CHEATING

There can be no excuse for cheating on examinations, and cheating cannot be disguised as anything but stealing. This terrible habit has been growing from year to year almost all over the American colleges until at the present the conditions are deplorable. Cheating is the most unpleasant subject upon which to talk or write, but there are times when we absolutely must face the truth.

Banks have vaults with enormous time locks; houses have locks on the doors and catches on the windows; and large shipments of money are carried in armored cars to prevent theft and robbery. Knowledge is not a valuable thing that can be guarded from thieves, mistaken people by steel locks and bars. It can be guarded by your honesty and by making nothing else be turned; by glancing at your neighbor's paper—all of this. The carrying of notes to class for use while the instructor's back is turned cannot be distinguished from the robbery of a bank by a burglar in an armored car. Of course you do not want to be classed with the hardened criminals who rob and steal as a profession; therefore do not weaken and cheat in your search for an education.

Your parents and my parents pay out large sums of money and make innumerable sacrifices to send us to school to collect certain knowledge. If you cheat your way through college, we are starting on the downward path that can end in only one place—prison. If you are guilty of this atrocious habit, beware at once. Make your own way and be sure it is your way.—J. T. C.

FISHPONDS

Wandering around on the campus, a thing strikes one's eye immediately, and detracts greatly from the beauty of the campus—a dirty fishpond. There are many of these, and they are usually situated with the beauty of the rees and well-kept grass, but when they walk around the Main or Industrial Buildings they immediately find the most unattractive place from the point of view of appearance of the ponds. On other campuses one sees beautiful fountains or at least clear ponds for the fish to play in, but they are contemptible by their absence from our campus. It is probably the greater part of the blame for this should rest on the Legislature for scanty appropriations for it, while giving other state-supported institutions liberal sums for upkeep. However, if we wonder why it is not being possible for those in charge of the campus to make some attempt to keep the ponds a bit cleaner.

A feasible effort in this direction was made a few weeks ago when all the ponds were cleaned, but from all appearances that was only their annual spring cleaning, for they are now as foul as ever. Talk up students, and let's try to show our pride. Clearing the debris of the dead trees off the grounds is to be commended, but it would aid the general appearance of the campus if we could have clean and more sanitary fishponds.

IDEAS ABOUT BATH CONSTANTLY CHANGE

Like modes of living, there has been a decided change in the public mind during the past decade with regard to bathing. While chambered and porcelain tub fixtures for bathrooms that marked a big stride forward in sanitation and convenience, problems always arose in a place in home, club and hotel equipment, the public now is demanding facilities for a more modern and scientific method of bathing.

People, old and young alike, have become "bath-minded" as is evidenced by shower bath compartments in homes, fraternity and society houses, clubs and hotels; in fact, wherever bathing facilities are provided. This fact is not at all strange when it is considered that educational development has gone on all over the world has proven the shower bath is the most sanitary and healthful way in which to bathe. The necessity of the shower bath compartment has not thought of bath, such as in the case with who has previously used the other methods of bathing. Instead, he bathes in clean, running water of any desired temperature. He bathes in one strict the time and steps from the shower fixture, refreshed, invigorated and absolutely clean. And, of direct interest to the owners, club managers and hotel proprietors who must pay by the meter rate, the bathed used only one-third the volume of water as compared with the old method of bathing.

The foregoing are only a few of the reasons why shower bath compartments are rapidly gaining in popularity with the public. An outstanding feature of bath compartments, which is made in many sizes and of different

Other Campuses

"Seventeen hundred copies of the $7,000,000 edition of the 1930 Calendar," University Yearbook, were distributed to all many students during the hours from 1:30 o'clock to 3:00 o'clock Saturday night and 9 o'clock Saturday night." But, Dyke, business manager of the University Yearbook, Inc., stated last Saturday night, "The two lines formed outside of B. Hall began at the appointed time. A few were in front of the windows as early as 1:30 o'clock. There was a continuous stream of students pouring into B. Hall on one side with a line equally as large coming out on the other side." As the last part of the line moved up, other students bent upon to fill in the places.

George M. Crutinger, professor of education now on leave of absence studying toward his doctor's degree, has been commended by the faculty of the University of Texas, he has recently sent part of the yearbook to the college which he has tabulated.

Concerning the ages of students, the average age of the youngest being 19 and the oldest 33. Freshmen average 19, the youngest being 14 and the oldest 23. The senior boys average 23, the oldest 48 and the youngest 17. The average for the senior girls was 22.5, the youngest 17 and the oldest 45. Ages of sophomores and juniors are in line with those of freshmen and seniors, the data showed.

C. I. A.

It takes high debts to win out these days, and Wylie and Lincoln, sophomore here last year, tried such a policy herself the other day. In a race for secretary of the student's association at S. M. U., she turned avaricious long enough to circle over the city and drop her campaign literature on the campus.

T. C. L.

Thirteen religious denominations are represented in the student body of Texas Christian University, a recent survey shows. Members of the Christian Church lead, with 378 students representing that faith. The Methodists come next with 258. Two others pass the 100 mark: Baptists with 150 and the Presbyterians with 102. Other faiths represented are: Catholics of Christ—36; Episcopalians, 35; Catholic, 21; Hebrew, 9; Christian Science, 5; Congregational, 2; Unitarians, 1; Lutheran, 1; People's Tabernacle, 1. One hundred and thirty members of no church, while eight students are shown to be information is lacking for the remainder of the enrollment.

S. M. U. Money to burn!

Will money burn? It is the S. M. U. faculty, overpaid? Any of these might be made the title of a picture seen in the Co-op use day this week when Prof. Herbert P. Gambrell, history instructor, was seen torching a lighted match to a crisp dollar bill while he and several other of our profs were lunching.

"Try as he would, Mr. Gambrell could not succeed in lighting the popular scrap of paper. It simply would not burn, despite the professor's evident desire to destroy it. Students, not so well paid, looked longingly at one in such a position that he had 'money to burn' and sighed with relief when the unfortunate one finally gave up the attempt, blew out his match and put the bill back in his pocket.

His motive was not questioned; he only succeeded in proving that "our medium of exchange is not fire-proof." Perhaps it was made thus to insure his safety against people who are hot on his trail.

City To Have Another Miniature Golf Course

One of the most unique, and most perfect miniature golf courses in this section of the country is now under construction on the S. M. Fairies lot on Caddo street, and will probably be open to the public within the next two weeks. This novel play ground consists of a course made up of nine of the most difficult shots that a golfer might meet on any course. The fairways and greens have rolled out perfectly smooth and level course with no defects whatever to mar his shots.

Among the most difficult shots which make the game interesting is what is known as the cannon shot. A dummy cannon is mounted on wheels at the end of a fairway, the large end of the cannon near the fairway. As the player must then endeavor to drive his ball through the upward slanting tube of the cannon, so that the ball will fall into a hole if the shot is short the on the green which is located several feet from the end of the fairway. The large end of the cannon is open, it is claimed to be the youngest person ever to receive a degree form that institution. It is only seventeen years of age, and is the son of Prof. and Mrs. C. W. LaGrone. He will receive a B. A. degree, and has the highest average of any member of the class, having scored a straight A grade. His father is an instructor of mathematics in the college and his mother a teacher in the Commerce high school. Incidentally, his brother Cyrus is also taking a degree the same time at the age of eighteen.

The entire course is finished in a color scheme of white and orange, and will have rustic bridges and shrubs around it to add to its attraction. It will be well lighted and have many seats scattered over the course for the convenience of the players. The new play ground as a whole will be a place of the cleanest amusement, a place where both men and women may come and spend an afternoon or evening playing one of the most fascinating of all sports, golf.

Gregory LaGrone, Youngest Senior

Gregory LaGrone, member of the spring senior class of the East Texas State Teachers College this year, is claimed to be the youngest person ever to receive a degree form that institution.

Students Home Coming Program Is Complete

The Sixth Annual Home Coming at Commerce (East Texas Normal College) will be held in this city, May 23.

This Homecoming is sponsored by the Ex-students Association of the old W. L. Mayo College of Commerce (East Texas Normal College, Now East Texas State Teachers College). This is the fifth Annual Homecoming and some five hundred to a thousand ex-students are expected to attend.

A unique feature of this program will be the old E. T. N. C. Male Quartette which was the college quartette more than 20 years ago. This Quartette is composed of Judge Joel H. Berry, Houston, Pres. S. E. Green, Dallas, W. S. Thomas, Dallas and L. J. James, Greenville. These members were all present and sang at the homecoming last year. This is said to be the oldest Male Quartette in the United States.

The following is a program for that function:

PROGRAM

- A. M.
- 10-00 Meeting Called to Order
- By L. L. James, Greenville.
- 10-05 Song, Lead "by" Dr. J. M. Haddock, Commerce.
- 10-10—Invocation—Rev. E. A. Maness, Commerce.
- 10-15 Roll Call.
- 10-30 Welcome Address—Dr. W. B. Stone, Commerce.
- 11-00 Male Quartette, "The Bridge"—By Old E. T. N. C. Quartette—(Green, Thomas Berry and James).
- 11-10 Response to Welcome Address—Hon. Henry Pharr.

was enacted into a law." "You are advised that it is my opinion that the phrase 'at the time this bill was enacted into a law' means the effective date of the amendment by the Fourth Called Session of the Forty-first Legislature. It is true that the word 'was' is used instead of 'is', but in view of the fact that the act speaks enacted, it is my opinion that the same can refer only to the amendment, which is Senate Bill No. 17, and it is not intended to refer to the original act requiring the teaching of the Constitution."

The effective date of Senate Bill No. 17 is February 14, 1930. This means that no student who entered E. T. or any other state supported institution in Texas prior to February 14, 1930, will be required by law to take a course in the constitution. The particular catalogue he chooses for his degree, however, may require it.

Furthermore, no student, who on September 1, 1929, had completed as much as half of the work required for a bachelor's degree in any institution other than a state supported college or university in Texas is required by law to take Government 215.

tle dokey whistle at the new Library building, and wanted to know why in the world the workmen didn't grease their wheelbarrow. Mr. Curtis Pardo who is terribly energetic, thought that the contractors had hired a cop to keep the concrete carriers from exceeding the speed limit.

Cy Lyland Defeated Evidence that T. C. U. has not gone wild about its star athlete Cy Lyland, comes from the fact that he was defeated in the race for president of the student Council during the recent election held at S. M. U. This would indicate, either that there are more boys at the school than girls or that Cy did not cover the position like his opponent did. No such phenomena will ever be experienced at E. T. because these athlete lovers Women out number the jealous males 3 to 1.

Colleges Are Wet. Although the recent prohibition poll in the Literary Digest showed that the educators if the nation are voting dry, the poll of the Texas Colleges, which was taken recently by the Houston Gargoyle, produces evidence that the students are not influenced by what their educators say. A. E. M., Texas U., Rice, and St. Edwards were all dripping wet. Only the smaller denominational colleges, and the Women's colleges were solidly dry.

Two Local Girls Sing In Morrell Student Recital

A special given by the voice pupils of Weston W. Morrell at the Hawthorn church, Greenville, Tuesday night was attended by a large and very appreciative audience, many going from here. The number who were present was I had showed careful and efficient training. Two Commencement songs were on the program and received hearty applause. Miss Billie McGlasson sang a solo in the first of the two recitals of this number. It was splendid. Miss Miriam Young sang "Il Bacio" in a soprano range. The very brilliant passage of this number were splendidly given.

Miss Johnson Reviews Next Theatre Play

Miss Mary E. Johnson, instructor of the English Department of the East Texas State Teachers College and active in Community Theatre activities, has written a brief article on "Lady Windermere's Fan," the theatre's next production, after having seen a rehearsal of the play.

"Last Sunday morning I witnessed a full rehearsal of 'Lady Windermere's Fan.' It was highly entertaining. Each actor seemed to have entered fully into his part and interpreted his character in good form. We now should see seeing this play, the last number of the Community Theatre's offerings this year. It will be a fitting climax in every way."

SUE CAROL AS 'FREAKER' 'HOOPER' IN FOX FOLLIES

Palace Monday and Tuesday.

Sue Carol, who often has portrayed the role of a "Jazz mad flapper" on the screen, is featured in an original dance number, "The Breakaway," in the William Fox Motion Picture Follies. The most gleaming musical revue produced for the screen, now not only does the popular Miss Carol dance like a veteran "hooper," but she sings "The Breakaway" so well, with especial fervor by her good friend, Mitchell and Archie Gottler. Human and humorous, it is in a way that is certain to make the number a tremendous popular hit.

This young lady's piquant and vivacious personality is enhanced tremendously by giving her a role on the screen. She displays a talent for jazz solo dancing never suspected until she was given a chance to "strut her stuff" in the Fox Motion Picture Follies. She also in other numbers—"The Breakaway" is her particular specialty.

Miss Carol is assisted by a chorus of twelve girls and twelve boys, all of whom are highly trained dancers. Jack Wade, youthful "hooper," is a featured member of the chorus and was placed under contract to Fox Motion Picture Co. for his excellent work in this number.

We offer reward for information leading to discovery of the author

You Dear East Texan:

Honestly, we nearly died laughing. You fellows are perfect screams. It was a great joke, your running our advertisement upside-down. Our assistant and publisher suggests that you run the paper upside-down and that our advertisement was the only thing placed correctly. But he's always fooling like that. When I told our president, he was wot and ordered a hundred dross copies to give to all his friends. We we had had a conference and feel that in the future we would prefer to have our ad conform with the rest—

Congratulations -

To the Seniors for their wonderful achievement. We wish to thank all of you for your loyal support of our Studio. We hope all the other students will come back and make our Studio the headquarters for their picture making.

Reception

lors and registering, the guests were invited to go upstairs where Mrs. Whitley with gusto made pride had placed her silver. In this room "Misses Mary Lou Whitley and "Wendell" Galyon showed the silver which had been given by the faculty to President and Mrs. Whitley on their 50th anniversary, last December, and with it pointed out the bowl silver service which was presented to them recently by the 48th District Rotary International and last but not least process of all the silver which had been given them as a wedding gift.

Baskets and urns of blue harkspur, and yellow cosmos transformed the reception suite into a veritable flower garden and furnished a color motif which emphasized the college colors of blue and gold.

This was the twelfth annual reception honoring the senior class of East Texas State Teachers College.

Lord Windermere—O. C. Mulkey, Jr.; Lord Arlington—Carr Thomas; Lord Dunnington—Lor-ton—Norman Galyon, Mr. Cecil Graham—Roy Johnson; Mr. Dumby—A. Dale Drake; Mr. Hooper—Spaley McBrayer; Mr. Rufford—Presley Wright; Mr. Gay Berkeley—Ralph Patterson; Mr. Arthur Bowden—Harold Stinger; Sir James Roster—Coy Echols; Lord Zetbrough—Forsyth Shesley; and Parker—Maurice Mitchell.

Dear Mr. Drake: Somewhere in some golden clime birds are singing, babbling brooks are brooking through shady nooks, fragrant flowers are dancing, and youths and maids are blooming; playing, tripping about. Alas! Not here! Gone is gladness, song and polly! There is naught save the ache of a broken heart. Hear the power of war-rens' bleak, rules sap-ers.

Will Be Last Chance to SEE PLAYS OF SOME OF ACTORS WHO ARE GRADUATING

Players of the Commerce Community Theatre will present "Lady Windermere's Fan," the 48th District Rotary International, under the direction of Miss James Webster, Head of the Department of Dramatics of the College, Friday evening, at 8 o'clock. This will be the last production of the Theatre this season and the last opportunity to see several of the players who will graduate at the end of this term.
