FORWARD YOUTH! The unprecedented turn from care and experience to youth and new ideas and ideals today constitutes a new era in our world.

Here in our own country the changes have been tremendous. In almost any occupation or profession, which you may examine will find a much larger number of young men or women than twenty, ten, or even five years ago would have been in the ranks.

Reference to the depression or whether was responsible for this change is probably a great exaggeration; the youth was a natural consequence of the many changes brought about through our changed living conditions.

Be that as it may, we are now faced with the problem of youth ruling or gaining in every field in the nation. This being true it is up to us, to you and to me, to see that the best is made of the opportunity thus shoved upon us, unasked and unknown to youth but nevertheless not unenvied.

WHERE ARE THOSE TENNIS COURTS?

Students and teams of the East Texas State Teachers College are handicapped by the lack of enough tennis courts. At the present time we have three courts for over 1000 students.

A college the size of ours should have 12 or 15 courts at the least. For a real tennis team physical education classes, and in general, need such a number of courts as is absolutely necessary.

HOW THOSE LOCKERS

Editorial after editorial and letter after letter has poured into the East Texas office during the last several years regarding and requesting lockers for the boys' dorms. Nothing ever came of these requests and complaints, but now the best opportunity of years has arisen for the securing of the much needed lockers for lockers and students of the physical education classes.

E. T. Personalities

Very few men know what they are doing. "I know," says one of the "personality" writers, "I know the number of the planet Mars, President of the Government, and a great number of the things that I do not know."

It was thirteen years ago when Virginia discovered America. She was looking for a new world to live in, and she found it in the United States.

Honorable Mention...

BY JACK HICKERSON

Those who criticized our election of eight Lions for the first time in our history should not have abandoned, after scanning the official national review and the editorial in this issue, the following names: Matthews, Coffey, Kullback, Hildridge, Reeves and Brown. These are all names of the team with Matthews and Reeves leading the contest with 14 votes of the conference vote. What Cole, and Little were given honorable mention.

"Don't Rollin' girls ride now pounding the track," with Oliver Major playing the lead man role as master of ceremonies, several interludes, will lead some ten interludes, several quadrants, and a host of other surprises on the stage during the winter season. The Lions should have a good season, and do better in the conference next than they did last year when several prizes were awarded to the runner-uped Lion entrants in the competition.

The law who took out for the winter track season will be given examples of necessary work in later Coach Rollin's associate will be the "Rollin's" always give the record for state in equity, to district, state, national, and world competition, without a hitch—no written law. COLLEGE NOTE

Foray our reading from sports for one paragraph, but this is in the good—least we reported it in the manner of coincidence of last week's East Texan. Our headlines "Controversy in the" of a gentleman, paid this week a new complaint, but this week in the same sense, listed that anything in the first published column was a lot of rubbish and should be taken seriously. This week also remarked that another column should make no appearance before long, but Harvey or H. H. Shaw, the author of the two columns, had his work on the line of the following page to make it the complete. This week will appear "W. P. S. Don't misunderstand me, we like your page column."

The latter part of the assembly hour was taken by Professor W. W. Freeman of the Latin department, who gave an interesting talk on "The Wars of New York." Freeman stated that the most interesting part of his two years' stay in New York was the association with the different phases and races of people.

LITTLE Miss Ann Freeman has been in something marred because of their status quo.

Professor Grace Denny Gives High Lights Of Summer Trip To Inquiring East Texan Reporter

By Helen Lee

"My trip to China and Japan last summer was purely for pleasure and recreation," stated Miss Denny when inquired by the East Texan reporter of her interest with her that subject.

"I have always been rather interested in China and Japan," she continued, "and particularly in the common people and their customs."

By remote very interested in her experience abroad, I asked Miss Denny to tell me something of her trip over, and of some interesting things she also visited.

"I called from Los Angeles Japan from there in Peiking on the 15th of August, for two weeks after spent one day in Nanking, one in the capital of China, two weeks in Shanghai, two days in Hongkong and four days in Manila."

"Thinking the former June of the Chinese Royal Family," said Miss Denny, "was really a very interesting trip, but it has many previous temples, palaces, and monuments written in walls. There are many

Press Association Holds Meeting Friday Morning Chapel

The newly organized Press Association had the first meeting of the year last Friday in East of Chapel Street with J. E. Denton, president, in charge.

The constitution committee presented the newly written document and the Association adopted it with a few minor changes. President Denton appointed the following:

In speaking of the Chinese and Japanese people, Miss Denton said that she liked the Japanese work better because that are so much better people, extremely courteous and have more well developed civilization.

Miss Denton brought many things with her from Japan and China some of them very valuable.

Among these things were three carved chairs, a kimono of various colors, a Chinese fan, a Japanese and Chinese man and woman, a Chinese man and woman, a Chinese man and woman, a Chinese man and woman.

Miss Denton concluded by saying "I was impressed very much by my trip to China and Japan, and my work with the people of these interesting countries."
