Morris Named Grad Dean; Sturcken L-F Arts Dean

Two ET deans have been given new assignments in an administrative reorganization, according to ET President F. H. McDowell.

Dr. Johnye C. Sturcken, dean of the Graduate School since August 1972, has been named dean of the College of Liberal and Fine Arts.

Sturcken

Morris

Lenoir

Smith

Dr. Jerry D. Morris, dean of the Division of Admissions and Records since 1971, will succeed Dr. Sturcken as Graduate School dean.

Both appointments will be effective June 1.

Also given new responsibilities were Mrs. Jean T. Smith, who will become director of the Division of Admissions and Records on June 1, and Dr. Nancy R. Lenoir, named assistant dean of the Graduate School effective Sept. 1.

When she was named dean of the Graduate School last summer, Dr. Sturcken became the first woman academic dean in ET's 84-year history.

Dr. Sturcken holds M.A. and Ph.D. degrees in English from the University of Texas and Central Missouri State University, Warrensburg, prior to joining the ET English faculty in 1968.

Dr. Sturcken succeeds Dr. Roger L. Brooks, now president of Howard Payne College, Brownwood, as dean of the College of Liberal and Fine Arts. Dr. Frank H. Smyrl, acting dean of the college since Dr. Brooks' departure in January, has been named head of the Department of Social Sciences at Tyler State College effective June 1.

Dr. Morris came to ET in 1970 as placement director. He holds three degrees, including an Ed.D., from the University of Arkansas. Prior to coming to ET he was assistant superintendent of schools in Mountain Home, Ark., and served as a teacher and administrator in Arkansas since 1959. He was principal of Cotton (Ark.) High School for three years, where he also taught for one year. Morris said his appointment would be "an interesting challenge."

Mrs. Smith, who holds B.A. and M.A. degrees in English from ETSU, joined the university in 1946 as assistant registrar. She was later named associate registrar and became director of records and reports in 1969. She served as a high school principal in both Detroit, Tex., and Sims, Tex., before coming to ET.

Dr. Lenoir joined the history faculty in 1969 and completed a Ph.D. in history at the University of Oklahoma last year. She also holds a B.A. in history and French and an M.A. in history from ETSU. She earned an A.A. degree at Paris Junior College.

"We are especially pleased to have found individuals with such exceptional qualifications within the university to fill these important positions," said President McDowell in making the announcement.

Faculty Senate Due E. Test Proposals

The Faculty Senate at its 3 p.m. Tuesday, May 1, meeting is scheduled to vote on two proposals of a senate committee regarding ET's required English Usage Test.

The senate's Curriculum Committee, headed by Dr. Larry Bone, chemistry faculty, has presented "both of the recommendations that received the majority of the support of the faculty" in a recent questionnaire of ET teachers.

The first proposal is that the test procedure remain as it is now administered, with four sub-proposals: (1) to reduce teaching load of the faculty member responsible for administering the test (2) to permit students to take English 313 for improvement of written composition without having taken the test; (3) See FACULTY, Page 8

Garcia Elected USA President

By Corky Brown

Eddie Garcia was elected president of the United Students Association Wednesday, April 25, when he received 219 of the 411 votes cast in the presidential runoff.

According to figures released by Harry Haley, Election Commission chairman, Garcia, a graduate student, received 27 more votes than Scott Garner, the other candidate in the runoff. Garner received more votes than any other candidate in the March 21 general election but he did not receive the majority needed to win the position so a runoff was necessary.

Wednesday night Garcia was sworn in by Student Court justice Craig Benedict as members of the senate looked on. The senate was scheduled to meet but did not have a quorum.

Garcia told the 16 senators present that they should take pride in the university. He played selected portions of a speech made by the then U. S. Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson at a 1959 Forum Arts program during which the late president commended ET for its high standards and exemplary academic programs.

The senate conducted no business but Jim Hallock, president of the senate, read a statement by former USA President Gary Stretcher in which he explained that he had vetoed a senate bill which outlined procedures for filling senate vacancies. Stretcher said he vetoed the bill because it was unconstitutional.

According to Hallock, this meeting was the last of the spring semester. He said that the current members of the senate would hold office until the election next fall. However, he said, some of the senate members might be dismissed if they have accumulated four absences. He said he was in the process of checking attendance records for this year and totaling the absences of senators. He said that any senator who is dismissed from the senate because of absences is ineligible for the election next fall.

The next meeting of the senate is scheduled for the first Wednesday after the fall session begins.

The following senators were absent from the meeting: Carol Bandt, Pam Binford, Karen Boyd, Yvonne Cronholm, Judy Gaut, Rebecca Graham, Ram Lamba, Cindy Marshall,

Dice, Snyder Attempt Throws In Nat'l Cow Chip Contest

By Kris Blankenship

Ralph Dice, Greencastle, Pa., senior, and Joe Snyder, Dallas sophomore, threw cow chips for the unrecord-breaking distance of 71.4 feet and 61.1 feet respectively.

It was the World Championship Cow Chip Throwing Contest in Beaver, Okla., held Saturday, April 21. The small Panhandle town hosted more than 8,000 spectators for its fourth annual contest.

The contest sports three categories: men's division, women's division, and the politician and VIP class. The latter division included an Oklahoma senator and representatives, a university president, a navy commander, newspaper editors, and David Hall, Oklahoma governor.

The rules were simple. Two chips were allowed per contestant. Chips had to be at least six inches in diameter. The chip thrown the greatest distance was the one measured. If the chips fell apart while being thrown, the piece that went the farthest was counted.

This year's winners were Carl Engel, Odessa, VIP and politician class, for 165.8 feet; Harold Smith, defending champion, men's division, from Forgan, Okla., for 176.1 feet; and Patty Bruce from Beaver, women's division defending champion, for 101.1 feet.

Even the most "able" thrower can lose control of his chip. Such was the case with Snyder who managed to hit East Texan photographer Larry Dockery, Fort Worth senior, in his camera lens.

The two ETSU contestants do claim they came in first and second from the Commerce area.

Monday's Rainfall Causes No Damage

Heavy rainfall in the Greenville and Commerce area forced highway authorities to close Highway 24 between Commerce and Greenville Monday night, April 23.

Commerce police officers reported that the highway was closed off and on throughout the night. Some ET students with night classes were unable to reach the campus.

ET maintenance personnel said that they had no complaints about damage due to the heavy rainfall. Rumors that some buildings on campus were flooded could not be confirmed and neither ET Security nor maintenance could verify such reports.

Although there was no damage to the building, ET security was informed that an underground laboratory near the Hall of Sciences was leaking due to the heavy rain. Dr. Kwang-Shik Min, physics faculty, reported that there was no damage to any of the projects in the laboratory. A pump in the laboratory was able to eject the water before any damage was done.

Rock-Roll Concert Slated

Music of the Golden Age of Rock n' Roll will be played by Vince Vance, the Valiants, and the Valiantettes, 1950's Rock n' Rool Band

Consort To Give Concert

The Triangle Consort, a recorder ensemble, will be presented in concert at 3 p.m. Sunday, April 29, in the Concert Hall of the Music Building.

Members of the ensemble include Austin College faculty members Charles Boody, Emily Carnesi and George Kriehn. ET faculty members in the ensemble include Eileen Rees, psychology faculty; William Rees, music faculty; Ed Rodriguez, computer science faculty.

The concert will include selections by Byrd, Frescobaldi, Telemann and Holborne, along with other contemporary selections.

from New Orleans, La., at 8 p.m. Thursday, May 3, in the American and Texas Ballrooms.

Judd Germany, chairman of the concert committee of the Student Activities Board, said that Vance and his group entertained at Texas Christian University last semester and the group received seven encores.

Vance and his group also played as a showcase act at the National Entertainment Conference this year. They were one of the few acts chosen, Germany said.

Tickets for the concert are on sale in the Student Center at $1.49 each.

Last Paper Next Week

The last issue of The East Texan will be Wednesday, May 2. The first issue in the summer session will be Friday, June 15.

Danny Reid, Bob Walker, Wallace Williams, Patty Wood and Paul Yeager.

Hill To Be Speaker At May 1 'Law Day'

John L. Hill, attorney general of Texas, will speak about "Law Day, USA" at 3 p.m. Tuesday, May 1, in the University Auditorium.

The Political Science Department is sponsoring the appearance of Hill, who will be the last Forum Arts speaker for the semester.

Congress in 1961 designated the first day of each May as "Law Day, USA," and former

Hill

President John F. Kennedy in 1963 urged that civic and service organizations, schools, public bodies, and the news media join in this observance and called upon officials to display the nation's flag on all public buildings.

A native of Breckenridge, Hill's preparatory education was at Kilgore College. He later studied law at the University of Texas at Austin.

He served as secretary of state under former Gov. John Connally and finished sixth in a run for the governor's office during the 1968 Democratic primary.

As secretary of state, Hill served as chief election officer, chief corporate officer, chief of uniform commercial code and chief extradition officer.

Delts Plan Walk

Approximately 50 or 60 members, pledges and little sisters of Delta Tau Delta, social fraternity, plan to walk from Dallas to Commerce on Saturday to collect money for victims of an airplane crash.

The Delts sought donations from their hometowns, from the hometowns of the victims and from Commerce, residents and businessmen to pay the medical expenses of the victims who are both Delts.

Members of Delta Tau Delta, of which all four victims of the plane crash were members, reported Monday, April 23, that the two surviving students, Charles Gutierrez and Murray England, were still improving.

Brad Lee Cedarburg was killed in the crash. Gary Anderson died Sunday, April 22.

Fire Protection Plans Approved

A fire protection plan developed by the ET Security Department has been approved by ET President F. H. McDowell, according to Wayne Smith, security fire prevention and safety coordinator.

Smith said the plan will begin in the fall of 1973. ET Security will have full authority to inspect facilities, investigate fires, preview and review remodeling of all construction on campus, and recommend minimum standards for compliance with fire regulations.

The department will also institute educational programs, stop any operation which proves to be hazardous to student life, maintain fire prevention and suppression equipment owned by the university, and maintain a working relationship with the Commerce Fire Department for suppression of fires on campus.

There are two main reasons for the plan, Smith said. There has never been an organized plan of fire prevention to protect the lives of the students and employees of ET. Also, if the Texas Legislature adopts the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 in September, then ET will be under the regulations of the act.

Other laws with which ET needs to comply include the Texas Tort Claims Act, Commerce city ordinances, and the recommendations of the State Board of Insurance State Fire Marshal's office, Smith said.

He said that the university has needed to adopt a minimum standards those of the National Fire Protection Association for a long time. The standards of the NFPA, Smith said, are nationally recognized as good basic standards. They are referred to in the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970, recognized by the city of Commerce, and recommended by the State Fire Marshal's office.

Buildings will be inspected at least twice each fiscal year, Smith said.

Reports of the inspections will be sent to the person in charge of each facility inspected. If action is needed to comply with regulations, the person in charge will be given one week in which to comply or show an effort to do so.

Smith said all facilities found in need of corrective measures will be reinspected to insure compliance with regulations.

All fires will be investigated by the Security Department, Smith said. If arson or willful burning is determined to be the cause, violators will be prosecuted. He said if the fire is accidental, then measures will be taken to prevent more fires in the future.

The department will also institute educational programs for students and employees. They will be taught how to report fires, how to recognize fire hazards, evaluate buildings, use fire equipment owned by the university and how to create and maintain a safe environment.

Smith said that all fire drills will have security officers present. All dormitories will have fire drills three times each long semester and twice during the summer. The fire drills will begin in the fall of 1973, he said, and all residents will be required to participate.

Permits will be issued on an occasional basis for welding and burning in areas not usually used for these purposes, Smith said. The permits will be issued to a responsible person specifying the burning limits and precautions which must be taken.

The most important aspect of the program, Smith said, will be the preview and review of remodeling construction. This will allow all buildings to be in compliance with fire regulations before construction begins so that they will not have to be modified after construction. The latter is a waste of time and money, Smith said.

Blood Club Plans Drive

A blood drive is slated for the ET campus June 13 to replenish the ETSU Blood Club account at the Wadley Blood Center in Dallas, according to Dick Bailey, Blood Club co-chairman.

Bailey said that 12-15 pints of blood had been donated to ET students who survived a plane crash on April 10. Bailey also said that the Blood Club has donated blood to the families of ET students; to open heart surgery; and to patients with cycle cell anemia and hemophilia.

The ETSU Blood Club will be presented a plaque by the Wadley Blood Center in Dallas for being the largest Blood Club in Texas and for having the largest number of donors for the longest period of time. The presentation will take place on June 13.

Bailey said that a table would be set up during registration for the first summer semester to get pledges for the June 13 drive. He said that another drive was slated for Dec. 5 and 6.

LEEP Loans Deadline Set

The deadline for Law Enforcement Loan Applications is Friday, May 11, for the summer semester, according to Jerry Lytle, director of Financial Aids.

Awards Banquet Slated

Smith said he hopes to have a pamphlet ready by fall for the public explaining the program. He said that it will include the process for reporting a fire. The department has to wait on the pamphlet in order to include the new 911 system for reporting emergencies that will be used by the Commerce police and fire departments.

Jobs To Be Coordinated

A job coordination service is being implemented through the efforts of the Dallas-Fort Worth chapter of the American Marketing Association, according to the ET Placement Office. This service is to provide an intermediary between the marketing graduate and the businesses within the Dallas-Fort Worth metroplex. Chairman George Arnold may be contacted at 4023 Dawes Drive, Dallas (phone 214-339-7966 after 5 p.m.).

CORRECTION

In the Wednesday, April 25 issue, an East Texan reported incorrectly that Joe Hyles won first place in the black and white human interest category at the Sam Houston State University photographic print exhibition last week. The award was won by Joe Snyder. The name of Hurley Bradshaw, second place black and white human interest, was left out.

Greenlee Urges Blacks To Write About Blacks

By Pamela McKnight

Poet-author Sam Greenlee said here Monday, April 16, that black writers should quit trying to write for the white majority and should begin writing for and about blacks.

Sponsored by the Student Center's Ideas and Issues Committee and Alpha Phi Alpha, social fraternity, as a part of its Black and Gold Week activities, Greenlee said that for more than 100 years blacks have been expected to write universally, instead of for themselves and for their people.

"After 200 years of oppression, during which nothing we did was considered valid unless it was filtered through white boys, we're finally developing writers who are trying to write black for blacks," the former foreign service officer for the U.S. Information Agency said.

Answering his question of "What are we going to do now differently from what we have been doing," the 43-year-old Greenlee explained that black writers should begin expending the type of energy they did as slaves toward building "our own community." This energy, he explained, should be used by black writers to try to "talk to our people in a language and style our people can understand." As an example, he used his novel, "The Spook Who Sat by the Door," noting that he had tried to explain complicated political ideas in a way that a sixth-grade dropout could understand.

Publishing houses in America were cited by Greenlee as another stumbling block to black writers, since "most are dominated by a certain segment of the white population." He said that his novel was rejected 28 times during a three-year period by publishing houses in the United States before it was published in England. He added that it is now in its ninth printing, having sold more than 400,000 copies.

For this reason, Greenlee said, he and other black writers have turned to poetry because "you can get it to the people quickly" through the numerous small publishing houses that have been started by blacks.

Two stereotypes of blacks have been fostered through literature, movies and television, Greenlee said, pointing to the image of the black as "the harmless, shuffling boy" and as "the big buck nigger who only wants to kill and rape." He added, with a smile, "How can we be both at the same time."

His solution is to write about blacks as they are and not worry about adhering to the stereotypes, which he said some publishers and movie makers demand. This can be done now, he said, because of the rise in black-owned publishing houses.

In the near future, Greenlee said that Southern black writers will start telling the story of the black in the South. Most black literature today, he added, is concerned with ghetto life in the urban North.

SAB Sets Children's Night Out

The Community Relations Committee of the Student Activities Board will sponsor Children's Night Out from 6:30-10 p.m. Tuesday, May 1, in the Student Center, according to George Maguire, program director of the Student Center.

Children's Night Out is an opportunity for students with children to the Student Center for the evening to give parents free time for studying, Maguire said.

Children from 2-12 years will be accepted. Parents should come by and register their children at the Activities Center in person, he said. There will be organized games, crafts, refreshments, movies, cartoons, and free balloons available for the children.

Music Fraternity To Host Concert

Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, professional music fraternity, will sponsor a free afternoon band concert at 2 p.m. Friday, May 4, to be given by the Air Force Band of the West from Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, in the University Auditorium.

Chemists Honor Student

Stuart Tribble, ET graduate student, has been chosen Student Analyst of the Year by the Dallas Society of Analytical Chemists. He is to be cited for his research and work in the analytical determination of environmental arsenic.

SAB Sets Commuter Day

The Student Activities Board of the Student Center will sponsor Commuter Day from 12:30-1:30 Monday, April 30, in the Founders Lounge.

Entertainment will be the Black Movement Band.

Chem. Students To Present Papers

ET chemistry graduate and undergraduate students will present ten papers at a "Meeting in Miniature" of the Dallas-Fort Worth section of the American Chemical Society at Southern Methodist University, Friday, April 27.

Other colleges to participate in the meeting are North Texas State University, Texas Wesleyan College, University of Texas at Arlington, Texas Christian University, Abilene Christian College, and SMU.

4-H District Meet Set

The District 4-H Meet will be held Saturday, April 28, on the ET campus, according to Lynn Quarrier, agriculture faculty.

Junior high and high school students in 4-H will represent 20 counties in Northeast Texas.

Dr. Arthur Hughes, head, Agriculture Department, will be in charge of the agriculture contests. Dr. Wathena Temple, head, Home Economics Department, will direct the homemaking contests.

Salesman Award To Be Presented

The salesman of the year award will be presented to Locke Neely, president of Pi Sigma Epsilon, professional marketing and management fraternity, and Joe Nicholson, director of Super Card sales for PSE, at the Dallas Sales and Marketing Executives monthly meeting Monday, April 30, at the Statler Hilton in Dallas.

BCC To Stress Awareness

The Black Culture Center is planning a Human Awareness Program and hopes to improve its work along community lines next year, according to Larry Jackson, assistant director of the center.

The Human Awareness Program will consist of rap sessions dealing with pertinent problems and issues that confront society today, Jackson said in explaining the program. He added that the discussion should lead to a greater understanding about ever changing society and culture.

The BCC presently functioning with the Minority Affairs Office, began community service and research projects related to community service in the spring of 1972.

"The main function of the center is to function as a center for the advancement of the culture and heritage of blacks and other minorities, but we like to think of ourselves as a people center," Jackson said.

In the past year, the BCC has operated a Free Breakfast Program, sprayed houses in Commerce, Greenville, Tyler and Dallas for pests, tested children in Commerce's Norris Community for Sickle Cell Anemia, and registered voters in Greenville and Denton. The purpose of these community projects was to reintegrate the educational institution with the community, according to Jackson.

In improving in the area of community projects, the BCC will try to work with other campus and community organizations in their projects and wants to include them in its own.

"We plan to have an artist workshop that will work in conjunction with the Art and English departments to present art and craft shows and speaker presentations to the campus and community," Jackson said.

The BCC also plans to form a theatrical troupe with the assistance of the Speech-Drama Department to present plays and poetry readings.

"We especially want to work with white students for better awareness of blacks and their culture," Jackson concluded.

The program will feature Neiman's spring and summer fashions. Admission is 75 cents.

Psi Chi

Members of Psi Chi, national honor society in psychology, will attend the Southwestern Psychological Association Conference at the Baker Hotel in Dallas April 26-28.

Three ET members, Allen Henderson, Dr. Steve Ball and Dr. Sam Cochran, will read papers.

Psi Chi will also sponsor a party for the convention delegation at the Fairmont Hotel in Dallas Friday, April 27.

Women in Communications

Plans for a journalism barbecue, sponsored by Women in Communications, have been altered. A tour of the Journalism Building at 6:30 p.m. Friday, April 27, will be followed at 7:15 p.m. by a speech in the Journalism Auditorium by Esther McElfish, president of Freelance Associates, Inc., Dallas.

The barbecue will be held at 8 p.m. at the Hickory Shack, one mile outside Commerce on U.S. 24. It was previously planned for 7:30 p.m. at Dr. Otha Spencer's ranch.

Tickets, priced at $2, are still available in the Journalism Office or from any member of Women in Communication.

The barbecue will serve as the last Journalism 100 make-up.

Delta Sigma Theta

Delta Sigma Theta, service sorority, will hold its second annual "Red and White Ball" at the Adolphus Hotel in Dallas, April 28.

Members and their dates will attend. Music will be provided by the African Music Machine.

SAM

The Society for the Advancement of Management will host the Executive Simulation Day Game to be held from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, April 28, in the Business Administration Building.

Dr. R. E. Holmes, assistant dean, College of Business, said SAM chapters from ET, NTSU, Stephen F.

Austin, Texas A&M and the senior chapter from Dallas will be participating in the game. He added that some businesses from Dallas will be competing also. There will be six to eight teams of three to four members each.

The game consists of teams making management decisions concerning a fictitious small appliance industry. Decisions will then be fed into a computer for analysis. Teams will use the IBM 360 Model 40 computer located on the first floor of the Business Administration Building.

Newman Association

The Christian Newman Association will hold a beer raffle Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, April 25, 26, and 27. Club members will sell 25 cent tickets in the Student Center foyer, downstairs. Three cases of beer will be raffled off Friday afternoon, April 27. Tickets may also be purchased at St. Joseph's Center, 2302 Monroe or by calling 886-7135 or 468-3130.

Kappa Alpha

Eight pledges were initiated into Kappa Kappa Psi, national honorary band fraternity, Saturday, April 14. Members of the class were David Ingram, Ronnie Wilson, Jim Devenport, Will Witten, Kenneth Parrack, Charles Case, Tony Fernandez-Vinos and Dale Williams.

Kappa Kappa Psi

Don Webb has been elected president of Kappa Kappa Psi, national honorary band fraternity.

Other officers are Ronnie Wilson, vice-president; Steve Sulak, secretary; David Ingram, treasurer; and Kenneth Parrack, reporter-historian.

Chi Omega

Mary Spencer, Commerce graduate, was named Best Active for the 1972 fall semester by the members of Chi Omega, social sorority, at their Eleusinian Banquet held April 5. Others honored include Melanie Blakely, Best Active on Campus; Denise Potts, Best Pledge; Lulie Cox, Best Active Scholarship; Elaine Leslie, Best Pledge Scholarship; Alethia Meads and Patty Woods, Best Big and Little Sister Scholarship; and Debbie Hunt, Best Pledge Scrapbook.

Building Stage-Sized Scenery
Creates Problem for 'Forum'

By Lynne Liberato

How do you fit three two-story houses on one small stage?

Such is the major problem of D. A. Gibbs, speech faculty, in designing the scenery for "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum."

The musical comedy will run through Tuesday, May 1, in the University Playhouse. All performances will begin at 8 p.m., with the exception of a 2 p.m. performance on Sunday, April 29.

According to Gibbs, technical directors can take all kinds of liberties with the scenery for musicals because of the lightness and gaiety. For houses to fit on the set, no building is more than seven feet wide. There is only two feet of living space on either side of the door. In other types of plays, the scenery must be more realistic.

"Lighting a musical, as in doing scenery, allows you to go to all kinds of unusual color and directions of light. No strong attempt is made toward realistic lighting. The only thing you have to do is to use lots of light," Gibbs said. The light comes from various angles in order to give the actors a "jeweled effect," he added.

In both the scenery and the lighting, pink is the predominate color. Pink, which is the warmest color, lends itself to the gaiety of the musical, according to Gibbs.

In planning the technical aspects of a play, the technical director and the director work together to make a color sketch of the scenery. From this sketch the technical director makes working drawings of the various parts of the set.

Assisting Gibbs in the scenery production is a crew consisting of 12 paid students and practicum students. Martin Fannon is assistant technical director; Ben Erion is the master carpenter; Erion and Nancy Jessee are lighting technicians; and Debbie Gatin is prop mistress.

Art Students Win 10 Awards

ET artists won seven of 14 Awards of Excellence, Best School and Best of Show at the Dallas/Fort Worth Society of Visual Communications Student Show judged Tuesday, April 17.

Of the 400 entries from seven universities, 63 pieces were accepted for exhibition and ET had 29 of these, more than any other school.

Dallas junior David Gillespie, commercial art major, won the Dick Slone Memorial Scholarship which will enable him to work for Stan Richards and Associates, Dallas advertising agency, for the summer.

Best of Show was the comic book created by Lee Davis, art faculty, and his Art 425 class of last semester.

Awards of excellence went to Keith Alexander for an illustration. David Wallin, with two awards for illustrations, Sherry Vicars with an illustration, Barbara Bailey with a poster and a package design, and Greg Metz, with an illustration.

Accepted for exhibition at the awards banquet to be held at the Marriot Hotel in Dallas on Saturday, May 12, were Greg Metz's illustration and book cover; Barbara Bailey, booklet; James Briggs, two ads;

Bert Devaux, with two ads; David Gillespie, illustration and mailer; Barry Phillips, illustration; Sherry Vicars, book cover; and Keith Alexander with an illustration.

Youth Enrichment
Program Planned

The Division of Continuing Education is offering a "Summer Youth Enrichment Program" for children whose parents are attending classes in the summer beginning June 7.

Dr. Fred Tarpley, head, Literature-Languages Department, is the coordinator of the language program that will be offered in the mornings. Instructors in the language program will be Betty Cox, German; Mrs. Mary Buckley and Mrs. Robin Rudoff, English "writing for fun"; Guadalupe Lopez and Rosaria Montey, Spanish; and Paul Kerr, French.

The program will consist of three divisions of children. The primary division will consist of five-year-olds to second grade; lower division, grades three to six, and upper division, seventh-graders on up.

Physical education activities will be on the program in the afternoons, with Dr. Jess Hawthorne, head, health and physical education as coordinator. Activities include swimming, tennis and trampoline. Other activities that will probably be added are badminton, table tennis, shuffleboard, rhythm and developmental movement.

Instructors in the activities program will be Troy Huntley, Susie Knouse, Bill Hardage, Leon Duling and Emma Wallace.

Time, place and other details of the program will be announced at a later date. Fee for the program is $25 per child.

AT CONFERENCE MEET

ET Netters Defend LSC Title

By Robert Bunch

Coach Bill Crabtree's netters have all but wrapped up the Lone Star Conference tennis crown for the ninth time in the past 10 years as they enter the conference tournament in Brownwood this weekend.

After five dual matches with other LSC tennis participants, the Lions have posted a 29-1 record and hold a commanding 11-point lead over second-place Angelo State, which stands 18-12 in conference play.

The LSC team championship is determined by the number of matches won in dual-match play against other conference teams and the number of matches won in the LSC tournament.

Singles and doubles champions will be determined in the elimination tournament at Brownwood.

ET not only will be shooting for a repeat of its LSC championship but also the opportunity to defend its National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics national title in June at Kansas City, Mo.

NAIA All-Americans Bob Hochstadter, last year's LSC singles champ and one-half of the NAIA's doubles championship team, and Ken Jantz, along with freshman standout Wilson Campbell, give ET the three best singles players in the conference. All carry 5-0 conference records into the final tournament. Sophomore Steve Barker, who has lost only one LSC match, completes the singles contingent.

The doubles picture is just as bright, with Hochstadter and Campbell forming one doubles team and Jantz and Barker the other. Both teams are undefeated (5-0) in conference play.

Rain defeated the Lions in their final dual non-conference match of the year last Monday against North Texas State, leaving their season dual-match record at 14-5.

Individually, Hochstadter of Woodland Hills, Calif., who has been playing with an injured back since early April, carries a 10-7 season's record in dual matches. He has played as ET's No. 1 singles player in LSC matches, while Campbell has been No. 1 in non-conference play.

Campbell of Bangor, N. Ireland, has a season's record of 14-5 in dual matches, including wins over two-time Big Eight singles champion

Barr Baynton of Oklahoma and Terry Moor of Northeast Louisiana, who had not lost a set before playing Campbell.

A Roff, Okla., product, Jantz carries a 14-7 season's record in dual matches, while Barker, another Oklahoma (Seminole) product, has a 13-9 season record.

In doubles play, the Campbell-Hochstadter team carries a 14-4 season record, while the Jantz-Barker duo has produced a 13-5 mark.

Crabtree pretty well summed it up when he said, "We feel pretty good going to Brownwood, but Hochstadter's back is still bothering him, so that may affect us."

TRACK

By Terry Hopkins

ET's hopes of finishing in the top five at this weekend's Lone Star Conference track meet at Brownwood are riding on the performance of its 17 freshmen.

The Lions are not expected to be the No. 1 team in the LSC this year, but according to Delmer Brown, head track coach, "We are going to make some stronger teams take a second look at us."

The LSC championship rides on the shoulders of Angelo State and Howard Payne. "The distance events are where they have us," Brown said.

Angelo State should be the LSC favorite. ASU trackmen hold the No. 1 marks in the 100 and 220-yard dashes, three-mile run, 120-yard high hurdles, 440-yard relay, and the long jump.

ET cindermen expected to give ASU and HP trackmen a run for the tape will probably be Bill Carroll, Craig Manning, and Richard Cernosek.

Carroll, Waco freshman, will be one of the ET cindermen on whose Brown's hopes will be riding Friday. The 6-4 high hurdler is tied for the second fastest time in the event, with a 14.6 clocking at the Austin College Relays April 7. D. D. Hines of ASU continues to be the LSC leader, with a 14.4 mark.

Later in the meet, Carroll will display another type of hurdling style in the 440-yard medium hurdles. Still another event that he will enter will be the javelin. His best toss this season was a 169-6 mark, recorded at the Stephen F. Austin Relays in Hallsville March 17. He also will run a leg of the 440-yard relay.

Another ET standout is Craig Manning, Kaufman sophomore. The three-event LSC contender is scheduled to run a leg on both the mile and 440-yard relay. The second fastest 440-yard dash man in the LSC this spring, with a 48.5 mark, Manning will be challenging the No. 1 man, Don Mayes of Stephen F. Austin, who has a clocking of 48.2.

High jumper Richard Cernosek, West freshman, will be the other East Texan that Brown will be expecting to come through for the Lions. The 6-1, 185-pound jumper leaped 6-6 at the Border Olympics in Laredo March 3, to tie him with Buddy Ward of HP and Van Gardner of ASU for the second best jump in the LSC. Jeff Janke of Southwest Texas State continues to be the meet favorite with a 6-7.

The Lions will have three seniors competing for a place in the LSC: John Mayo, Blake Malunowe, and John Owens.

Mayo, Eldorado field event contender, will be trying to better his third-place mark in the discus and his fourth place mark in the shot put. His best discus throw has been a 157-1 at the Ouachita Relays April 21, and his best heave with the shot has been a distance of 49-11, also at the Ouachita Relays.

Owens will run the distance races at Brownwood this weekend. The Paris distance runner is scheduled to compete in the mile and three-mile races, along with teammate Russell Elfstrom, Texas City freshman.

Tim Collier, Dallas freshman, could be a surprise for 100-yard dash leader K. O. Okyir of ASU. He has been hampered by a pulled muscle since the Fort Worth Invitational Relays on Feb. 24, when he raced to a 9.6. He is also entered in the 440-yard relay, 220-yard dash, and the mile relay.

Other ET thinclads entered are Stan Combest and Jody Mansfield, in the pole vault, with season's bests of 13-6 and 14-0, respectively; Ricky Easley, 440-yard dash and the mile relay; Russell Eslstrom, 880-yard run, mile and three-mile run; Faron Griffin, discus throw; Michael Henry, mile and 440-yard relays; and Bobby Hollar, 120-yard high hurdles and 440-yard medium hurdles.

Also, Merrill Huckabee, discus and shot put; Gale Johnson, javelin; David Lyons, 120-yard high hurdles, 440-yard medium hurdles; Marvin Smith, triple jump and long jump; Jose Tellez, 120-yard high hurdles and 440-yard medium hurdles; and Jon Washington, shot put and the discus.

GOLF

By Robert Bunch

ET golfers will be shooting for a third-place finish in Lone Star Conference play this weekend at the fourth and final LSC tournament at the Brownwood Country Club.

At the three-quarter mark in the conference race the Lions are in fifth place, 46 strokes behind co-leaders Angelo State and Stephen F. Austin, but only three strokes behind fourth-place Southwest Texas State and 10 behind third-place Tarleton.

The LSC champion is determined by the five-man team total in the four tournaments, while the individual medalist is determined by the best score in three of the four tournaments. Each tournament is 54-hole (three rounds) competition.

Glenn Sockwell leads Lion golfers in medal play, with 699 strokes and seventh place in LSC play. Overall, Sockwell has a 74.3 strokes-per-round average for 20 rounds of play and carries an identical average for nine rounds of LSC play.

Bob Parnell is tied for twelfth place in LSC medal play, with 676 strokes and a 75.1 per-round average. On the season, he has a 75.0 average for 20 rounds.

Bill Berry is tied for twenty-third place in LSC medal play, with 689 strokes and a 76.6 average for nine rounds of conference play. His season's average also stands at 76.6 for 20 rounds.

Jim VanderPoel is unlisted in conference medalist standings because he has only played in two tournaments, in which he used 453 strokes for a 75.5 average.

John Mhoon, the fifth man until he injured an elbow last week, has used 695 strokes in three LSC tournaments for a 77.2 average, good for twenty-eighth place in medalist play. Overall, Mhoon carries a 77.0 average for 17 rounds this year.

Replacing Mhoon this week and playing in his first LSC tourney will be Bill Montgomery, who has a 77.7 average for six rounds of competition play this spring.

Leading medalist play is SWT's Johnny Roberts, with a 649 stroke total, two ahead of SFA's John Pigg and 20 below Sockwell, ET's leading shooter.

Angelo and SFA each has 2,657 strokes for three tournaments, followed by Tarleton, with 2,693; SWT, 2,700; ET, 2,703; Texas A&I, 2,734; Sam Houston, 2,736; Sul Ross, 2,746; and Howard Payne 2,769.

Irishman Leads ET Netters

By Robert Bunch

As the ET tennis team moves toward its ninth Lone Star Conference championship in the last 10 years, a great deal of its success has resulted from the skill of a 19-year-old Irishman named Wilson Campbell.

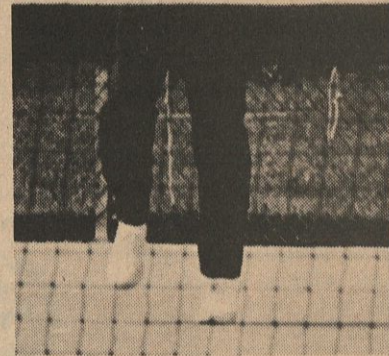

The freshman health and physical education major from Bangor County, N. Ireland, has broken in big with the Lions this year, posting the best record on the team, a 14-5 mark in singles competition. He has teamed with Bob Hochstadter to roll up a 14-5 record in doubles action and remains undefeated in LSC play in singles and doubles.

His tennis career began at age 11, when his sister, who was a tennis enthusiast, encouraged him. And, since he lived only 50 yards from a tennis club, he began to play regularly.

Tennis was not played in Irish schools on an organized basis, so he concentrated on soccer and basketball and played table tennis and golf, occasionally.

Although the weather in Ireland limits outdoor tennis play to about six months each year, and there are few indoors in Bangor, Campbell became proficient enough to represent Ulster in the Junior Division against the best players from other counties in Ireland in 1969. In 1970, he was the Irish Junior Champion and represented Ireland in the Junior Wimbledon in England, where the best juniors from throughout the world play. He lost in the first round, but the player who beat him, Frank Gebert of Germany, went all the way to the finals before losing.

In the summer of 1972, Campbell traveled through Europe, playing in several tournaments on the European tennis circuit. During the tour, he played in France, Spain, Germany, Switzerland, and Belgium. While touring Europe, he met Harry Fritz, former ET tennis player and last year's NAIA singles champion. Campbell and Fritz teamed up to win the doubles championship at a tournament in Verviers, Belgium, reached the quarter and semifinals in other tournaments but were unable to win one.

Campbell

During the summer, Fritz persuaded Campbell to apply for a scholarship at ET, and he was accepted.

Concerning the LSC tournament this weekend in Brownwood, Campbell said that his toughest competition for the LSC singles title will come from teammate and last year's LSC singles champ, Hochstadter. Campbell predicted that ET will win the conference crown this year and advance to the NAIA championships in Kansas City, Mo., June 4-10.

"We don't have enough depth to win the team championships, but Hochstadter and I can win the doubles," he said of the NAIA tourney, and added that he or Hochstadter have a good chance of winning the singles title.

This summer, Campbell plans to work at the Northwood Country Club in Dallas, where he will teach tennis. In the latter part of the summer, he is considering playing in California's northwest tennis circuit.

His future plans are indefinite, but he said they will concern "some aspect of tennis." He plans to remain in the United States for several years, primarily because of the better playing conditions and life styles in the United States, especially American women. Eventually, he plans to return to Ireland but after a visit to Australia.

Commenting on the strife between Protestants and Catholics in Northern Ireland, Campbell said, "We're civilized where I live. Most of the trouble is in the larger cities."

Campbell attributes his success to "lots of practice and dedication to the game." He explained that although he had been playing tennis for eight years, he has only had the equivalent of four years practice because of the climate in Northern Ireland. Being at ET, he feels that he will be able to practice more and improve his game.

Talbot Signs Pro Pact

James Talbot, 6-0, 220-pound middle linebacker for ET, signed a one-year no cut contract with the Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Football League, Wednesday, April 25.

Talbot was the Lone Star Conference honorable mention as a linebacker in 1972.

A native of Pine Bluff, Ark., Talbot said, "Playing pro football has been a life-time dream of mine."

Sports Banquet Scheduled

Eddie Robinson, president of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics and head football coach at Grambling College, will be the featured speaker at ET's All-Sports Banquet at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 2, in the American Ballroom of the Student Center.

Tickets are $3.50 each and may be purchased in Room 101, Field House. Awards will be given to players for excellence in their respective sport.

Stationed at Grambling since 1941, Robinson-coached teams have won more than 200 games. A member of the NAIA Coaches' Hall of Fame, Robinson was cited by the Football Writers Association in 1966 as "the man who made the biggest contribution to small college football during the past 25 years."

A graduate of Leland College in Baker, La., Robinson earned his master's degree from the University of Iowa.

The banquet will add a new dimension this year, as women will be invited for the first time, according to Dr. J. J. Hawthorne, athletic director and head of the Health and Physical Education Department.

"It's just always been a stag affair, nothing against the women," Dr. Hawthorne said. "It is usually a tradition at colleges to have a men's banquet for the men athletes. It's always been a tradition here," he added.

Lions To Play Memphis State

Memphis State, runnerup for the National Collegiate Athletic Association's basketball title this past season, highlights ET's 25-game basketball schedule for 1973-74.

Losers to perennial champion UCLA in the NCAA finals March 26, in St. Louis, the Tigers have scheduled ET's challenge for Saturday, Dec. 15, at the Mid-South Coliseum in Memphis, according to Lion head coach Jim Gudger.

Texas Christian University, of the Southwest Conference, is also included in the Lions' plans for next season, scheduled for Wednesday, Dec. 12, in Fort Worth. Southern State College, a member of the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference, will play ET Wednesday, Jan. 2, in Magnolia, Ark. Tentative on the Lion schedule is a game against the United States Air Force Academy, in Colorado Springs, Colo., according to Gudger.

East Central (Okla.) State, slated for a road game Monday, Dec. 3, opens the Lion schedule with the first of 10 home games, Monday, Nov. 26. ET presently has 15 road trips scheduled for next season, including two games in the Cotton Bowl Tournament, Friday, Dec. 28 and Saturday, Dec. 29, in Dallas. Two additional home games are being sought, according to Gudger.

The Lions start their 18-game Lone Star Conference slate against Texas A&I, Thursday, Dec. 6, and Southwest Texas, Saturday, Dec. 8, both in Commerce. Next on ET's schedule is Abilene Christian College, replacing McMurry in the LSC. McMurry joins the Texoma Conference next season.

ET's junior varsity has scheduled 11 games for next year, including five games in Commerce. The JVs begin play against Richland Junior College, Thursday, Nov. 13, in Richardson.

All varsity games, excluding the two tournament contests, are scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m.

Book Reclassification Project Now Completed by Library

With the last book taken off the shelf Wednesday, April 18, librarians of the James Gilliam Gee Library have now completed the task of reclassifying more than 265,000 books according to Donald R. Kerr, head of the Catalog Department.

The librarians are changing the library's classification from the Dewey Decimal, numerical, to the Library of Congress, letter and unnumerical, system.

The reclassification project began in March 1967 under the direction of Mrs. Robbie House, now head of the Serials Department, and one assistant.

Miss Virginia Carleton, assistant catalog librarian, took over as project director in the summer of '72.

In explaining the reason for the change, Mrs. House said, "As a library gets larger, it is the opinion of many librarians that the Dewey Decimal System does not work. It is not expandable enough. It does not break the material down into fine enough classifications."

The Library of Congress system offers more specialization in a wider range of subject areas according to Miss Carleton. "It's more specific and puts subject areas in one classification," she added.

For example, books dealing with education are classified under "L" while books dealing with social science are classified under "H."

The actual process of changing the classification included typing out slips for the shelf lists and changing the main entry card out of the card catalog to Library of Congress.

Most librarians suggest that libraries with over 300,000 books convert to the Library of Congress system according to Mrs. House.

"A high percentage of books which come in have already been assigned a classification by the Library of Congress," Mrs. House said. "That cuts our work down," she added.

The change will not greatly effect users of the library the librarians noted.

"Students find books by going to the card catalog, and you can still browse, just as in the Dewey Decimal system," Mrs. House concluded.

Business Course Offered

Records Management, B.A. 348, will be offered by the Business Education Department the first summer session from 6:30-10:30 p.m. in Room 314, of the Business Administration Building.

Mrs. Ruth Ann Riley, business education faculty and teacher of the course, said the course will include the principles governing what records to keep; how to store and find records; and how to apply criteria for determining their disposition or retention.

The course, according to Mrs. Riley, will be beneficial to anyone working with files and to students who want an understanding of business records and the control of records systems.

Dr. Mary Preas, sociology-anthropology faculty, is working with an agency of Health, Education and Welfare to help implement integration in southeast Texas public schools.

Dr. Preas, who works as an Education Consultant for the Education Service Center of Region VI, headquartered at Huntsville, said her present project includes work to develop and apply new approaches in the programs of instruction.

The Education Center serves as a field office of the U.S. Department of HEW in administering the Student Relations Project.

Dr. Preas is the chief education consultant of Region VI, which includes 16 counties in the Southeastern Gulf Region of Texas. The population of this region consists of a large portion of Blacks and Mexican-Americans in need of help.

Federal grants of funds are used to alleviate cultural problems of education in Region VI. The grants are used to provide for teaching the human-values theory and the self-concept theory.

Dr. Preas' work grew out of an address which she gave at a Regional Conference for Colleges and Universities of the 15 Southern states, held in Atlanta, Ga. Dr. Preas' address was published by HEW in a book entitled "Creative Curricula in Undergraduate Social Welfare Education."

Hinton Teaching at Eastfield

Dr. Hugh F. Hinton, political science faculty, is teaching a residence course, Political Science 575, Seminar in Administrative Theory, at Eastfield College in Dallas this semester.

This Saturday course which counts toward the master of public administration degree serves students who commute to ET, according to Dr. Hinton.

to permit students to take and pass English 313 in lieu of taking the test; (4) to require all students receiving unsatisfactory ratings in written composition to take English 313.

The second proposal would make the Department of Literature-Languages responsible for certifying competence in written composition for all students who take all required English courses at ET. Transfer students not taking the required English courses at ET would be given the English Usage Test, with each department being responsible for certifying competence for its majors who have transferred required English courses to ET.

The test is now required of any student who does not have a "B" average in his four required English courses. A student who gets an unsatisfactory rating on the test is required to take English 313.

If these proposals are approved by the Faculty Senate they will be subject to administration approval before becoming effective.

Dance Classes Perform

The Department of Health and Physical Education's section for women featured dance classes in an annual Spring Dance Review Tuesday, April 24, in Whitley Gym.

Miss Gertrude Warmack's Modern Jazz Class opened the show with the theme of Movements of Mancini.

The elementary rhythms group, taught by Mrs. Carolyn Burt, did a maypole dance. Moods was the theme of Mrs. Sandra Weeks' Modern Dance class's presentation.

Veterans Certified At April Meeting

Approximately 500 veterans were certified at the pre-certification for veterans held Wednesday, April 18, in the American Ballroom of the Student Center, according to Bill Martin, director of veteran's affairs.

"The VA office would like to urge every veteran who is planning to attend summer school and who did not go to the pre-certification to stop by the office before May," Martin said. If a veteran is not certified by May 1, the first check for the summer terms will probably not arrive till July.

Full-time status for an undergraduate during a summer term is six hours each session. A graduate student is required to take three hours each session to be classified as a full-time student.

Martin also added that the May check for a veteran attending school this spring will be only for 12 days of the month.
