Graduated

He walked across the campus. Everything was new and confusing to him.

He signed information sheets, took tests, signed more information sheets, took tests, signed more information sheets, paid a fee, received some text books, and they told him he was enrolled in college.

He attended classes, studied, went to football games, basketball games, club meetings, the SUB, ate his meals and finally dropped into bed at night—sometimes at 12, sometimes later.

There were all the things he meant and wanted to do. That extra hour in the library. That date with a special girl. That formal dance he had an invitation to. These and other things that he never got done.

Four years passed. He put on a robe, walked down an aisle and sat in an auditorium. After listening to a speech he heard his name called, walked onto the stage, received his degree, shook the hand of the president of the college, and walked down to his seat again.

And they told him he had graduated.

Where had the time gone? How had he missed learning all the things he meant to learn?

He walked out of the auditorium with a sheet of paper in his hand that stated he had been through college. And here he was walking across the campus and everything was new and confusing to him.

ROTC Inspection Nears As Cadets Make Ready

By John Blackburn
East Texan Writer

Climax of eight months' preparation of cadet drill and review takes place on campus this afternoon. Officers of the Fourteenth Air Force are present for the annual inspection of East Texas State's ROTC wing.

"Inspecting officers are judging all phases of cadet activity and training," states Lt. Col. Gordon L. Paulson, professor of air science and tactics. "They are also inspecting the permanent Air Force staff here at the college and the facilities East Texas has to offer for cadet training."

Inspection Top Event From the beginning of each school year the cadet training agenda is started toward the federal inspection. This will conclude three years of Air ROTC program at ET.

Inspection officers of the 14th Air Force, who arrived Wednesday, are Col. H. D. Copland, leader of the team, Major Cook, Major McCannon, and Captain Hillman.

In their inspecting capacity they are attending classes, judging the cadets and permanent party group, inspecting the steps and talking with members of the college faculty.

Only Two Ratings Given The college can only receive a rating of "satisfactory" or "unsatisfactory" from the inspection.

"I hope everyone in the Corps realizes the importance of this inspection," continues Col. Paulson. "We have a good outfit here among the highest in the nation in training facilities."

Everybody Uses It Without Knowing It

By John Blackburn

"People use their knowledge of art every day and don't even realize it," Miss Louise Franklin, head of the art department at East Texas State. "Women never consider buying a dress or a hat without considering it first in color and perspective. And men always pick suits and ties to fit or emphasize their personality and figure with style and color."

Art fits into our everyday lives, and people would be dissatisfied without it. We pattern our homes as to our likes and dislikes in art, and our automobiles are judged aside from performance, by their design and appeal to the eye. A world without art in some measure or degree would deprive it of its sad and glad existence.

Considering the different purposes students have in taking art courses, the East Texas State art department has customarily tried to offer and arrange these courses to fit the needs and accommodations of any kind of student.

"We have many students here at ET taking art for various reasons," Miss Franklin continued. "Some take the knowledge to continue working in a career, some want it merely to retain and produce a useful and worthwhile hobby, and many plan their courses of study so it will be of use in their future homes. And a great number, those planning to teach, are learning methods of instructing art in elementary schools."

Those planning to use their training for personal pleasure or instruction in summer camps have selected the painting and

Students Ponder Over Flashing Light Mystery

"Who turned on that light?" This was the question asked by Mrs. Thomas, student attendant, walking down the hall on the first floor of the Science building last week.

Others asked the same question.

The thing most of these students failed to notice was that the same person turned the light on and turned it out.

What's so unusual about that? Nothing except that Mrs. Thomas and the other inquisitive students were the ones operating the light set up to work with the aid of an electric eye.

E. O. Box, associate professor of physics, later changed the light to work with a washer on a metal pole and a magnet at the bottom, to add a little noise in the mystery of the flashing light.

Box stated "The eye can also be arranged to open doors as well as turn on lights."

Betts Continues Family Tradition As ET Student

A family tradition which has been going on now for almost 30 years is about to become a thing of the past. This tradition will end when Bill Betts is graduated in May.

As a senior industrial arts major, Bill will be the 12th of a family of 13 children to attend college here.

This tradition of attending East Texas State began in 1922 when Lila Betts finished the training school here and became a student in the Normal college. A year or so later Otis Betts, a brother, enrolled here upon finishing training school. Thus began the Betts family custom.

Since 1922 few years have passed when there wasn't a Betts on the campus. After Lila and Otis came J. D., Ha Mae, N. A., Melvin, Bernice, Myra, Faye, Dena I. D., Jack and in 1949 Bill.

Had that family tradition not been so strong, Bill might have entered with Texas State and with 11 East Texans putting the pressure on little brother, he was happy to settle down and become a good cub in Lomland.

Not only have all the Betts boys been industrial arts majors, but each of them has also had the same department head, J. C. Grove. When Bill was asked why all the men in his family creats. Included are jewelry, weaving, leather, etc., and the course is open to all students. The women who teach there have also been men, are training in the fields of interior decorating and costume design, subjects that will no doubt come in handy for them in their future homes. Here, too, are excellent career opportunities.

Prospective elementary teachers, making up a large group of the art students, are specializing in courses to enable them to teach young children expression and activity through art.

Success of art students from East Texas State and the quality of the courses is marked by two graduates who are now working in commercial art studios in New York City. ET provided their only training before they entered their professions.

Everyone should make at least a brief study of art," Miss Franklin concluded. "Besides the knowledge and appreciation that is gained, all the courses are a lot of fun."

Bill Betts

were industrial arts majors, he said, "I don't know—guess that's a family custom too."

Grady, the only member of the family who did not attend college, is now in the cattle business in Naples. He explains that he just didn't want to go to school.

Bill's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Betts live on the same farm where each of the 13 children were born. They aren't living in the same house, however.

The present East Texan Betts continued in his brothers' steps in other ways too. When he came to Commerce as a freshman, he became a member of Texas social club. He joined the Industrial Arts club and in his senior year was elected secretary of his social club. Now, a senior, he is president of his organization.

Honors came in battalions to Betts. He is president of the senior class, has been a member in American Colleges and Universities and is a member of the Club Council Forum.

Except for a six month period he took off to get married, Bill has gone straight through college. His wife, the former Joann Monds, was a sophomore here when she and Bill exchanged wedding vows.

On May 15, the entire Betts clan will be here for a reunion and to see Bill get his BS degree.

"But there's one consolation Betts has upon his graduation," says his wife, Yvonne Gibson. "He will be a freshman here and she will represent the Betts at ET."

Tomorrow Holding will fly back to Commerce to participate in the All-Texas college track and field meet.

A participant last year in the Coliseum Relays, Holding will be trying to upset the defending champion, Walt Davis of Texas A & M.

In fact, the East Texas star will have double reason for trying to beat Davis. Last Saturday, Holding set a new Lone Star conference record when he leaped 6 feet, 9 and 3/4 inches. But Davis stole the headlines by jumping 6', 10 1/2 for a new Southwest conference mark.

Up to last Saturday, Holding's 6', 9 3/4" jump at Ft. Worth's recreational meet last year was the best made since Les Steers of Oregon State set the world's record of 6-11 over 10 years ago.

There is a good chance that both Davis and Holding will best their efforts of last year at Los Angeles when Davis won the event at 6-6. The Coliseum record was set by Steers when he set the current world mark.

Holding's average this season is 6' 5 3/4". He has set twelve meet records and tied another.

Practice Teacher Proven Faster Than School Bus

When man bites dog that's news. But when girl beats bus, that's real news.

Bina Barnett, senior English major of Quitman, unknowingly created quite a sensation last week. The practice teacher decided to return to the campus via hoof instead of the customary bus ride. She made it back to school before the bus.

Miss Barnett was on hand to greet quite a few stunned faces when the bus finally pulled in front of the Education building.

He's listened to the weak thread of so many shallow claims he's fed-up! His point is—there's a thorough test of cigarette mildness. Millions of smokers throughout America concur.

It's the sensible test... the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke—on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste) you'll see why...

East Texas Captures L. S. C. Track Crown

By Numan Bartley
Sports Editor

Taking nine first places out of 15 events, East Texas steam-rolled to the Lone Star conference track championship in Beaumont Friday and Saturday. The Lions amassed 74 points compared to runner-up Southwest Texas' 40.

Highlights of the contest was the high jump. Chuck Holding did what he set out to do when he smashed the LSC record with a leap of 6 feet, 9 3/4 inches. Old mark was 6 feet, 5 1/2 set by William Hunt of E. T. in 1937.

Brown Leads

Marvin Brown, grid star, led the Lion attack with two individual first places and two first places on relay teams for a total of 12 points.

East Texas all but sewed up the championship in the preliminaries Friday by winning all but two of the five preliminary events, and finishing second in those two. In all, the Lions qualified seventeen boys in the five preliminary events. SWT, the defending champion, qualified six. Sai Ross three, Stephen F. Austin one and Lamar Tech, the host team, failed to get anyone in the finals.

Preliminary Run

Pretests were run off Friday in the 100-, 220- and 440-yard dashes and the two hurdle events.

In the finals Saturday, Brown won the 100-yard dash and the 220-yard dash. He did the century go in 10 1/7 and finished just ahead of teammate Bob Sloan in the 220. Time was 22.9.

Sam Houston's Harry Maddin grabbed the 440 dash, but behind him in second, third and fourth places were three E.T. lads. Pro Gaddis, Herman Musser and Joe Allen. Maddin's time was 1:12.

Gaddis Wins

Pro Gaddis ripped off the 880 in 2:00.7 to lead Joe Evans of SFA, second place winner, across the tape.

Evans won the mile go in a time of 4:35.1. Gerald Cheney, also of SFA, came in second ahead of Jack McVay for the Lions.

East Texas walked away with the hurdlies by taking first and second place in both hurdle events. In the 120-yard high Jerry Cook grabbed first with a time of 1:54. Second place was won by Robert Smith.

Smith Finishes First

In the 220 lows the same two Lions changed positions, with Smith finishing first ahead of Jerry Cook. Winning time was 24.3.

SWT won first and third places in the broad jump, while the best E.T. could muster was a fourth by Donald Yatis.

The only event in which E.T. did not place was the pole vault. In this go, too, SWT picked up some needed points by taking first and second place.

Hetherington Wins

Big Jack Hetherington brought back shotgun honors to East Texas with a toss of 43 feet, 1 1/2 in. Lloyd Corder finished second in the discus throw behind SPT's Lewis Gilreese's throw of 128 feet, 11 7/8 inches.

John Whately of the Lions tossed the javelin 165' 3", just 4 and 1/2 feet behind the winning effort of H. C. Fiumeneke of SWT. Holding got off a throw of 161' 2 1/2" for fourth place honors.

E.T. won both relay events. In the 440 a Lion team composed of Brown, Smith, Sloan and Riley went the route in 4:1, Charles Buchanan, Pascual Valle, Gaddis and Brown did the mile relay in 9:27.6.

Attraction Added

As an added attraction, a field man's 860-yard relay was held. This event counted no points for the winning team and allowed men who compete only in field events to enter.

Stephen F. Austin came in first with E.T.'s Whately, Corder, Yates and Tom McCormack finishing third. A final look at the scoreboard showed the count, E.T. 74, SWT 40, SFA 19, Sam Houston 17, Sul Ross 12 and Lamar Tech 3.

The divided riding skill originated in the U. S.

MOST PUBLICIZED PLAYER on E.T.'s track squad, Chuck Holding smashed the Lone Star conference high jump record in Beaumont last week. The lanky star leaped 6 feet, 9 3/4 inches to William Hunt of E.T. which was 6 5/4". Holding ventures to Los Angeles to compete in the Coliseum relays Friday and will return to Commerce to take part in the All-Texas meet Saturday night.

All-Texas Meet Set For Tomorrow Night

An All-Texas College track and field meet featuring champions of the Lone Star, Gulf Coast and Texas conferences will be held in Memorial stadium tomorrow night.

Field events are scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. with track events to get underway at 8 p.m. There will be no admission fee and the public is invited to attend.

Winners Invited

First, second and third place winners in each event of the three conferences involved have been invited to participate. This will bring together for the first time this year the outstanding college track and field men in the state.

Colleges that have already accepted the invitation to participate include Abilene Christian college, McMurray and Howard Payne of the Texas conference, North Texas State of the Gulf coast conference, and Stephen F. Austin, Southwest Texas State, Sul Ross and East Texas of the Lone Star conference.

Joe Taylor, E. T. track coach and meet director, will have several lads, led by Chuck Holding and Marvin Brown, competing.

Holding Participates

Holding, who set a new LSC record with a high jump of 6 feet, 9 3/4 inches last week, will participate in the Coliseum Relays at Los Angeles Friday, but will fly back to Commerce in time for competition Saturday in the All-Texas meet.

In addition to Holding, the rest meet will parade a host of Texas college stars such as sprinters Ray Renfro and Charlie Teague of Sul Ross.

The nation's best college sprint relay team from N. T. will participate, along with Abilene Christian's fine mile relay quartet, anchored by Sam Volpe.

TRACK COACH JOE TAYLOR will be putting a lot of confidence in ace hurdler Jerry Cook in tomorrow night's All-Texas track battle. In the Lone Star conference meet last week, Cook won the 120-yard high hurdles and finished second in the 230 lows behind teammate Robert Smith, who provides the other half of E.T.'s double hurdle

The couple beat Lynda Bardsley and Betty Bennett, both of Town team, in a 6-1, 6-3 victory.

Other victories included a 5-1 and 6-0 decision over Sara Hamilton, senior of DeKalb, and Helen McLaughlin, senior of Sulphur Springs, in the semi-final round.

Dorothy Comes Home Absent Two Weeks

Dorothy has come home to roost after playing hide-go-seek with Jim Lloyd, new East Texan editor, for two weeks. Dorothy, in case one doesn't know, is mascot of the student newspaper, and each editor since 1931 has autographed her, and then hidden her from the incoming editor.

Peggy Masters, outgoing editor, true to tradition, hid her from her successor and then gave him clues by means of rhyme.

Deadline for finding Dorothy was May 12 and last clue from Miss Master's hospital bed, where she is confined following a broken leg sustained in a college ballgame, taunted Lloyd with, "Bill Rust has gone to Beaumont, but Dorothy has not."

For several days Lloyd had climbed fire-escapes and poked into ceilings of old Main building trying to get to the roof in answer to "What the matter, are you afraid of high places?"

High seats of the field house were explored before the editor got the idea that Dorothy's hiding place might coincide with Bill Rust's being an announcer.

Sure enough Dorothy was found perched in the broadcasting booth waiting for someone to turn on the juke so she could announce "Here I am."

SUB '42' Winners Presented Prizes

Alton F. Footé and Kerby D. Backus won the 42 contest sponsored by the SUB.

Footé is a freshman industrial education major and Backus is a sophomore civil engineering student. Both are residents of Campbell.

Each was presented with a set of plastic dominoes by Harry Icenhower and Jack Winn, student chairman of the competition.

Film Library Has Many Film Reels For Schools' Use

In a special room in the agriculture building are lined 400 reels of film sound movie film. Every month more are coming in and filling the empty shelves left for the expansion of the Visual-Aids classes.

Where did East Texas State get all these movies? It didn't! Although most of the movies in the library belong to the County Vocational schools, some do belong to the college.

The veteran's movies found their way into the film library at E. T. when, in 1948, they moved from Mt. Pleasant. Since then the college has served as an editing and lending station for the cinema.

Movies Mailed
From the storeroom of film go movies to 21 counties in Northeast Texas. These moving pictures in black and white and color range in the different fields of agriculture, distributive education, trade, and industry.

The director has improved the film library by the use of the 100 sponsored films used. These movies come from companies such as General Electric and General Motors.

Also in the film library are 700 strips of 35mm film used in the teaching of Visual-Aids.

Aside from the director of the library, Dr. William Webb Freeman, two other people are employed—one by the college and one by the veterans' schools.

Mrs. Marie Davis is in charge of the bookkeeping and secretarial work and John Rickerson handles the mailing out of the movies and checking them in.

Film Dated Back
The first resemblance of anything beginning to look like the creation of a film library at E. T. was in 1934 when Dr. Freeman journeyed to Dallas to buy a 16-mm. Victor sound projector. This movie came out of his own pocket and was his own experiment.

Renting movies at the rate of $18.75 a day, Dr. Freeman worked out the color film at the Training school (a division of E. T. for grade school and high school students discontinued in 1948), and high schools at Greenville, Sulphur Springs, Cooper and Quitman. He was paid $5.00 a hour from the school where the money was usually taken up from the students at five cents for each roll of film to Boies Orphan home and St. Paul high school for Negroes.

Since this time Dr. Freeman has sold his first projector and through his efforts the college now has in use three sound movie projectors. These are for use in class room movies and are used to show movies in the Student Union building on Friday nights.

For movies to be shown in the class room, a teacher may use the catalog of the Texas Education agency to borrow some of the 12,000 reels in stock available.

Although the library is still quite young, Dr. Freeman is proud of one of the former students employed at the college. It has produced, J. D. Alred went to Southern California from E. T. where he studied motion picture photography and after graduation received a job teaching motion picture work at the University of Nebraska. "Some of the camera and equipment he uses is worth between $15,000 to $20,000," states Dr. Freeman.

The Dallas Morning News supplied the college with six reels of current event movies each month to send out to public schools in this area that are willing to pay the 50 cents for postage.

The News Magazine of the Screen as the movie is called, after being loaned out by the college for a month, it replaced by six new reels the following month.

Of the six, E. T. keeps two reels, two go to the Dallas city schools, and the other two go to the Texas Education agency's state film library.

Biography Volume Added to Library

"Low-Down" Given on Manners Desirable for East Texas Coeds

By Jerry Mead

Do you really want to enjoy yourself in college? Naturally every coed ever to enter E. T. wants to have some social success to go with her life. However, to make a success of yourself in your social life there are certain rules you must follow in your college career, if you have not already learned them.

Manners learned in college will stay with you for the rest of your life, thus the need for you to learn the correct manner will not only benefit you now but later in life. The college is a small world in which you can learn respect for organized society and for the rights of others. The freshman will do well to take heed of some do's and don'ts that follow.

"She who borrows constantly should be entitled to herself." With that quotation speaking for itself, it should also be mentioned that if you borrow, you should be a good friend feels about lending articles. Then return the article promptly and in as good condition as you wish to borrow it. Never borrow anything that hasn't been used. The owner has the right for the thrill of the use of his own wearing hat formal or new coats first.

How To Eat

When you go to eat, always be neatly attired in your best. When eating you should always sit erect and walk back in the seat of the chair. Keep your mouth closed when you are eating use only one hand while taking the food from the plate into your mouth. One hand should be kept in the lap most of the time except when cutting meat, etc. Never eat all of your meat on your plate at one sitting. If you must talk, wait until your mouth is entirely empty. Don't overload your fork or keep your mouth stuffed full so it is noisy.

Loud talking and laughing or anything that will bring attention to the table should be avoided in all accidents occur as they often do, and service is available, ignore it and let the waitress take care of it. Otherwise do what is necessary, and do not make excessive apologies to your host if you are a guest. An easy rule to remember is: "If the silver is used, it is laid from the outside in order of use. If you are uncertain about which piece to use, watch the hostess."

Keep silver off the tablecloth and don't place it "gang-plank" fashion from the edge of the plate to the table.

Refrain from chewing gum in class, club meetings, at church, on the dance floor or at any kind of public gathering. In short, chew gum only in your room or at ball games where it is acceptable.

Affection? It is not good taste to be affectionate or to express affection in public with a date. Familiarity in any form is frowned upon by well-bred people everywhere. Lingering about the doorway is very poor taste as well as making the girl and her date conspicuous.

At social functions in college where the receiving line is made up of the faculty sponsor or chaperone and the head of the other official student hosts or hostesses, the girl should first introduce herself, then her date. Every student should shake hands with those in the receiving line.

Conversation in the receiving line is one of introduction only. If there is no one behind you, however, you may linger and converse with the host.

If there is no receiving line, each couple should greet the chaperons during the evening. A formal affair should have a couple behind each couple should go down the line. Introduce yourself and your escort to the person standing at the head of the line.

Study in the Library
The library is a place of study, not of social gatherings. Each person responsible for his own conduct in the library.

For any coed in doubt about some social question, that and many more can be answered by taking advantage of the books in the library.
