Friday evening from six-thirty until eight o'clock, Misses Malone, Hatcher, Bowman, Wilson and Hackworth honored Mr. and Mrs. T. H. McNeal with a luncheon. Mr. McNeal taught in the English department of the East Texas State Teachers College during the 1923-1924 term but left here last fall to attend Columbia University where he received his M. Johnson, Wilson, Bowman, Malone, Gilchrist, Hatcher, Hackworth, Cleo McMillan and Geraldine Richards. Messrs S. H. Whitley, Joseph Murphy, J. M. Bledsoe, A. S. Blankenship, E. H. Wray, E. K. Wood, H. D. Phillips, W. B. Stone, and L. Q. Allen.

Basket Ball Teams Ready for Series

The different county organizations are whipping their teams into shape for the coming games of the summer series. The Cass-Bowie team has a great lot of promising material and bids fair to be in the run-off, according to the latest reports for their captain. Hopkins is entering a strong team and has some exceptionally good men around which to build a team. The Coyotes are a little slow in getting their organization perfected, but are said to have a strong team. They are handicapped by the loss of a number of valuable men from last year's team. The Red River-Lamar county team are training and have the largest number of players from which to draft material for a team.

The other teams have not put out any information but are quietly waiting for the beginning of the season to show their stuff. Every indication points toward the best series of games ever played here.

Faculty Chosen for Menard Schools

The selection of the faculty for the Menard Public Schools was completed with the election of E. W. Bode as superintendent, and C. C. Laughlin as principal. The following are the grade teachers: Misses Gussie Burris, Flora Muller, Anna May Mauldin, Pearl Barber, Wilma Patton, Mrs. Ike Murchison and Mrs. Minnie Cravens.

Perfect Attendance in School Ten Years

Miss Genevieve House of the Commerce High School has a perfect attendance record for the last ten years. She has neither been tardy or absent from school during the past ten years. During that time she has not missed a class. A certificate of attendance was given at the close of each school year until the time of her graduation when she was given a beautiful gold medal by Superintendent Day of the local schools.

CITAMARD CLUB ENTERTAINS

The Citamard Club opened the summer's activities with a party at the home of Mrs. Brooks Tuesday night. The entire membership was present including all old members who are in Commerce. After a few minutes spent in general conversation the meeting was called to order by the president, Noble A. Arthur, who told of the plans of the club for the summer session, and gave a brief history of the work of the Citamard Club in the past.

Morris Miller gave a short talk welcoming the old members back into the club and extending an invitation to each member to take an active part in the activities of the summer.

Miss Elaine Mills gave an interesting reading which was highly enjoyed. Roy Sandlin rendered a solo which was enjoyed by the entire club.

Miss Gertrude Hopkins gave a clever impersonation of a small boy enjoying his first train ride. Miss Perkins brought the house down with her unusual ability to impersonate the stunts of a mischievous boy.

The program was concluded by a clever explanation, through song of the activities of some of the so-called shiks of the club, by Misses Inez Camp and Katherine Draper. Their parody on the "Love Affairs" of Coleman Pennington won a round of applause.

At the conclusion of the program the usual business session was held and plans for the summer's work made. Dudley Wynn was elected reporter.

Following the business meeting refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Flewharty, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morgan, Coach and Mrs. Murphy, Misses Georgia Gantt, Elaine Mills, Gertrude Perkins, Lois Mathis, Cleo McMillan, Inez Camp, Katherine Draper, Willie Brooks, Frankie Hyde, and Pauline West. Messrs. Carl Holley, Morris Miller, John Windell, Coleman Pennington, Perry Fite, Roy Sandlin, Dudley Wynn and J. D. Alexander. The Citamard is the oldest active club on the campus, having functioned as a college organization for over six years. Its active membership is limited to twenty-five active members, each of whom must show ability along some special line of dramatic or scholastic work.

Great things are being planned for the summer and the public will be offered ample opportunity to hear more of the work of this peppy organization.

Ed Blair Will Coach at Baker

Ed Blair, an alumnus and former athlete in Daniel Baker College, has accepted the position of director of athletics and student activities in the Hill Billy institution and has started on his new work. He was recently re-elected principal of the Junior High School and resigned that place to accept the college work.

Mr. Blair will devote his entire time to the various activities of the college, including all branches of athletics and the many student activities of the institution.

He will actively direct the coaching of the baseball and the basketball teams, having been a star performer in both sports during his college career as well as a successful coach since leaving college.

The football staff has not as yet been announced but the athletic council of Daniel Baker College will provide a competent staff of coaches for the gridiron campaign.

W. C. (Neighbor) Todd visited Princeton over the week end. We have an idea that Princeton has an endearing young charm, but of course Todd visited home folks. But when asked how he enjoyed the trip he answered "I don't know, friend." Which means all was well.

Alene Lewis visited Sulphur Springs Saturday afternoon, returning to Commerce Monday afternoon.

Wilmont Fite, local student, is reported to be resting well after an appendicitis operation in a Greenville hospital.

BAPTIST STUDENTS PLAN SUMMER WORK

At the call of Arthur West, President, the Council of the Baptist Students class met at 7 o'clock Friday evening. Both general and specific problems with regard to officers, attendance, and programs were discussed.

The following committees were appointed, their reports to be presented to the class on next Sunday: Committee on nomination of officers: Miss Cora Maret, Perry Fite, and P. L. Chisom. Committee on selection of color, verse, motto and song—Messrs. Troy Aiken, Frank Richardson, and Hubert Cherry.

Mr. Chisom, as leader of the Club groups, gave instructions to the new club chairman. They plan to give each member of the class a personal invitation, every Sunday, to attend.

Unanimous support was given to the plan of the six point attendance plan. This means that every student in order to have a perfect record, must not only attend Sunday school and church, but must also study the lesson, bring an offering, be on time, and bring a Bible. This plan tends to stimulate interest in all the phases of the work.

CHURCHES TO HONOR COLLEGE STUDENTS

Next Friday evening more than 1500 students will be guests of the various churches in Commerce at social meetings held on the church lawns. The Protestant churches will give separate get-acquainted meetings for the College students who are here attending the summer school at the East Texas State Teachers College. Out door games will feature the entertainments. Refreshments will doubtless be served and a general good time had.

State Educational Survey Cost $60,000

The Survey of the Educational System of Texas cost the State approximately $60,000 according to a report received here today. A number of bills and constitutional amendments will be introduced in the next Legislature, based upon the findings of this survey. Sets of eight volumes, comprising the entire report, will be sent to each member of the Legislature, to the office of each County Superintendent of Schools and to the Superintendent of each independent district having a scholastic population of over 500. These reports will be available to the tax payers at the places named and they should inform itself of the status of the Texas educational system.

Baptists Students Party a Success

Absolutely perfect—that's the way to describe the Saturday evening party at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. G. Allen. More than two hundred Baptist students and their friends gathered for progressive "Hearts" and other forms of entertainment. Several of the Methodist young people aided with their welcome presence, the delegation being headed by Miss Bess Monroe and Miss Eula Milburn, two of the Dormitories most popular.

Miss Lucille Loyd, recently appointed resident student secretary, was in charge of the program. Her magnificent handling of the signal bell marks her as one of high capabilities, even if the careful management and planning shown by the party did not already prove it.

And the ending was as good as the rest of the affair. "Bucket" West and "Ted" Wray dished out generous portions of strawberry and chocolate ice cream, well decorated with cake.

An ever popular feature of Commerce programs was present: "Adam's Apples" furnished music. Talks by the various officers and groups singing closed the program.

But that's not all. This class works as well as it plays. Attend the Bible Class every Sunday, 9:45 at the Hippodrome. You are sure of a hearty welcome, a worth while lesson and a good start for the new week.

Upshur County Students Organize

Dunagan, president; Miss Alice Mayberry, secretary, and Mrs. Dollie Dunagan-White, reporter; Mr. Carl Mathis was elected chairman of the finance committee. A social committee was appointed to have charge of the social activities of the club. This committee consists of Mrs. N. E. Dunagan, Mrs. C. C. Henson, Miss Stella Rutledge and Mrs. Faye McClain. The basket ball team of this county has been organized several days and are practicing hard for the coming series. You will learn of the Upshur county basket ball team and our club later.

At the end of the second day the enrollment had reached 250. With this auspicious beginning, there will be interest in watching this latest family member grow. Their buildings conform to the Spanish atmosphere of that section of the state. There is an open air auditorium that will seat some 3,000 persons. Another smaller assembly hall is also provided.

Arrangement have been completed whereby the Lion Team will meet Abilene Christian College in a debate to be held at Abilene. Negotiations are being made for contest with several other major colleges. The debates are to be held in addition to our regular schedule of Teachers College debates. The East Texas State Teachers College has the most successful record in debate of any of the States schools. Miss Webster's teams have never lost a contest; a record which is very hard to equal by any institution. It is hoped to arrange for several debates for the coming year. Miss Webster is planning for strong teams of both men and women and invites any one interested in work of this type to talk the matter over with her at any time.

EDITS PUBLICATION; OPEN TO TEACHERS OF TEXAS

Several important mathematical problems are discussed in the latest issue of the Texas Mathematics Teachers' Bulletin, which is published at the University of Texas under the direction of Dr. A. A. Bennett, instructor in applied mathematics. The bulletin is open to teachers of mathematics in Texas for the expression of their views.

Rupp, adjunct professor of mathematics at the University, has contributed an article on "Intuition, Motivation, and Reasonableness." Professor Bennett has contributed a paper on "Symbolism in Mathematics."

Another interesting feature of the bulletin is the list of questions submitted in the annual Brown University mathematical prize examination for freshmen held at the University of Texas this year. Prize winners were Alvin Kilgore of Victoria, Louis Statham of San Antonio and John C. Cramer of Houston.

Texas Technological College Opens Sept. 28

The new Texas Technological College will open its doors to the public September 28, according to President P. W. Horn. With a million dollar plant, plenty of land, prospects for a large attendance and the pledged support of a rich and rapidly growing state every indication leads toward a successful year for the new institution. The buildings and equipment that will be on the campus at the opening of the school will cost over one million dollars. The acuity of the Technological College believes that the initial enrollment will be larger than that of any other school in the southwest. The following buildings will be completed and equipped for the opening of the new school: Administration, $500,000; Home economics building, $100,000; Textile building, $150,000; Stock Judging building, $35,000; Power plant, Sewerage and Heating system $200,000; Dairy barns, $25,000; Poultry plant, $10,000. The total is $1,050,000. This is to be one of the leading Technological schools in the United States according to the plans of the founders.

ROLLED HOSE

Of the different fads prevalent on the campus there is none so repulsive as the "Rolled hose" fad. We do not believe in curbing any legitimate right of any jellybean or flapper, but we object to being forced to inspect the soiled ankles of a couple of hundred college jellybeans. If there is anything beautiful about a man's ankle we fail to have enough artistic sense to realize it. But the fad of wearing them rolled is not confined to the jellybeans, we are confronted with the problem among the flappers of the campus. We realize that the heat problem is one, the solution of which demands some means of solution, but there are other methods than exposing a pair of dingy knees or ankles. If the fad, in any way alleviates the heat, we are for wearing rolled hosiery but at that we are in favor of cleaning or painting the exposed parts.

THE RING POST

I am the ring in the post of concrete in front of a Monroe street home. Each day I am turned over by countless passers-by, who think I am possessed of some miraculous power to soothe the troubled heart; lighten the burden of life's drudgery, and make happy the sorrowful.

I am turned by the lonely straggler in the wee small hours of the morning. My misery is increased by the heat-crazed pedestrian at the noontide. In the afternoon I am turned more than the wheel on a fast yacht facing a storm. Mine is a life of misery; my pieces are broken; my form is worn by the frequent turnings of man with his savage ideas of luck. I have no bearing on the life of any individual still I am turned over by those who choose to win luck rather than take it from an unwilling world. I am a victim of man in a semi-savage state, yet I am a decidedly modern fixture. Who said that men were not superstitious?

WHY COMPLAIN

Why do some people always complain? Every day that rolls around brings some complaint from some person. It is either about the weather, school teachers, and something someone wrote or said about them. For instance: Mary Lee says she is tired of her name appearing in the East Texan and wishes to start a "Revenge" column. Helen Brown says she wants the statement that "Helen Brown has no man" to be kept out of print because she has two men whether we ever see them or not. Every person in Commerce is complaining about the weather, but does it do any good? Of course, it doesn't, so why waste energy. Not only do we hear pupils complain but often we hear from our "dear teachers." Mr. Stone says "his room in the new building is so hot he can hardly have classes there. We can't blame W. B. though because he gets the "cob" every term. Last summer he had M-7 which was absolutely free from breezes. However, do we ever see the good of complaining? No, because Mary Lee and Helen Brown have their names in the paper again today.

GIRL'S EARS HAVE COME IN STYLE

Hot weather has won over tradition once more; men will again have an opportunity to view the ears of the opposite sex. For many years style has demanded that the ears of the fair sex be hidden, but hot weather has won over the fickle fancies of Dame Fashion, and ears are coming to their own. Yesterday the droll Editor was awakened by his noisy stable mate. "Say, man, look at that girl's hair." After rubbing my eyes for a minute and stretching to gain a state of normalcy, I looked out in the direction of the street. Behold, a fair young lady was passing with a hair cut of the most boyish type, combed back, and plastered down with a bountiful supply of Stacom. Imagine the sensation that passed thru the thrill-proof carcasses of this cold-blooded pencil pusher, when he viewed a pair of beautiful ears, the first he had viewed in about—ah, we will say four years, less than five generations. But at that we have not heard of any fatalities among the staid, stern members of the student body.

LA FOLLETTE, THE PROGRESSIVE

The death of Robert Marion La Follette, closed the career of one of the world's strongest insurgent leaders. He spent his life fighting for new things, he was unalterably opposed to the old ideal of political graft, and was a consistent enemy of the organized political factions of the United States. Believing in 1922 that public sentiment was against both old political parties, he attempted the organization of a new party and capitalized the unrest in the Northwest, threw a balance of power in the next Congress into the hands of Independents like himself. For two years this balance was maintained through La Follette's control of the Independents. In 1924, when the Republicans nominated Coolidge at Cleveland and the Democrats nominated Davis at New York, both conservatives, La Follette decided that the time had struck for the organization of a new Progressive Party. It was organized with La Follette as its head. He carried the State of Wisconsin, but received less than two million votes. Thereby losing control of the Independent factions in the Senate and House of Representatives.

A MODERN EXAMPLE

The present Revolution in China is an example of what strict adherence to old standards and ideals will do for a nation. The traditions of the Chinese has kept the population in ignorance. Superstition has hindered progress until a revolution is necessary before the people can sever themselves from the age old customs of their forefathers. This is another example of what becomes of a nation that can not adjust itself to new conditions, new customs, and modern democratic ideals. Ignorance is the root of anarchy; no nation has ever gained in the struggle for national existence until its population were educated to the point where they could adjust themselves to the needs of the age. The revolutionist in China has no more idea of what they want than does a small boy in a nickel store, but they are for a change and this change will not only affect the Chinese, but the entire world. China has a great store of natural resources; but has no initiative or ability to develop the great resources of the country. This is but an example of ignorance, and its outcome in a modern age.

FORUM

Th East Texan.

Dear Sirs:

I notice in the Dallas News of Monday, June 22, a communication from Mr. T. W. Carlock of Pecan Gap, Texas, in which letter he expresses an opinion that the institutions of higher learnings are going "hog wild" about athletics.

He bewails the fact that at a nameless mid-western college, an expensive loving cup was given to the college's best all-round athlete at the commencement exercises of that college, while on the commencement program, no mention was made of the valedictorian.

Courteously, I wish to call to Mr. Carlock's attention that most of the colleges of the country have done away with the custom of having addresses by the honor students on the occasion of the commencement exercises. At this institution, the East Texas State Teachers College, trophies are awarded to the two most excellent athletes, while scholarship medals total almost a dozen.

My opinion is that there is a place for athletics in every school, because of the invigorating effect they have on the student bodies. The average college student spends approximately eight hours a day in classes or in study, which amounts to forty-eight hours a week. But when he takes a couple of hours off from his studies once a week to see some refreshing, recreational athletic event, some persons, who are unacquainted with the whole facts, and are therefore obtuse in their views start howling calamity.

Mr. Carlock says, "Whether are we drifting along educational lines?" and he goes on to cite the case of the downfall of Rome, blaming it on the fact that the people went "hog wild" over the events of the arena and forgot their scholars and men of high ideals.

For many generations past this same tune has been howled. Mr. Carlock is not its composer. When Mr. Carlock was a boy, people said that the world was not producing the thinkers it did in the generation before that. I will take the word of scientific authorities on the subject: "In the past decade, the world has progressed more than in any half century of the past." If this is true, Mr. Carlock would lead us to believe that the peak of civilization has passed with the last generation. But my opinion is that what the natural mind would infer is that along with science, education has also advanced, and that along educational lines, we are drifting into fields heretofore unconceived in the minds of humans.

The fact that the College students enjoy innocent and invigorating sport does not forecast the downfall of our civilization as Mr. Carlock would lead us to believe.

Respectfully,
JOHN OLD.

Colgate is Champion

The world's championship in inter-collegiate debating has finally passed out of the hands of Bates, a small Maine college, and now rests with Colgate. The latter is a university in New York state, almost as small as Bates. After having defeated the debaters of Cambridge and of Ohio Wesleyman, champions of the middle west, the Colgate team won a victory over Bates on a 2-1 decision of the judges. The question was, "Resolved: That members of the President's Cabinet should have seats and a voice in the deliberation of Congress." Colgate upheld the affirmative, Bates the negative.

Having suffered only one defeat since 1916, Bates has long been recognized as a champion in the forensic world. Year after year she defeated debaters from Yale, Harvard, Cornell, and from many other American colleges. Then she went out after international honors. She twice defeated the Canadian representative team of Queens University, Ontario. Three victories were won over Oxford and a decisive one over Cambridge.—Forensic.

BOYS MUST BE HUMORED

It was rumored that Smith was addicted to beating his wife, a neighboring woman decided to investigate.

"Why?" she asked, "do you stand for your husband's beating you?"

"Well dearie," sighed the victim, "you have to humor 'em to keep 'em peaceable, you know."

This club is planning great things for this summer, several entertainments are planned and the officers urge that every student from Bowie county join the club and enjoy the summer with one of the liveliest clubs in the school. CANADA SENDS NOTE TO UNITED STATES

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Canada has sent a note to the United States which is believed to have reference to its Arctic claims, it was learned here today.

The note was described by State Department officials as "courteous," but they declined to divulge its contents.

Miss Odie Lee Boyd, College student rooming at Mr. and Mrs. Tom O'Neil's, is confined at home with a bad foot the result of an ingrowing nail which had to be removed a few days ago.

Judge L. N. Cooper of Hillsboro made short calls on some of his friends this week, among who were the Olds, Sherrills and Harts. He was a former resident of Cooper, and knew these people there.

Prof. A. H. Camness of Paris, who is a teacher in the summer school of East Texas State Teachers College here, was called home today by the critical illness of his wife's mother, Mrs. Etta Miller, who formerly lived in the Century community.

Contracts Let for New Burleson Building at Greenville

Members of the Board of Trustees of Burleson College, held a joint session with the architects and accepted the bids for the construction of the new Woman's Dormitory of the College. The contract for the construction of the building was awarded to Shepherd Bros. & Co., of Greenville; the contract for the heating plant was awarded to the W. T. Monroe Company also of Greenville and the contract for all plumbing was awarded to Archie Smith of Greenville. The plans for the new building calls for a structure as near fire proof as possible. The new building is to be located on a large lot adjoining the campus on the south, and will cost approximately $60,000, unfurnished.

Contract Let for Ralls High School

The contract for the construction of the Ralls High School building has been awarded to Stark and Kennedy of Floydada, and is to be completed by October 15. The building is modern in every way and is of fireproof construction.

EXPLORERS FOUND VAST ICE FIELD

OSLO, June 20.—Oslo was decorated with flags today while crowds in the streets toasted Roald Amundsen and his Norwegian pilot, Hjalmar Riiser-Larsen, as national heroes.

As details of Amundsen's exploit in flying to within apparently less than 200 miles of the North Pole began to reach the public the feat was received as a national triumph.

The Norwegian Parliament paid tribute to Amundsen and adopted a resolution to forward congratulations to the explorer. Meantime, Mrs. Riiser-Larsen, wife of Amundsen's pilot, whose home is in Oslo, was honored by the townspeople.

Advice here describe Amundsen, Ellsworth and the four other members of the party as greatly fatigued and with bloodshot eyes as they arrived at King's Bay on the fishing boat Sjoeliv. This craft picked up the party on the northernmost tip of Spitzbergen, where they had landed in a single airplane, with only a few gallons of gasoline left, as they were winging their way home.

One Plane Abandoned
Starting in two planes, one was abandoned at the furthest north point attained when it became stuck in the ice.

A rumor has reached here that the two planes became separated at one time during the northward journey. During the separation, according to this rumor, Lief Dietrichsen, pilot and Mechanician Oskar Omdahl were nearly drowned. They were rescued by Lincoln Ellsworth, it is declared.

The Norwegian press hails the feat of Amundsen and his associates as the greatest polar exploit in history. The Aften Posten points out that the scientific results were these:

Amundsen reached 87 degrees 44 minutes. There soundings showed the depth of the ocean 3,756 meters, thus confirming previous observations. The vast fields of ice led to the conclusion that a landing was impossible further north, but 100,000 square kilometers, to 88 degrees 30 minutes north had been "covered" without seeing land, which is a wider polar area than have ever been observed by the eyes of man.

All Return Safe.
The fact that all members of the party were saved and returned safely to port after facing great dangers and adventures is a feat of high merit in itself, declares the Aften Posten.

The Norwegian ship Heindal will leave tonight for Franklin's Bay to bring in the Amundsen plane, which was left there when the party boarded the fishing vessel. The first plane abandoned was frozen fast in the ice at the point nearest the pole and was left there, members of the Amundsen party have stated.

Mr. and Mrs. J. U. Nelson were called to Louisiana last week to be at the bedside of Mr. Jeeze Winn, an uncle of Mrs. Nelson's. Mr. Winn died before Mr. and Mrs. Nelson arrived at the bedside. Mr. Winn was injured in an oil field accident in the Bossier field. Both Mr. and Mrs. Nelson are students in the East Texas State Teachers College.

Gem sof Ignorance

A dumbell is a man who thinks that a girl means to water the lawn when she says, "Pour it on."

All the bugs are not in the asylum or on the farm, we see a few every day sitting around on the campus.

Love is that form of folly which knocks the sense out of sensation.

If you fall from a balloon a mile in the air you are a hero; but if you dive fifty feet out of a love boat you are pronounced insane.

Some girls believe the paint slogan, "Save the surface, you save all," But if that were true, the Lord will have to shoot some of the old maids we know to kill them for the Resurrection.

Folly is that form of employment which makes a man lose faith in himself and everybody else.

Ambition is an attribute of the human race which causes man to desire those things which make him excel his fellowman.

Our idea of laziness is grounded on the fact that half the world are killing themselves trying to shirk their duty toward the other half.

An old maid is a woman who has not a chance but is full of hope.

An optimist is a fellow who believes his own lies and everybody else's.

A grouch is a illegitimate cross between a hammer and a dumbbell.

One advantage of being a pioneer is that you have no one to tell you about what the country used to be.

If some of the snobs we know were bought for what they know and sold for what they really know, their successors would be millionaires.

A snob is a fool who reverses the opinion of others when he thinks of himself.

The old man who burned midnight oil to make a success has a son who burns it to make a failure.

The days of going to a barber shop to say what you thought are over. We go there now to spend four hours listening to the merry giggle of a ticklish flapper getting a neck shave.
