J. W. McCrary Discusses Character Education

A large percent of the membership of the Training School P. T. A. was present at the meeting Friday afternoon which convened in the Training School library at 3 o'clock. The presence of three fathers adding novelty to the meeting. The attendance of these men and the interest which they demonstrated by their presence was extremely gratifying to the president, Mrs. J. O. Smith, and the director of the Training School, Prof. E. H. Watson.

A short business session was held at the beginning of the meeting with Mrs. Smith in the chair. Afterward the meeting was turned to program chairman, Mrs. H. J. Barron, who presented Mrs. H. D. Neff, who charmed the group with a lovely piano number.

Mrs. J. C. Muller, gave an interesting review of the current issue of Child Welfare magazine, naming as the outstanding feature of the edition, "Crisis in the school and home."

Robbery of Hess And Brown Store Attempted Here

An attempt to gain entrance to the Hess and Brown was made sometime last night, the door but double locks on the robbers effecting an entrance store side held fast. When Leon Hess, unaided, saw the door being given them according to the store rooms carrying him with it. They removed one or two of its clothes and raincoats.

Discuss Movement Started By Local Chamber Thursday

WORLD DIRECT TRAFFIC FAST DEQUEEN, ARK. HUGO AND THIS CITY

DeQueen, Ark., Jan. 15.—That determined and coordinated effort to speed over the music, assisted by eastern traffic into DeQueen, Ark. and over United States roads, was the unanimous chairman of the publicity committee, and this committee will work out an advertising and publicity campaign to be inaugurated by the free bridge delegates who were in attendance upon the Free Bridge Route Association meeting here Thursday.

V. E. McClain of Paris, president of the Association, pointed out over the music, assisted by Judge Rube S. Wells of Cooper, who is secretary of the organization. The difficulties that had to be overcome to secure the routing of traffic along the route named above were discussed at length by the various representatives.

Route 65 Miles shorter than the route through DeQueen into Dallas over Highway 70 was some 65 miles shorter than the route through Texarkana, and if not better than via Texark, widening the highway from now. However, that route had been well advertised and was getting at least 90 per cent of the traffic that came through Little Rock.

Highway No. 70 and Highway No. 27 converge at a little village called Kirby, it was stated, and that this was one of the special points. The Texarkana route crosses the bridge at Polk, Ark., which is a toll bridge that the state expects to pay for the structure.

This automatically eliminates assistance from that body in helping secure the designation of Highway 70, and makes the work of the Free Route Association a little harder and just a little more complicated. It was agreed that every effort, both individual and collective, could bring about the objective, and every one of the seventy-five or more delegates pledged themselves to render President McClain any assistance possible in being about the desired designation, using the free bridge, better highway and shorter route.

will go direct to headquarters with his plan for a designation. Hot Springs Meeting Place—Hot Springs was chosen as the next meeting place, but the date was not named. This meeting will be probably called within the next few days. Hot Springs was not represented at the meeting, but a telegram was read from the Chamber of Commerce of that city stating that body was in hearty accord with the move and could be counted upon to give any assistance possible. Hot Springs is vitally interested in the matter, that formerly was tormented through that city is now going to Texarkana. And it might be noted that the Arkansas Spa is only 200 miles from Paris via Hugo and DeQueen, whereas it is 275 miles via Texarkana, which is the route used almost exclusively by people of this section and other sections of Texas.

Mayor Welcomes Visitors—Hot Springs, secretary of the DeQueen Chamber of Commerce and D. C. Goff mayor of that city, gave the visitors a cordial welcome and these two assisted by other citizens of that city helped in making the stay on the social features was a visit to the beautiful DeQueen Country Club, which was completed just one year ago, and which would do credit to any city.

There were representatives from Dierks, New Hope and Kirby, Ark., Hugo, Okla., Paris, Cooper and Commerce. Those present from the Texas side of the river were G. H. Holly and C. O. Ziegler, secretary of the Commerce chamber of Commerce, Rube S. Wells of Cooper, President Voll E. McClain, Leon Gilmore and Harry Con. Those from Hugo were J. Wren Moore, Roy Johnson and T. Bone McDonald, secretary of the Hugo Chamber of Commerce.

John Brigrance At Drug Store

Announcement of additions to the forces at the Carlton Horse Drug Store was made yesterday, John Brigrance of this city affixing himself with the company where to will make his headquarters every afternoon and evening. Mr. Brigrance is well-known and popular in Commerce having lived and engaged in business here for a number of years. At the present time he and W. E. To Be Continued

An Indian Foible

An effort will be made to have the various automobile associations over the country feature the Highway 70 route in their maps, which is not done at present, due probably to the fact that those bodies are not aware of the highway and the advantage it offers over the route that is now featured and advocated. This will be a big help in getting the designation desired, and sign boards and various other forms of advertising will be agreed upon at a later date.

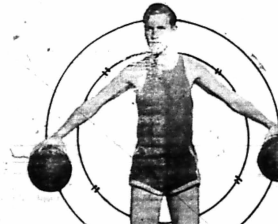

Joe Kenner of Dierks, who was present at the meeting, told the representatives that the work of widening the highway from Dierks into DeQueen had started by that city and that surveyors were on the job, which was later verified by a short drive east Little Rock.

Judge J. C. Arnold of DeQueen was named to confer with officials in Little Rock and acquaint them with the Highway 70 route, the saving of time and the excellence of the road. The toll bridge and the free bridge service that this highway offered. The Judge is to be an official visitor to the state capital next week, and Introducing Adolph "Two Tails" Dietzel, Texas Christian's low flying tip-off man, who issued his challenge to the high scorers of the Southwest in the game of a total of 21 points scored in his conference debut against the Blue Devils. Dietzel is a pivot man in the conference, and in his initial try clearly outplayed his outstanding rival, "Blackie" Bearcat" Solars—for tipoff honors. He will be given another add test when he teams with Womby, Texas center, here Friday night.

DIETZEL

This giant sophomore halls from St. Mary's Academy in Los Angeles, where in his senior year, he established a record of 21 points in 30 moments—an average of better than 21 points in each game. If you want to know something of Dietzel's hands, try picking up a couple of basket balls as he is doing in the picture.

PROBLEM OF IMAGINATIVE DREAMER NOW PICTURED

famous writers and scientists, down through the ages, have looked far off into space and regarded the great planet, Mars. The most speculative view of the great planets of the universe, Mars is the closest to the earth and thus easiest to study through the powerful telescopes.

Many writers, encouraged by the belief of some astronomers that Mars is inhabited, have given free rein to their imaginations and written at great lengths of the race which inhabits that planet.

Julius Verne, H. G. Wells and Edgar Rice Burroughs perhaps, are the best known men of letters who have used Mars as a setting for their fantastic fiction.

Various writers have pictured the Martians in many different ways. Many have given them large heads and small bodies, others have given them fish-like shapes on the theory that the atmosphere of the planet is very rare and consequently their breathing apparatus must vary greatly from ours and resembles that of creatures that we know.

In "Just Imagine," great DeWitt Brown and Henderson Fox, movie-tune musical comedy, successor to "Sunny Side Up," Mars supplies the background for the first time in pictures, for some of the most important sequences of the production.

Mars, as imagined by this great combination of authors and song writers, differs from the conceptions of Verne and Wells and Burroughs in many important details.

They have depicted the Martians as an exotic race of people ruled over by a beautiful and voluptuous queen, with giant laces at hand to do their bidding. From the fundamental conception they develop situations glowing with imagination, and while Mr. Maulden has not "Just Imagine," which is to be seen and heard at the Palace Theatre Monday and Tuesday.

Basketball

Judging from the exhibition at Dallas Monday night, the home boys are beginning to hold out a fairly well balanced basketball aggregation. After all, Coach Acker is succeeding in making the team resemble a resemblance of a quiet that promises to give good account of itself in the conference race.

Looks like Oan. A Sulphur Springs High School prospect will have little trouble in eliminating the remainder of his competitors for the center position. As a rule he is now young we would be safe in saying that he will be one of the team's most conspicuous performers during the present season and will be a valuable asset to the team.

Harold Stringer is now playing his fourth and last year with the College. He is the best basketball man to ever perform in a Lion uniform being very capable on both offense and defense. For two of the past three years that he has played TIAA basketball he has been able to run an all-around game which is enough within itself to show a player's real ability. We are expecting for him this year to make his last year in college his best one.

Due to the retardation of the team when the boys met defeat at the hands of East Central, Oklahoma College last week, the best possible with a determination to avenge themselves in some way, so it happened to fall the lot of the Mustangs to bear the unfortunate results. There are no regrets as to the outcome of these contests, for the teachers play a very commendable brand of ball. We were fast of being discontented from the beginning explains the whole situation.

There are only nine to be played this week with Abner Christian College. The Mustangs usually play the basketball squad and we'll have to keep our step if they will be below the level of the team which we now hold. Don't fail to be at the same Thursday night with a boosting attitude. I know you'll be there.

 formal change for dates in the future. This alternated chance to fall the lot of the Mustangs to bear the unfortunate results. There are no regrets as to the outcome of these contests, for the teachers play a very commendable brand of ball. We were fast of being discontented from the beginning explains the whole situation. There are only nine to be played this week with Abner Christian College. The Mustangs usually play the basketball squad and we'll have to keep our step if they will be below the level of the team which we now hold. Don't fail to be at the same Thursday night with a boosting attitude. I know you'll be there.

The whole mystery lies in the fact that there was no name attached to the letter and there was not even a fragment of the envelope. Any aid or information that you can supply will be greatly appreciated by Mr. Bigley in the Industrial Hall.

Take Game

 takes on free throws. At this point H. G. Gardner, the Lion showed a fair amount of skill in shooting.

the Lions had registered. Abner Christian drew up to within one yard of the basket and then threw only to see their rivals edge their mark inup three points. The Mustangs were through from near the center of the court. It was a forearm shot that was not a beautiful shot that did not touch the iron of the rim. From then on until the Mustangs escape the Wildcats could not match the pace set by the Lions. With Oliver and Harold Stringer hitting the basket from all angles and with deadly regularity East Texas quickly stepped in front and made a runaway out of the game. The half ended 21-0.

At the second half, the Lions roundly outplayed their opponents, scoring 22 points to the Lions' 10. In the second half Coach Acker put in practically every man on the squad and they too, were able to hold of their offense, losing by the West Texas school.

Harold Stringer was high for East Texas with 13 points but Coach Acker provided for the lions by his team mate Oliver Stringer who gathered 12 tallies for the evening, most of them by long shots from the center of the court that kept the fans agape with excitement. C. Stringer played a neat floor game and Carl Berry, after receiving a foul at center, made a layup in 8 seconds while he was in the game.

Although Abner Christian College is a member of the T. I. A. A. circuit the game did not count as a conference contest because of the recent division of the conference into two sections, east and west. This is in the western division along with Daniel Baker, West Texas Teachers and the other schools in that section, while East Texas, Nacogdoches, Sam H. Ion, Porton and several others comprise the eastern half.

Dallas, Texas, Jan. 12.—Play consistent basket ball from the Dallas Teachers club to give the Mustangs a sound drubbing, 34 to 37, in their return contest game at the S. M. U. gymnasium Monday night.

Led by the brilliant playing of the three Stringer brothers and Dean, Hank teacher center, the Mustangs overcame a lead established by the Poles in the first five minutes of play and were never seriously checked thereafter.

Coach W. H. Acker's progress is a little trouble in penetrating the Mustang guarding to sink the field goal after field goal. Show he played brilliantly at a guard position in the first half, but his missed series of free throws squandered, Mel Laughlin, who had the race of the contest with an injured knee.

The Teacher offense proved to be most effective under the local loop where the Commerce Lions typed numerous shots into the basket. The fall has been revealed that the Mustangs and the players on their opponents and reached it to their best in a good little play.

Rhea Williams, stellar Mustang forward, continued his sensational shooting to score four field goals and one free toss in the half he played. Graber substituted in the last five minutes.

also contributed several beautiful tosses to his team's total. Coach Jimmie St. Clair's fast breaking attack showed up to little advantage against the constant guard of the Mustangs. Bad passing on the part of the locals showed up their game considerably.

Lions Lose

 Strategic plays of the Oklahoma players were the main feature of the game. The Mustangs and their strong man-to-man defense prohibited the Lions from getting the necessary number of marks for a close contest.

Chances of the local team were rendered by the absence of both Oliver and Harold Stringer, two mainstays of the Lion aggregation. Oliver will be out for a while due to an injured ankle and Harold is suffering a fractured bone in one wrist.

Carlton took high point honors of the encounter with twenty-two points for the Lions. Parker held high score for East Texas with only six counters.

Of the eight games they have played, all of which they have won, the Oklahoma cagers have scored points. Similar to the Stringers on the local team, Abner Acker has on to the Carlton brothers. Barton Carlton was the all-around forward in the National Championship tournament last year, and Carlton was selected as the third team in the same tournament. The team won third place in the final of the tournament last year, and four of their men were selected on the all-state quintet.

The East Texas Lions dropped their second straight game to the Ada Teachers here Friday night losing out by the score of 34-23. Incidentally the second game was much closer than was the game the preceding night. The Lions lost their chance for a win in the first half when they let the Ada quintet get into the lead. At the far half the club across the Red River was leading 24-6.

East Texas showed a reversal of form during most of the second half. During this part of the game they scored 13 points against 19 that Ada was able to ring up. The Lions were playing without the services of Oliver Stringer captain of this year's club who was out of the lineup with a badly sprained ankle.

Fans who saw the two games witnessed as smooth a working basketball club as has been seen on the local court for a long time. Almost every man on the Oklahoma team was dangerous and a threat every time they had the ball anywhere near the East Texas end of the court. Carlton, all-American forward for the visitors showed the spectators why he was chosen for such honors by his brilliant play.

With just a little more encouragement the games could have been almost entirely a contest between the Stringers and Carlton. Ada having three men on their club by the name of Carlton and East Texas having advancing standards of Texas teachers colleges and each laboratory practice school, in the opening session. Speakers will include President L. H. Hubbard, Texas State College for Women, J. C. Cochran, president of the State Teachers Association and Dean B. F. Pittenger, University of Texas.

Helping young teachers to succeed in their first positions and preparing all teachers for community responsibilities outside the school, are themes of the all-annual meeting. Professor Alexander that evening will conduct teacher training in Europe.

Leta Preate, consulting psychologist from New York, will present the changing personality of the college girl who may be the future teacher. Mr. Beck will also talk on "Youth—beginning of right relations."

The afternoon gathering will emphasize wider use of student teaching. George A. Grainger, now engaged in research study of Texas teachers colleges, is local chairman of the conference.

Few Students

At Hospital
 During this term the following students have been patients in the College Hospital:

Elmer Bowie from Gilmer, Texas.
 Ben Stephens from Como, Texas.
 Myra Holey from Hardy, Texas.
 Ellen Maxwell from Dallas, Texas.
 Clyde Parker from Martinsville, Texas.
 Juanita Hockett from Greenville, Texas.
 Nevada Hyde.
 Mary Nell Nevada from Byers, Texas.
 Vela Vile Blythe from Como, Texas. Miss Blythe is the only patient in the hospital at present.

About 100 students have been treated for minor troubles, according to information from Miss Butler, the head nurse. By the same number answering by the name of Stringer although only two of the Stringer boys saw service during the two games.

MISS DELMA ORREN SERIOUSLY ILL IN DALLAS HOSPITAL

Miss Delva Orren, who is teaching in Lancaster this year, is quite seriously ill in Parkland hospital in Dallas. She became ill several days ago of influenza and while sick suffered an attack of appendicitis. She was taken to Dallas, but an operation could not be performed on account of the fire. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Orren of this city are attending her bedside.

Grand Leader Fire Damages Being Cleared

Cleaning up the damage caused by fire and water at the Grand Leader was being undertaken by R. Schwartz and helpers, the task presenting a difficult problem, very little of the stock having escaped without fire or water damage and that which was not so effected being smoke damaged. Mr. Schwartz declares the loss practically total, the salvage being small.

The fire erupted in the rear of the store, as near as can be determined on the mezzanine floor in the ladies read-to-wear department and thence communicated itself along the ceiling where numerous signs were displayed, the falling of the stock exposed on counters being the cause of the fire. It has not yet been determined. An unfortunate circumstance in connection with the fire is the fact that a large order of spring wear had been placed in the read-to-wear department Monday morning while several hundred dollars of piece goods which arrived the same day had been left on the counters to be checked Tuesday. The loss is estimated by Mr. Schwartz as approximately $10,000 while total insurance was $15,000.

Katherine Phillips of Greenville is living at the dormitory since Monday of this week. Mrs. Fred Tennant and Fred Acker from Dallas were guests at Acker Hall two days last week. Nancy Lou Acker of Greenville, granddaughter of the director, was an interesting little guest Sunday and Monday of this week. Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Denton, Rena Foster, and Thelma Wood came to live in friendly Acker Hall the next morning.
