GERALDINE RICHARDS AND DOPEY MILLER MOST POPULAR GIRL AND BOY

Geraldine Richards and Doney Miller were elected most popular girl and boy of the College in an election held in the auditorium Friday night. About two hundred persons were present at the election and showed much spirit throughout the contest.

In the race for most popular girl of the College, Miss Richards and Miss Estelle Taylor ran a neck-and-neck race on the first three ballots, with Ruth Montgomery and Clovis Robinson bringing up the rear. In the final ballot Miss Richards forged ahead and carried the election with a comfortable majority.

In the race for most popular boy, Mr. Miller carried all except the first ballot, which went to Carol Munden, the candidate of the freshman class.

The balloting was carried on with votes selling at one cent a piece, the money raised going to the annual.

Miss Richards is a College junior, a member of several campus clubs and a very active worker on the East Texan. She is a representative girl of E. T.

Mr. Miller is editor of the Locust, an athlete of stellar ability, and an active member of the Press Club.

North Texas Teachers Association President Elected Here Sat.

Superintendent W. L. Willis of the Sulphur Springs High School system who was a Commerce visitor Tuesday April 8, was elected president of the North Texas Association for 1926. The Vice President who was elected was the former President, Superintendent Stilwell, of Texarkana; and the Secretary, Miss Irma Faye Stokes, County Superintendent of Morris county, was reelected.

The Association accepted the invitation of the College to meet here next spring at the next meeting.

BURLESON TO HAVE NEW DORMITORY

Rev. J. A. Roper attended the special mass meeting called at Greenville Thursday to consider what steps to take towards meeting the fire havoc wrought at Burleson College when the girls dormitory burned early Wednesday morning.

Rev. Roper states that a decision was reached at this meeting to rebuild the dormitory at once, starting the work of rebuilding with a view of having the building completed by September.

The re-building of this dormitory however is not intended to interfere in any particular with the proposed new administration building for Burleson College.

FORMER BOY SCOUTS TO HAVE REUNION

Several local men, former members of the Commerce Troop 1, Boy Scouts of America, are planning a reunion, to be held at Commerce, tonight, for the members of the troop. About sixty of the former members are expected to be present.

The troop was organized in 1916, with A. A. Skinner, an E. T. student, as Scoutmaster. The boys attained a lively interest in the troop, and soon the membership had grown to more than a hundred under the leadership of Prof. H. G. Munden who succeeded Skinner as scoutmaster. A band was organized among them, with a membership of more than thirty-five pieces. The troop disbanded in 1920.

This is the first effort at reunion of the boys, but all who have been interviewed on the matter feel that it will go over strong.

GROUNDS AROUND NEW BUILDING HAVE BEEN GRADED AND LEVELED

The grounds surrounding the new building have been graded and leveled and grass has been planted on them. It is intended that a driveway be built to run in front of the building from one side of the campus to the other. Other plans for beautifying the grounds surrounding the structure are now under way.

Burleson College Dormitory Burned

The girls dormitory of Burleson College, Greenville, was completely gutted by fire early Wednesday morning. The fire which was of undetermined origin completely destroyed the building in less than an hour. However the forty-eight girls were able to leave the building uninjured.

The loss was estimated at $100,000 which includes furnishings and properties of the students. Insurance on the building was $25,000, making a net loss of $75,000.

The friends of Burleson College who live in Greenville are furnishing rooms for those students who lost their quarters in the fire.

Scholarship Society Decides Upon Speaker

At a meeting of the Scholarship Society Tuesday afternoon, April 7, Dr. H. Y. Benedict, Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences of Texas University, was chosen as the speaker to address the open meeting of the society which will be held the last of April.

Plans were also made at the society to encourage the organization of all people on the honor roll for the winter term into an honor group for the furtherance of scholastic and social activities. The past records of the students will be blotted out until January, 1925, and their work since that time will form the basis of their membership in the organization.

This meeting will take place Monday afternoon at five o'clock in the auditorium, and all persons on the honor roll for the winter term who are interested in such a group are expected to be present.

Press Club to Have Easter Egg Hunt

Sunday morning, sometime about daylight, the young and energetic members of Press Club will probably be seen by some as they start on their pleasant exodus to Charity School house. In the adjoining fields, these students will be seen childishly picking up little colored eggs from the ground which "Molly Cotton" laid there the night before.

When they have gathered in all of the eggs and the prizes have been awarded, they will proceed to masticate a little chow, after which they will meander back to the city.

FORMER BOY SCOUTS TO HAVE REUNION

Following the receipt of a special letter from State Superintendent of Public Instruction, S. M. N. Marrs, last week, Hunt county Superintendent G. L. Pattillo, has made this announcement: "Rural schools of Hunt county that have any indebtedness against them other than bonded indebtedness on the first day of September, 1926, will be ineligible for State aid. The trustees of the State aid schools should be very careful not to contract debts to be paid later than this date."

TO VISIT DAUGHTERS HERE NEXT SUNDAY

Mrs. W. B. Buchannon, mother of Alta Buchannon, Secretary of the College, and of Sallie Buchanan, Freshman co-ed who stays at the dormitory, will visit her daughters here Sunday.

STATE INSPECTORS HERE

Inspectors Fowler and Erwin of the State Department of Education were in Commerce this week visiting the public schools and College, appeared in chapel Saturday morning for brief talks on the general conditions and needs of the education system of the State.

CARL SANDBURG LECTURES HERE

CHICAGO POET PLEASES FULL HOUSE SATURDAY NIGHT WITH LECTURE AND READINGS FROM HIS POETRY

Art Has No Standards

ORIGINALITY THE BASIS OF JUDGING THE WORK OF ARTISTS IS HIS THEORY

Carl Sandburg, free verse poet of Chicago, delighted a full auditorium Saturday night, April 4, with his lecture on "What is the New Poetry", with readings from his poems and stores, and with the finale singing of a group of folk songs, some of which were gathered by Dr. John Lomax, of Texas University.

Sandburg indicated that he does not like the discriminative grouping of poetry and poets into categories and schools, and that he regards each poet, each artist, and his work as something sacred, and not to be classified as one classifies goods on the counter. There is good poetry and bad poetry, he indicated, and so far as that goes, those terms are relative. Poetry aims to strike a feeling tone in its reader, and if it does that, it has achieved its purpose, just as a beautiful piece of music has done its mission if it arouses an emotional response in its listener. "No one asks you to explain a piece of music," said Sandburg, "and continued his point by implying that the content and mission of poetry should not respond to a demand for explanation. Art has no standards other than the standards of originality, and critics muddle it up by trying to classify it."

In reading his poems Mr. Sandburg created an atmosphere for each by the musical toning of his voice and by the intense expression on his face. He rendered his selections from "Rootabag Stories" in accompaniment with a steel guitar, just as he did the singing of the folk songs which he presented.

WINTER LIST OF HONOR STUDENTS OUT

The honor roll for the Winter Term has been made out in full, and the following names are listed. Those lowest in rank come first, those with the highest grades come last.

INSTITUTION BUDGET APPROVED

ONLY ONE TEN THOUSAND DOLLAR CUT MADE.

With the exception of the removal of a ten thousand dollar item from the budget of the College for the next two years, all of the requests made by the institution were passed on by the governor. The total for the two years is $566,345.00, of which $318,285 is appropriated for the first year, $248,160 for the second year.

KITTENS DEFEAT TERREL 3 TO 1

With Lewis' toe in the pitcher's box, the ineligible defeated Terrell High School in a spectacular pitching contest, running up a score of 3-1. The game was played on the home field.

Lewis, of the Kittens, shut the visitors down to a four hit game, while the locals piled up six hits. Only two errors were slated against the ineligible, with one against Terrell.

The game was sprinkled with spectacular plays, both by fielders and infielders. With visitors on first and third during the last of the ninth, Lewis threw out the batter after having tagged a man and thrown out another.

The ineligible who are coached by Acker have a team which is capable of competing with College teams.

Second Historical Picture Shown Here

The second of the five historical pictures put on here under the auspices of the History Department of the College was presented in the auditorium Tuesday evening, April 7. The title of the show was "Dixie," and was a story of the Civil War days, ending with the surrender of Robert E. Lee, at Appomattox.

ABILENE CHRISTIAN AND SIMMONS TAKE TWO GAMES EACH FROM LIONS

Returned Missionary Speaks In Chapel

Mr. Daniel L. Betts, Director of the Passo Fundo Institution, located at Passo Fundo, South Rio Grande, Brazil, visited the college last Thursday in interest of the Methodist Student Federation, and spoke at the chapel services on conditions in Brazil.

In his speech he dealt with social and educational conditions among the people of that great South American country.

Mr. Betts is to return to Brazil next September, being home on a short furlough raising funds for Passo Fundo Institute, which is financed by Methodist students.

A geography and an education class were also addressed by Mr. Betts during the morning.

Kittens Defeat Sulphur Springs High

TWIRLING BY WILLIAMSON MAIN FEATURE OF WELL MATCHED GAME

Scott Williamson stepped into the pitcher's box Wednesday, April 8 and threw the Sulphur Springs High School baseball squad for a loss of 5-4. Williamson never got rattled nor lost control, striking out thirteen and walking only four batters. One of the most spectacular plays of the game was the four-corner clout by Giddings in the second inning which ran in three scores.

To the fifteen hits by the Kittens, the visitors stacked up twelve. Errors ran high for both sides throughout the game.

Most of these boys are in the Sulphur College, and the game shows us that we have lots of good material for next year.

Sulphur Springs 0 0 1 0 0 1 1 0 1
Kittens 1 3 0 0 0 1 0 0 x

Owing to the fact that scores and batteries only have been wired in from the boys at Abilene, no dope can be given in this issue of the paper. The Lions left Sunday for Abilene, the first stop on the baseball tour.

Monday and Tuesday they played Abilene Christian College, at whose hands they suffered defeat last week. Wednesday and Thursday they played Simmons College, and Friday and Saturday they played Murray College. We have scores for the first four games only.

Abilene Christian—

First game: A. C. C., 5; E. T. 4.
Batteries: Hyatt and Holley.
Second game: A. C. C. 7 E. T. 5.
Batteries: Hardaway and Holley.

Simmons College—

First game, Simmons 19; E. T. 8.
Batteries: Sandlin and Holley.
Second game: Simmons 14; E. T. 13.
Batteries: Hyatt, Sandlin and Holley.

A more detailed account of these games will appear in the next issue of the East Texan.

Jimmie Maloney Given Tea By Mother Here

Jimmy Maloney, well known orchestra leader who made his reputation first with his orchestra, "Jimmie's Joys," and who is now conducting an orchestra in the St. Anthony Hotel in San Antonio, was given a tea on Tuesday afternoon from four to six by his mother, Mrs. P. W. Maloney, at which Miss Armine Jones of San Antonio, the guest of Mrs. Maloney, was honored.

Several College students attended the tea.

Whitley and Edge Leave For T. I. P. A.

Robert L. Whitley, editor of the East Texan, and Claude Edge, business manager, left for Denton Wednesday, April 8th, where they are attending the annual meeting of the Texas Inter-Collegiate Press Association, of which the paper here is a member. In the absence of the two, John Old, assistant editor, assumed editorial duties, and is editor of this week's paper.

The East Texan submitted five entries in the contests carried on by the T. I. P. A., a newspaper contest, the formal essay contest, the editorial contest, the College year book contest, and the one act play contest. The one act play which was sent in was written by Janice Jernigin.

Local Primary Council

This organization is a branch of the National Primary Council of Education and has for its purpose those of the national organization. The council was organized in February; its membership consists of girls on the campus who are interested in teaching in the kindergarten and the primary grades.

One member explained its aims as follows:

"Its purpose is for professional growth; We seek to learn how to supercede the passive and mechanical methods of the old time school when children were expected to sit still for long periods and move only at the command of the teacher. We aim to learn how to introduce more active methods in which children are thrown upon their own responsibility as much as possible, and through this means learn to control and direct their own actions. To become familiar with the activities that are related to the subject matter in the kindergarten and the primary grades. To afford an opportunity for the girls to become acquainted with each other in a social way."

Officers: Pauline Leeman, President; Christine Galloway, Secretary and Treasurer; Sue Crawford, Reporter.

Snuff Dippers' Club

History has again repeated itself, as it often does at irregular intervals, and the debonaire young belles of the Piney woods have reverted to their grandmas habits, that of dipping snuff. Although their entry into the sly art was very ambitious, they soon succumbed to its influence, and there were several quite sick young females chasing around in a certain well known house of the city.

New Hospital Across From Campus

Now E. T.'s athletic heroes may safely break their heads, ribs, etc., for just across from the campus is located the Physician's Hospital. This hospital though rather small is unusually well equipped.

The hospital now has a capacity for about ten patients with facilities for performing all major and minor operations.

This hospital was established by the doctors of the town; namely, Drs. Bradford, Allen, Holderness, McGlasson, Pratt, Cate, DeJernett, and Neville.

The hospital is under the direction of a board of control; namely, Dr. Neville, chairman; Dr. Allen and Dr. McGlasson.

The hospital at present has two graduate nurses with prospect of two student nurses later on. The nurses are Miss Fay Taylor, head nurse and Mrs. Roper. Miss Wright, a College student, is assisting them. Miss Fay Taylor, the graduate nurse in charge, is a former student of this institution.

So if you have occasion to repair a broken leg, have your tonsils jerked or even a broken heart sewn up, you will be amply taken care of just across from the campus.

INSPECTION TOUR

Miss Vera English and Miss Elizabeth Storrie of East Texas State Teachers College faculty, returned Thursday afternoon from Mt. Pleasant where they went earlier in the week on a tour of inspection of the ten vocational schools of Titus county.

RAINS HELP COUNTRY

Fairly heavy general rains over the entire northeastern section of the State made prospects for the season's crops much brighter throughout the northeastern section of the State. Greenville particularly benefitted by the wet spell, succeeding in catching a three month's supply of water for the city reservoir.

PARASITIC STUDENTS

The man who comes to College merely to acquire a profession and means of livelihood is still, happily, in the minority. Most of our students are really interested in personal development. Strangely enough, it is easy to fall into a treadmill in college, and little provision is made directly to prevent the students from falling into a beaten track of class, study, talk, movies, class, study, and so on through the days. The restlessness and energy of youth usually keep more diversified interests before the College student. But between the two possible failures in College, those who fail their courses, and those who get nothing but the courses, it is difficult to judge.

There can, of course, be little condonement to offer for the capable student who fails his courses through mere shiftlessness and carelessness. It is easy to stamp him as an unqualified failure, even though he has gained much knowledge of human life and the ability to get along perfectly with his fellowmen. There is no excuse for the person who is not interested in school work to stay in a college. Let him get out where the things he is interested in are accounted of prime importance.

There is less official condemnation and a good deal more of pity for the student who gets a good knowledge of his courses, but nothing else from his college experience.

COME ON GANG, HOW ABOUT A GYM?

East Texas State Teachers College needs a Gym! This fact is self evident and needs no argument. We have no place where our own teams or visiting teams may suit up, leave valuables or otherwise enjoy ordinary facilities and conveniences. Our basketball court is of midget size, both as regards playing area and accommodations for spectators. It is no secret that many of our natural rivals in the T. I. A. A. will under no circumstances match a basketball game with E. T. on its home court. Thus the student body sees few games at home and the coaches are seriously embarrassed in working out schedules. When the occasional home game is called there are always scores grouped about the doors and windows unable to obtain even standing room. Solution of this problem is solely in the hands of the student body. What are you going to do about it? Wait and let the legislature build one? It can't be done! The Texas legislature is very much opposed to granting appropriations for such a purpose nor can they be blamed for this attitude. The responsibility falls with unescapable emphasis upon each one of you. Other teacher colleges of Texas have provided themselves with gyms through their own efforts and without aid from the State. The writer has in mind one of the colleges which has constructed two of them—one for each sex—without outside assistance but solely through the contributions and labor of the student body and faculty. Do you love your school? If not, you are a dirty and contemptible thief, working an educational shell game of something for nothing. No finer virtue exists than that of icyness, and it is in College that it blossoms, or should blossom—best of all. If you haven't it you aren't fit to teach hogs, let alone children. But you do have it, each of you. Come on bunch, talk this thing up, let's get some action on it. All in favor say yes. Attaboy, let's go! Hit that line for a new gym!

E. K. WOOD.

The Untamed Fish Sez:

Folks it's a sad world and there aint no justice. Here I done figgered we'd win the championship shore and stead we's headed for the foot. Pears like our bunch kant git right nohow, when the pictures is strong and willin' the rest of the personnel is weak an' ain't and then agin it's vice versa. f any guy thinks he's nother Walter Johnson here's the time to step up and strut his stuff likewise an' Rogers Hornsby's wuz to met with a plumb glad welcome. Tany rate les git behin a boost our team all we can cause they're ourn aint' they, win or lose?

Mebbe I'd better stop this here scribble bout the team and tell you all how come I ain't round last time or so. It's a sad story men so ajust yore bandannies. Yeh, this here vacation I done took from the seat or learning and culture wuz chiefly by request only. You see I had a disagreement with some o' my teachers. Uh huh! We disputed over correct answers to most all questions asked on exams. Me goin down in black an white for one terpretation an then teachers holdin out stubborn for the other. Course it was just my luck the darn texts hadda agree with the profs. Oi, i, they ain't no justice and that's the truth. However, my grades wuz so good in english they done decide to gimme nother chance and here I be. Shore glad, to, cause this hear rain done got pap in the humor to git reckless and plant all kinds a black bird and boll weavel free lunch and I wuz the bird what wuz to do tha back work while pa done tha brain an sedentary labor.

Say boy, while we aint on tha subject permit me to rise and testify that these here abbreviated spring costumes plus them Aprille ziphers is shore makin lots o' business fertha ocellists. It shore is ruinin my appetite for life on tha farm. I is thinkun serus o' gettin some er these here balloom trousers and becomin a member in good standin o tha jellies assn.

Come to think about it I has a bright scheme I'll give coach next time I see him. How bout declaring all tha eligibles ineligible and all tha ineligible eligibles an startin all over. These here kitties acts like they knows there eggplants.

Well, reckon we'll call this all for tha presint. Be good boys and gurls, respec tha deans and love your teachers—in moderation—and dont never date cept on date nights—less you think you kin get by with it.

Hess Explains How To Sell a Suit

When one of the members of the Press Club went down to ask Mr. Hess how to sell suits, he expected to hear a long intricate theory put out by the proprietor of the men's shop, but instead, a few simple words explained the whole process.

To begin with, the customer is gauged when he enters the store, and on this depends very largely the success in selling a suit to this individual. The age of the customer is of course the first consideration. An older man does not care so much for style as he does for service. However, the question of whether the suit is to be used for everyday wear or for dress comes into consideration.

To the would-be-dressed-up young men he said that he would appeal to their desire to be stylish.

It so happened at this juncture that Claude Edge was seen coming in at the door. Mr. Hess turned to the interviewer and said, "Now, if Claude Edge were to ask to see some clothes, I would show him a pair of overalls."

If it so happens that you desire to be a seller of suits, learn to look at a man and tell what he should wear, and what sweet words you shall use in assuring him that he cannot get along without such a suit.

THE CAMPUS CLUBS

BY THE OGLETREES

THE CITAMARD CLUB

The Citamard Club expressed its appreciation to Miss Maud Webster, head of the Reading Department, of her assistance in their dramatic activities, by presenting to her a beautiful strand of pearls.

This is a thoughtful acknowledgment of the kindness which is always displayed by Miss Webster.

THE COUNTRY LIFE CLUB

The Country Life Club entertained the faculty and members of the student body with a reception from four to six Friday evening, April 3, at the dormitory.

The worthy aim of this club is the promotion of more friendly terms between country and city and to build a country club house for the students and faculty members.

THE HOBO CLUB

The Hobo Club, under the supervision of Miss Geraldine Richards, the president, presented a program in chapel Thursday morning.

This program was very much appreciated by the audience. The chief participants in the program were Geraldine Richards, Myra Smith and Lanna Lee Lutz.

Anger is merely a process of heating the water on the brain.

HEALTH TALKS

Every symptom of ill-health is a definite warning that somewhere in the mechanism of your body something is wrong. Until that something has been corrected, relief can only be temporary.

Every factor that enters the problem of health comes within the scope of Osteopathy. To alleviate the symptoms is not enough; existing physical causes require correction and matters of diet, environment and habit must be regulated.

To all this the Osteopathic Physician devotes painstaking attention, that a true basis for permanent health may be established.

Is This Sportsmanship?

One of the worst breaches of sportsmanship among the students of the college is to be found in the Freshman edition of the East Texan which made its appearance last Saturday. The freshman class contracted to take the paper into their own hands. The regular East Texan staff had absolutely nothing to do on the issue, it being edited, financed, and issued by the class. While the duly elected editor was at work in the printing office on "making up" the paper, several upperclassmen and members of the regular staff came into the office, and after pledging themselves to keep absolutely away from the paper until it was off the press, they maliciously substituted some of their matter for that that was already in the forms.

The article which they substituted started in this manner: "You Fish let one man write the whole paper and class the Fish are" Although they did ribbons yelling about what a great class the Fish are! Although they did not let one man write the paper, suppose they should have? Would that fact license such an outburst of bunk by upperclassmen, some of whom never turned in an article to the paper in their lives! Who writes the regular edition of the paper, anyway? Have you ever written anything for the paper and turned it in for publication? Just between you and me, I'll tell you who writes the East Texan. Outside a few students who turn in items regularly, the whole sum amounting to about two columns, no other person than the editor writes the paper. Moreover, what other class in the school has had a day set aside as their class day, and whose members are willing to pay thirty five cents apiece for ribbons, by means of which they financed their activities of that day? Who has a right to yell about what a great class they are?

It goes on. "You've got about as much spunk as a chigger's whiskers." If we could only see ourselves as others see us! The writer of this unwarranted bunk signed himself "a Senior," and had the nerve to spell it with a capital letter. I was told three days ago by a member of the Senior class that they had never had more than forty percent of the members of their class (about fifteen members) present at any class meeting held this year, and that they had to advertise that refreshment would be served at that meeting. That's how much spunk the Seniors have!

This piece of diabolical journalism went on: "The only one in your class who is worth three whistles in a dice throw is your president, and his being one of your crowd is one of the tragedies of the school year. Now don't you feel good to read this little article in your fish edition of the paper—a nice little reminder by a Senior of how sorry you are." Evidently the writer was a "crap-shooter," who knows all about the good luck tricks of the game. If we understand the writer of this outlaw trash, he means that the president has capabilities far above those of his fellow-classmen, and that he would make a good leader in some other class whose intelligent activities are superior to those of the Freshmen. After an interview with the president who was also editor of the paper under consideration, we found that he was a very angry person for two reasons: first, because the bunk went in, and second, because he has been accused of writing it. He is proud of the fact that he is Freshman, that he is a member of a class that really does things, the only class that has observed a class day or edited the College paper. Truly, it does make us feel good to read this little article in our edition of the paper; it gives us a chance to compare what we have done this year to what the jealous seniors have done. In fact, it acts as a boomerang, and instead of reminding us of how sorry we are, causes us to feel sorry for the seniors, their spirit, and their leadership.

In another place in the paper, this crowd of oath-breaking Seniors attempted to be sarcastic, and instead proved themselves ridiculous, unpointed wits. No harm was done, except to themselves.

The student body as a whole may answer this question: Was it sportsmanlike, or even fair, for them to interfere with the paper which we agreed to pay for?

The Freshman class has paid nothing on the paper, and has agreed among its members to pay nothing on it until these statements are absolutely retracted. Are we right?

DORMITORY DINNER AND EASTER DANCE

On Wednesday evening, April 8, Mrs. Walter Acker was hostess at a beautiful Easter dinner dance, given in honor of the dormitory girls.

At 6:30 as the strains of "Bringing Home the Bacon" were sounded by the Adam's Apples Orchestra, beautiful girls on the arms of gallant young gentlemen passed into the tastefully decorated living rooms. The young people were met by Mrs. Acker, who led the line into the dining room. Here the spirit of Easter was carried out by baskets of lovely cut flowers and dainty Easter decorations. The centerpiece at each table was composed of multi-colored Easter eggs with their guardian Bunny. Tiny favors of Easter baskets and chicks marked the individual places.

The three-course dinner consisted of the following:

Fruit Cocktail
Olives Salted Peanuts
Ham

Fresh Tomatoes Stuffed Eggs
Bread and Butter
Pineapple and cheese salad
Peach ice cream and cakes.

The time between courses was enjoyably spent in dancing.

After dinner the couples withdrew to the living room where the young gentlemen—none other than our own girls in some boy friend's best suits—led their lovely companions through the mazes of beautiful and intricate dances and put to shame the real dandies of the campus. The excellent music was made full use of until ten o'clock brought the dancing couples with their tired feet and wilted collars to a happy and breathless stop.

The visitors for the evening were: President and Mrs. S. H. Whitley and their daughter, Mary Lou; Misses Mary and Janice Jernigin, Merle Anders, Emma Lee Sandridge.

Mrs. Acker was assured of the complete enjoyment of the girls by their happy participation during the evening as well as by their expressions of pleasure.

Caterpillars!

Once there was a little boy who, on seeing a furry thing crawling up the wall of his house called, "Oh, come here and see this alligator." His friend and companion, another boy of three, went over and said, "T'aint no alligator, that's a caterpillar." In the eastern part of the country there is a species of caterpillar that is very destructive to trees. The female moth of that caterpillar on emerging from the resting stage has no wings and can only crawl from her protective case to a suitable place for depositing her eggs. As a means of protection of the trees several schemes were tried to prevent the depositing of the eggs, one being the use of tanglefoot tied about the trunk of the tree, another the whitewashing of the trunk. Then started the habit of whitewashing the trunks of trees. But it was found that that did no good. Here we do not have that tree pest so prevalent in the east, and so the whitewashing of the trunks of trees has no function here. Then, too, the bark of the tree soon peels off, especially the sycamore, leaving the whitewash only in spots. Trees are most beautiful in our landscape when they ornament. Whitewash on the trunks of trees emphasizes the trunks and makes them stand out like ghosts, while the foliage seems pushed aside. We want the trunks to harmonize with the rest of the tree and the things about it.
