Young Pianist, Brilliant, Star Attraction, To Play Here Wed. Night At 8:00 In Auditorium

Civic Music Invites College Students and Engineers To Lyceum

Sidney Foster, young, enthusiastic, will play in concert here December 15 in the Ferguson auditorium under the auspices of the Commerce Civic Music Association.

The concert is scheduled for 8:00 p. m. All college students and engineering students are welcome.

Foster's presentations for the night will include the Bach-Liszt, Organ Prelude and Fugue in A minor; Schumann's Carnaval and the Danse Rituelle and Sacra Monte by Turina.

CHAPIN'S SONATA

He will play Chopin's Sonata in B minor of which the New York Herald Tribune critic once said, "His interpretations of this sonata revealed him to be a thoughtful, highly intelligent musician, whose interpretations were admirably proportioned and poised."

Other offerings on the program will be Harmonica Player by Guion, Sonata by Dello Joio and the Nails Waltz by Delibes-Dohnanyi.

Three Carnegie Hall Concerts in three years has placed Foster as a pianist of brilliant qualities. His recital programs are among the most carefully planned and effectively executed now before the public.

It is said of Foster that his general appearance gives the impression that he is much younger than middle twenties. He is of medium height, slim build, pleasant and unassuming in manner.

MADE DEBUT IN DALLAS

An interesting sidelight on one of his early orchestral appearances is when he was engaged to play with the Dallas Symphony. This was in 1939 and Foster considers it his real "debut." The engagement was secured for him through the efforts of the conductor of the Orchestra who had the greatest confidence in the newcomer's ability. His confidence was justified in more ways than one. This same conductor later became Foster's brother-in-law!

HOBBIES GALORE

Foster has many interests other than his music though, with three or four hours of practice a day, plus an increasingly busy schedule of concerts and recitals, he doesn't have much time to keep them up. Photography is his chief hobby and his picture-taking is both interesting and artistic. He enjoys sports but finds little time to participate actively. He plays a fast, business-like game of bridge with no "post mortems, please"—and a cagey, scientific game of chess. He's also interested in cooking and, among his friends, is famous for his tasty dish of Sukiyaki.

A young man with imagination, Sidney Foster is never at loss for something interesting to do. And this imagination carries over into his music, often resulting in a little judicious improvising now and then—improvising of which the audience is scarcely aware, so well does he blend it into his programmed work.

"These university professors don't know a thing. Why, not one of them could teach anything else and get away with it. They're just dumb. They ought to get a whole new teaching staff."

"Yeah, I flunked, too."

ETSTC Group Gives Greenville Lions Club Program Thurs. Night Fling, Johnson and Ensemble Appear

The Commerce Lions Club presented the program for the Annual Lion and Lioness banquet in Greenville Thursday night.

Presenting the program to approximately 250 people were Dr. H. H. Fling, guest speaker, the ETSTC String Quartet, under the direction of Gilbert R. Waller, and Prof. Roy Johnson, soloist.

Held in the Hotel Washington, the affair was the annual Ladies' Night. Prof. J. G. Smith was in charge of the Commerce group.

In his address which was "A Recipe for Life," Mr. Fling emphasized four points. They were (1) Happiness is for sale; (2) See your product; (3) An unforgettable character; and (4) A look back. He said "Happiness is like a silver glory on the counters of the world. It may be purchased with the bright coins of self-forgetting."

A double quartet, a string ensemble, and a violin solo with an accompaniment, under the direction of Gilbert R. Waller, will be presented.

The special music for the occasion was "The Shepherd's Lottery," "Dark Eyes," "The Elves Dance," and "Interlude in Modo Antico."

Prof. Roy J. Johnson, soloist, sang "Uncle Rome," and "Where'er You Walk."

Mary Jane Overall, Marjean Clark, Lt. Adams, Nellie White, Lura Bess Hughes, Mary Wheatly, and Olma Broadfoot were ETSTC students who composed the string ensemble.

Seventh Grade Run Errands, Contribute To Junior Red Cross

Members of the seventh grade in the Training School ran errands last week for 10 cents per trip. The money was contributed to the Junior Red Cross.

The students contributed their time between 8:30 a. m. and 3:00 p. m. Monday through Friday. This is one of many efforts to raise money for the fund.

Yuletide's Betimes Arrival Clings To Tradition, Color

With the post office department notifying us to mail all gifts by December 10, with most Yule presents for overseas having been mailed nearly a month ago, and with Christmas cards arriving daily from fantastic dream worlds across the seas, Christmas has come early to East Texas State.

Already sparkling evergreens are being decorated and erected on the campus and in shop windows. Girls are feverishly counting their pennies for that all-important gift, if it is not already tenderly wrapped in holiday clothing.

Even old man weather seems to feel the holiday spirit in the air and has called up the frosty checked north wind to blow us a good seasonal "norther" and create an appropriate mood. A

Commerce Civic Music Association Is Very Valuable To Patrons

In the spring of 1939 Commerce, Texas gained the unique distinction of being the smallest city in the United States to have a Civic Music Association. In this, the fourth season, they maintain this distinction, and too have the opportunity to bring outstanding artists to the ETSTC campus in spite of war conditions and gasoline shortages.

A membership drive is staged each spring and since the concerts are for members only, it is necessary for a thorough canvass of the town for music lovers to join the association. The season membership costs $5—for a series of four concerts here with reciprocity with other associations in nearby cities.

A membership of 300 townspeople was attained this year. Paris usually sends a delegation to each of our concerts and Commerce members attend many of the Paris programs. College students merely present their activity tickets at the door and enjoy all the concerts free of charge.

Star Gazers Meet

The December meeting of the Star Gazers was held Monday, December 6, at the home of Mary Ann Windell.

The vice-president, Yvonne Echhart, presided over the program. The program was as follows: The Development of the Radio, William Evans; piano solo, Lura Bess Hughes, and a Christmas story told by Mrs. Emily Barry Walker.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, after which the meeting adjourned.

Her kisses were so loud, they were called Sexaphones.

FRIAR ON INDEPENDENT

In the November 19th issue of the East Texan an article on the history of the Independent Association listed Steve Matthews and Jim Cantrell as early leaders of the party. It has been brought to the attention of the East Texan that both were Friars. Information for the article was gained from Professor Claude V. Hall, well informed on the school's political history, who points out that these particular students were active leaders, although probably not members of the National organization of the Independents, besides being members of the Friars. Apologies are offered to both clubs.

Commerce Rotary Gives Resolutions For Lt. McCrary

In the unerring providence of God, He has, for reasons beyond the human mind to understand, deemed it proper to take from the home of one of beloved members and his wife, Lt. J. W. McCrary, Jr. and their daughter-in-law, Gussie Lee, their son and husband, John, and to gather him to Himself in the Glory Land. We greatly rejoiced with our friends when this son and husband joined the United States Air Force and wished for him a long and prosperous life that he might be a servant of men in this world, but since our Heavenly Father willed it differently, we bow in humble submission, recognizing that there is wisdom in His purpose. However our hearts are made sad that these parents and wife were not permitted to keep their loved one until he grew to a ripe age. Therefore:

Be it resolved that we extend to Lt. and Mrs. J. W. McCrary, Jr. and their daughter-in-law, Gussie Lee, the heart-felt sympathy of the Rotary Club and assure them of our fellow-suffering with them in this sad hour.

Be it also resolved that we commend them to the grace and abiding love of the great Father of us all, that He may extend to them heavenly comfort as they pass through this Valley of Tears. Be it further resolved that copy of these resolutions be spread on the minutes of the Rotary Club, a copy be given to the parents, Lt. and Mrs. J. W. McCrary Jr., a copy be given to the wife, Mrs. John W. McCrary the Third, and copy be sent to our local paper, The Commerce Journal.

Respectfully submitted,
COMMERCE ROTARY CLUB.

Cageball At Ruston Will Be Resumed

RUSTON, La. — (Special) — Louisiana Tech will resume inter-collegiate basketball activities, at least for the 1943-44 season, Head Coach Joe Aillot has announced. The action was taken following the recent decision of the state board of education to remove, temporarily, its ban on intercollegiate athletics among state-supported colleges for the duration of the war.

Aillot has pared the squad from 35 candidates to 16 men. Of that number, 15 are marine trainees and one is a naval trainee of the V-12 unit at Tech.

Most of the players have performed on outstanding college teams of Texas. Fourteen of the 16 cagers are from the Lone Star state, one is from Louisiana and one is from Illinois.

Pvt. Duane Phillips of Texarkana, Texas, forward and center; Pvt. Joe Walser of Quanah, Texas, forward, and Pvt. Travis Bruce of Blossom, Texas, forward, all formerly of East Texas State.

DUTCH ON STARCH DIET

Brown beans and potatoes are the only staple foods left for the Dutch to eat. Compared with pre-invasion figures, the cultivation of brown beans has increased more than 400 per cent, and consumption of potatoes has more than doubled. Although the cultivation of agricultural products in general has increased by 45 per cent during the war years, these products are destined mainly for "export" to the Reich.

Franklin County Is Debt Free; Collects Delinquent Taxes

For the first time since President Cleveland's second term, Franklin county is free of debt, Treasurer Erbert Palmer, former ETSTC student, announced this week.

Palmer, former journalism student at ETSTC, is advertising this week for all holders of county warrants to present them for immediate payment. Franklin county had been in the red for 50 years, Palmer said, and at one time county warrants there were worth only 25 cents on the dollar.

Collection of delinquent taxes was the chief item in getting the county out of debt, Treasurer Palmer said.

The 90th College Training Detachment at Stillwater has a Frankenstein. He is MacCrud, the traditionally friendly "Willing Frank" who, upon becoming a flight lieutenant, turns into a snarling, traitorous, booby-trap sort of fellow. "Hannibal Hack" columnist created him.

Approximately 1,506 enlisted men have been graduated from the Army Specialized Training Program and have been assigned to a wide variety of responsible duties on nearly all arms and services of the Army the War Department announced recently.

For the first eleven weeks, the total demerits given in Co. A ASTU at Oklahoma A and M numbered 879. Considering the company strength at 250 men, this figure is well below average.

The ASTU Cagers stationed at Sam Houston State Teachers College won their fifth and sixth consecutive basketball games this week by winning over the college teams by scores of 9-21 and 74-24.

The Second Flight of Upperclassmen from Squadron A at WTSTC took to the air last week for their first forty-five minute lesson. Their new mascot, Snafu—a woolly brown pup waited on the ground for each group.

Capt. Bill Wright Missing In Action In Asiatic Theater

Captain Bill Wright, 23, son of Jim Wright of Commerce and holder of the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal with Oak Leaf Clusters, has been reported missing in action in the Asiatic theatre of operations since Dec. 1, the WarDepartment informed his father late Tuesday.

Captain Wright, a graduate of the ETSTC Training School and a former student of ETSTC, had been in the U. S. Army Air forces for nearly three years, relatives here said, and had been stationed in India for about 19 months when reported missing.

He has been the recipient of several citations in addition to his decorations for flights over enemy territory and was promoted to the rank of captain about 90 days ago.

The telegram received from the war department follows: "The Secretary of War desires . . . to express his deep regret that your son, Capt. Bill Wright, has been reported missing in action since one December in the Asiatic area. If further details or other information are received you will be promptly notified."

Capt. Wright has another brother, S-Sgt. James Wright, stationed with the air forces in Florida.

Spanish Refugee Is Visitor In Commerce

The week-end preceding the Thanksgiving recess Miss Grace Quinby of the Training School faculty had as guests Jack Goodier and Benigno Fernandez, two Dallas junior high school boys. Benigno Fernandez is a refugee from Spain whose father, a lieutenant, was killed in the Spanish civil war and whose mother with Benigno and a younger son then escaped into France where they lived for five and a half years. They were living in France when Germany took that country and were then placed in a German concentration camp where the mother probably still is.

Benigno and his brother were two of the seventeen Spanish refugee children admitted into the United States by the Rockefeller Foundation. Children so admitted must be in perfect health, must be bright and willing to learn, have a good personality, be presentable and well-behaved. On the journey to America all the refugee children in that group spent two weeks in the international colony in Oran and a month in a similar colony in Casa Blanca. Upon arrival in New York a year ago last April they were placed in an international school for three months to learn the English language. Of this experience Benigno, his expressive eyes shining, smilingly and emphatically says, "There I heard every language under the sun. At first we could not understand anyone except those of our own nationality, but soon all of us could understand each other's broken English a little."

From New York these children were sent to various cities over the United States. Benigno and his brother were sent to Dallas where they have lived in several good homes. At present Benigno is living with the E. J. Goodier family, friends of Miss Quinby. He is a most likeable boy and fills a warm place in the hearts of this family and all his friends.
