It's Week!

W. M. O'Neil

THIS past week of E. T. track took no sooner cooled their heels from the successful layover of the week-end than they "jumped" to Paris to take part in the invitation tournament held in this place. Under Coach L. D. Parsons the Lions have gained two victories in an eight-day and six ending in points at about 44 each time.

THE Big Baseball, with its ad- vanced circuit of base-couriers in Dallas this last Friday and many peo- ple from Commerce and the College were out to witness the excellent fray with the Dallas Stars. The first time this year to see annual title home as League entrants. For the first time the Big Boy showed no and judging by the reports, it played the best. The main matter and rival for home-run honors also obtained with an "inside" over. The final score was 10-8, with eight of the ten marked up for the visiting team—the New York Yankees. World Champion.

RUMOR has it that the English Club at the College is getting with the manager of the Theatre Guild Company coming to Dallas this week to give the students the best matinee performance in Commerce the afternoon of that week. Everything is being done to make the most of this opportunity of the soap in the Auditorium; the lack of space and equip- ment will of course be a handicap to the securing of such a prominent play and cast as would be afforded by the English Club. It is being brought this paper here.

COACH Adair tried this past week for another practice jump with the Wesley College side but the day the boys were to be played the Panthers were having a track meet and were unable to come.

A NEW periodical work appeared in the streets and campus. The Editor was none other than Neal De- vey. THE COACH was the leading figure in the paper and the articles in- dicated were the gist of the paper. New 1 ask you: is this the practice of "Abolitionism"?

HISTORY OF SCHOLARSHIP SOCIETY HEARD

Mrs. Vivian Boyd Gives Summary of Progress of Or- ganization in Talk

The history of the Scholarship Societies of the South, of which the E. T. Houston chapter is a part, was given by Mrs. Vivian Boyd in her speech introducing the speaker for the annual program, Miss Ruth Poin- taylor, who was here March 28. The greater part of Mrs. Boyd's talk, especially in the history of the Society, follows:

"Five years ago there was organ- ized in the Southern States the Geo- rgetown a society whose membership consisted of the highest ten per- cent of the Junior and Senior classes. The purpose of this society was to give proper recognition and encour- age-ment to those young men and women of Junior and Senior standing whose ability and industry gained the highest rank in their classes. This society was called, and all agree- ment known as the Scholarship Soci- eties of Texas was effected. After some twenty-five chapters had been organized members of the group, at

PILOT SCHEDULED TO VISIT COMMERCER INJURED IN CRASH

A huge tri-motored plane appeared over the campus Saturday morning and seemed to be picking out likely prospects for passengers as it swooped low over the campus several times. Later handbills appeared on the cam- pus advertising joy rides at $250 per head. On the handbills were names of the pilots, Scott Dilling and Mr. O'Neil.

The she-captain, Stollings, whose who had planned to take advantage of the opportunity to soar in air, were doomed to disappointment, for only a few hours after the appear- ance of the monoplane over Commerce county Dallas was injured when a plane which he was piloting crashed on the lake at or near Lovel Field for Commerce. A student pilot, named Tuttle, who was riding in the plane when it fell, was also injured. Doo- ble has injuries are not extremely serious.

LIONS MEET HERE ON 8-9

First Conference Encounters To Be Played Here On Monday and Tuesday

The East Texas State Teachers College Lion baseball line will meet the first Huntsville team in two con- ference games here today and to- morrow. These encounters will mark the opening of the conference season for the Lions.

Little doubt can be secured on the Huntsville team, but it is expected that E. T. will have the edge on them. So far this season the Lions have showed up exceedingly well in the first of strong opposition as was shown in their games with Southern Methodist University.

Williams and Johnson will probably make up the batteries for the work on new

TENNIS COURTS TO BEGIN SOON

Are To Be Located Near Men's Gymnasium; Three To Be Built

Construction of three new tennis courts for the use of the students at E. T., will be undertaken within a short time according to President

The new courts which will take the place of the old ones on the old tennis court, are to be built on the present plan, are to have a rock topped by a suitable covering, mak- ing them safe and fit to play on. The surface hard and durable in all weather.

Plans have been in the making for some time to create hard surface courts on the present location of the tennis courts. It is felt that the library building will be placed here, these plans have not been put into effect.

When the new plans for tennis, have been made suitable, it is probable that the care of the courts will be placed in the hands of a Tennis Association, or some similar organ- ization, whose duty it will be to keep the courts in shape.

DANCE IS BEST YET PRESENTED

Large Number Enjoy First Function of Kind Given in Dormitory

The first dance to be given in the Girls Dormitory, and the fourth to be given to the institution, proved to be a commendable success Saturday night.

At eight o'clock the Merry-makers, given place outdoors from Green- hill, "opened up" with the tangoing rhythm and called the dancers forth. For two hours the fun con- tinued, and at nine of the fact that the dining room, where the floor had been cleared, was rather hot there was not a moment that was not en- joyed by those present.

The dining room was decorated in gold and red, and the music was a bright evening dress worn by the girls, evoked E. T. added color and sparkle to the occasion. The music was thirty minutes and the girls began to "come out" of their coats and hats, and at nine of the fact that the dancing in the future will be in the dining room.

Kalms To Offer Sweets For Sale

The Kalms will be sold as well as offering sweets for sale. Everything good will be sold—candy (the rock homemade kind), dough- nuts, and other goodies, and perhaps a cream along with cakes and pie.

The Klub members will sweater over the sweets, and the students will be given opportunity of buying something that they will like to eat.

The funds are to go for a good cause, that the Kalms are treating the time for their disbursements.

CELEBRITIES AT MADRID BULL RING

The world's heavyweight boxing champion, Max Baer, was present at the bull ring in Madrid, Spain, on the 28th of March. He was the only one of the crowd that was not permitted to view the Sunday contest. Baer, who is 40 years old, is a native of Pittsburgh. Pictures of the two famous pugilists may be seen on the Spanish magazine, board in the Main building.

VETERAN CAST PRESENTS "PALS FIRST" THIS WEEK

"Pals First," the Little Theatre play for April, will be presented in the main hall of the building on the evening of April 11, at eight o'clock. It will be the first Little Theatre play presented in the work-shop.

The cast consists of Mr. Little, who is the manager and anticipates the best play given in months. Stanley Coleman who lets up on a run and another of the veteran-old season in "Cappy Ricks" takes the role of an old tramp. His family has been well- educated, but has gone down through drift, and now he is a tramp. The other is Irishman in "Happies," is the expert fencer, Dennis Roland, who plays the role of a tramp who has been accepted. Dennis and Dominic meet at the end of a close friendship.

FORNEY WINS HIGH SCHOOLS PLAY CONTEST

Wills Point and Celeste Place Second and Third

Over seven hundred athletes, at the opening of March 29 and 30, a group of enthusiastic theatrical at- tractions were exhibited in high school play in a one-act play tournament in the new auditorium.

This is a yearly contest sponsored by the Inter-Scholastic authorities. Our Little Theatre has always been the host for this contest. This year there were seven high schools represented. At the conclusion of the two evenings, the judges declared Forsy High School to be the winner, with Wills Point in second place, and Celeste Place. The one outstanding effort in the tournament this year seemed to be the play "The Man in the Moon" of the plays selected were weak, with a small thread of plot to hold their interest. If a plot were presented it was one that had become trite from usage. When one considers the vast amount of time, nervous worry, and physical energy it takes to produce any sort of play it is almost tragic for that much time to be expended on any thing but a play that is worth while. There is a feeling among the producers that the one-act play has run its pike, and looking ahead to the future of one-act play tournaments on wonder if there is not some basis for abolishing the same.

Taking the state of the schools that were competing into consideration, the tournament as a whole was a success. The players showed character, study, ease with lines, and evidence of fun, but coaching. The Little Theatre group who worked with the tournament were profuse in their praise of the ideas of the producers that are prevailing among the players and are looking forward with pleasure to the tournament next year.

EXAMINATION ON LEAGUE TO CLOSE SHORTLY

Three Students Submit Papers in Contest; To Be Sent To League Association

The League of Nations Contest, in which the history students of E. T. have been especially interested for several weeks, is coming to a close. Three students, Paul Bellows, Min- nie V. Murphy, and Lila Hildner, have submitted papers in the contest. The examination was the same that was given to students at Forsy High School. (Continued on Page Four)

LOVE IS FOOLISH

By GAYL HALL

Hearts will break in silence, rather than draw aside the curtain that conceals the deep understanding and sweetness of a youthful love. Two victims of Cupid will meet and collide, ignore each other, or be coldly indifferent, despite the fact that two heart sore heavily lumbered with the bitterness of suppressed love, and from their depths are crying out for each other. One pair of eyes will gaze into another pair of eyes without a glimmer of recognition. Two voices will be mute while two souls are clamouring to be heard. Yes, two hearts will break, because two human beings stubbornly refuse to recognize and accept that which they most fervently desire.

ABUSE OF THE TENNIS COURTS

With the advent of the tennis season and tennis weather, some of the more energetic students of the College have put the tennis courts in shape for playing. If you have ever taken part in cleaning off a tennis court and worked blisters on your hands and got your shoes full of dirt doing it, you will realize that it is not all fun.

There has been some comment about the campus of late concerning the practice of cleaning, monopolizing the courts and playing on them without tennis shoes. Anyone who plays tennis knows that to play on a court in ordinary shoes means the tearing up of the ground, which should be very smooth. Outsiders are not supposed to have access to the courts in the first place, and if they do play, they should at least have consideration enough for those who care for the courts to wear tennis shoes when playing.

In the near future new courts are to be built near the gymnasium. These courts will probably be placed under the supervision of some sort of organization, which will have control for their upkeep and protection. At present, no one feels responsible for the courts, and as a consequence they are abused.

Let us hope that we will see improvement in the matter soon.

BETTER SPEECH WEEK HELD AT ARLBLEN

Anyone who makes announcements kept week at church at elsewhere be subjected to the strictest and been week of some thirty or forty English students from the Academy. Now with the "recalled" dignified college seniors be excluded. In fact, an error in speech made anywhere on campus next week will be carefully jotted down by some Academy student and the same will be discussed and covered later in class. The persons will, however, not be included in the whitewash. This count is now making this tour some years ago by the National Council of Teachers of English. Teachers throughout the country gave the project enthusiastic approval, and for several years the "method" was generally observed in a host of leading schools. An editorial article, "Better Speeches" in a recent issue of the English Journal, calls for a thorough study of the problem either by revising the National Council Committee on American Speech, or by appointing a new committee for the specific purpose of improving the quality of the better speech. Educational leaders must, moreover, increase the opportunity of the student by devoting new ways of making language interesting to the multitude. —The Grinnell.

ANNIVERSARY PAGEANT HELD AT SAN HOUSTON

This term witnesses one of the most auspicious celebrations ever to be attempted here. The occasion is the event of Sam Houston School Teachers' College Centennial, the year, the celebration of which occurred May 3-4. The program of entertainment scheduled will contain formal by notables, class reunions, address by the Sam Houston Home and grounds, and the laying of the cornerstone of the new library building.

One of the most interesting features will be an elaborate historical pageant to be presented on the evening of May 4. A committee from the English Department, with Mr. George H. H. H. as chairman, has charge of the pageant. Miss Esther Rae, as head of the Physical Education Department, has charge of the pageant, which will be an elaborate pageant depicting the struggle between ignorance and knowledge for humanity, the liberation of serfs in 1862. The first part of the "Story of H. H. H. C." is the History course, consisting of scenes depicting important occasions in the growth of our country. We note organizations of the camp will present in tableaux and dialogue the scenes of the play.

The second division is atmosphere of the past, which aims to show that college life is not all a grind. Other scenes of the pageant take the place of the Serf's rendered to mankind by young people who have gone out from S. H. S. T. C. Doctors.

WORK ON ST. MARY'S GYMNASIUM IS BEGUN

A long felt need in athletic circles in San Antonio will be filled next fall with the completion of St. Mary's University gymnasium, the construction of which was begun last week on the spacious campus of that institution in Woodburn Hills. The gym will be the largest and finest in the State, with the possible exception of the A. M. College structure at St. College Station. It will be complete-regular seating capacity will be 1,850, with available space at each end of the playing floor to accommodate electric timing clocks and scoreboards of players and spectators. Plans for the building were approved by the board of trustees of the college in 1926. Amidships

The stars are little pin holes
In God's dark blue blind
Through which we recognize the
Gleam of His faithful behind.
Till clouds and clouds reach the Dark.
Till tip it up and dim,
Till turn the flashlight out and Laugh.
At people on the ground
Self is the only prism, that
Can ever blind the soul.
Love is the only Angel that Lives in the Gates inwardly.
And when He comes to call thee,
Arise and follow fast:
His way may lie through darkness,
but He leads to light at last.

THE DESERT.

Time was when the song of the
Had a meaning, a deathless meag.
And the stars were never so bright,
The happy, purple hills stretched out
Until they were blurred in the horizon.
And by night each star
Had its own secret message
For us, and the vast white expanse
That was so silent yet so understanding.
Yet with the inevitable dawn
The sands stretch out in grim rains.
By day only the sunburnt plains
Stand out in bold relief,
And we were only tiny accidents
Dwelt by the desert's mockery.

SPRING FEAR

I know that this has passed
And I think I remember how
We watched the sparks die,
Yet we are watching now,
Spring has fought back
From countless blankets of snow,
And the violets are calling
In a voice I know,
And now I must away
The odor of foreign lands
And see these little white mistle
Bettle on the ocean sands,
Or else I am afraid,
Spring, not, secret sounds,
Would find me unprepared
And open again my wounds.

That I may stand these empty

Waiting the dawn to be met
On the wings of the purple dawn.
Give me the strength when it is

That I may look on aillar impales
Help me that I may not see
Your image in every face

HISTORY OF SCHOLARSHIP

From Southern states to join in the vitation was extended to colleges of scholarship among undergraduates. It was proposed to raise the standard of Louisiana and Arkansas immediately responded, and each of these states now hold membership in the organization whose name was changed two years ago to "Scholarship Societies of the South."

The object of the organization, which now includes chapters in thirty of the leading colleges and universities of Texas, Louisiana, and Arkansas, as expressed in the constitution, is "the promotion of scholarship among undergraduate students in the academic division of the colleges."

Each local chapter meets regularly with music, studies and discusses topics pertaining to educational ideals and progress, and does whatever it can to promote a greater respect for high standards in scholarship among all classes of students.

Term's Origin in Dispute
The term "barbecue" was originally applied in the Southern states to the practice of roasting a hog or an other large animal. The word was not in use in Virginia before 1710. The origin of the name is disputed. Some think it comes from the Indians of Oceania, while others believe that it derived from the Italian, and others ascribe it to the Spanish.

Valley Well Named
Death valley received its name from the fact that in 1800 a party of gold-seekers with their families made a one-day trip in the valley and less than half of them survived, the remainder being overcome by heat and thirst. A few seceded over the Panamint to the bonanza California plains; the others returned to the East.

First Modeler in Clay
Buster of Greece was the first Greek to model in clay. The story runs that his daughter drew upon the wall the outline of her lover's shadow; upon which her father modeled the face of the young man. He then baked the model with the clay. This was about 600 B. C.

Early Flying Enthusiast
The first comprehensive explanation of the laws governing heavier-than-air flying, especially with gliders, was made by Sir George Cayley, an English scientist, in a series of magazine articles written and published in 1809 and 1810. Although he produced several crude airplanes and balloons, there is no record that he ever achieved any measure of success with them.

He plans to show up the importer. To do this he enlists the help of a friend of a friend (J. D. Betts). The ending is surprising, the plot clever and highly entertaining. There is not a slow moment.

Witness: "Yes sir."

"How near were you to the scene of the affray?"
"At the first shot I was about ten feet from the man who fired."

"The fact? Well, now tell the court where you were when the second shot was fired?"
"I didn't hear the distance."

"Speaking approximately, how far should you say?"
"Well, I should think it was about half a mile!"—Pearson's.

Floating U. Students Guests in Royal Palace

When the Floating University visited Bangkok recently the students lived in the Royal Palace as guests of King Rama VII of Siam, and were taken to a cable just received at the home office of the Floating University 11 Broadway, New York City.

The Floating University student left New York City on November 8 aboard the S. S. President Wilson and since sailing they have visited 29 ports and have made trips to many inland cities with historical and educational interest.

Upon their arrival in Bangkok the Floating University students were received by King Rama in the Throne Room. After the reception, the King and his students' guests attended a performance at the Royal Siamese Theatre. Later during their stay, the students returned the King's courtesy by presenting their musical comedy "Floating Around" for his pleasure. The music and lyrics of this show are entirely the work of the men and women students. The King, who speaks English, seemed much pleased.

GLIMPSES INTO THE FUTURE

ROBOTLAND

First Robot Woman—Good morning, how are your women today?
Second Robot Woman—Oh, fairly good. However, I shall not get around to the Garage Beauty Shop this afternoon and have myself shampooed. I have a cracker and some of my confections has not been working perfectly lately.

First—That's too bad. I do hate to see young people lose their health. Let's see, you had a new stomach plate and an arm put on your mouth, didn't you?
Second—Yes. And maybe I'm a little bit out of order, but I put a magnet in his bed one night, and the next morning he couldn't move without taking the whole bed and bathroom fixtures with him.

Second—That's certainly a good one on him. By the way, you don't happen to have any machinery in the house, do you? Johnny played in the rain yesterday and now he has had a case of equine influenza.

Second—That's certainly a good one on him. By the way, you don't happen to have any machinery in the house, do you? Johnny played in the rain yesterday and now he has had a case of equine influenza.

First—No, I'm sorry, I don't have any, but I have some perfectly splendid anti-rust that I use on Mary. It's a regular charm.

Second—It's certainly a good thing for you. Children are such a worry nowadays. If it's any good, try it on their mother. Only last week Henry, that my sister's child, was playing doctor and before anyone knew what he was up to he had stolen a can opener and he had all the children in the neighborhood with the most awful hoers in them.

First—You don't mean it! He should have been made normal and

FEDERATED CLUBS WILL GIVE PLAY

Webster Will Direct; Proceeds To Go For City Park Improvement

One of the vital centers of every city is its Municipal Park. It is the center of the child life of the city, especially in this time of the summer months. For years Commerce lagged behind other cities in the matter of providing an inviting park for its citizens. The last five or six years, however, there has been a general growth of citizens working actively with our city administration toward the creation of a wholesome and attractive place for outdoor recreation. This has been especially true of the Federated Clubs of our city. They have worked that different projects, given programs and in other ways helped to make our park a place that will be a place of beauty.

Following this custom the Federated Clubs are sponsoring a program of one-act plays Monday evening, April fifteenth. This program has been worked out under the supervision of Miss Webster and promises to be an evening of rare entertainment. It is hoped that the student body will avail themselves of an opportunity for an evening of wholesome entertainment and that the same may help a worthy cause.

Careful A senator was approached during a political campaign with this question: Senator, I admire you and your policies a great deal, but there's one question I must ask before I decide to vote for you. Are you a day?

Senator: Before answering I want to know if you're a day?

SOCIAL EXPERIENCE IS NEEDED IN EDUCATION

"All study and so social experience make even the most advanced student have absolutely no contact upon them. Sometimes I tell John that our children should have been constructed with only two brain switches. They would have been much easier to handle."

First—Have you heard about Harry's engagement? No, oh, yes, he's engaged to the girl who has a beautiful complexion, flat bronze hair, silver teeth and a best Birmingham cast. I think that's a good one on him!

First—Oh, yes, Harry met her in the Green Waiting place. He's never been to the sea, but Harry tells me that it is simply done to walk around under her belly.

Second—I don't imagine I'll like it so much. To be full of water and agree with my constitution. I've got wooden hair and it warts near the eyes.

First—Why, that's just it. Harry's fiancée has a wooden heart too and she's the reason he's got to get along with him—her heart warts.

Second—My word is it is far to the sea. I do think that would be a most lovely experience.

Second—Well, here's John. Goodbye. Goodbye, but look, he had something for you.

First—Robert, yes, I do have, some thing. Guess what it is.

Second—Oh, why, oh, John. Can't you be a darling to me. It is that adorable monkey wrench that I was wanting so much. You need pieces of it!

HABITS OF CHILDREN ARE SOCIAL PROBLEMS

"A child's habits are not of his own choosing; they are social problems," writes Harold Lloyd, assistant professor of education at the University of Oregon, in the April Journal of the National Educational Association. "The habit of eating of food for property, or of reverence for the aged is instilled at the hands of society to which training in habits as well as high feeling of ease and propriety is the most refined and morally exacting social groups. So much of this history happens depends on the acquisition of habits—truthfulness and honesty and civility and respect for the rights of others—that the child could justly taste, could be but see the future, that society equip him with such habitual tendencies as will demand of him later. "No system of education which rests on knowledge and skill alone can give any education of children their rights. Habits must be built around the fact that will bring no social progress, but will rather bring social suffering unearned elation through false 'big' talk, or the chronic suspicious, whose swollen ego sensitive eye feels itself the object of the rancor and ill intent of his neighbor, who shy to be happy; the growth in his barbed-wire entanglements, the clamorous, creating division rather than union; the sentimental, whose feelings cannot bridge the wide divide; the over-idealized, flurrying his weak wings; the rebel-look fortified and armed against all authority; the much depressed, serving of all pity; the domineering, deserving of none; and ever the verbal epics, the machine gun talker who forsakes conversation for monologue. "Society approves most one who earnestly identifies himself with a great cause; who is cheerfully kind, a good fellow everywhere, but without the good fellow's bad habits; who is bold and who is progressive.
