Recreation center construction bid okayed by board

By KEVIN P. COX
East Texan Editor

The ET Board of Regents' acceptance of a $1.075 million construction bid to build a physical education instruction/recreation center was among three related projects the board dealt with during its Friday meeting on campus.

The other construction matters were authorization of a contract to be negotiated for construction of a storm drainage system for the Performing Arts Center site, and approval of preliminary plans for renovation of Binnion and Henderson halls.

For story on non-construction related items approved by the board Friday refer to page two. A story specifically about the renovation of Henderson and Binnion halls is on page eight.

The bid and proposal accepted for the physical education center was presented by Haws & Garrett General Contractors, Inc., of Dallas-Fort Worth, in cooperation with the architectural engineering firm of Kirk-Voich-Gist of Fort Worth.

The $1.075 million center, which will be named in memory of the late ET board member Joseph Zeppa, is scheduled to be completed in 280 days.

Before approving the bid, W. Garland Button, board chairman, told the board that Dave Braden, president of the Texas Society of Architects, had informally advised him that the society might file a lawsuit against the board if the board approved the bid of Haws & Garrett.

Button said Braden disapproved of the designer/builder construction concept presented by the Dallas-Fort Worth firm for construction of the $1.075 million center.

In the designer/builder construction concept, a firm construction cost is submitted at the same time that preliminary design plans for construction are considered, thus permitting the client, such as ET, to know the construction cost of a particular plan at the time it is submitted.

This is the first time that ET has elected to construct a building using the designer/builder concept rather than the traditional arrangement of a separate architect and contractor.

In the traditional architect and contractor arrangement, a firm construction bid is not sought until a final architectural plan is accepted by the client.

After the board meeting, Button told reporters he did not expect Braden's organization to file a suit as a result of the board's decision to accept the Haws & Garrett bid.

During discussion of the bid and the lawsuit threatened by Braden, Button told the board members, "It won't be the first time we've gone to the courthouse," if the TSA files suit.

"If the Texas Society of Architects want to contest us (board), then we'll have the attorney general defend us and see where we go from there," Button added.

"I can't permit this board to be dictated to by anyone," the chairman declared.

ET President F. H. McDowell told the board that the university has checked three times with the office of Atty. Gen. John Hill to determine whether acceptance of the designer/builder concept by a state institution is legal. Each time the university was told the system was legal, President McDowell said.

Specifications submitted to the four competing firms by ET outlined functional requirements of the building which were to be incorporated at a cost not to exceed $1.075 million.

While the bids of all four competing firms reflected that figure, only the winning bidder incorporated all of the required components in its design.

Major components of the center include an olympic-size swimming pool and separate diving well; eight handball courts, an eight-lane bowling alley, an exercise room, and dressing rooms.

"I am firmly convinced we would not be getting all the items if we'd

Case tried in Dallas federal court

First discrimination suit against ET exonerates university of charges

By KATHY DOVE
Staff Writer

ET and the ET Board of Regents were found not guilty on all charges in the first discrimination case against the University Monday, Oct. 6, by Federal Judge Sarah T. Hughes in Northern Federal Court in Dallas.

The case, which stemmed from an alleged discrimination in August of 1972, could have cost the university a sizable amount in back pay, according to Bill Prewett, director of university personnel.

Weldon R. Daniel, former ET student, charged the university with reverse discrimination, saying that as a white male he was discriminated against when a job he applied for was given to a black female.

In the civil action, Judge Hughes exonerated ET on all points of law. Daniel asked for attorneys fees, back pay, reinstatement to the position, and charged that ET's affirmative action plan which is designed to increase job opportunities for minorities and women was discriminatory.

Daniel first filed a complain in August, 1972, with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, charging that his rights under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, barring job discrimination, had been violated.

Daniel, who have been a student employe in the bindery section of the library for approximately two years, applied for a job as assistant serials librarian when the position was created.

Arraignment of former ET student set

Arraignment of four former Texas Highway patrolmen, including a former ET student, who were charged with the Caddo Mills State Bank robbery, will be held at 1 p.m. Monday, Oct. 20, in the District Court in Greenville.

Charged with the Sept. 17 robbery and kidnapping of the bank president's daughter, Mrs. Cherrie Johnson, are Donald Ray Morris, Tommy Lee Deal, George Patton Marshall, and Kenneth Aubrey Hinshaw.

Morris, 35, Rockwall senior, was a political science major at ET. He withdrew from school Oct. 3.

The four were earlier indicted by the Hunt County grand jury for aggravated robbery with a deadly weapon and aggravated kidnapping. They escaped with $15,775, which was later recovered.

Bonds were set at $100,000 each and all four are prisoners in the Hunt County jail.

Morris and Hinshaw were state troopers assigned to Rockwall County, and Deal, a former trooper and former chief of police at Webster, worked in a Houston area sporting goods store at the time of the robbery. Marshall, also a former state trooper, worked in the identification division of the Dallas County sheriff's office.

Deal and Marshall were chased and captured by Caddo Mills citizens shortly after the robbery, and Morris was arrested the next day after he was seen by Caddo Mills citizens on the chase route.

Hinshaw was arrested eight days later after an investigation by the Texas Rangers and the Department of Public Safety.

According to Prewett, the university was looking for someone with a master of sciences degree in library science to take the $8,000 a year job. Daniel had never taken a library science course.

A ruling on Nov. 5, 1973, by the EEOC found no cause of discrimination by ET against Daniel.

Daniel then filed a class action suit in federal court. The class action meant that Daniel was suing on behalf of all white males. Later Daniel changed it to an individual action.

While the case was pendin, Daniel returned to ET and worked toward his masters degree. He worked as a student employe during this time.

The summons of civil action notifying ET that it was being sued was given to then Vice President of Administration W. L. Kelley and was taken by Prewett to Texas Attorney General John Hill, who represents all state institutions in legal matters.

After over a year of postponements, ET was notified that the trial would begin Sep. 22. Mrs. Robbie House, serials department head; Arthur Hendrix, acquisitions department head; and Prewett were all subpoenaed and were sworn in on that day.

The trial itself did not begin until Oct. 6 and lasted one day.

According to Prewett, Daniel may now appeal to the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans within 30 days of ude Hughes' ruling.

During Friday's meeting of the Board of Regents, ET President F. H. McDowell reported that no suits were pending against ET but that some threats had been made concerning denial of tenure and promotion.

Weather forecast

Cold front will push through Commerce Wednesday morning. There is a slight chance of rain showers Wednesday as cooler, drier air collides with warm, moist air. Winds will shift to the north at 10-15 mph. Temperatures—low Wednesday morning near 70; high Wednesday afternoon near 82; low Thursday morning near 60. Clearing by Wednesday night.

Forecast for Commerce and ET is based on the opinion of Michael Mhoon.

Regents modify retirement policy

By KEVIN P. COX
East Texan Editor

Modification of an existing retirement policy to prevent employment or re-employment of ET personnel who have reached age 70 was among 12 non-construction related items approved by the ET Board of Regents Friday during its meeting on campus.

The present policy, which is effective until Nov. 9, was modified by deleting the phrase, "on a full-time basis," in the reference to continued or initial employment at ET after reaching 70 years of age.

Under present policy, an individual can be re-hired on a part-time basis after age 70. But the newly approved policy sets the mandatory retirement age at 70, regardless of abilities or length of service with the university.

The policy approved by the board states that "retirement on September first following the individual's birthday is automatic . . ." and also states, "presently employed part-time faculty members over the age of 70 years will be allowed to complete present contracts terminating in May, of 1976."

There are currently two ET faculty members who will be directly affected by the modified policy. The two are Dr. Paul Barrus, Professor Emeritus of Literature and Languages, and Dr. Arthur Smith, Distinguished Professor of Economics-Finance.

The board also approved a plan for allocating the $4 per semester hour building use fee. According to the plan, $2.82 of each $4 will help retire bonds which were used to construct residence halls and the Student Center; 60 cents to retire 1975-75A Series

U.S. judge threatens to close Dallas jail

DALLAS (AP) U.S. District Court Judge Sarah T. Hughes has ordered Dallas County commissioners to eliminate overcrowding in the county jail or she will close the facility "to any additional inmates until the situation is corrected."

Judge Hughes said, "There is an insufficient number of bunks and men are sleeping on the floor; there is an insufficient number of guards to provide minimum security, thus creating a serious security problem."

She told the commissioners to come up with a plan by Feb. 1, 1976.

The judge said, "The sheriff is specifically directed to report on the capacity of the jail and the number of daily inmates from Jan. 15, 1976 to Feb. 1, 1976, and the sufficiency of security measures."

Combined Fee Revenue Bonds which are funding some projects now under construction; and 58 cents to retire 1968 and 1969 Series Student Fee Revenue Bonds which funded construction of the Business Administration Building, Student Services Building, a library addition, and improvements of the physical education facilities.

In other action, the board:

—ratified contracts for deposit in James Gee Library of the personal collections of public papers of U.S. Rep. Ray Roberts and Texas State Sen. A. M. Aiken, Jr.

—approved guidelines for administration of the Texas Public Education Grants Program to provide financial aid to students.

—authorized additions and transactions in operating budgets at ET at Commerce and ET at Texarkana.

—authorized deletions and additions in the ET 1975 Summer Faculty Budget.

—approved longevity pay for commissioned law enforcement officers in the Office of Traffic Safety and Security, the largest annual adjustment being $384, in compliance with House Bill 218, 64th Legislature.

—approved curriculum changes for the ET catalogs, including the addition of 55 new courses, 26 at the graduate level, and the deletion of 104, 47 of them graduate courses.

—granted requests for the masters of science degree in both French and Spanish, primarily for the preparation of skilled language teachers (ET has granted the master of arts degree in both areas since 1970).

—approved a new program emphasis in English for the preparation of teachers at the bachelor's degree level and a new interdisciplinary emphasis in geophysics for majors in either physics or earth sciences.

—adopted a resolution congratulating ET President F. H. McDowell on his election as chairman of the Council of Presidents, Texas Public Colleges and Universities.

Security looks into thefts of tape player, calculator

Security officers investigated two thefts this week, one in which charges have been filed and another which is still under investigation.

A stereo-tape player, valued at $240 and stolen from a West Halls apartment on Thursday, Oct. 2, was recovered when Paris police arrested Demetrius Lipscomb, 20, on Wednesday, Oct. 8, and Scott K. Hornburger, 19, on Friday, Oct. 10. Both men, students at Paris Junior College, were transferred to Hunt County Jail and charged with burglary.

A Sears Slide Rule II pocket calculator, valued at $90, was stolen Monday, Oct. 6, from the lounge at the Education South Building. The complainant left the calculator and some books unattended for several minutes, and when he returned, the calculator was gone. Security is investigating the theft.

Larry Dean Eldridge, Commerce freshman, was arrested and charged for resisting arrest early Friday morning, Oct. 10. Security officers had trailed him because his license plates were obscured.

They gave chase when the student ran a stop sign. He was then taken to the city jail and charged with running a stop sign, and with having unclean license plates along with resisting arrest. He was later transferred to Hunt County jail.

Regents okay renovations of two campus landmarks

By SUE RUGGLES

The ET Board of Regents approved preliminary plans to renovate Binnion and Henderson Halls at its meeting held here Friday, Oct. 10.

Cost of the project on the two buildings is estimated at $2,645,500, said Charles Morrow, vice president, Administration.

The Board of Regents decided at its May 2 meeting to renovate these two campus landmarks. Gordon Sibeck and Associates of Dallas was hired to draw up the preliminary plans at that time.

Before the preliminary drawings were completed, each department was contacted individually to give input into the drawings as to what type of offices and the sizes of classrooms it needed.

Now that the preliminary drawings have been approved, the drawings will now be completed and brought back to the board for approval in December. If the completed drawings are approved, the university will start advertising for bids in January, 1976.

Hopefully the bids will be presented in February, 1976, and if approved, construction is anticipated to begin in the later part of March or the early part of April, 1976," said Morrow.

New floor plans for Binnion Hall include:

The west wing of the first floor will contain a Speech and Hearing Clinic, a conference room, a small classroom, and eight therapy rooms with adjoining observation rooms.

The east wing will contain the Continuing Education Department with a conference room, two classrooms that can accommodate 30 students and one classroom that can accommodate 60 students. The rest of the floor will be used for office space.

The west wing of the second floor will house the Counseling and Psychology Department. The east wing will house the Special Education Department with six classrooms which will hold 40 handicapped children and three classrooms which will hold 30 handicapped children. The rest of the floor will be used for office space.

The west wing of the third floor will be the home of the Mathematics Department with two classrooms which will accommodate 60 students and 30 students respectively, and a seminar room. The east wing will be the home of the Psychology and Secondary-Higher Education Department with two classrooms which will accommodate 30 students and one classroom which will accommodate 40 students.

New floor plans for Henderson Hall include:

The south wing of the first floor will be the new home of the Traffic Safety and Security Department. This department will be moved completely from its present location.

The north wing of the first floor will be the new home of the Health Clinic, now called the infirmary. The infirmary will also be moved completely from its present location. The Health Clinic will contain six examining rooms, an X-ray room, a director's office, a doctor's office, and nurses' offices.

The second and third floors will be used primarily for office space by various departments. The third floor will contain some research labs.

A special elevator to accommodate the handicapped will be installed in Binnion and a bridge connecting Binnion and Henderson Halls at the second and third floors will also be installed.

"The outside fire escapes will be removed, and necessary exterior repairs will be done with little changing of the halls' exterior features. Some work will be done on making the entrances more attractive," said Morrow.

The two dormitories were officially removed from the University Housing System in May, 1973, when the demand for on-campus housing had declined and it was no longer feasible to operate them as residence halls, Morrow said.

Binnion Hall was closed in May, 1972 and Henderson closed in May, 1970.

Henderson was constructed in 1939 while Binnion was built in 1948.

Henderson currently houses the school's permanent records and the offices of Continuing Education. The two buildings are occasionally used for meetings and parties.

SAB, Music Dept. host dinner theater

"I Do, I Do," a musical about marriage, will run Tuesday, Nov. 4 through Saturday, Nov. 8.

The musical will be presented as a dinner theater in the Student Center. The Student Activities Board is sponsoring the production with the Department of Music.

"I Do, I Do" is based on "Four Poster," a play by Jan DeHartoght.

Lyrics were written by Tom Jones, and Harvey Schmidt wrote the music.

Carol Cannon, music faculty, will direct the play.

The two-member cast includes Debbie Seay, Paris junior, who will portray Agnes. James Lile, Dallas freshman, will play the part of Michael.

The Nov. 4 performance will be the premiere with no dinner included in the charge. The Nov. 5-8 performances will include dinner.

Sigma Tau Epsilon

12 to be initiated in meeting

Sigma Tau Epsilon, professional industrial education society, will initiate 12 persons during a semi-formal meeting at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 15, in the Coronado Room of the Student Center.

Those to be initiated include Brian Anthony, Roger McLennon, Russell P. Spivy, Clayton Walker, Albert Clark, Reavis Wortham, Ann Therman, Charles Ellison, Lem Miller, Charles Clegg, James Floyd and Robert Frick.

The society will present a Texas Power and Light movie "1999 A.D." through Wednesday, Oct. 15, in the Student Center.

All persons are invited. For information concerning exact times and room, persons may contact the Industrial Technology Office.

No.1 A&I downs ET 36-7

By STEVE WAGGONER
Staff Writer

ET's gridders were stymied in their bid to knock off Texas A&I from its No. 1 NAIA ranking Saturday, Oct. 11, losing 36-7. The Lions will host Abilene Christian College at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 18, at Memorial Stadium.

The Javelina defense held the Lion offense to just 138 total yards, while the A&I offense rolled up 568 yards. ET tailback Aundra Thompson, who was the nation's leading rusher with 195.7 yards a game, was limited to only 56 yards on 18 carries.

ET head coach Ernest Hawkins, who saw his team's record fall to 4-1, said that A&I showed good speed and quickness, but that the Lions didn't play up to their potential.

The Lions started the game with a bang, recovering an A&I fumble on the Javelina 48 yard line, and scoring in six plays. Thompson went the final six yards for the TD.

But it was all A&I for the remainder of the game, with option running and passing of quarterback Richard Richie, who rushed for 52 yards and completed 8 of 14 passes for 184 yards, keeping the "Blue Gang" defense off balance all night.

Running back Larry Collins added 174 yards and a touchdown on 23 carries, while George Franklin had 84 yards and three TDs.

Hawkins attributed the Lions' lack of offense to missed assignments. He said some of ET's better players didn't come through with the blocking job that they had showed in the previous games. ET quarterback Terry Skinner, who hit only two passes in 13 attempts for 17 yards, was under stiff pressure most of the game.

The Lions' inability to convert on third down and short yardage situations hurt, according to Hawkins. He cited the Lions' failure to cash in on a first and goal on the A&I three yard line early in the second quarter.

Abilene Christian enters the ET game with a 24-3 win over Stephen F. Austin. Hawkins added ACC has excellent speed and quarterback Jim Reese throws the ball well. He said the Lions' pass defense hasn't been what he hoped it would be this year, and it will have to improve against ACC.

Hawkins said he may play a few more players this week, but overall he thinks the team has enough character to bounce back from the loss to A&I, and show what it can really do.

Jets nip Barbarians for 'A' lead

By FERRELL FOSTER

The Orange Blossom Special Jets gained sole possession of first place in independent intramural league 'A' football Wednesday, Oct. 8, squeezing past the Barbarians, 7-6.

The win lifted the Jets to a 3-0 record, while the Barbarians dropped to second place with a 3-1 mark.

Neither team could get anything going in the first half, but after stopping the Barbarians on their first possession of the second half, the Jets took over at their 23 and drove 57 yards in 10 plays for the game's first score.

A big fourth down 18-yard pass from Darrell Frost to Danny Lilley gave the Jets a first down at the Barbarian 27.

On fourth down and goal from the eight, Frost ran out of the pocket to score the touchdown. The conversion attempt was good and the Jets led, 7-0.

With two minutes left in the game, the Barbarians finally got their offense cranked up, driving 45 yards in three plays for a touchdown.

The score came on a pass from Bobby Philips to Frank Prillio. Prillio took the pass at the Jet 28, and then pitched the ball to Doug Jones, who streaked down the sideline for the score.

Barbarian hopes for the last minute victory were killed when a Philips pass was batted down by the Jet defense on the conversion attempt, leaving the final score at 7-6.

In other action Wednesday, Sikes upped its record to 2-1 with a victory over the winless Hubbell Volunteers, 26-0; Phi Beta Sigma took its first win of the year, defeating the BSU Thorns on penetrations after battling to a 6-6 tie in regulation time; and the Gold Bars knocked off Raza, 8-2.

Delta Sigma Theta rally clinches softball crown

By ELAINE KRAHL
Staff Writer

A triple by Lavell Williams and a sacrifice fly by Eleanor Harrison of Delta Sigma Theta spelled doom in the sixth inning Thursday for Chi Omega, as the run gave Delta the women's intramural sorority softball championship, 11-10.

Both teams entered the game with identical 6-1 records. Delta Sigma Theta, however, had defeated Chi Omega earlier in the regular season.

The game was close throughout with both teams showing good offensive power, but each had defensive problems. Chi Omega took an early first inning lead on a two-run homer by Ruth Potts. Delta narrowed the margin to 2-1 in the bottom of the first when Deborah Miller singled in Betty Beasley.

Delta exploded in the bottom of the next inning, after a scoreless Chi Omega second with seven runs.

Delta sent 11 batters to the plate in the inning with Harrison's double and a triple by Deborah Miller key hits. A two-base error by Chi Omega allowed two more runs to score, upping the lead to 7-2.

Chi Omega retaliated in the top of the third with five runs. Singles by Marsha Cougan and Brenda Davidson and a walk set the stage for Evonne Cronholm, who doubled in two of the runs. Chi Omega's next three batters singled to account for the remaining three runs, as the score moved to 8-7.

Each team scored an additional run in the fourth inning to keep Delta's lead to 9-8. Chi Omega then moved ahead in the top of the fifth after a single by Cronholm and a two-run homer by Diane Richardson.

Romeria Littleton sent the game into extra innings in the bottom of the fifth with a solo home run, tying the game at 10-10. Winning pitcher Velda Pellow retired three straight Chi Omega batters in the top half of the sixth, enabling Delta to take the victory in the bottom half. Sharon Brooks took the loss for Chi Omega.

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission accepted the historic Navarro House complex in downtown San Antonio as a gift.

The San Antonio Conservation Society donated the three-building complex and pledged to work with the state in maintaining the structures, which date back to the 1850s.

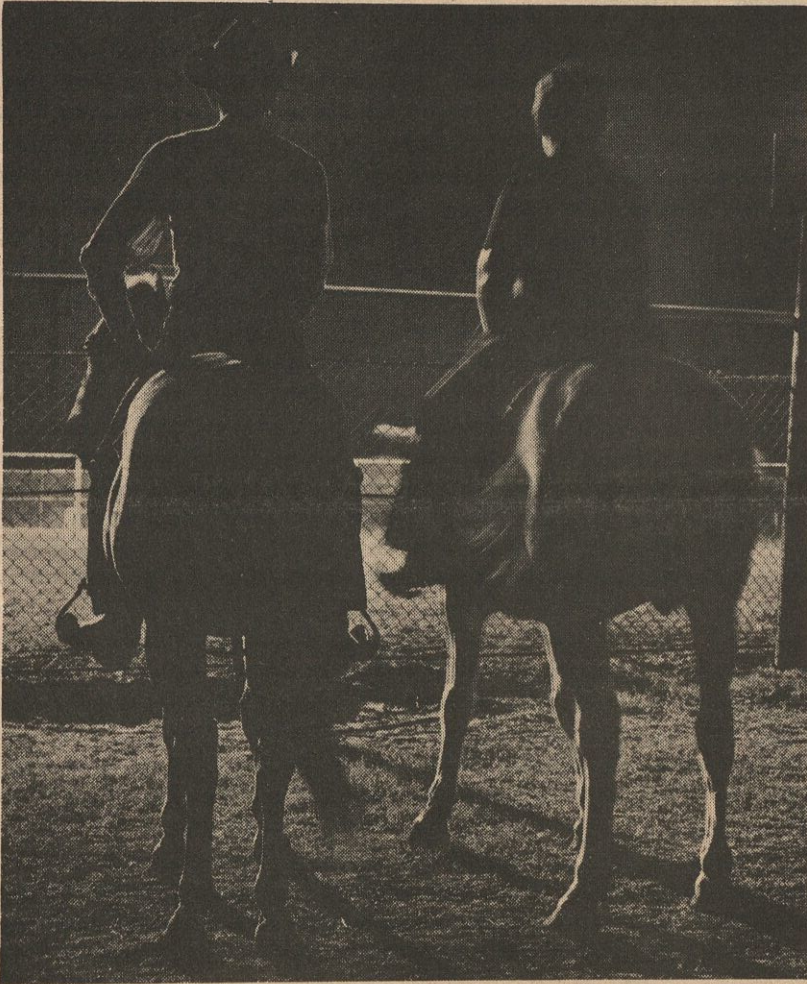

Jose Antonio Navarro was one of two native born signers of the Texas Constitution.

ALREADY THOWN OUT — Chi Omega intramural softball player Diane Richardson goes on and runs it out to first base, despite already being forced out, as Delta Sigma Theta first baseman

Janet Alexander holds the ball. Delta Sigma Theta won the game and the sorority championship Thursday, 11-10.

Schneemann wins rodeo award

Max Schneemann from Tarleton State University won the All-Around Cowboy award during Friday and Saturday nights' ET High School and Collegiate Rodeo.

In bareback competition, Jack Anderson of Tarleton won first place; second and third places were split between Rusty Armstrong of ET and Jeff Price of Grayson County Junior College. Howard York of Stephen F. Austin finished fourth.

ET walked away with the bull-dogging event. Tony Gene Smith came in first; Chip Nicholson, second; Doug Cook, third; and Gene Slack, fourth, all of ET.

In team-roping Max Schneemann and Phillip Harrison of Tarleton finished first; Ralph Harrison and Max Schneemann of Tarleton, second; Mike and Lloyd Carroll of Kilgore College, third; Randy Jennings and Larry Spradlin, both of ET, finished fourth.

Luke Lucas of Tarleton finished first in bull-riding. Mark Gregory, Sulphur Springs High School, second; Larry Bench, Grayson County, third; and Randy Sewart, of ET, finished fourth.

Bobby Zesch of Tarleton was first place winner in the tie-down-calf-roping event. Max Schneemann, Tarleton, placed second; Rickey Roberts, West Texas State, third; Keith Roland, WTS, was fourth.

In fraternity and sorority events, Alpha Gamma Rho finished first in the wild cow milking event and Alpha Delta Pi won the calf dressing event.

The barrel racing has not been decided because of a possible ineligibility of the declared winner.

Spikers flop in tourney; to host TWU

ET's volleyball team competed in its third tournament over the weekend, winning two and losing six games at the University of Houston.

The Lions lost to Texas Tech, 15-7 and 15-2, followed by their only win of the tournament, defeating Midwestern University, 15-10 in both games of the match.

Lamar University beat the Lions, 15-2 and 15-8. ET lost two final games to Abilene Christian, 15-12 and 15-2.

ETT will play Texas Women's University tonight at 7 p.m. in Whitley Gym.

"In order to beat TWU, we can't afford to make any mistakes, coach Samye Johnson said. "We'll have to block and we'll have to make an attack every time we get the ball."

The Lion's Friday, Oct. 17, game against Texas Wesleyan College has been cancelled due to a TWC schedule conflict.

Perot says success not measured by money but by accomplishment

By RONALD GRAY

“Success is doing something you enjoy and doing it well,” H. Ross Perot said to an audience of students and faculty Monday, Oct. 13, in the University Auditorium.

Perot, a businessman and philanthropist, said that success is not only money that is made, but it is also personal accomplishment and personal satisfaction.

The most important thing a person can do to be successful is to be honest with himself and to know himself.

Perot said, “Nobody can know you as well as you know yourself.”

The next thing a person should do, according to Perot, a Texarkana native, is to figure his strengths and weaknesses. The person should then plan his career around the strengths.

Perot, a Naval Academy graduate and former naval officer, told the audience that in choosing a career a person should remain flexible. He said many people become stereotyped in their opinions concerning business and are afraid to change course once they have begun in a business.

In pointing out that people are often afraid to change careers, Perot said that the worst thing that a person can do is to continue in a career which is not satisfying to that person.

He listed four steps which lead to success. The first step is to pick an industry which is attractive to the individual. Perot said that he has discovered that different industries have different personalities. He said a person should pick the industry which fits his own personality.

The second step is to pick a company within that industry which best suits the person.

The third step is to find a job which the person wants. Perot said that a person should choose a job which is so exciting to him that he cannot stand not to do it.

The fourth step is to serve an apprenticeship in the business. Perot said that at his own company, Electronic Data Systems (EDS), even recruits with advanced degrees start at the bottom and work up. In this way, they will know everything about the company when they reach the top.

Perot said it is easier to be successful today because there is more opportunity. Many inventions have already paved the way for business and people to be successful, he said.

Perot said that EDS has no seniority system or political favoritism, but advancement through ability. He said that EDS deals with each person as an individual and as a full partner in the business.

Perot said that to make money a person must not have “making money” as their primary goal. He said that financial success comes as a by-product of skill.

A person should not expect money to come quickly or easily. Perot illustrated his statement by telling of his own experience. He said that though he was considered rich at an early age, it was 16 years before his income exceeded the financial need of his family.

Perot concluded by saying that to be successful a person should learn something, stick with it, do it well, and be involved directly with his business.

gone the other route,” President McDowell said, presumably referring to the traditional arrangement of a separate architect and contractor.

Following acceptance of the bid for the proposed physical education center, the board approved preliminary plans from Gordon Sibeck & Associates, Inc., Dallas architectural firm, for renovation of Binnion and Henderson halls which are being converted to academic and general purpose use.

The Dallas architectural firm was authorized by the board to complete plans for the halls’ renovation and advertise for construction bids when final plans are completed.

The board was informed by Gordon Sibeck that final plans will be completed in December, and the firm will advertise for bids in January, 1976. Sibeck told the board the results of the bid advertising would be presented to it when the board meets again Feb. 6, 1975.

The board had previously budgeted $2.7 million for renovation of the two halls. Sibeck estimates that the base bid for the items to be requested in the renovation project will be $2,443,000. The firm will also request alternate bids for some additional items for the renovation project which will be funded by whatever amount of the budget remains after the base bid is accepted.

The board authorized the University to negotiate and sign a contract with Lakeside Construction Co. of Dallas for construction of the storm drainage system for the Performing Arts Center.

The Dallas construction company’s low bid of $37,552.20 was accepted by the board. Bids for the project opened Sept. 23 at the office of Iconoplex, Inc., a Dallas architectural firm.
