It looks like the jinx pays upon the State Teachers College this season. It stays with them as well when it does visit them that they are unable to run up a single score.

A broken arm is tough luck, but two broken arms is worse.

What has become of the old fashioned yell leader who used to be the center of attraction at an athletic event?

Penmanship is a good football man, but why does he look so "shaky"?

Christmas can be celebrated without Holly, but can't T. play football without Holly?

The more humane a football team is, the more it is admired, but as football can't stand foot play, and Pat wins our applause.

Some folks never know when they are shipped. Dallas U. is going to play Durant Normal next Friday, although they were defeated last week 3-0 on Ochsita College, and last year the Durant Normal cleaned up on them.

Casey Reinsel won't go to the post house for some time now after that honor he got Wednesday in the slush.

The world series is on in full array. It opened Wednesday with the New York Giants playing the New York Giants, and despite the fact that most of us know how it was going to go, got fooled when the Giants got a runner in the ninth, making the score 4-1 in their favor. Next time we will try to make a better guess.

The Mustangs of S. M. U. play soccer with the Austin College. Gary Kearns Wednesday with a score amounting to 19 to 2. The Kangaroos have been considered the stars of S. M. U. and the Mustangs were fighting doubly hard to break the spell of the jinx. They did it.

The Mustang Fish have taken up our fight with Burlington, and they are going to get even with them Friday for defeating us.

Some interesting games for the near future.

WALSH THINKS YANKS TO HAVE BIT ADVANTAGE

GIANT PLAYERS DO NOT KNOW NEW, STADIUM SHADOWS AND MAY AFFECT PLAY.

BY DAVID J. WALSH

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 1.—In line with the current practice of flinching before the Yanks, the ankle hold a definite advantage over the Giants in the matter of familiarity with the playing field. Having used the Polo Grounds as their home for a number of years, the Yanks are fully aware of its physical peculiarities. One cannot say that the same for the Giants in connection with the Yankee stadium.

They have never played as much as a half midget on the stadium and although they have been in the game some familiarity with its contour by means of a workout there on Wednesday, it is altogether probable they will slip in the opening game with barely a general idea of what to expect in the way of lights and shadows. No one can learn the stadium's features in a single day.

In the first place, its triple deck grandstand throws a deeper shadow over the infield than any other park in the country. This may prove a decided handicap to Giant outfielders in the efforts to judge fly balls, particularly late in the afternoon.

These worries may also find some difficulty in moving the batted ball in front of the stands in left and right field, a feature that does not prevail at the Polo Grounds nor at any other National league field, the writer remembers. The outfielder, chasing a long fly, might very easily be thrown out of stride by sudden inclines where his feet had been led to expect level ground.

It took George H. Ruth, the well known outfielder, months to acclimatize himself to the most peculiar light fall within the country.

COMMERCE HIGH WINS FROM COOPER

The Commerce High School football squad yesterday added another victory to what promises to be the most successful year in the history of local high school athletics. The Commerce boys took the field confident of victory, but not over confident, rather they carried a determination to win with the knowledge that they could.

The local boys outweighed their opponents by fifty pounds to the man. Despite this the Cooper boys set up a determined, and desperate fight to the finish. The Commerce boys won their victory to superior skill and training. This does not mean that they did not fight, for anyone who saw the game will tell you that they put up a wonderful exhibition of fight from start to finish.

As a result of this victory, Coach Barrette's men climbed a step higher in the "league" ladder. League standing and the boys are determined to continue to climb. They meet Sulphur Springs here next Saturday night when it is expected to be one of the hardest games of the year. The boys from Commerce county have defeated the local eleven several times in past and the boys are going there with victory and courage.

The game here yesterday served to show that Barrette has a wealth of first class reserve material. In the last half several second string men displayed some excellent football.

Commerce's first defeat at the Cooper boys' hands came in the last game of the season, making many beautiful plays, as well as a rippling of the Commerce line once in a while for considerable gains. Wilson also showed up well on defense.

Carl Prim and Roy Flint were easily the stars for Commerce although it seems little unfair to name anyone as a star on a team of which every member gave his best and played stellar football. Prim bucked over the first touchdown after a series of punners and a pretty twenty-five yard end run by himself. Flint kicked the goal and thus ended the first half.

EAST TEXAS LIONS AGAIN TASTE DEFEAT

The East Texas Lions met the Burlington Bruins in the city stadium in Greenville last Saturday. These two sides one of the hardest fought games in the history of football. Just as the game started Carl Holey, E. T.'s quarterback, received the piggins and started to make a run when he stumbled, and before he could recover his balance several of the Burlington boys had piled on him and to the tackle that followed Holey got a broken arm. This is a great loss to the team, not to a great extent, as capable for the loss of "Holey" alone, which is a serious blow to the East Texas Lions.

The game was characterized by several puns which landed outside the stadium. Little Holey Jack, Norris played a game like which was never seen on a gridiron before. Not a single man got around Holey Jack, and the Bruins set all kinds of traps for this way lion, but they were never able to capture him.

In the first quarter Burlington made a touchdown and were successful in their try for point. Then again in the third quarter they made another touchdown, bringing the score to 13-0 in favor of the Bruins, and thus the score stood at the end of the game.

The line-up for E. T. was as follows: Pits, L. E. Spencer, L. T. Henry, L. E. McGill, C. Pressell, R. O. Bridges, R. O. Power, J. R. H. Holey, P. T. H. Wimsley, R. H. Morris, L. H. Franklin, Q. B. Patrick, R. E. Norwood, R. E.

"Shorty" the finest quarterback of the Lions had the misfortune to break his arm in the game with Burlington last Saturday. This will keep him out of the game the rest of the season, which should have been his last if the Lions will be severely hit by the loss.

When It Rains It Pours

Speaking of a "jinx" it is not with the Lions this season it never was with the Philadelphia ball club. In addition to the loss of "Shorty" at Burlington Carl Holey, first string quarterback, sustained a broken arm that puts him out of the game for the remainder of the season. Many other players received minor injuries.

SULPHUR SPRINGS BEAT GRENVILLE

Sulphur Springs High School defeated Greenville at Hillsboro on Saturday by the score of 26-0. The game was hard fought, but the Home county team seems to have hit the best of it from the start. Commerce High will play Sulphur Springs at that place next week.

Kid Party

When the girls of E. C. decide to have a good time, all they need to do is to dress as kids and get together. Wednesday night, over two hundred girls, supposed ages from six to twelve, gathered at the gymnasium about seven-thirty. The party was given by the upper class girls in honor of the lower class girls.

From seven-thirty until nine o'clock the time was spent in games that little girls always like, such as:

Drop the handkerchief, ring around the may, leap frog, stiff starch, tag, pinos, etc.

Little Winnie Miller, with her dancing, and little Marjorie Blankwood, with her songs and piano added much to the fun. While the speeches by little Stella Draper, Little Jimmie Lee Lutz, and little Noble McKinley were very much appreciated.

After the refreshments of apples and candy, all gathered around the piano to learn a new song and sing old ones.

Girls, let's do again!

Who leads you gently to the door,
And says, "You should have gone before,"
And then stands there and begs for more?
I wonder.

"All out of end of the line," the young lady remarked as she told her last joke.
"What would you do if I kissed you?"
"I'd call my brother."
"How old is he?"
"Two years."

Little Johnny visited his uncle on the farm for the first time and saw many interesting things, among them being the operation of milking a cow.
"Now, do you know how uncle gets milk?" asked Johnny's aunt.
"Sure," he answered. "He gives her some breakfast food, then a drink of water, and drains her crank case."

Fish: No was it tall?
Sophy: Well, no, only the balloons got between us and the sun.

Chicken in the shell.
"How's the grub here?" a new boarder asked genially, rubbing his hands, at the dinner table of a boarding house.
"Well sir, we have chicken every morning for breakfast" as old boarder fairly beamed.

"Chicken every morning?" and how is it served?
"In the shell," stressed the old boarder.

A Gentleman's Reply.
The fire eating colonel had received a letter which consumed him with rage, but this was his noble reply:
"Sir, my stenographer, being a lady, cannot transcribe what I think of you. I believe a stenographer cannot think of it. But you, being neither, will understand what I mean."

Stag Social

The Y. M. C. A. entertained the young men of the College with a stag social in the College gymnasium Tuesday night. The fun started when the college boys, and a great number of good peppy women were sent. There were games, games on hand some of them were so funny that even Mr. Winston laughed right out at the way the boys carried them out.

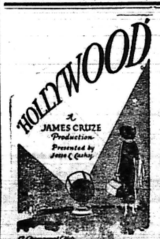

Mr. Winston made up a wonderful address on "The Marks of Real Manhood," and it is he emphasized the value of an organization like the "Y" in training one for the right kind of manhood.

Mr. McCollum also made up an address on the practical values of the Y. M. C. A. and again outlined the courses for study which the "Y" offering and in the close of the meeting there were several young men who signed up for both the Y. M. C. A. and the Study Courses.

At the conclusion of Mr. McCollum's talk, refreshments were served and a general good time was had by all who were present. This is just the first of a series of parties which the Y. M. C. A. plans to sponsor and it is your own loss if you do not attend the next one.
