SEASON'S SCORES

Game	E.T.	Oppnt.
Jan. 9 E. T. S. T. C. at Denton	19	24
Jan. 26 E. T. S. T. C. at San Marcos	20	30
Jan. 29 T. W. C. College at Commerce	33	22
Feb. 10 Simmons College at Abilene	17	26
Feb. 11 T. W. C. at Fort Worth	18	26
Feb. 25 W. T. S. T. C. at Commerce	24	21

Every game played on the home court this season has been won by the girls basket ball team, and further, E. T. is the only team in the W. I. A. A. which defeated both T. W. C. and San Marcos, a highly satisfactory achievement to reflect upon the close of the season.

The schedule this year was harder than any played in previous seasons, and the team has responded with a visible increase in application, general spirit, and technique of the court. Although the record for the season is not without its defeat, general progress for the year is distinctly pleasing.

On two points E. T. steadily surpassed all opponents, interception of the ball and in passing it down the floor to the forward area. At every school where they played, the team was complimented for the good sportsmanship and fair play.

The chief difficulty experienced was that of the forwards in adjusting themselves to new courts and goals early in a game. Consequently they lost the game to Denton by failing to score in the beginning periods. The referees peculiarities of tossing the ball and calling it fouls seemed to scare the girls, until the last half, out of the victory which was theirs at San Marcos.

At Abilene the ball had an uncanny aversion to falling in the basket, and would bounce out of the very mouth of the goal, and roll gaily around the edge before dropping outside. For the whole last half, during which E. T. made only one score, a free throw.

At T. W. C. the slick floor and wild yelling disconcerted the girls, and as Miss Parrish, T. W. C. coach, said, "Some of the grease seemed to be taken out of the lightening speed with which you met us on your home court, probably due to the tiresome trip from Abilene."

It has not been officially announced who will receive letters this year. The girl who played in one or more of the matched games were: Bolin (Captain) center; Byers, jumping center; Lacy, center; Boze (captain-elect) guard; Alford, guard; Whitten, guard; McMillan, C. guard; McMillan, F. L. forward; Beville, forward; Montgomery, forward.

Credit must be given to others who "went out" for their splendid work in preparing the match team.

Sylvia Boze and Irene Byers played every minute of every game. "Sibby" Boze, as she is familiarly known to all the girls, is Captain-Elect of next year's squad, and she expresses her determination to do all she can to make next years team the best ever.

Writeup of Town And College In The Times-Herald Sunday

SEVERAL PICTURES OF COLLEGE SCENES APPEAR IN DALLAS PAPER

In the Sunday edition of the Dallas Times Herald there appeared a write-up of the city and of the College by Carl Ward, correspondent here for that paper, in which many facts of interest to the public at large were revealed about the College. Its growth, present opportunities, and needs were clearly outlined.

A picture of the main building was in the Times Herald, and also a clear photograph of President S. H. Whitley.

Edge Makes Report of Scholarship Meeting

MUCH ENTHUSIASM AT MEETING OF TEXAS SOCIETIES AT HUNTSVILLE

At a called meeting of the R. B. Binnion Chapter of the Texas Scholarship Societies in M-7 on Tuesday afternoon at five o'clock, Claud Edge, representative of the Commerce Chapter to the State Convention of Texas Scholarship Societies, made a report to the local chapter here.

He emphasized the enthusiasm and spirit that prevailed at the meeting, and reported that Dr. Benedict, Sec. of the State Scholarship organization stated that the purpose of Scholarship Societies is to encourage social activities and that students should derive real pleasure out of being members of such societies. The students entitled to membership in such organizations do the work on the outside to take care of the more serious activities, it is Dr. Benedict's opinion, and the organization activities necessarily should offer some form of diversion.

Mr. Bledsoe, professor of Mathematics here, reported that the Commerce Chapter of the Scholarship Societies is the only one that responded with suggestions as to changes to be made in the constitution of these societies when a call for changes was made. Mr. Bledsoe was elected at the Huntsville meeting as chairman of the committee to redraft the constitution of the Society at large.

The Binnion Chapter outlined some plans for activities next term. A speaker will be brought here under its auspices to give an open address to the students of the College.

Dorothy Fincher Most Popular Girl At Austin College

WINS OVER NEAREST OPPONENT BY MARGIN OF ONE THOUSAND VOTES

Dorothy Fincher, who completed her sophomore work in College here in June 1924, was elected the most popular girl in Austin College in a contest carried on by the Austin College Yearbook, The Chromoscope. She received thirty five thousand votes in the contest, a thousand more than her nearest competitor, Miss Maurine Morris of Sherman. This is Miss Fincher's first year in the College at Sherman, where she is now a College junior, a member of the Kangaroo, College Newspaper, staff, is on the Girls' Council, and is a participant in two literary societies.

While in College here Miss Fincher was a leader in Y. W. C. A. work, Christian Endeavor work, and made high grades in her school subjects.

RE-NUMBERING OF COURSES SUGGESTED

After an investigation of several weeks the committee for suggestion as to reorganization of the titles for courses has suggested that the courses be renumbered, each course being given the same evaluation it has now, but differing in its designation in the catalogue. The first year college courses will, under this plan, be designated as the one hundreds, the sophomore year will be spoken of as the two hundreds, and so on. The report of the committee follows:

We submit the following plan for the re-numbering of courses of College rank:

(a) That each number designate a course of twelve week's work (three term-hours) in a given subject, unless otherwise stated in the description of the course.

(b) A sequence of two numbers (as 111, 112) designate twenty-four weeks' work (six term-hours).

(c) A sequence of three numbers (as 121, 122, 123) designates thirty-six weeks' work—the work of a session (nine term-hours).

(d) In general, only the "one-hundreds," that is, courses numbered with the digit 1 in the hundred's place—are open to freshmen.

(e) The "two-hundreds" are courses having prerequisites other than college entrance—usually 9 term hours' credit in the subject.

(f) The "three-hundreds" are courses open, in general, to students of at least Junior standing usually a prerequisite of 18 term-hours' credit in the subject.

(g) The "four-hundreds" are courses open, in general, to students of Senior standing—usually a prerequisite of 27 term-hours' credit in the subject.

(h) The "three-hundreds" and "four-hundreds" are advanced courses, unless otherwise stated in the description of the courses—usually open to those who have completed 18 term hours' work in the subject.

(i) The whole sequence of courses designated by numbers separated by commas (as 111, 112, 113) must be taken; otherwise credit for the course or courses completed will be forfeited.

(j) A sequence of courses must be taken in the order numbered, unless otherwise permitted by the head of the department in which the work is given.

(k) That all departmental methods courses be numbered with zero (0) in either the ten's or unit's place, or both, and that such courses retain their present numbers as far as possible. (Example: 104, 230, 300 represent departmental methods courses).

(l) For all departmental subject-matter courses, the ten's digit designates the order of the sequence group (as 211, 212, 213 and 221, 222, 223 represent two sequence groups of the "two-hundreds"); and the unit's digit indicates the sequence of the series.

(m) The unit's digit for all independent courses be above 3, and the ten's digit the same as for the series which it most nearly resembles.

(n) The previous number of each course, whose number is affected by the change, should be mentioned in a description of such course in our next annual catalog.

EDUCATIONAL BILL APPROVED FINALLY

AUSTIN, Texas, March 5.—A total of $2,355,600 is allowed for the building program for the next two years of the State institutions of higher learning by the educational appropriation bill, as finally approved by the Senate Finance Committee. The bill carries a grand total for all purposes for the institutions of higher learning for the ensuing biennium $15,600,951.

The Board of Control's bill recommended $14,789,607 and the House bill $13,773,978. The Senate bill is $811,343, over the Board of Control, due to $516,977 increase given the University, largely for salaries; $160,086 to the experimental stations and $93,170 to the Sul Ross Teachers' College at Alpine.

With the completion of the educational bill, the grand total of the four major money measures is $32,096,438 net against the general fund. Their totals are as follows:

Judiciary, already passed and signed, $3,349,844; eleemosynary, finally passed, $7,778,640; educational (Senate bill), $15,600,951, and departmental, in conference $6,812,023 gross and $5,359,603 net. Of the departmental bill total $1,452,420 goes to the Highway Commission and the Insurance Commission, neither of which is supported by general ad valorem taxes, but by motor fees and insurance company levies, respectively, leaving net to come of the general fund $5,359,603.

Consideration of the educational bill by the Senate will be taken up Friday morning, on motion of Senator John Davis, chairman of the Finance Committee and author of the bill. The Senate also set as special order immediately following consideration of the educational appropriation bill, the rural school aid bill by Mr. Floyd and others, carrying a total of $1,500,000 a year for each of the next two fiscal years ending Aug. 31, 1926 and 1927.

CARL SANDBURG, AMERICAN FREE VERSE POET, TO BE HERE

AUTHOR OF FOUR WIDELY DISCUSSED VOLUMES OF POEMS AND TWO PROSE WORKS TO LECTURE TO STUDENTS AND TO READ FROM HIS WORKS ON EVENING OF APRIL FOURTH

One of The Greatest Free Verse Poets in America

Sandburg Third Figure of Literary Importance to be Brought to the College, Ruth Cross and Edgar Lee Masters Preceding Him.

Joe Estes In Town Recently From T. U.

Joe Estes, student in the department of Law, Texas University, and former student of this institution, was in Commerce Sunday and part of Monday, Mar. 1-2, visiting his family. The state Independence holiday permitting his visit.

Estes is a member of Kappa Sigma one of the oldest and largest fraternities in America. Last term he made the highest ten per cent of scholars in the Law department. He is now secretary of a carnival to be staged by the students body of Texas University.

Estes while here was Editor of the East Texan, and a member of the debating team that last year defeated North Texas State Teachers College at Denton.

Carl Sandburg, American free verse poet, will give a lecture to the College students and will read from his poems in the College auditorium on the night of April fourth, at eight o'clock, under the auspices of the English Department of the College. Sandburg's lecture will be on the Saturday night following the meeting of the Northeast Texas Teachers' Association, which will be in session in the College auditorium on April third and fourth, closing its meeting on the afternoon of April fourth at five o'clock.

Sandburg is ranked along with Amy Lowell and Edgar Lee Masters as one of the three greatest writers of free verse in America, and is recognized by critics at large to be not only a master of realism but also an artist who catches beauty, as he would say it, "in a deliberate prism of words." His works include "Chicago Poems," one of which, "Chicago," has been widely discussed the nation over, "Cornhuskers," "Smoke and Steel," and "Slabs of the Sunburnt West." His prose works are "Rootabaga Stories," and "Rootabaga Pigeons," both volumes made up of fairy stories inspired by the demands of his children.

Sandburg is the third figure of literary importance to appear here. Ruth Cross, author of "The Golden Cocoon," lectured to the College students on the 13th and 14th of February. Edgar Lee Masters, who wrote the famous "Spoon River Anthology," and who is in the same rank with Sandburg as a master of free verse, preceded him here by two months.

Orchestra in Chapel

Saturday morning in chapel Prof. H. G. Munden presented his orchestra in a program consisting of a number of general orchestra selections including an overture, a violin solo by Margaret McDaniels, and a cornet solo by Carroll Munden, which demonstrated his ability at "two-tonguing." This was the first appearance of the orchestra this year, and the student body received the program enthusiastically.

Historical Motion Pictures Coming

The History Department of the College is making arrangements to secure at least five of the famous Yale University Motion pictures on American History. These films are accurate portrayals of the history of our country, and are educational as well as entertaining, according to a statement made recently by Professor Neu, head of the History Department. Yale rents them to colleges and educational institutions for educational purposes only. The admission charges have been fixed at a figure that will barely cover the costs of rentals and transportation. Season tickets, entitling the holder to admission to the five shows are now on sale at forty cents. Five shows for the price usually paid to see one good show in standard theatres. To purchase tickets, it is necessary to see some member of the history faculty or to telephone the office of the Dean of Women.

GODWIN BUILDING TO HAVE HOSPITAL

Another business change in Commerce scheduled for this month will change the location of the Physicians Hospital. The second story of the new Godwin brick building on Mayo street just north of the College campus has been rented and the equipment for the Hospital will be moved to the new location about the 15th of this month if present plans materialize.

There is still some work uncompleted on the building at the College but this is being looked after and it is thought will be in shape to open up by the middle of the month.

James Boyd, Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. Branch, whose headquarters is at Dallas, was on the campus attending to business and visiting James Old.

COUNTRY LIFE CLUB GAVE SQUARE DANCE

One of the most delightfully pleasant and most widely attended social functions of the season was an old fashioned square dance given by the Country Life Club, East Texas State Teachers College, Saturday evening in the gymnasium under the direction of Miss Vera English.

Music was furnished by noted fiddlers of northeast Texas, Messrs. Jim Branom, Commerce; Sam Winniford, Jim Young and Homer Odum of Cumby. Prompters for the dance were Daniel Boone, Perry Fite and other East Texans who grew up in sections where the square dance is the antidote for the evils of modern dancing.

Several hundred attended the dance Saturday evening which is said to have been one of the most enjoyable dances ever held in Commerce. The crowd was composed largely of students and faculty members.

THE STIMULATION OF PROMINENT FRIENDS

For the man who has any regard for what his friends think of him, nothing is so discouraging as to develop in those friends a great belief that in a few years he will achieve eminence in some field and then to meet them in that future and have to acknowledge that he is only beating time along the road of mediocrity.

Nothing, perhaps, will stimulate the sensitive man to greater effort than the realization that his friends are advancing and are leaving him behind, when one time he was on their level, was their equal, and had confidence that he would rise along with them. Perhaps under such conditions he will redouble his efforts to succeed, and will try to root out by real accomplishment that dull aching sensation that accompanies the failure to realize ambitions. It is a rather discouraging thing to write letters of congratulation to one's friends who have gone ahead, when one realizes that he is relatively far behind them.

But no one knows but what this is well. It may be that to have such friends, who expect a great deal of you, will give you greater ambition and stimulation to achieve than any other factor. Under such conditions as these, prominent friends are highly essential to one's success.

Chips From The Grind Stone

Last Sunday about six thirty o'clock the New Palace Drug Store was a scene of excitement. Nine boys, including representatives from Sulphur Springs and other small towns, were crowded around the telephone; while one of our most advanced jellybeans called no less than ten flappers.

Evidently this young man has a most notable social reputation, else he could not have acted as official "date maker". Such a method of securing dates may be perfectly in keeping with the rules of etiquette; yet it does seem as if our modern jelly would pause long enough to realize that remarks from the other end of the line are not for the amusement of the audience.

How about it girls?

Another of our well known love affairs recently experienced a few moments of "cattiness" on library porch. The young man is reported to have stood silent, listening to his beloved's accusations. After having delivered her threat she hastened down the stairway leaving the young Romeo immovable and completely puzzled. Before he could make any definite decision regarding what to do, the young lady was again by his side, peering into his face. Only a few words were passed between them this time—and then they were walking down the steps together. Observers are still puzzled over the man's calm attitude and also over the girl's hasty return.

During the recent production of The Santed Devil, one of E. T.'s most prominent collegians experienced extreme embarrassment. It seems that the young man found it necessary to leave the show for few minutes. On returning, he grabbed his supposed lady companion around neck in a loving choke wherewith short cries resulted and the young man was made to realize that he was the victim of a terrible mistake. Did his former companion move intentionally?

Rumors state that a certain female organization on the campus selected the membership of a recent organized jellybean club.

What was the advantage?

Every day in every way we are reminded more and more that certain students will hang around professors' offices. What could be their motives?

Cracks at the Crowd

A Swiss scientist says we will soon be living on air. The average professor is already at it.

Spanish is the language of the Spartans, the sorrow of the students, and the enemy of laziness.

A comedy is a drama in which the man is made the victim of his wife's jokes, his mother-in-law's profanity, or his son's extravagance.

The four ages of man are: (1) when bossed by his mother; (2) bossed by his sister; (3) bossed by his wife; (4) and bossed by his daughter.

Our idea of heaven is where a fellow could receive an education while car-riding with a pretty girl.

The school of experience provides the most enduring education because the student is the victim of his own experiments.

The artist paints the faces of others but the modern girl paints her own.

The casual observer is the man who can distinguish between the genuine and the artificial complexion without depending upon his sense of taste.

writer of the article appearing in the Advance should save special notice of this. It follows:

Dear heartbroken fans of Rotan:

As per your advertisement in last week's Advance, I saw your practice game with the Dowell boys last Saturday at your city, and want to congratulate you on that game. It was one of the best games that I ever witnessed. You fellows got some good practice, but I am afraid that it came too late. Dowell played the cleanest game we ever saw and against the greatest odds possible. They beat you, they won the county championship. You have a real good team also, but not in the class of Dowell—J. P. E. A fan only.

The Dowell team will play Roby Friday afternoon at Roby, provided they return from Abilene in time.

Produced by James Cruze

The cast includes Betty Compson, Rockeliff Fellows Warner Baxter, Charles Ogle and Al St. John. Should a woman reveal her past to her husband? Here is a daring picture which has been deftly treated so that it never becomes irritating. Lavish settings, a picture true to life. Rockcliffe Fellows, Betty Compson and Warner Baxter, are immense as the central characters.

Comedy—"Dizzy Daisy"

Saturday, March 14th

Viola Dana in "THE BEAUTY PRIZE"

If my papa were a noble earle, I might be considered a handsome girl." A high society background helps a lot if you are entered in a beauty contest. Maybe that's why Connie won the unanimous decision of the judges who crowned her as "Miss America." They thought at the time that Connie was a fifth avenue heiress. A national beauty contest with 50 of the most beautiful girls in Hollywood appearing as entries.

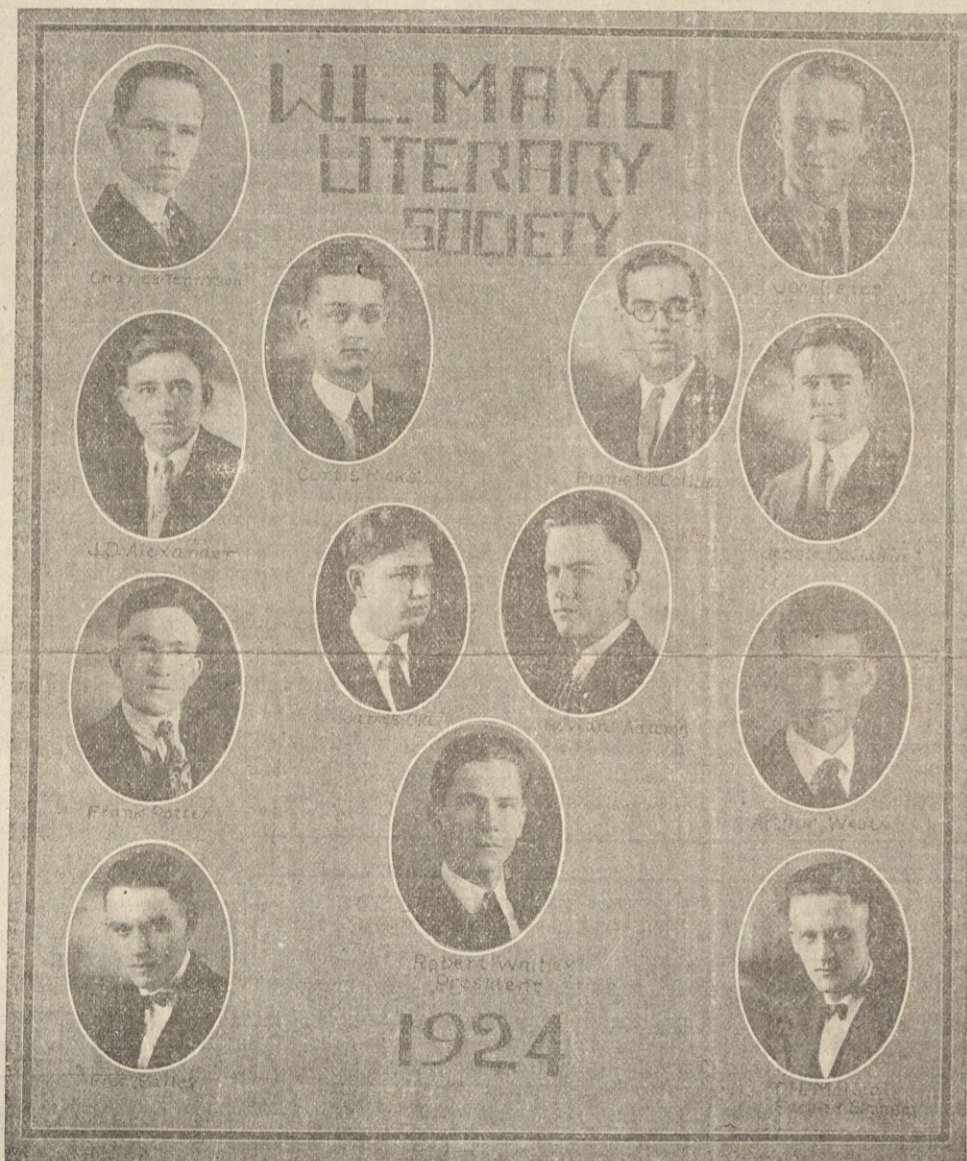

Comedy—"MAD RUSH"

LYRIC THEATRE, Saturday, March 14

"WINNER TAKE ALL" with Buck Jones

Comedy—"STETCHING TRUTH"

Debaters, poets, actors, journalists, men-of-the-world, and in general the most brilliant group that probably ever assembled in a single club in E. T. the W. L. Mayo Literary Club last year was the one organization in school that was looked upon by the young and unsophisticated with longing eyes.

DOWELL BASKETEERS WIN COUNTY CHAMPIONSHIP

The Dowell basketeers holds championship of Fisher County with a rating of 1,000 per cent, while the town that previously disputed the Rural School's claim to the title was toppled from its haughty position.

They met Moody on the local court at Roby Friday, and staged an easy victory, while it just proved a practice game for Dowell.

They met Rotan on the Rotan court Saturday afternoon in one of the fastest and cleanest games we have ever witnessed. The game was hard fought but it was evident that Dowell was the better team from the beginning. The first quarter ending with the champions 10 points and Rotan 2. The Rural team was at perfect ease at all times, and it seemed they were still saving themselves for something as they kept the scores ahead of their opponents at all times. The final mark being 22 and 20.

We are proud of them; it means more than victory when a Rural School stages an athletic "come up" like that. We tip our hats to them, and wish them success. For after our Rural Schools are neglected and not given an opportunity to find themselves. I maintain that they are entitled to as great advantage as city boys. Stay in there boys and come to the track meet, March 28 at Roby fully as well prepared.

Roby defeated Sylvester on last Friday 13 to 8. It was a good game and Sylvester put up a good fight. Those boys are real sports and all Roby are glad when these two teams meet for they know they will see a good game.

NO CAUSE FOR ALARM

H. G. Wells, would be reformer, says that the American people are becoming effeminate as a result of our having so many women teaching in our schools. The percentage of men teachers is much higher in England than in America according to Mr. Wells, and for that reason the British are possessed of more manly qualities than are the Americans, who obtain a larger part of their elementary training from lady teachers. He fails to consider the fact that women have elevated man from the Bonc-gnawing, caveman stage to his present stage of civilization. On asking one of America's foremost engineers what he considered the greatest impelling forces in progress was, he replied women. So we have no worries regarding Mr. Wells doctrine of effeminacy so long as woman's influence act as a dynamic force to boost that which is good in man. It is true that women are the impelling influence in most of our lives. The British may be superior to Americans in manners, dress and political maneuvering, but he must concede that America does his inventing for him and furnishes a large part of equipment necessary for his role as Gentleman de Luxe. It may be true that the American voice has a metallic ring to it, but at the same time is capable of commanding the respect of the world. The average American has enough physical stamina to carry a pair of eyeglasses instead of having to use a monocle as in the case with many of the British.

FARMER CONTRACTED RABIES FROM COW'S MILK

DENISON, March 5.—Ed Elkin, farmer residing near here, died today following an illness of several days, possibly the result of drinking milk from a cow that later died of rabies. Attending physicians admitted that Elkin died of an inflammation of the brain but were uncertain whether he had died from hydrophobia.

Below are given a group of testimonials, pertaining to the historical motion pictures coming here. The move of the history department in bringing these pictures here will enable students to see enacted on the cinema the actions of many characters of historical interest, with settings, costumes, and action worked out by one of the most thorough Universities in the land, Yale. The testimonials follow:

"In my experience at the Carnegie Museum I find that most of the educational pictures, even when truthful, do not appeal to young people, owing to the absence of dramatic interest. The Yale pictures seem to me to have solved that problem. You have action, dramatic interest, and a well sustained plot, all coupled with true history and they are bound to teach history in an alluring and permanent way."—Douglas Stewart, Director, Carnegie Museum, Pittsburg, Pa.

"Educators have long recognized that there is no means which could be of greater educational value than the moving picture; but it remained for the Yale University Press to bring this to full fruition in this series of pictures."—George B. Cutten, President of Colgate University, in Utica Press.

"Let's have more of such pictures."—Memphis, (Tenn.) Commercial Appeal.

"More dramatic, more thrilling, and more entertaining than many fiction stories in the films."—Detroit (Mich.) Free Press.

"Surely the pictures will inspire the reading of American history among many people who otherwise would have neglected it. There never has been a time when this country had so great a need for the studying of American history as right now."—Editorial in Portland (Ore.) Telegram.

"Throb with life and reality . . . bringing back the elements of romance, adventure, mystery, and surprise which developed in our pioneers."—Wisconsin State Journal.

"No one can see these pictures without being a better American."—William R. Hopkins, City Manager, Cleveland, Ohio.

BUSINESS WOMEN'S PROGRAM FEATURED BY 1-ACT PLAY

The Business and Professional Women's Club found diversion and pleasure in the program arranged for the business meeting Mon. night. Miss Maud Webster head of the Department of Reading at the College, and chairman of the Club's program committee, had sandwiched in between the business of the club a vivacious one act play, entitled, "The Price of Freedom," which was presented for the club by the following cast from one of the reading classes at the College:

Misses Mary Roberston, Geraldine Richards, Homa Alford, Anna Fant, Verona Traylor, Lillian Williams, Katherine Stephens Ollie Vee Cochran and Luta Smith. The play was coached by Miss Thelma Shaw, under the direction of Miss Webster.

In the business coming before the club the hour of the business meeting was changed from 7:00 o'clock to 7:30 by motion and second. Committee chairmen made some interesting reports. Mrs. Myrtle Britton, chairman of the committee on Health, gave an informal discussion of her plans of cooperation with the State and City health officers towards safeguarding the health of the community.

In the absence of the chairman on Personnel Research, the president, Miss Mary E. Johnson, reported some activity by this committee which promises some interesting developments.

In the absence of Mrs. Stella Draper, chairman of the Publicity Committee, Mrs. Hanes and Mrs. John Brigrance reported progress made towards publishing the State Club Bulletin, for March.

Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Ellard, visited friends at Wolfe City Sunday.

On The Campus

In this column the East Texan will record the activities of all student organizations, whether they be literary, departmental, professional, social or what-not. It will be edited by Ina May and Louise Ogletree. The Texan hopes to give not only information to the general student body, but also stimulation to the organizations. This week the clubs are only to be introduced. In the future the meetings and progress will be reported.

THE CITAMARD CLUB is a dramatic organization composed of students who have demonstrated unusual ability before the footlights. This club is presented the play "To The Ladies" Wednesday evening.

THE KALIR CLUB sponsored by Miss Bess Malone, is a girlish literary club. Bids for membership have recently been sent out and the club expects to be in readiness for real work at the beginning of the spring term.

THE PRESS CLUB takes its members from the staffs of the two publications, and works for the general betterment of all journalistic activities on the campus. Faculty members of the club are Miss Mary Bowman of the English department, and Mr. Edwin Wood of the history department.

THE BLUE ROSE CLUB is a newly organized girls' social club. It is yet too young to have a very definite policy, but it plans great things. Some boys of the College have organized a club to correspond to the Blue Rose Club, but the society is yet nameless. Their announced purpose is to bring about congeniality between the boys and the girls of the campus. All out-of-the-state students. Their activity is largely to develop good-fellowship, and they specialize on hikes, weinie roasts and similar amusements that fit in with their name.

THE COUNTRY LIKE CLUB has been organized under the leadership of Miss Vera English. The square dance at the gymnasium last Saturday evening was staged by this club. Departmental and special activity clubs are the Latin Club, French Club, Home Economics Club, Beach Choral Club, and Men's Glee Club. They are striving to heighten interest and further progress in their particular fields.

SUMMER TERM TO HAVE TWO PARTS

EACH HALF WILL CONSIST OF SIX WEEKS SESSION, CONSISTING OF 3 SUBJECTS IN EACH

Can Attend Half Time

Five Hour Subjects With Two Hours Study for Each Planned.

At a faculty meeting on Jan. 7, there was discussed among the faculty members the question of having two six weeks sessions in the College department in place of the regular twelve week session. At this meeting was appointed a committee consisting of Mr. W. B. Stone, Miss Storrie, and Mrs. Mixson, the duty of which was to make a study and report on the question.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE

Later, when this committee reported, it was decided definitely that the College department should have two six week sessions this summer meeting classes five days out of the week.

The courses offered in the summer schedule for more than two subjects, in the regular session, and are of great interest to those who are fitting themselves to teach in a better manner, according to President S. H. Whitley.

These courses are so arranged that a student may complete a full year's work in three summers.

Students will limit their schedules to three courses per term, and after the close of the first week of the term, no student will be allowed to schedule more than two subjects, states the News Bulletin issued by the College.

College classes will meet five times per week for one hour of recitations, and a minimum study period of two hours for each recitation will remain the same.

Sub-college will be organized into a single term of twelve weeks, meeting five times a week, as heretofore.

SUMMER NORMAL

In addition to the regular credit work, the summer normal review classes will be conducted. However, according to Dean E. H. Wray, it is advisable for students to take credit work rather than the summer normal review work. On the completion of the summer normal, state examinations will be given August 4th, 5th, 6th, and 7th.

The schedules of the College and summer normal will be so arranged that the students who wish to take work in both summer normal and College credit classes may do so without conflict.

MEMORIAL CAMPAIGN IS MAKING PROGRESS

Women of the Federated clubs in Commerce are proving good campaigners in the Jefferson Memorial campaign in which they are throwing their strength into the scales of the contest for Mrs. Perce W. Maloney whom they want to see among the lucky contestants for a free tour of Europe and at the same time do their bit towards helping to raise a fund for the endowment of the Jefferson home.

A number of benefit teas and parties have been held in her honor and more are to follow. A tag sale last Saturday netted a nice sum. Today by invitation Mrs. Maloney was honored guest of the Cooper Lion's Club at a noon luncheon.

It is expected that Cooper club women assisted by the Lions club will throw their strength to the northeast candidate.

Saturday Greenville Club women will be hostesses at a tea to which Mrs. Maloney has been invited. The Greenville club women will also sponsor a whirlwind tag sale Saturday in Mrs. Maloney's interest from which a nice sum will no doubt be realized and thrown into her column. Sherman club women are also planning to get in the campaign as will also the women and friends of the Commerce candidate from various other places.

A number of Commerce club women will attend the tea at Greenville Saturday.

TO THE LADIES TAKES WELL WITH AUDIENCE

PRODUCTION DIRECTED BY H. D. THOMAS, WHO, GAVE A WELL WORKED OUT INTERPRETATION OF HIS CHARACTER, UNDER SUPERVISION OF MISS WEBSTER

PERKINS AND ARTHUR CHARMING OPPOSITES

Miller's Character Work Good, Remainder of Cast did Presentable Work, But Offered no Especial Talent

To The Ladies, three act comedy, was presented by the Citamard Club to an appreciative audience Wednesday night, March 4, in the College auditorium. The play is the first put on by the club this year, and as a whole carried over to the audience.

The title, "To The Ladies" embodied the idea that the success of many business men today is very often the result of the ingenuity and planning of their wives, who direct the action from behind the scenes. Leonard Beebe is a young clerk with ambitions to be chief clerk in the office of his boss. He receives the encouragement of his wife, who has some difficulty in eradicating the family from some of the difficulties presented during the visit of John Kincaid, president of the Kincaid Piano Company, and his wife, who are extremely tested by the line of Chester Mullin, who forces himself on the Kincaid's and proposes a vaudeville act to Mr. Kincaid as a means of advertising his piano. However, due to the tact of his wife, Beebe succeeds in getting an appointment to the banquet of employees of the company, and is saved at the banquet when another man delivered the speech he was to have made by his wife who offered the excuse that he had recently had an attack of laryngitis and had told her to read his speech for him. She made a hit with those present. Later, when Kincaid learned of how Beebe's wife really made up the speech, and when he is about to fire Beebe, Mrs. Beebe again saves the day and with the aid of Kincaid's wife, induces her husband to retain Mr. Beebe. Kincaid closed the play with a tribute "To The Ladies."

ARTHUR AND PERKINS IN LEAD
Noble Arthur played the part of Leonard Beebe, and presented an amusing as well as interesting interpretation of the character. His humorous responses brought down a good many laughs from the audience. His presence on the stage was especially good, and his character held the attention of the audience remarkably well.

Gertrude Perkins in the role of Mrs. Beebe was a definite type. Her lightness and at the same time her well toned character were quite pleasing to the audience. Her presence on the stage was very natural, as were her speeches, all of which held close attention. This is the third play Miss Perkins has taken part in successfully.

The character work of Morris Miller stood out as distinctive. He acted well the part of a young fellow whose officiousness is absolutely annoying but whose intelligence is so limited that he cannot understand why people do not take him seriously. It was naturally expected that this character work would stand out, which it did.

Herman Thomason, who directed the play under the supervision of Miss Maud Webster, head of the Reading Department, was quite successful in his impersonation of a banquet toastmaster. His ease of manner was especially noticeable. He was very much at home on the stage than any other character, due, perhaps, to his experience in dramatic affairs.

The remainder of the characters supported the play as a whole very well, but were nothing out of the ordinary in their interpretations. They were sufficiently appropriate to their parts, however, to make the play as a whole successful. They were Coleman Pennington, Cleo McMillan, Carl Holley, John Windell, Perry Fite, Herman Thomason, Ben Patrick, Willie Brooks, Roy Sandlin, and Joe Murphy.

It is understood that the Citamard Club will put on another play some time during the spring term of school here.

SPORTS

A review of the individual records of the basket ball girls reveals the fact that as a whole they have played consistent ball during the season. There were eight girls on the squad this year, each of whom has been highly commended by her coach for her spirit and good work. Below are given individual records of each of the players.

SILVA BOZE
Silva Boze, who was guard this year, has been declared by her coach and by E. T. basket ball fans at large to be the best guard on the team and one of the best in the conference. She held down to three points a forward in the last game of the season with Canyon Teachers College who amassed a score of twenty-two points out of twenty-four in a game with Texas Women's College. She received her first basket ball experience in a little town near Bonham by the name of Ectar. Later she attended the sub-college and played on the team put out by that department. Because of her good work she has been elected of next year's team.

IRENE BYERS
Irene Byers, jumping center, is a three letter player from Pittsburg, Texas, High School. While in the Pittsburg school she played in nearly every position on team. This is her first year in College here, and therefore her first to play on the E. T. team. She played in nearly every game, and has been favorably reported in the account of each contest in which she has been seen.

HOMA ALFORD
Homa Alford, who was here last summer, then became interested in basket ball, and played on several girls' team in a gym class. She came out for the team this year, and by hard work has worked herself up to the point of efficiency that permitted to allow her to play at least part of every game of the season. She is a Dangerfield girl, and had some basket ball experience there. She played on three different teams in Cass county. She is considered by Coach Rogers as valuable material for the team next year.

RUTH MONTGOMERY
Ruth Montgomery, forward, has played basket ball practically all of her secondary school life, and later years. She was this year captain of the team, and all reports indicate that she performed her duties with great satisfaction to her team mates. Her position is running center.

FANNIE LEE McMILLAN
Fannie Lee McMillan, forward, who will also receive her degree in June, was formerly a student in Hughes Springs High School, where she played basket ball for two years. She later attended Alexander College for two years, and made the team of that school both years. She came to College three years ago, and made the E. T. team during her first year here. She has played on the team every year since that time, and is very popular among the girls of the team for her likeable disposition. The team and school at large regret to lose her.

FANNIE LEE McMILLAN
Cleo McMillan, who played on the Hughes Springs High School team for three years, has been a member of the E. T. team two years. She was forced to remain out of several games this season because of injuries, but she has played good ball when given a chance. She will be here again next year, and her work is looked forward to with interest by both the coach and her teammates. She is now a college sophomore, and has every opportunity to follow in the footsteps of her sister who leaves in June.

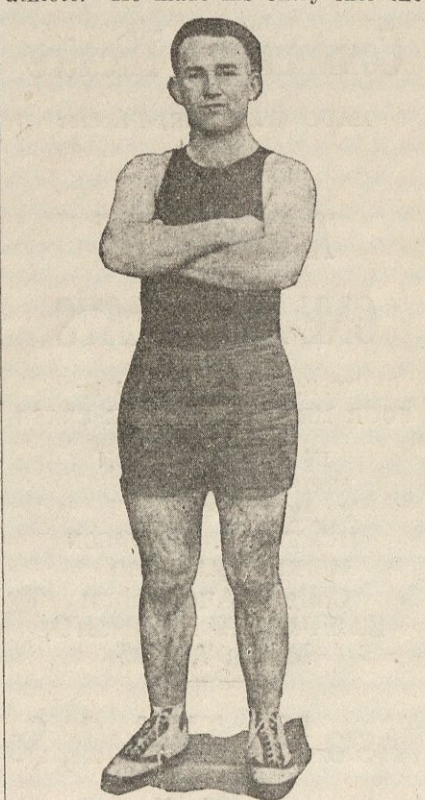

KING, MORPHEW and LACY
Glady King who played two years in the Pittsburg High School, Maudie Morphew, who was a two year player on the Roxton High School team, and Mattie Lee Lacy, who was on the Leonard High School team for two seasons likewise, served as substitutes, and did fine work when given an opportunity. They are expected back next year, and because of their present determination, speed, and general technique, as well as because of their experience, they are expected to be regulars on the squad.

MARGARET BEVILLE
Margaret Beville, who was recently elected May Queen by an overwhelming majority, was forward on this year's team, and played a snappy game, according to her coach. She came from Paris High School, where she played on the high school team. She got her first experience in Petticoat on the high school team, where she was captain and forward. She is a freshman in college.

MAMIE BOLIN
Mamie Bolin, veteran on the team who has been here three years and who will graduate with an A. B. degree in June, started her basketball career which was to culminate here in Van Zandt county, where she played for three years. She later attended Paris High School, where she graduated. She played on the Paris team. In 1922 she came to E. T. and has made the team for three straight

Holley Valuable Man to The School

Among the students in attendance at the College now who have aided materially in making student life on the campus a profitable one is Carl Holley. Holley came here from Sulphur Springs, where he was a very popular student, and an all round athlete. He made his entry into the College life here by making fullback on the E. T. football team four years ago, and was one of the best backfield men on the team, making many spectacular runs, and playing a consistent game.

That started his record. He has since made letters in football, playing on the team four years, and has to his credit letters in basket ball, baseball and track. At the completion of his work in the third year, he was awarded the loving cup for being the best all round freshman in his class. He has served as president of many organizations, is now president of the Senior class, has taken the lead in several college plays, served last year as business this year in the same capacity.

During the school term of 1923-24 he was elected, the most popular man in school, and well deserved it, according to the many comments which followed his receiving that honor.

Holley will receive his degree this coming June, and will complete four well rounded years of work in this institution, during which he has taken part in all types of student activities.

ATHLETIC SHOW THURSDAY NIGHT

Boxing, wrestling, weight lifting, and a battle royal were the features of the Athletic show pulled off in the gymnasium Thursday night by Milton Dyer, boxing coach, who has been conducting a boxing class for several terms. All of the fights were snappy, and those who were members of Dyer's class won the majority of contests staged.

Dyer states that he intends to put on an athletic show next term that will include some of the best athletic talent ever presented in the school.
