28, edition of The East Texan. The crossword puzzle incorporates the teenage jargon, NADSAT, used in the novel A Clockwork Orange, by Anthony Burgess. Burgess is scheduled to speak to a Forum Arts audience at 9 a.m. Thursday, March 6, in the University Auditorium. Answers are on Page 6.

'Down South' Starts Today; Parade Kicks-Off Ceremonies

To help celebrate Texas Independence and to remind us of our historical heritage, the brothers of Sigma Phi Epsilon are staging their annual Down South festivities this week. The ceremonies are designed to help recreate the mood and atmosphere of Texas during the years when Texas was an independent country.

The annual Texas Independence parade will start today at 3 p.m. at the Sig Ep House on the corner of Bois d'Arc and Live Oak streets. The route will go around the gym by the tennis courts and conclude at Binnion Hall on sorority row.

Featured in the parade will be Sig Eps and their dates in outfits of Mexican or early Texas flavor. Then the formal speech declaring Texas to fade back in the past and be an independent country again will be read by Joe Martin. Contest awards for the best beard, best outfit (both male and female), and worst beard will be given.

In addition, the sorority with the best decorated house will be announced, along with the runner-up. The ceremonies of this afternoon will end with the presentation of the Down South Court.

The six girls nominated are Chris Yeager (Gamma Phi Beta), Holly Hale (Chi Omega), Candy Summers (Alpha Phi), Barry Campbell (Alpha Delta Pi), Norma Kinard (Kappa Delta), and Connie Edwards (Independent). The queen of Down South will be selected from these nominations and announced at the party Friday.

The party Wednesday night will be at the Electric Circus. All students on campus are invited and free beer will be served from 8 p.m. to 11 p.m. No membership will be required to get in tonight. Sororities with the most members present will earn points toward the overall championship.

Tomorrow night the ceremonies will move to the country, as a traditional Texas Cookout is going to be held at a ranch owned by Sig Ep brother David London near Bonham. Over 100 lbs of meat and 10 kegs of beer is scheduled to be served to the Sig Eps and their dates. In addition, hayrides, bonfires, and boat rides will conclude the night.

The finale will be held Friday night at the Bar G Club, which has been rented for the occasion. The crowning of the Queen and a top rock band are the scheduled highlights of the evening—but at a Sig Ep Down South party one may never be sure what other activity or event will take place. The Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity is dedicated to Brotherhood and specializes in social life, and all their functions are entertaining to everyone.

The Alumni of Texas Zeta will be present for the Friday party, with accepted invitations from thirteen states besides Texas.

Sig Eps and their dates conclude the annual Down South Parade with a formal presentation at Binnion Hall.

Art Graduates To Meet

Graduate art students are interested in having a voice within the Art Department, according to David Wallin, graduate assistant, and they will take the first step toward gaining that voice at 5:30 p.m. today when they officially meet as a group for the first time.

Art seminars have been held many times, Wallin said, but the new "Association of Graduate Students" will have a more unified, and more active voice. The meeting at Wallin's home, 901 N. Park, will be to talk over goals and start collecting money to bring in established artists for workshops.

Wallin said that he hopes to be able to collect enough money to show the Art Department that the graduates are serious. He said that the department would probably help with funds if enough interest is shown.

Tracksters Get Fifth at Laredo

By Allen Myers

The 1975 edition of ET's track team brought back a fifth-place finish from the Border Olympics in Laredo Saturday, March 1.

ET Coach Delmer Brown sent 15 men to Laredo to compete against 14 other college division teams, with the Lions combining for three second places.

The strongest areas for the Lions proved to be the sprints and the field events.

Gary Martin, Community freshman, was the bright spot for ET as he placed second in the long jump with a 22'6" jump and won fifth in the 440-yard hurdles with a time of 57 seconds.

To round out his day Martin ran a leg on the second place 440-yard relay team.

Glenn Machan, sophomore letterman from Waco, picked up another second place finish for the Lions in the high jump with a leap of 6'6".

Tim Collier, Kick Easley, Rick Frazier, and Doug Henley won fourth place in the mile relay with a time of 3:19.

Coach Brown's 440-yard relay team of Doug Henley, Gary Martin, Al Jones, and Tim Collier got a start for the season with a second-place finish time of 42.4 seconds.

ET's final points came from the field again as Stan Combest tossed the javelin 165'0" to place fifth.

The Lion tracksters hit the road again Saturday, March 8, to compete in the Fort Worth Recreational Meet.

Tickets Available For Rayburn Dinner

Tickets are available at the Student Center Activities Desk for the Sam Rayburn Memorial Dinner to be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday, April 1, in the Texas and American Ballrooms of the Student Center, according to Dr. John Carrier, head, History Department, and chairman of the Sam Rayburn Symposium Committee.

Because several off-campus visitors have been invited to the dinner, Dr. Carrier explained that the $6 tickets will be sold on a first-come, first-serve basis.

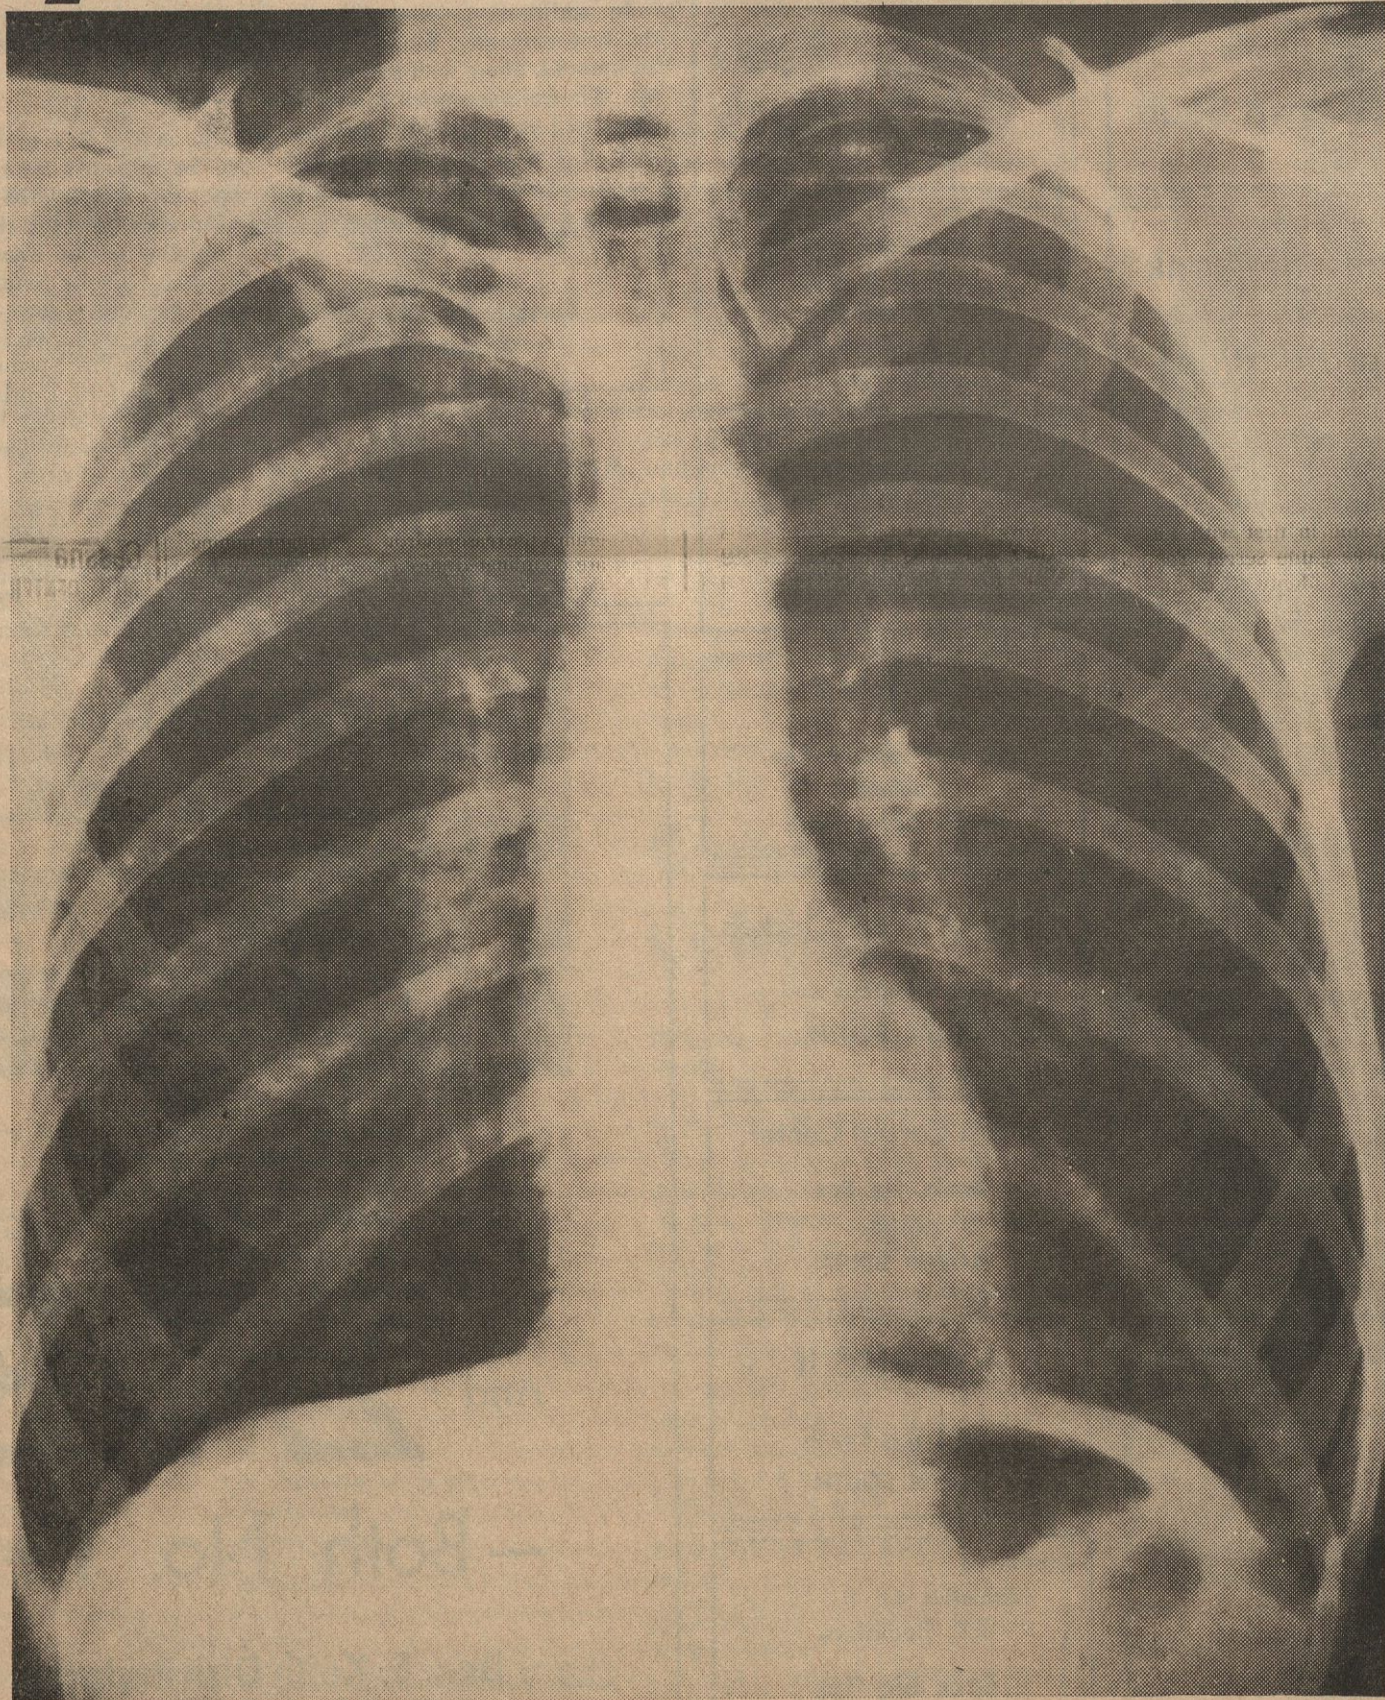

Scheduled to entertain at the dinner are the University Chorale and Mark Russell, political satirist who will appear in a Forum Arts program Tuesday morning in the University Auditorium.

U. S. Representatives Ray Roberts, Jim Wright, Bob Kreuger and Wright Patman will pay tribute to former U.S. House Speaker Rayburn. Justice Homer Thornberry, judge of the 5th Circuit U.S. Court of Appeals, will give a memorial address.

The keynote speech will be given by Dr. Austin Ranney, University of Wisconsin political science faculty and president of the American Political Science Association.

If you think Kodak is just pretty pictures, you ought to have your chest examined.

When a chest x-ray shows that you have a potential killer like TB or cancer, it's not a pretty picture. But it's an important picture because it can help the doctor detect and catch the killer in time.

When doctors are out to catch these potential killers, they want the sharpest, clearest x-ray films they can get. And that's why people at Kodak spend so many hours creating new and better x-ray film equipment. Already, the results include convenience for the patient, economy for the hospital, an even more useful tool for the radiologist—and, most important, reduced radiation exposure.

Researching and creating better x-ray films is good for our business, which is why we went into them in the first place. But it does our society good, too—which isn't a bad feeling. After all, our business depends on our society—so we care what happens to it.

By Steve Waggoner

The Memphis Navy outshot Delta Sigs "A" and the Hilltoppers ran away from the Guzzlers to take undisputed leads in their respective independent leagues in the play of unbeaten teams Wednesday, Feb. 26. Mark Weir led the Memphis Navy with 21 points, and Quentin Burnett pumped in 19 points for the Delta Sigs.

The Hilltoppers became the only undefeated team left in "A" league by beating the Guzzlers, 62-33. The Hilltoppers came out hot and jumped

In other "B" league action Cool and the Gang won over the United Christian Center, 57-33, and the Conquistadors blasted the Unknowns, 48-28.

In "B" league the Memphis Navy won again with a 2-0 forfeit over the Unknowns, and the Conquistadors slipped by Cool and the Gang, 44-34.

NTSU Defeats ET Fem Netters

By Elaine Kral

ET's women's varsity tennis team won only one match against North Texas State University in the squad's first match of the season.

Inexperience and the tension of an opening season match contributed to the team's defeat, according to coach Susan Andrews.

"This is the first season for all the girls since no players returned from last year's squad and they need a little time to adjust to playing situations," she said.

In the single's matches, ET's Amy Mahan defeated Kim Sehumann of NT 7-5, 4-6, 6-4, for the team's only victory of the day. NT's Cathy Avery defeated Valerie Meyers 6-1, 6-2; Becky Reed bested Deni Kerley 6-2, 6-3; Angela Hamm beat Kay Dabbs 6-4, 6-2, Marion Vestuba defeated Debbie Ridgeway 6-3, 6-1; Mary Finan beat Wanda Heckler 6-3, 7-5; and Nancy Brunner defeated Karen Nixon 6-0, 6-1.

NT dominated the doubles competition also, capturing all the matches. Avery and Reed Meyers and Dabbs 6-2, 6-1; Hamm and Vestuba took Kerley and Ridgeway 6-2, 6-4 and Sehumann and Brunner defeated Mahan and Nixon 6-2, 6-3.

ET was slated to play Texas Women's University Monday, but the match was postponed due to wet courts. The team's next scheduled match will be against Texas Christian University March 25 but a make-up match with TWU may be scheduled before that time, Mrs. Andrews said.

USA Conducts Survey

A survey has been mailed by the Student Government to Paris, Tex., commuter students, hoping to find out if these students express an interest in a commuter bus service between Paris and ET, according to Steve Henderson, president, United Students Association.

Henderson said that there are between 150 to 160 commuting students living in Paris and Cooper who could benefit from the bus service, and he said that the survey is a means to find out what times and days the students need the service. He said that results from the survey are just now beginning to return, and he added that a number of students were expressing an interest in the service.

Henderson said that although the bus service was probable for the future, permission first must be granted by the state to Transportation Enterprises. They would provide the buses and finance the service if approved, he said.

Concerning prices for the bus service, Henderson estimated that it costs a student about $180 per semester to finance the 45-minute drive from Paris to ET for five days a week.

He added that the commuter bus service for five days a week from Dallas is $140 per semester, and this distance is twice as far from ET as the distance from Paris, so students would save money.

Jobs Available for Typists

A limited number of campus and off-campus work-study positions are available for qualified typists, according to John Garlock, coordinator, Work-Study. Previous typing experience or business background would be preferred, but is not essential in filling the openings, he said.

Applicants interested in these positions must demonstrate financial need, according to the program guidelines. A typing test will be given to applicants.

It is anticipated that additional openings will become available Monday, March 17, to fill vacancies left by students leaving for student teaching, he said.

Radio-TV Enrollment Rises With Airing of Radio Stations

By Willis Johnson

Due to the airing of ET's new radio stations, KETR-FM and ETSU, enrollment in Radio-TV Broadcasting is up 30 per cent, according to Robert Sanders, director of radio-TV instruction.

Sanders said that the number of practicum students has doubled this semester and he estimates that there are 130 students enrolled in radio-TV classes, an increase over the 100 students enrolled in the fall semester.

Sanders started preparing practicum students last semester for the station by requiring them to put together disc jockey shows, newscasts and production work.

Sanders said that because of the increased interest in radio-TV, he will propose various innovations. For now, Sanders has no speakers in the broadcasting field scheduled, but he "definitely" plans to schedule some speakers. Sanders was responsible for getting Mike Shapiro of WFAA-TV, Dallas, to speak to a broadcasting class last fall.

Sanders, who has six years experience in commercial broadcasting, said that he has several new courses in mind. "We need a course in sales," Sanders said, and he added that he hopes there will be a course in news writing, comparative broadcasting systems and film.

Concerning the film course, Sanders said, "I am not sure which department should teach the course," and he added, "I don't really care, as long as it is taught."

Sanders, currently working on his doctoral dissertation, also said, "I would like to see our students take more business and journalism courses." Sanders explained that the business courses will help students in the management phase of broadcasting.

The radio-TV section will move to the new building near Gee Lake in the future, and Sanders said that he will try to get new color television equipment for the new studios.

According to Phil Ebensberger, general manager of the radio stations, Radio ETSU and KETR-FM will also move to the new building.

Can one priest make a difference?

In Italy, in the 1800's a poor priest met a boy of the streets. At that time there were thousands of such boys in Turin ... hungry, homeless and without hope.

But what could one priest do? Without money. Without support. Without even a building to house them.

But Father John Bosco did make a difference. He founded the first community that was dedicated primarily to youth. With a program of play, learn and pray he brought the boys from the streets back to God and gave them a means of earning their living. From such humble beginnings a movement began that now reaches around the world ... a movement that has touched the lives of millions of youngsters — the children of St. John Bosco.

Today over 22,000 Salesians carry on his work in 73 countries. A family of community-minded men who help to build a better world by preparing young boys to be good citizens for both God and country. Salesians serve as teachers, coaches, counselors, parish priests and missionaries. You see, one priest can make a big difference.

Course Adds Undergrads

Marketing-Management 446, Small Business Institute, has been opened to undergraduates this semester for the first time. The course began in spring 1974 to help small, local businessmen become better established, according to Susan Copeland, assistant instructor of Economics-Finance.

The Small Business Institute was set up by the National Small Business Administration, funded by the federal government. The class is designed to allow business students to gain experience in providing management assistance, research, and counseling to area businesses.

Dr. Robert Holmes, assistant dean of the College of Business, is the coordinator and faculty adviser for the class. Holmes must counsel with students wanting to enroll in the course, keeping the class down to approximately 15 students.

Two local Commerce businesses participated in the program last spring, and a student conducted a survey to see if these businesses were catering to the right audience through advertising and products sold.

The first four to six weeks of the course are spent in the classroom. Class members then work on cases from the local area. The class meets once a week for progress reports with Dr. Holmes and Dr. Trezzie Pressley, head, Marketing-Management Department, who counsels the students.

A student may choose his own project usually aiding the business in accounting and management.

ET Malaysian Student Plans To Take Community College Idea Back Home

By Allen Hallmark

T. P. Chia, Malaysian graduate student, wants to take something of America back home with him to Malaysia—something more than some picture postcards and a sheepskin for the Ed.D. degree he hopes to earn in a year.

According to Chia's adviser, Dr. Russell Davis, secondary and higher education faculty, Chia has become an expert on how the uniquely American system of community colleges works. Now Chia wants to export that system with appropriate changes to Malaysia.

"My major interest is in the social aspect of community college education," Chia said. "I hope to be able to adapt the American model so that it can meet the needs of a developing nation," he added.

Chia, who received his B.A. in political science from the University of Hawaii and a M.A. in political science and a master of public administration from ET, recently had the first of a 10-part series of articles published by the China Press in Malaysia.

The series will discuss his ideas on the "philosophy, curriculum, and instructional development, and the socio-political significance of two-year college education for a developing nation," Chia said.

Chia once worked as a reporter for The China Press and he also was a newscaster on television nationwide in Malaysia. He was an East-West Center scholar at the University of Hawaii. Chia is employed at ET by MACH III as an assistant instructor in political science and sociology and is a past president of the ET International Students Association.

Dr. James W. Tunnell, director of the ET Center for Community College Education, who has discussed Chia's project with him, said that any government that does not have a systematic approach to the community college concept needs it. "Community colleges offer too many different approaches to education, including occupational education, developmental education, and community service programs, to be neglected long by nations interested in providing adequate education for their citizens," Dr. Tunnell said.

Some Obstacles

Dr. Tunnell and Dr. Davis both are enthusiastic about Chia's project, but they cautioned that Chia has many obstacles in his path. Dr. Davis said that there are few other nations (he could name only Canada, Japan, France, and some of the Scandinavian nations) that have community colleges at present.

Developing nations like Malaysia often have strong central governments that are reluctant to give much independence to local institutions. Autonomy is basic to the American system where each community college is different to cater to the needs of the people in its locale, Dr. Davis said.

Chia will complete his course work in his doctoral program this semester and he plans to do his dissertation on the criteria for a development-based two-year college education once he has passed his written and oral comprehensive exams.

Plan May Be First

Neither Davis nor Chia is aware of any other such project in the world at the present. A student from Ceylon developed a plan for a 2-year college in that country after studying in America, Chia said. But he added that the student did not have a comprehensive plan "of integrating educational objectives with national development priorities" and that the Ceylon program cannot be considered a model for other developing nations.

The role of the national government in planning and financing the curriculum of the 2-year college in Malaysia will be a principal objective in his efforts. "Developing nations need to redefine their concepts of higher education, in view of the rapid social and technological changes taking place," Chia said.

But, Chia will be confronted with the question of how to achieve effective national planning and support while encouraging maximum local autonomy for the colleges. "The American grass-root concept is difficult to be exported," Chia said.

Dr. Davis said that he thinks Chia is uniquely equipped to solve these kinds of problems because he has two kinds of expertise: an intimate knowledge of how the American community college system operates, and an equally good knowledge of the socio-political scheme of Malaysia.

Both Dr. Davis and Dr. Tunnell agreed that if Chia is successful in his project, it would be a major educational achievement, one that would reflect well both on Chia and ET.

Moore To Conduct Study On Cultural Centers

In his role as Minority Affairs director, Ivory Moore is conducting a study to measure the effectiveness of cultural centers on seven college campuses.

Moore said that the data will include the "time the cultural center has been in existence, the number of students participating at its beginning, and the number presently participating" to determine how "effective it is with students, faculty and staff, and with the community it serves.

Moore said that results will be available to the university as soon as the study is completed.

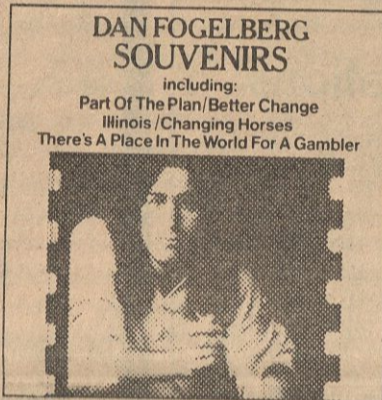

Colleges to be included in the study are the University of Washington, Southern Methodist University, North Texas State University, University of Texas at Arlington, Oklahoma University, Southern Illinois at Evansville, and ET according to Moore.
