E. T. Graduate Theater Chief

A tall, lanky Texan has taken a long stride in the field of international drama. He is Ed Mangum, a former Greenville resident and a 1936 graduate.

Mangum was recently invited to Hawaii to become director of the Theater of Honolulu. He was co-founder of the Arena Stage in Washington, D.C. In leaving Washington, the Texan leaves quite a name for himself besides being co-founder of the Arena there, he has directed 14 of its 23 plays. Ten of the 17 productions the first year were under Mangum's guidance. And when the invitation to Honolulu came through, Mangum was watching his production of "Three Men on a Horse," then in its 10th week, set a record run for arena stage.

Mangum first studied drama under Miss Mary Bowman, professor of English at ESTSC. He received his masters degree from Catholic university and moved to the drama faculty of George Washington university and remained there until Arena Stage was founded in the summer of 1950.

courses in English and American literature.

M. S. Rogers, associate professor of agriculture, will be away from Commerce the first six weeks of summer. He will take courses at the University of Utah.

Thanks A Lot

The East Texan wishes to express its appreciation for the effort already put forth by the student body in the drive to eliminate beaten pathways across the grass on the campus.

Already grass is growing where a few weeks ago it did not. Sprinkler systems have been set up to carry the project of improving landscape throughout the summer and fall.

We ask that you continue your cooperation. It may take a fraction of a second longer to use the walks in reaching your destination, but the end result will be a definite mark of improvement in the physical appearance of our campus.

Signs Of Our Times

Have you noticed the new sign just north of Memorial stadium? If not, drive out and look at it first chance you get. The sign proclaims the viewer is gazing on East Texas State Teachers college, the "Souths Most Democratic College." Whoops! Did you catch that mistake?—the "Souths"—no apostrophe.

That's right, the sign, in rather gaudy colors, will give passers-by the impression that this college spends too much time with democracy and not enough with spelling.

At bottom of the sign is the information that it was paid for by Club Council forum. A $10 donation from each of 12 social clubs was given for the payment of the "white elephant". Let's see—12 times 10—umh, that makes $120 we suppose was spent for the label.

The sign is a good one; it is lighted in order to glow in the dark. BUT it has a conglomeration of colors consisting of red, blue, yellow, white and black; AND it has that mis-spelled word.

Looks to us as if someone got hooked.

Lambeth Yow

Well Done, Council

Congratulations to the Student Council of East Texas State Teachers college for a job well done.

Under the leadership of President Alex Kibler and Vice President Kenneth Tuck, you have accomplished much and added greatly to make East Texas truly the "South's most democratic college." We are proud of the work you have done and sponsored. We congratulate you on the amended constitution and on the banquet held in East dorm for the student council and the new president and vice president.

New officers for 1952-53 may take heed of the record of the 1951-52 student government and follow closely in its footsteps. You won't go wrong.
