Antiques Fit For The Centennial; Horse

And Buggy-ists Fit For Reactionaries The world has utale several universal improvements in education recently, according to most authorities. A large percentage of people can now read, although it is inevitable that some are still illiterate and slick their hair with bard and go to charch barefooted, parting on their aboes at the front steps. Obviously, East Texas State seniors know some of these people and are tery desirous of these persons seeing how "awe-inspiring" desirons of these persons seeing how "awe inspiring" they looked when they graduated from the "colledje" even if their uninstructed friends can not understand

At most schools, seniors do not have to reduce in-borious cape and grown and their accompanying "regues galley" boss. "A section of the particols is morely labeled "Seniors" and their friends are able to distinguish the fact that they have graduated. Much more harmonious with the rest of the book.

Agit now is, seniors are having two cap-gown pose-and two poses in more suitable attire, with the final de-cision left to the fall seniors. Summer seniors ought to take advantage of four poses in ordinary clothes, the more likely decision of regular seniors, who are less "bugaboods" by meless treadition.

Youth Progresses By Being Talked About Although Words Mean Little

About Although Words Mean Little

"Modern young people each year are more obviously proving to the world they are steadily rolling down grade. They are being the standard are regreening forestations are being the standard are remoral out the standard of the standard are remoral out. The standard world in the standard are remoral out. So says the (r)-drawight evangelist with his booming voice and downmanbin tactics.

"Youth of today is hadding promises of ingenonal, coping with the complex problems of the future.
