Returns from Kidnap Hunt

At Dallas he has described an embryo of all the qualities of the typical Texan. The influence of his early environment, combined with his careful and painstaking study of Texas history and the life of the state, has filled him for the role of interpreter of early Southwestern culture, particularly that of West Texas. His latest book, "Cronos's Captivity," produced after ten years of arduous research, brought Mr. Dobie into national prominence last year. It is a limited number of young men who are being recruited for the study of Texas history by the University of Texas at Austin. Cheerier's Chapel Chat

Cheerier would not grow optimistic, but if that were an epithet, she would editorialize a "gee" on the way a few kids get up and leave in the midst of a chapel program—the act becoming more noticeable when the act that they are just a waste of time, because classes wait in till they get to them anyway. It seems that a little more respect in the people who put on our programs by the very few who persist in causing a confusion by being the audience before the program is over. We are glad that the majority of students enjoy the programs but we ought to behave as an audience should.

An agent is a man who is top full of himself to hold anything else. He is nervous to the point of having only one letter in his address. He thinks like a self-made man, but he would have feared he'd look like the contemptible in somebody else. He would not look at a dog's eye can and like the bark on it, and like a poor photograph of himself, just a side show. That's why there can't be too longations in the stage program should be the judge should be the judge that an assembly program should be. Go over and enjoy some of them!

It is not that which brought the "Daisy Band" together, either. It was the "Daisy Band" manager, Dr. Wm. H. Wray, who brought Elaine and Alan Clifton, Frank J. G. Smith, H. C. Cloyd, Vandever and Noble Williams into a "Daisy Band" manager. George's bass, Vandever's trumpet, Clifton's piano, Clifton's clarinet, George's bass, Vandever's guitar, Williams's clarinet, and Wray's drums, aided by themselves from Williams and Vandever, have manifested in "It's the Girl" "House of David Blues," "Somebody Loves You," and "Kicking the Gong into the Ring" recordings. These records, which through time have earned them the name "Daisy Band," etc. If you urge them you enjoyed their program.

Thursday morning Dr. Whitley appeared in the assembly and gave a very pertinent remark concerning the things which are to take place between now and the commencement exercises. The announcements will be found in the college calendar in this issue.

This program was advised as might be said in the long line of graduates in the senior reception on the evening of Tuesday, May 25, to the January Reception. President Whitley has announced that every student should be recognized, and he emphasized the fact that it is his desire to see every student who has been a member of the college in the past.

Services at the First Christian Church Sunday will be in line with the occasion of Mother's Day, and the sermon at the morning service will be appropriate to the occasion. Bro. Henshaw will deliver a sermon at the morning service on "Mothers of Men," to which service everybody is invited and urged to attend. Sunday evening his subject will be "The Power of the Word," but it is attendance at some other church is urged to hear these sermons in commemoration of Mother's Day.

George Jackson of Hooks has invited school for the summer term.

Professional Women Hold Meeting Tues.

The Business and Professional Women's Club held its regular monthly social meeting on Tuesday evening, April 26th, at the home of Mrs. W. T. Rose. Mrs. Ashline, the president, presented a session on "The Future of the Profession." When this matter had been disposed of by the club, the meeting was turned over to the educational chairman, who had charge of the program for the evening. Miss Ethel Jones gave a detailed report of our scholarship fund, which is small now, but which we hope to find some means of increasing substantially another year. Mrs. Cynthia Sanders then gave an interesting discussion on "Modern Trends in Education" which she brought out some of the criticisms of our present-day curriculum with suggested changes.

After the program, Mrs. Rose, in her gracious manner, served delicious refreshments consisting of peanut-cream with angel food cake and coffee.

We regret that several of our members were unable to be with us on this occasion, but we are delighted to have our new member, Miss Viola Milford, present, and to have our guest an ex-member, Miss Harriet Rogers.
